Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• It was Benjamin Disraeli, 19th-century British Prime Minister and the first Earl of Beaconsfield, who made the following sage observation: "The most dangerous strategy is to jump a chasm in two leaps."

• You've probably never heard of Hurley, Wisc., but if you lived in the area, you'd know that the town is home to a 15-foot-tall corkscrew. It can be found, appropriately enough, outside Corkscrew Liquors.

• Except for the queens, all wasps die in the autumn.

• The Japanese ruling family is the oldest continuing hereditary monarchy in the world. The current emperor, Akihitò, is the 125th holder of the title. Interestingly, he's also a marine biologist and has published papers on ichthyology in both English and Japanese scholarly journals.

• For reasons that aren't quite clear, in Sweden, it's illegal to train a seal to balance a ball on the tip of its nose.

• It was March 15, 1952, when the largest amount of rainfall in a single 24-hour period was recorded. It was the island of Reunion, in the Indian Ocean, that had the misfortune to receive a whopping 73.62 inches of rain on that Ides of March. That's more than 6 feet of rain in a single day!

• Feel like you have a lot more stuff than you used to? You're not imagining things — and you're not the only one. According to the Self-Storage Association, the number of businesses offering on-premises storage of all those things you can't find room for at home has increased nearly 10 times since 1964.

Collecting

by Larry Cox

Q: I have a set of Al Jolson records issued by Decca in 1946, including some of the songs he made famous such as "Swanee," "April Showers" and "You Made Me Love You." Are they worth anything? — Linda, Carson City, Nev.

A: Not as much as you might think. Jolson's early recordings on both Victor and Columbia are extremely collectible and some sell for upward of $20 each. Jolson's career was in decline during the late 1940s when Larry Parks portrayed the singer in the film musical "The Jolson Story." That film triggered interest in him once again, and that is when Decca issued a series of newly cut recordings by him. The later Decca recordings are generally worth about a dollar a disc if in good condition.

Incidentally, Jolson introduced "You Made Me Love You" in 1913 at the Winter Garden in the musical production of "Honeymoon Express." One night while singing the song, he felt a sharp pain from an ingrown toenail. To relieve the pressure, he dropped to one knee, and then to justify this move he threw out his arms to take the entire audience into an embrace. It created a sensation and became his trademark.

The Kids First Committee will hold the eighth annual Family Fun Festival on Saturday, April 10, at Broad Ford Elementary School from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. This event is free for children and their families. No reservations are required.

The festival is being held in conjunction with the Month of the Young Child, which is being celebrated across the country by hundreds of organizations working to improve opportunities for all young children. This year's theme is "Early Years are Learning Years."

"All young children need and deserve high quality early learning experiences that will prepare them for life," said Pat Shelton, festival chair and Overlook Judy Center director. "Garrett County has a great opportunity to do our part to help young children."

At the festival, local agencies and organizations will provide hands-on activities, face painting, food, and book giveaways for young children (infants through age 8), their parents, and older siblings.

There will be a light lunch, door prizes, and more as part of this year's event. Landon's Library will participate in the festival, with a special room filled with activities for all children. This will be the April play date for Landon's Library.

Last year more than 170 children and 110 adults attended the festival. The event promotes healthy, family-oriented activities that assist parents/care-givers in helping their children learn and succeed in school. Information about the various services for young children and their families will be available, and staff will be on hand to answer questions.

This year's festival collaborators are the Abilities network/Project Act, APPLES (Alliance for Parent, Provider, and Local Employer Solutions) for Children Inc., Brenda's Body Shop, Cornerstone Family Medicine, the Dove Center, Garrett College Adult Basic Education Program, Garrett County Early Childhood Professional Association, the University of Maryland Extension Office, Garrett County Partnership for Children and Families, GC Sheriff's Office, and Department of Socials Services.

YOUNG CHILD MONTH PROCLAIMED – The Garrett County commissioners visited Yough Glades Elementary School last week to proclaim April as the Month of the Young Child and promote the eighth annual Kids First Family Fun Festival. The Pittsburgh Zoomobile provided hands-on learning about animals – their habitats, behaviors, and characteristics. The Month of the Young Child is a time to recognize the importance of early learning for all young children, and to encourage families, early childhood professionals, and communities to work together to support every child's healthy development and early learning. The theme this year is "Early Years Are Learning Years." The Family Fun Festival, sponsored by the Kids First Committee, is scheduled for Saturday, April 10, at Broad Ford Elementary School from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. The festival is free for children and their families. For more information about the festival, persons may telephone the Overlook Judy Center at 301-334-4211. DEFINITELY MAYBE

Although less than ideal, sellers are seeing more "contingency" contracts, wherein the buyers make their offer contingent upon being able to sell their own home first to complete the purchase. If the buyers aren't successful, their Offer to Purchase becomes null and void, potentially leaving the sellers at Square One.

One way to combat this fear is a "kick-out clause," which is wording included in the contract that allows the sellers to continue marketing their home, even while under contract. If the sellers receive another offer, the buyers are granted a "kick-out" period - usually 72 hours - to respond by removing their sell-first contingency or by securing financing and completing the purchase.

Unfortunately, the chances are that most buyers who must sell first likely won't qualify for another loan on the new property. If the buyers fail on both counts - selling and financing - then the sellers have the right to accept another offer from qualified buyers.

While this might seem to put the buyers at a disadvantage, the sellers must have some sort of protection against an offer that could tie up their listing indefinitely and perhaps never be consummated.

Consider including language in the contract that also requires the buyers to begin aggressively marketing their own home within a specified period. If the buyers don't leap to action, the contract can be voided.

If you are thinking of buying or selling a home but feel "out of touch" with real estate, give me a call today.

Dr. Bentlejewski To Be Speaker At GC Health Fair

Dr. Jennifer Bentlejewski will be among the guest presenters at the Garrett County Health Fair, scheduled for Saturday, April 17, from 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Wisp Resort, McHenry.

"Dr. Bentlejewski will offer some simple strategies for weight loss and tips to help you fill your plate with healthy weight choices," said a health fair spokesperson. "During the session, she will help participants put into practice easy strategies for effectively losing weight and/or managing diabetes."

For example, participants will learn what to eat in order to feel fuller on fewer calories.

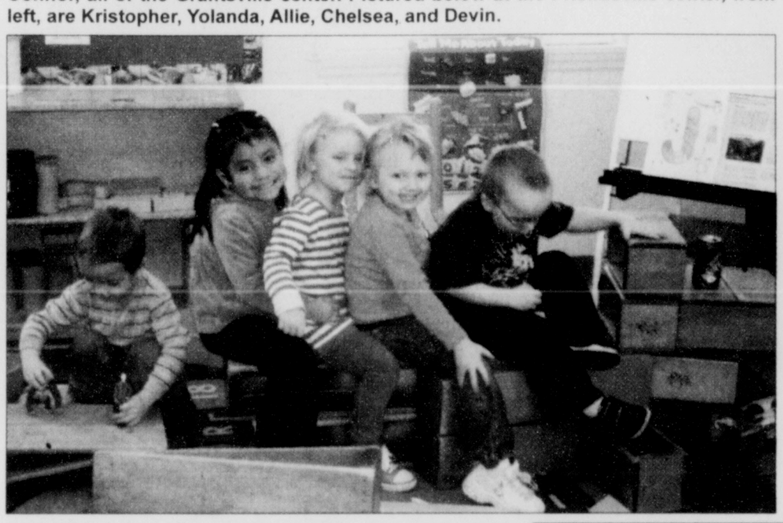
"They will also better understand carbohydrate counting, dining out healthfully, and reading food labels," said the spokesperson.

Bentlejewski holds doctorate and master degrees in education with an undergraduate degree in human nutrition. As a registered dietitian and faculty member of the University of Maryland Extension, she focuses much of her work on diabetes and chronic disease prevention and treatment.

She uses her certification in weight management from the American Dietetic Association to provide advanced obesity prevention education.

In addition to teaching, Bentlejewski has presented her research and scholarly work at numerous state and national conferences. She has also been Awarded nearly 40 grants totaling more than $1 million to enhance educational nutrition programs in western Maryland.

HEAD START OPEN HOUSES SET – The Friendsville Head Start and the Grantsville Head Start and Early Head Start have scheduled open houses for next week. The Friendsville open house will be held next Monday, April 5, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at 947 Community Drive. Special guests will be Karin Tyson, puppeteer, and Mayor Spencer Schlosnagle. The Grantsville open house will be held next Wednesday, April 7, from 9 to 11 a.m. The Head Start and Early Head Start classrooms are located in the Grantsville Elementary School at 120 Grant Street. All interested parents are invited to attend, as are all other visitors. Applications will be completed for eligible children for the 2010-2011 school year. Head Start is a federally funded program. Increasing the number of children entering school ready to learn is one of Garrett County Community Action Committee's primary objectives. According to a GCCAC spokesperson, Head Start/Early Head Start promotes the GCCAC goal of creating a positive attitude about the value of education among working families and young people, thereby increasing the number of Garrett County families who are economically self-sufficient. For more information or to make an appointment to complete an application, persons may telephone the family service staff at 301-334-9431 or 888-877-8403 (toll-free), ext. 170. Children in the photo above, from top and moving clockwise, are Matthew, Michael, Mason, and Connor, all of the Grantsville center. Pictured below at the Friendsville center, from left, are Kristopher, Yolanda, Allie, Chelsea, and Devin.



In addition, she has provided extensive service to her profession, community, and university, said the spokesperson, including being past president of the National Extension Association of Family and Consumer Sciences, Maryland Affiliate.

Other activities at the Health Fair will include various screenings, guest speakers, informational booths and displays, and prizes. The event is open to the general public free of charge.

Driver Hits Tree After Swerving To Miss Deer In Road

A Keyser, W.Va., woman was injured in a single vehicle accident last Friday that occurred on Dilly Road.

Cassy Rae Tichinell, 28, had been traveling north in a 2002 Chevy, when a deer ran out in front of the vehicle. She reportedly tried to avoid hitting the deer, lost control of the vehicle, and hit a tree. She and her passenger were taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by Southern Rescue Squad.

Tichinell was not cited for the accident.

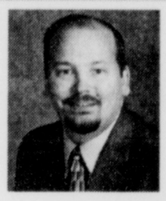
Look for Ways to Cut Investment Taxes



Like millions of your fellow citizens, you may be filing your taxes this week. If you think things might have turned out differently had you paid less in investment-related taxes, you can take steps now to help ensure a different outcome in 2011.

Here are some tax-smart strate gies to consider:

" Invest in tax-free municipal bonds. If you re in an upper income bracket, you might benefit from owning tax-free municipal bonds. The interest payments from munis are typically exempt from federal income taxes and may also be exempt from state and local taxes, depending on where you live. (However, the interest from some types of munis may be subject to the alternative minimum tax, or AMT.)

" Sell your "losers" throughout the year. If you own investments that have lost value and that you don t need to keep for other reasons (such as portfolio balance), consider selling them throughout the year. Your losses can offset any capital gains you might have achieved; if you don t have any gains, the losses can offset up to $3,000 of your regular income. Plus, any losses you don t use in a given year can be carried forward indefinitely for use against future capital gains.

Before embarking on any of these strategies, consult with your tax advisor. Some tax-smart moves may not be appropriate for your situation. But if you re concerned about the impact of investment taxes, it can pay to explore all your options.

" Max out" on your Roth IRA. If you qualify for a Roth IRA, try to fully fund it every year. Your earnings grow tax free, provided you ve had your account at least five years and you don t take withdrawals until you re at least 59½. And as of 2010, everyone can qualify to convert a traditional IRA to a Roth IRA. (Under previous rules, you could convert only if your modified adjusted gross income, or MAGI, was $100,000 or less.) If you convert in 2010, your conversion amount will be split and reported as income for tax years 2011 and 2012, unless you elect to report the entire conversion on your 2010 taxes.

" Distribute assets between taxable and retirement accounts. You ll want to review all your investments to determine if they re working together to help achieve your goals. But in considering ways to help control investment taxes, you may also find it useful to look at two separate categories: your tax-deferred retirement accounts, such as a traditional IRA or 401(k), and your taxable accounts. As a general rule, you might consider putting income-producing securities, such as taxable bonds, into a tax-deferred retirement account. When you ultimately take out this money, presumably at retirement, your withdrawals will be taxed at your income tax rate, which may be lower by then. Conversely, you may want to consider adding growth-oriented securities, such as stocks, to a taxable account. As long as you hold these assets at least a year, you ll pay the long-term capital gains rate, which is currently 15% if you re in one of the top three tax brackets. (This rate may soon rise, however.)

"Estate Planning: The Importance of Wills and Trusts" will be held at the Northern Outreach Center, Grantsville, on Mondays, April 19 and 26, from 6:30 to 9 p.m.

"Estate planning is not just for the wealthy," said a spokesperson. "An estate plan provides the legal mechanism for disposing of property upon death in a way that recognizes wishes and the needs of survivors, while minimizing taxes."

She added that for many people, it can mean planning for the handling of affairs in case of disability and the personal medical choices to be made as life nears its end.

This two-part course will address the common questions regarding wills and trusts. Instructed by Rita Watson, register of wills for Garrett County, the first class will center on wills and probate. The class will explore such questions as: What is a will and what does it do? What does it take to draft a will? How does one choose an executor and what percentage of assets do they take as a commission? What is the probate process and is it necessary for an estate?

The second class will focus on trusts. Included in the discussion will be trust basics, with a definition of terms and its variations. Some other topics will include comparing living trusts, testamentary trusts and wills, disposition of property outside of probate, related tax issues and specialized trusts, and estate planning tools.

This portion of the course will be instructed by local lawyer Gary C. Harriger, JD, who practices in the areas of estates and trusts, real estate, municipal law, and business and employment law.

The course is being offered through the Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division of Garrett College.

To register for the course, persons may call 301-387-3069.

For additional information, persons may contact Terry Beachy, Northern Outreach Center coordinator, at terry.beachy@garrettcollege.edu or 301-895-4700.

Bringing the Dream of Homeownership Within Reach

As part of its plan to stimulate the U.S. housing market and address the economic challenges facing the nation, Congress has passed new legislation that: extends the First-Time Homebuyer Tax Credit of up to $8,000 to first-time home buyers until April 30; and expands the credit to grant up to $6,500 credit to current home owners purchasing a new or existing home between November 7, 2009, and April 30.

Here is more information regarding the tax credit and how it can help you become part of the American dream!

Who Qualifies for the Extended Credit?

•First-time home buyers who purchase homes between November 7, 2009, and April 30.

•Current home owners purchasing a home between November 7, 2009, and April 30 who have used the home being sold or vacated as a principal residence for five consecutive years within the last eight.

To qualify as a "first-time home buyer" the purchaser or his/her spouse may not have owned a residence during the three years prior to the purchase.

Which Properties are Eligible?

The Extended Home Buyer Tax Credit may be applied to primary residences, including single-family homes, condos, townhomes, and co-ops.

How Much is Available?

The maximum allowable credit for first-time home buyers is $8,000. The maximum allowable credit for current homeowners is $6,500.

How is a Buyer's Credit Amount Determined?

Each home buyer's tax credit is determined by two additional factors: the price of the home and the buyer's income.

•Price – Under the Extended Home Buyer Tax Credit, credit may only be awarded on homes purchased for $800,000 or less.

•Buyer Income – Under the Extended Home Buyer Tax Credit, single buyers with incomes up to $125,000 and married couples with incomes up to $225,000 may receive the maximum tax credit.

If the Buyer(s)' Income Exceeds these Limits, Can He/She Still Get a Credit?

Yes, some buyers may still be eligible for the credit. The credit decreases for buyers who earn between $125,000 and $145,000 for single buyers and between $225,000 and $245,000 for home buyers filing jointly. The amount of the tax credit decreases as his/her income approaches the maximum limit. Home buyers earning more than the maximum qualifying income of over $145,000 for singles and over $245,000 for couples are not eligible for the credit.

Can a Buyer Still Qualify if He/She Closes After April 30, 2010?

Under the Extended Home Buyer Tax Credit, as long as a written binding contract to purchase is in effect on April 30, 2010, the purchaser will have until July 1, 2010, to close.

Will the Tax Credit Need to be Repaid?

No. The buyer does not need to repay the tax credit, if he/she occupies the home for three years or more. However, if the property is sold during this three-year period, the full amount credit will be recouped on the sale.

"Egg Lady" Creates Ceramic Eggs By The Thousands For Local Kids

by Brenda Ruggiero and Lisa Broadwater

While some kids look forward to a visit from the Easter Bunny, students at Route 40 Elementary and several schools in Allegany County know that Easter means a visit from the "Egg Lady" as well.

For two generations now, Mickey Harris of Frostburg has been helping the students to create ceramic eggs.

A former art teacher at Bishop Walsh, Harris currently owns a ceramic shop in Frostburg.

The egg tradition began 30 years ago in Eckhart, when Harris originally helped students to create Christmas ornaments. When they had problems with getting paint on their clothes, Harris decided to come up with another project that would be a bit easier for the students. She settled on eggs, and eventually branched out to the schools that her seven grandchildren attended.

Some years, she made eggs with students at 13 different schools, which have included Beall, Frost, Georges Creek, Westernport, St. Michaels, and Broad Ford.

Harris hasn't kept track of the exact number of eggs that she has helped to create, but this year alone there were 1,620. Most years, she has done about 3,600 eggs. When that number is multiplied by 30 years, it adds up to huge amount of eggs.

Harris usually begins pouring eggs around Easter, and works through Thanksgiving to get enough eggs. The eggs are poured into molds, and she currently has 12 molds that hold six eggs each. Her friend Linda Williams helps with the pouring.

After the eggs are poured and have time to dry, her husband Rick helps her to clean each egg until it is smooth. Then they are fired in the kiln.

Once they are fired, the couple load up the eggs and take them to each school for the children to glaze and paint.

The students have 35 different colors to choose from, and can create any pattern that they like. Each child also adds his or her initials and the date to the egg.

Once the eggs are painted, the eggs are fired a second time to process the glaze. Finally, the Harris couple deliver the finished eggs to the schools for the children to take home.

The students affectionately call her the "Egg Lady," and enjoy adding to their collection each year.

This year, when Harris delivered the eggs to Route 40, she was met with a representative from each grade who presented her with a thank-you card and a hug. She also received a gift certificate from the school.

Charged After Deputies Make Traffic Stop

Garrett County sheriff's deputies made an arrest following a traffic stop on Garrett Highway last Wednesday.

Maurice Joseph Roberson was initially stopped for not wearing a seatbelt. Investigation revealed that he was operating the vehicle on a suspended out-of-state license. He was permitted to sign his violation at the scene.

SPECIAL THANK-YOU

The Green family would like to let the Garrett County Rescue Squad know how very thankful and appreciative we are for their promptness that early morning of September 28, 2009. Time was very valuable that morning and they did not waste any time to get to the scene of the accident. It may just be part of the job for the squad members, but it was truly a blessing for Bertha and all her loved ones. Words can't express how thankful we are for the quickness of getting her where she needed to be. Thank you!

Also, many thanks to everyone who volunteered their time, supplies, and donations in making the spaghetti dinner such a success. That was very thoughtful and we are very grateful.

Thank you to everyone who organized and donated goods for the bake sale. That was also appreciated greatly.

Thank you to everyone who helped donate everything else, including your prayers. We believe that, besides the really good doctors fighting to save her life, the prayers, thoughts, and love that went out for her that day is the reason we got to keep her. Please continue to pray for her as she continues to recover. She is making a lot of progress, thanks to all of you. She is truly a miracle from God. She has touched many lives with her kindness and love for everyone. A simple smile from Bertha Green has made so many people have a better day. Thank you all so very much. Praying to God can change a life. Don't question His motive, just know He has a reason for everything, even if you never know why. He does. Again, thank you!

OAKLAND AMERICAN LEGION HALL BURNS – Volunteers from a dozen area fire departments were called into action late Friday when fire broke out at the Proctor Kildow Post 71 American Legion hall, located along Memorial Drive in Oakland. According to investigators, the fire was the result of an electrical problem with an exhaust fan. While most of the fire damage was restricted to the attic and roof of the building, there was considerable heat, smoke, and water damage throughout much of the structure. While investigators estimated damages to be $200,000, a spokesperson for the Legion said that replacement costs will likely be at least $500,000. Fire crews remained on the scene for nearly five hours. There were no injuries reported. This photo was taken by Andrew Hill, Mtn. Lake Park. See additional photos on Page C-1, and see story for details.

CRELLIN FIFTH GRADERS AID DNR WITH TAGGING BEAR CUB – Crellin Elementary School's fifth grade students were recently given the opportunity to meet a six-pound black bear cub recovered from a den in Accident. Harry Spiker, a biologist from the Department of Natural Resources, invited Rebecca Sanders and her class to take part in a spring visit to the den in honor of her recent recognition as Maryland's Environmental Educator of the Year. The male cub was recovered from the den of a 7-year-old sow. Students held the bear to keep him warm while biologists tagged, weighed, and microchipped him. Pictured above is student Alex Butina passing the cub to Spiker.

Proctor Kildow Post Home Ravaged By Fire Friday; Exhaust Fan Blamed

A malfunctioning exhaust fan is being blamed for a fire that caused an estimated $200,000 in damages to the Proctor Kildow Post 71 American Legion building in Oakland late last Friday.

Firefighters from numerous departments were summoned to the structure, located at 423 Memorial Drive, at 11:42 p.m. after an employee of the Legion discovered smoke on the first floor of the two-story wood-frame building and called 911.

The Garrett County Department of Public Safety and Emergency Management initially summoned the Oakland and Deer Park volunteer fire departments for an investigation of smoke in the building. While responding to the fire hall, Oakland VFD chief John Feather came by the legion hall and witnessed heavy, black smoke coming from the eaves and immediately requested a full dispatch for a working fire.

He reported that the first units from Oakland arrived on the scene in about three minutes, just as the flames broke through the roof. He sent a crew into the building, but the firefighters could find no visible fire on the main floor of the building and were soon forced out by heat and zero visibility.

Additional units and firefighters arrived on the scene, with several crews working on water supply, and ladder truck personnel from the Oakland VFD attacking the fire from above after the flames broke through the roof, as the entire attic space was engulfed.

An estimated 100 firefighters from about a dozen departments brought the fire under control in about an hour, but the last unit to leave the scene did not do so until about 4 a.m. Saturday.

Called to the scene were units and personnel from the Deer Park, Deep Creek, Gorman, Bittinger, Kitzmil-

Dove Center Brd. Announces Locale For New Facility

The Dove Center has announced the location for its planned new office and shelter complex in Oakland. The Dove Center is Garrett County's independent nonprofit agency formed in 1991 to advocate for and provide assistance to victims of domestic violence.

The Dove Center board of directors acquired property for the new complex from Dr. David Tuel, located behind his professional office building just off Memorial Drive in Oakland. Tuel and his wife Dorothy, who serves as chairperson of the Dove Center board of directors, transferred the property for half of its appraised value and committed to buy it back at cost should the project not come to fruition.

Architectural design and preparatory site work will be completed soon, according to Heather Hanline, center director. The complex will provide expanded temporary residential quar-

Constellation Energy Completes Acquisition Of Local Wind Project

Constellation Energy announced yesterday that it has closed its agreement with Clipper Windpower Inc. to acquire the Criterion wind project on Backbone Mountain in Garrett County and to purchase 28 Clipper Liberty 2.5-megawatt wind turbines for the project.

The 70-megwatt project will be developed, constructed, owned, and operated by the Baltimore-based Constellation Energy. Kathleen W. Hyle, senior vice president and chief operating officer for Constellation Energy, estimates that up to 125 new jobs will be created during peak construction. She said that commercial operation of the wind energy facility is anticipated by year-end.

"Maryland's clean energy goals are among the most ambitious in the nation, and we're committed to working with the state to achieve them by investing in an array of solar, wind, biomass, and other sustainable energy projects," said Hyle. "The market for clean energy products and services is growing rapidly in Maryland and across competitive energy markets nationwide. Investments in sustainable energy sources improve the environment by reducing carbon emissions, spur much-needed job growth, and allow us to broaden our clean-energy product offerings for customers."

Hyle said that Constellation Energy intends to complete the local project "in an environmentally responsible manner, with special attention to avoid, minimize, and mitigate any potential wildlife impacts from the project."

She added that the company will continue to work with state and federal agencies as part of this effort and plans to apply for an "incidental take" permit from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Constellation has entered into a 20-year power pur-

Comm. Glotfelty Vows Not To Let Cancer Stop Him

Commissioner Denny Glotfelty announced during the Garrett County commissioners' public meeting on Tuesday that he would "trudge forward," despite a recent "roadblock."

"Many of you may already have heard some things regarding my health," he said. "I would like to offer some truths so there are no questions. I have been diagnosed with cancer, and I am currently undergoing treatment."

Glotfelty said he made the public announcement because he did not like rumors.

"If you have a question, [just] call me," he said.

Glotfelty stressed he would continue to serve the county and its residents.

"Despite the setback, I assure you that I intend to maintain my position as Garrett County commissioner and provide the same level of leadership that I have for the past four years," Glotfelty said. "I will battle cancer with the same attitude, effort, and dedication that I have provided all Garrett County citizens. My commitment to the residents of Garrett County has always been an effort undertaken with respect, determination, and to always have a positive outcome."

He requested that people continue to contact him with their questions and concerns.

"My battle with cancer will not stand in my way of serving the citizens of

GC Officials, Road Workers Agree: No Increase In Pay Check Next Year

Garrett County Roads Department crews will not see an increase in their pay checks in the new fiscal year. Local members of the American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employees (AFSCME) were to receive a four percent raise in FY 2011, but, by a majority vote, they agreed to defer that until next year.

"This is pretty monumental," county administrator Monty Pagenhardt said about the group's willingness to forgo a raise for the sake of the county's budget. "Because of what we wanted to work toward – continuing the excellent public service that we have – we needed to direct funds that would go toward increases that directly affect that purpose."

The county and union members are in the third year of a five-year agreement. But because of economic conditions locally, statewide, and nationwide, the county began renegotiating that agreement about four months ago in preparation for its new budget year, which begins on July 1.

Pagenhardt said he went to AFSCME business representative Jim Bestpitch and explained the county's financial dilemma.

"We've got a serious thing here," Pagenhardt told him late last year, noting that the county would not be able to give pay raises to non-union employees or provide budget increases to county departments, Garrett College, the Board of Education, and other entities that receive local funding.

Pagenhardt, therefore, requested that Bestpitch be open to the idea of extending the county-union agreement by one year. The original agreement called for a raise each year.

Cherry Glade Rd. Project Awarded $600K ARC Grant

The Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) has awarded a $600,000 grant to Garrett County to build a new access road between Garrett Highway and North Fourth Street in Oakland, U.S. Senators Barbara Mikulski and Ben Cardin announced this morning.

"These federal funds will help keep Marylanders on the move, while spurring future development and bringing new jobs to Oakland," Mikulski said.

The 250-foot Cherry Glade Access Road will be constructed at the former Garrett County Roads Department garage site, located between Garrett Highway and North Fourth Street. Local officials recently constructed a new garage at the county's Public Works Center and opened up the old site for commercial use. So far, two companies have agreements with the county to operate there.

The county's old garage/administration building will be demolished in the near future to make way for more businesses and the DRIVER TRANSPORTED BY TROOPER 5 – A single-vehicle accident on Accident Friendsville Road at about 5 p.m. Monday resulted in serious injuries to the driver of that vehicle, who had to be flown from the scene to Western Maryland Regional Health Center in Cumberland. In the photo above, taken by Melissa O'Neal, 20-year-old Adam Scott Hoover, Friendsville, is shown being loaded into the Maryland State Police Trooper 5 helicopter by members of the Northern Rescue Squad and Accident Volunteer Fire Department. According to the report by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office, Hoover had been traveling west when the 1996 Jeep he was operating went off the roadway and collided with an embankment. Hoover was ejected from the vehicle when the Jeep overturned and struck a telephone pole. He was reportedly not wearing a seatbelt, and alcohol may have been a factor in the accident. Charges are pending upon completion of the investigation.

"SWEET MUSIC, SWEET HARMONY" is the title of this weekend's performance by the Garrett Choral Society. The musical creations of composer Ralph Vaughan Williams (1872-1958) will be the focus of the two concerts, which will be given on April 10 at 7:30 p.m. and April 11 at 2 p.m. at St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Oakland. Patricia Fanara Wolfe, an acclaimed professional soprano, will sing as soloist with the group in Five Mystical Songs. The choral society, which includes singers from across Garrett County, is under the direction of Julie Turrentine, and will be accompanied by Lynn Grimm. The program includes both secular and sacred pieces composed by Williams, who was an English composer of symphonies, chamber music, opera, choral music, and film scores. He was also a collector of English folk music and song; this also influenced his editorial approach to the English Hymnal, for which he composed several folk song arrangements set as hymn tunes, in addition to several original compositions. Tickets for the program are $10 for adults and $5 for youth 18 years and younger. One dollar from each ticket will be donated toward Haiti relief via Heart to Heart International, a global humanitarian organization. Tickets are available at Gregg's Pharmacy and Jan Florist in Oakland, as well as from any choral society member or at the door.

Congressman Roscoe Bartlett has announced that the location for his local outreach event has changed. It had been scheduled to take place at the American Legion in Oakland.

But because of a fire there last Friday night, the event will now be held at VFW Post 10074, Deer Park, on Wednesday, April 14, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

A representative from the Maryland Veterans Affairs Department will be available to discuss issues.

Walk-ins are welcome, but to schedule an appointment, persons may call toll free at 1-800-889-3012.

LOCAL STUDENT ASSISTS DELEGATION –Jerica Bennett, a Southern High School student, recently served as a page in the Maryland House of Delegates during the 2010 Legislative Session. Bennett was one of a select number of high school seniors to represent their respective counties in Annapolis. The program affords high school seniors throughout the state the chance to experience the legislative process "up close and personal." Left to right are Bennett and Del. Wendell R. Beitzel.

Beitzel, Edwards Selected As State Budget Conferees

Del. Wendell R. Beitzel (R, District 1A) and Sen. George C. Edwards (R, District 1) were selected by state Senate and House leadership to serve as conferees on the FY 2011 Operating Budget, the Budget Reconciliation and Financing Act, and the Capital Budget.

"This is a great opportunity to provide meaningful and effective representation for the people of Garrett and Allegany counties," Beitzel said.

He is sitting on the committees as a voting conferee, and Edwards is an advisor.

"This year's budget is one of the most difficult that I have seen in my 28 years in the Maryland General Assembly," stated Edwards, "That is why it is so important to have representation from both Delegate Beitzel and me on the conference committees."

Beitzel was selected by House Speaker Michael Busch and House Appropriations chairman Norman Conway, and is the only Republican selected to be a conferee from the House.

"There are some items in the budget that I disagree with, but it is the product of input from both political parties and from all areas of the state," Beitzel said. "It is an honor to work with my colleagues from both political parties to finish the work on the FY 2011 budget."

Edwards was selected by Senate President Thomas V. "Mike" Miller and Senate Budget and Taxation Committee chairman Ulysses Currie, and joins Republican Senator David Brinkley from Frederick.

Maryland is constitutionally required to have a balanced budget presented and approved by the end of the 90-day session. Therefore, the conferees must reconcile the differences between the two versions of the bill by midnight on April 12.

"Avoid Conflicts With Black Bears," Says DNR Official

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) is reminding people living in and visiting bear country that they should help keep Maryland's black bears wild.

"Keeping bears wild is a community effort that benefits both bears and people," said Harry Spiker, DNR's game mammal section leader.

In April, after a long winter slumber, bears leave their dens and begin looking for food. Natural foods are scarce in the early spring, and bears will often take advantage of human-provided food sources if they are available. Generally, this creates problems for both bears and people.

Trash and birdfeeders are two food sources that often lure bears into residential areas. Trash should be locked in a bear-proof trash container or inside a building until the day of trash pick-up so that bears cannot access it.

Rinsing trash cans with ammonia after they are emptied will help to eliminate any food odors that might attract bears, Spiker noted.

Homeowners should also remove birdfeeders from April through November to avoid attracting bears. Songbirds will not suffer as there are many food sources for birds during this time period, according to Spiker.

"If you insist on feeding birds, it is recommended that you bring birdfeeders in at night when most bears are active," he said. "This will not only prevent bears from eating the birdseed, but will also prevent them from destroying the feeder."

For more information on living with black bears, persons may call the Western Region DNR Service Center at 301-777-2136 or visit dnr.maryland.gov/wildlife/bbmd.asp.

God saw they were getting tired
And a cure was not to be.
So he put his arms around them
And whispered, "Come with me."
With tearful eyes we watch them suffer
And saw them fade away.
Although we loved them dearly
We could not make them stay.

Ruffed Grouse Soc. To Host Habitat Improvement Day

The Backbone Mountain Chapter of the Ruffed Grouse Society will host a Habitat Improvement Work Day on Saturday, April 24, at Potomac Garrett State Forest from 12:30 p.m. to 4 p.m. The organization plans to make this an annual event, a spokesperson said.

The public is invited to join the members to help in the effort. The day will begin at 12:30 p.m. at the "group campsite" in the Wallman area of the Potomac-Garrett State Forest. A busload of 4th grade students from Dennett Road Elementary School are to arrive there at that time to help.

Forest manager John Denning will provide a briefing of the afternoon's activity. The group will then go to the Loop Road Handicapped Hunter Access Trail and Snowmobile Trail (an unimproved dirt road) to an log landing, where the volunteers will proceed on foot for 1/3 mile to the planting site.

The project for the day will involve planting a variety of tree seedlings that will contribute significant wildlife habitat values to the surrounding state forest, a spokesperson said. Included in the planting will be 1,000 native red spruce trees; once abundant in the highlands of Garrett County and surrounding West Virginia. Now this native conifer is found in very few remnant populations throughout the region.

"These trees will offer dense winter cover to not only ruffed grouse, but a variety of wildlife species," the spokesperson said.

The group will also plant a small apple orchard consisting of a dozen apple trees. These trees provide food for wildlife in the obvious form of apples, but also through their buds that are favored by grouse.

The volunteers will plant 50 American chestnut seedlings as part of a national effort to re-establish the nearly extinct trees that once dominated the Appalachian region. These individually tagged trees will be monitored for growth success and will eventually be part of a regional seed orchard system that will help further the re-establishment of the tree species, the spokesperson said.

State forest staff will have planting holes already augured in for the seedlings, though participants are encouraged to bring spade shovels to help plant the apple orchard. All other necessary tools will be provided.

Participants should eat lunch prior to arrival. Snacks will be provided. Volunteers should wear work clothes, sturdy boots, and gloves, and should be prepared for the weather conditions of the day.

This work day/habitat project is a cooperative effort between Backbone Mountain RGS Chapter, Safari Club International, the Garrett County Forest Conservancy District, Dennett Road Elementary School, and the Maryland Department of Natural Resources.

Persons must register to take part in the work day. Information about registration can be obtained by e-mailing april.rohrbaugh@gmail.com. The deadline for registration is April 19.

Illegal Drugs in Your Neighborhoods

Illegal drugs affect us all in some fashion. As parents, educators and mentors, we try to instill solid values into our children only to have our efforts tarnished by a pusher telling our children that we do not know what is right for them. This pressure often engulfs even the best of kids.

As your candidate for Sheriff, I will not stand for this. I have watched my fellow officers work tirelessly to investigate and arrest drug users only to see them back out on your streets again. No matter the outcome of court proceedings, I assure you we will continue to do whatever it takes to get rid of these individuals from your neighborhoods and to protect our youth. I will continue to work with the school systems in educating our children on the harmful effects of illegal drugs as well as organizations striving to get these kids help if they fall to the wayside. As parents we want the best for our kids. As your Candidate for Sheriff, I will work diligently to see that they get that opportunity.

Since 2008 members of the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force have seized 5 drug related vehicles. I and members of the Task Force were able to work with the Garrett County Purchasing Dept. to successfully sell these vehicles on eBay. Proceeds from these sales exceeded $17,000. These funds have been and will be utilized for Task Force training, equipment, vehicles and K-9 dogs at no cost to the tax payers of Garrett County.

"In This Together..."

Most labor unions do not have a great reputation throughout the country, typically because if the membership does not get what it wants at the contract negotiating table, then calling a strike – or at least threatening to do so – is the response. Because union members are among the better paid workers in the nation, they are often branded as "greedy" whenever a work stoppage is called.

But it seems that the union men and women employed by the Garrett County Roads Department are an exception to that description. Instead of "greedy," words such as "reasonable," "understanding," "cooperative," and "unselfish" come to mind.

Because of the county's budget woes, including the loss of state monies known as Highway User Funds, the roads workers have agreed to forgo their planned pay raise for the coming fiscal year. The county commissioners essentially asked to break a five-year, negotiated, good-faith contract with the road workers, and they agreed to that.

While this decision is commendable under most any circumstances, it is even more so considering the kind of workload these folks have had to endure for the past several months, with an all-time record amount of snow falling on Garrett County during the winter of 2009-10. Indeed, one would anticipate that anger and resentment would be the response to a request to eliminate a projected pay raise after emerging from such a grueling assignment.

It is greatly appreciated that the Garrett County roads workers have obviously adopted the attitude "We are all in this together" when it comes to our current economic situation, and recognizing that by each employee making a relatively small sacrifice, furloughs and the elimination of jobs can more easily be avoided.

So to the men and women of the GC Roads Department, we non-union neighbors extend a hearty thanks, not only for your outstanding work in extremely hazardous conditions throughout the past winter, but also for your unselfish response to the county commissioners' request to postpone your pay raise.

Letters to the Editor

Writers of letters to the editor are reminded that letters will not be published if they exceed 400 words, do not include contact information, and/or are deemed to be libelous.

Editor's note: The following three letters were written by fifth grade students at Broad Ford Elementary School.

To the Editor:

In many countries, such as Jamaica, they don't have the luxuries we do. We often take everything for granted, like our education.

In Jamaica, they don't have outstanding schools like we do in America. If we donated to them, we could make a big difference for every poor kid in Jamaica.

They need our help. We have government programs to help us, but they don't. We need to find a way to donate money and items. They have dirt floors and small classrooms, with very few books. Their schools are damaged by hurricanes.

We don't even pay for high school, but they can't go unless they pay for it or pass a lot of tests.

I believe we can all get money and items to donate to their schools. We need to get everything possible to help them. Please donate to the children of Jamaica. To donate items and money, go to the Red Cross for Schools in Jamaica or go to this web site: www.Jamaica-kidz.com.

Sincerely,
Linden Nichols

To the Editor:

According to Google, about 750,000 people die from air pollution alone each year. I believe that we should help make Earth a safer place by reducing air pollution.

You could walk or ride a bike instead of driving. You could ride a horse instead of a dirt bike. You could also help out with Earth Day on April 22.

There are so many reasons why you should help reduce air pollution. For example, because the American Lung Association estimates that about 64,000 Americans die each year from inhaling particles from factories, power plants, and diesel engines.

Another reason is that one of those people could be somebody you love or care for. That is why I believe we should work to reduce air pollution.

Amy Custer

To the Editor:

The average person produces 1,600 pounds of trash each year, and only one quarter of it is recycled.

Earth needs our help, and I believe that we should do our part on the 40th anniversary of Earth Day, April 22.

Help by doing little things that mean a lot to our planet. You can allow clippings of grass to stay on the lawn and decompose, which will make your yard healthier. Compost helps improve soil, because it holds more water and plants grow better.

Another way we can help our planet is by preserving animal habitats. Farmers should stop spraying chemicals on their crops because they get into the water supply and eventually make animals sick.

We need to clear less land for construction.

Pollution from factories and vehicles puts toxins into the air. The toxins land on plants, the ground, and in water. This is dangerous for our animals.

You can start helping Earth by going online to www.billionactsofgreen.com and pledging to make a commitment to help Earth. I don't know why anyone would be opposed to helping on Earth Day.

If we don't take care of Earth, our lives will be in danger. Please help Earth stay very healthy and safe. Earth needs that very much, and it would be very helpful if you would help.

To the Editor:

While I believe Ms. Morgan had the best intentions and sentiments in her letter to the editor (last week), it contained a serious error.

Freedom is not a privilege. It is a right. However one wishes to refer to it, freedom is a right. Our Founding Fathers knew this 200 years ago; hence the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution.

If over 200 years ago this was known and an entire country was founded on this principle, it baffles the mind that it is sometimes forgotten and mistaken for a privilege.

Also, I do not understand what Ms. Morgan means by a "sufficient amount of political freedom." I expect nothing less than total and complete freedom, and will never be satisfied with some arbitrary amount. I certainly hope all others expect the same.

The League of Women Voters of Garrett County met March 8 to discuss administration of justice. Our guest speakers were Cliff DeWitt and Joe DiSimone.

After discussion with these experienced individuals and those in attendance, we came to the consensus that the offices of clerk of court, register of wills, and judges of the orphans' court should be selected in nonpartisan elections. We also came to the consensus that judges of the orphans' court need not be attorneys. But we did recommend that the name be changed to probate court, which better explains what the court does.

The League of Women Voters of Garrett County will be holding its 40th annual meeting on Saturday, April 24. The League of Women Voters of the United States will be celebrating its 90th anniversary. The local meeting on April 24 will be held at Uno's Restaurant, beginning at noon. Anyone may attend the luncheon by telephoning 301-334-9597 for a reservation. The cost of lunch is $12, and persons are asked to make reservations by April 19. No reservation is necessary for those who do not wish to have the lunch.

The meeting following the luncheon will begin at approximately 1 p.m. Our guests will be Senator George Edwards, Delegate Wendell Beitzel, and the Garrett County commissioners.

To the Editor:

As the owner of a company whose business is to make other businesses more efficient and productive through the use of technology, I well understand the importance of reliable and stable electricity to our economy – the backbone of which consists of small- and medium-sized businesses.

Most small-business owners and operators would probably agree that random shortages of electricity are among the most undesirable business conditions. Most small-business plans assume a reliable supply of electricity to fuel production. Though back-up power sources are available, they are costly to install and to operate. When production stops and deadlines are missed, orders are unfilled and business is lost. Wages and creditors may be unpaid. Only a remote possibility unworthy of addressing? I think not.

As a member of Marylanders for Reliable Power, I am well aware that Maryland is not meeting the growing demand for electricity. Generation and transmission upgrades have not kept pace with demand, perhaps with good reason, given the regulatory climate and growing environmental concerns. However, if something is not done to assure that we meet the state's future electricity needs with substantial upgrades to our power generation and transmission infrastructure, we are on course to severely damage our economy.

I applaud the public and private efforts to conserve electricity. I encourage those practices in my business and in my home. Not wasting electricity just makes sense. Renewable sources do offer hope for the future. But the need for more electricity looms and must be met in the short term by greater generation and a 21st century system to transmit it. It is important that our state's leaders understand that we depend upon them to make sure these actions are taken. To maintain our economy – the envy of many other states – we must not delay.

To the Editor:

I have been working for over a year now on the reason for not being able to receive Maryland television in Garrett County, and here are the results.

I have contacted Comcast, Direct TV, and Dish Network, only to be told that there is an FCC law that tells them what TV we can receive in Garrett County. That's a lie; there is no law. They go by the Neilson Ratings that recommend what demographic area we fall in. Nielson says we are in the Pittsburgh area, and therefore we get Pittsburgh TV. Suddenlink Cable broadcasts Maryland television in Oakland (both MPT and NBC), but is very limited as to the area it serves.

I contacted the Garrett County commissioners and was told they are not sure about who decides what.

I contacted the governor's office and was politely referred to the Garrett County commissioners' office since it is their "jurisdiction."

I contacted the offices of Barbara Mikulski twice and I am still waiting for a reply.

I contacted Roscoe Bartlett's office and got a "generic" answer that had nothing to do with the question.

What I have concluded is that Garrett County has no regulation at all over the cable TV companies. Why?!

It is about time that Garrett County start regulatory control over the cable companies that do whatever they please in Garrett County, and tell them we want the choice of what TV we receive in Garrett County. After all, we are the ones paying for it, not the Nielson Company. All of the other counties that I contacted have departments that control the cable TV companies that operate in their jurisdictions and review what they can and can't do. When are we going to do the same?

I will volunteer to be on the board when they form it. Please call the commissioners' office and tell them how you feel about this. It appears that the only way we will ever get Maryland TV in Garrett County is to demand it of our commissioners.

Charles McLaughlin
Oakland

Dear Mr. McLaughlin:

We received the following response to your letter from the county attorney.

Editor

It has been a long time since we dealt with the issue, but the county did have, at one time, authority to issue a "franchise" to local cable operators. The regulation of all of this has been modified over time, but the emphasis is that there is little, if any, ability of local government to regulate "cable" providers, and there is not any authority to regulate any "over-the-air" broadcasters or providers.

The issue that the writer addresses in terms of "local" channels relates to what used to be (and perhaps still is) called, "white" areas. These are areas that do not have the ability to receive local origination network broadcasts by traditional means, such as antenna. All of this has changed with the conversion of analog to digital signals, but all under the direction of the federal government.

What local stations are available in a given area has been the subject of litigation as well, but again, at the federal level. I am not aware of any authority for local government to address this constituent's concerns.

Mike Getty

To the Editor:

It has been a while since I have written a letter to the editor. Well, it has been long enough. We must speak out and be heard. Those of us known as the silent majority must not be silent any longer.

In November 2008 people voted for change. Well, things have changed, but not for the better. Unemployment has doubled, the federal debt has doubled, the number of people working at taxpayer expense jobs has doubled, and all the while the average person has lost his/her job or had to be cut back. Is this the change you wanted?

How did this happen? Well, it is very simple; millions of people who were eligible to vote did not. If you are unhappy with the changes that have happened, there is a way to fix it – Clean house; not only house, but also the senate and the governor's mansion in Annapolis.

But in order to do this we must stick together and vote the tax-and-spend, big-government liberals out. Why should we just sit by and allow the government to tell us that we must buy a product that we may not be able to afford, or pay a fine? How will we pay the fine if our economy has already tanked so badly that millions cannot find work?

The current administration in Annapolis promised to cut electric bills, lower taxes, and improve the economic environment in Maryland. But instead the O'Malley administration has done nothing to cut costs to you and me and has proposed bills that would hurt the economy by putting hurtful regulations on our largest employers like NewPage and coal producers. Say one thing and do another, that's O'Malley.

We must all realize that we need to clean up the system in our state and national governments. This can be done. But we must vote and "get 'R done!" If we do not vote, we are accepting what they do to us, and that is wrong.

If you have not registered, get registered, and if you are registered, vote. If you are truly unhappy with the direction our state and national economies have gone, vote to clean it up. Now that is really a way to help the environment.

To the Editor:

The Sanford 10 testing is given to second graders in our county. It is not a state or federally mandated test. I feel it is detriment to our children's education when we are asking the state to ex-spunge five days due to snow, then we spend five days in county, not state, testing with the Sanford 10. We need to be spending these five days catching up on our kids' basic lessons of second grade.

In second grade they are learning critical things like addition and subtraction – the whole foundation to math – and reading confidence and comprehension. So now we have lost five days to snow and five days to county testing. That equals 10 days, or two weeks, of spelling, reading, and math.

Five days may seem minor, but now we are losing two weeks. For my husband and me, two weeks is so critical to our son's education. He is blind, but very capable of doing his work. He is not just learning these basics, but also Braille, Braille contraction, Braille math, orientation and mobility, or cane travel. Two weeks without his multiple teachers is the difference between staying right up with his classmates and falling behind.

We will ask that our son not take the Sanford, but be given review work to do during those hours, with his multiple teachers. Then in the next few years when he tries to take the MSA and other mandated tests, he will be able to keep up.

They will be spending weeks to study to learn to take the test instead of learning social studies, science, math, and English in the future, but for now we will be trying to make sure our son has the basics.

To the Editor:

In response to last week's letter concerning the current conditions of the Harvey House, it sure seems funny that the some of the same issues from years past are once again being raised. You see, the problems existed in 2007-2009, but nothing was done then either.

Promises were made and broken. Why? Because of the issue of funding.

Even the Office of Consumer Advocacy in Hagerstown made promises, but none were kept. For example, there was the promise of a new building. The employees spent two weeks looking at possible locations, When they found a few, they were told they weren't affordable, so the program stayed at its present location. Now look what's happening – an unsafe environment for consumers who need a facility where they can go to relax and socialize. Now they are afraid of snakes, floors falling in, and no escape route if there is a fire.

Concerning staff being from Allegany County, at one time the staff was from Garrett County, but they resigned after being told they complained too much and weren't doing their jobs right, among other things. If Garrett County residents can't run things, what makes people think that Allegany residents can do better? Seems funny that the first director didn't last long, and the present director does not seem to be doing anything to guarantee the safety of the consumers.

So just where is the funding going? What about the promises?

We wish the writer of last week's article the very best in the pursuit to make Harvey House a safe haven for all mental health clients and their families. Our complaints were ignored.

Sincerely,
Kathy Schrock

To the Editor:

Although I've known for years that there are such things as bone marrow transplants, I never thought about the donor process for donating bone marrow until I developed a need for a transplant. It's certainly not something that seems to be well publicized, and that's why I'm writing about it. As a donor, you can literally save a life. That, to me, would be something wonderful to do.

I've read that every year more than 10,000 people could benefit from a bone-marrow transplant. The current donor registry contains 13 million people, worldwide, willing to donate their bone marrow to save someone else's life. While that sounds like a lot, only four of 10 people will receive the transplant that may save a life. I know, because of that 13 million, there's been no match found for me. I didn't think I was that unique!

The donor's bone marrow must match extremely close to the patient's to provide the best chance for success. The matching process is very complex, and finding the ideal match is obviously not easy. That's why we need more folks to sign up to be donors. The more donors, obviously the better the chances that those needing a transplant will find a match.

Signing up is easy. If you're between the ages of 18 and 60 and considering becoming a donor, check out the sign-up process online at www.mar-row.org or www.dkmsamericas.org/bone-marrow-donors/become-marrow-donor. Or call 1-800-627-7692. Registering takes only a few minutes. It consists of completing a form and swabbing your mouth. They ask you to make a commitment to be willing to donate your bone marrow for anyone.

If you're not eligible to be a donor, then please consider donating money to either of the organizations above or to the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society. There is a cost associated with the processing of new donors, and contributions are needed to offset those costs.

If I can persuade several hundred people to become bone-marrow donors, the likelihood of there being a match for me is statistically minute. But that's not the reason I'm asking. Now that I know of the need, I must do what I can to make others aware of a process that could enable one to directly save someone's life.

Please seriously consider becoming a donor or contributing to the organizations.

MORE HEAD START OPEN HOUSES SET – The Dennett Road, Yough Glades, and Accident Head Start programs have scheduled open houses at their respective elementary schools for next week. The Dennett Road open house is set for Monday, April 12, from 9 to 11 a.m.; the Yough Glades event will be held the same day from 1 to 4 p.m.; and the Accident open house will be on Wednesday, April 14, from 9 to 11 a.m. All interested parents are invited to attend, as are all other visitors. Applications will be completed for eligible children for the 2010-2011 school year. Head Start is a federally funded program. Increasing the number of children entering school ready to learn is one of Garrett County Community Action Committee's primary objectives. According to a GCCAC spokesperson, Head Start/Early Head Start promotes the GCCAC goal of creating a positive attitude about the value of education among working families and young people, thereby increasing the number of Garrett County families who are economically self-sufficient. For more information or to make an appointment to complete an application, persons may telephone the family service staff at 301-334-9431 or 888-877-8403 (toll-free), ext. 170. ters for victims, as well as staff offices and a counseling center.

The Dove Center has begun Phase II of its capital campaign to raise enough money to begin construction.

"Once again we have applied for Community Development Block Grant funding for the project," Hanline said. "Not already owning 'shovel-ready' property was one of the reasons our application was turned down last year. CDBG administrators also advised that we need more local support and cash on hand to guarantee the facility will be fully completed in a timely manner."

The Dove Center has applied to other potential public and private funding sources as well this year. To date the capital campaign has received more than $162,000 in local pledges, but more is needed to meet matching fund requirements. Phase II of the capital campaign has set a local fundraising goal of $150,000 by May. About $66,000 of that amount has been committed thus far, including a $50,000 anonymous pledge.

Working closely with local law enforcement and social service agencies, the Dove Center has operated its own shelter for victims and a professional counseling center since 1997. Nearly five hundred new Garrett County clients were served in 2009. The center also serves as Garrett County's rape crisis center.

Board members and staff expressed gratitude to the Tuels for their generous commitment to the project, Hanline noted.

Garrett County Home Sellers to Welcome Thousands of Buyers in April

To offer buyers the convenience of touring dozens of homes for sale in one weekend, the Garrett County Board of Realtors (GCBR) and their clients will be hosting open houses April 10-11. The statewide open house weekend is being sponsored by the 25,000 member Maryland Association of Realtors.

"It's a home shopper's dream," said Patrick Kane, GCBR president. "For the serious buyer, the opportunity to tour dozens of homes in one weekend is a real time saver. Others who didn't think they could afford a home may be drawn into the market by affordable prices and low interest rates. It's a win-win."

The Maryland Open House Weekend comes just before the April 30 deadline for the federal homebuyer tax credit. Homes need to be under contract by April 30 and closed by June 30 in order for buyers to take advantage of up to $8,000 in tax credits.

"This event offers people a convenient way to see as many homes as they want in one weekend and gives our members a chance to be part of this fantastic effort to match buyers to their sellers," said Kane.

Kane added that the weekend will be an enjoyable way to attract buyers and help them learn more about what is available in the local housing market. For more information, he advises readers to watch for upcoming participating broker open house listings.

The Garrett County Board of Realtors serves as the voice for real estate in Garrett County and provides programs, services, continuing education, research, and legislative representation to its 135 members.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

I am pretty tied to my routine of going to bed almost as soon as it gets dark. But not last night, because of the big game of my girls' team, West Virginia. It did not even start until 9:30. It did not matter as much, because my girls chose to go out with their Garrett County friends, naturally to watch the game and then have a bonfire.

As I passed through the living room to let Boo in for the night at about 10:30, it clearly was hopeless to hope for a huge upset, although the Mountaineers did have a respectible performance in the national semi-final game. I don't know what it is about Duke that they always are almost unbeatable in the big games. We should give lots of credit to the University of Maryland, which did beat them this season. But the Blue Devils were way too much for West Virginia Saturday night.

Although I was asleep before 11, it was still way too late. And I had a busy sleep, which means intense dreams.

The plan was for the girls to come over to my house for breakfast before we rushed out to church.

But this morning, I didn't feel up to the challenge of getting to where I looked presentable, then making the hard climb up the steps to go into the church. It would be a big help if they would have a railing on the right side going up.

So I was not dying to go to the Easter luncheon at Lesa Whittemore's house, which has a different set of stone steps. It terrifies me to go up them. But I managed somehow, and the food was divine! Fresh asparagus, ham, Carol Bass' special potato salad, and lots of deviled eggs.

But everything was rushed. I didn't get to enjoy the last days with Caitlin and Mere, because their spring break was over on Monday.

It was good to see Claire up from Northern Virginia, and Matthew Bass is pleased with his new job with the Department of Energy in Washington, D.C.

I didn't think I could feel worse than yesterday. It's mostly sinus congestion. It seems too early to have any pollen yet, but I am not the only one suffering from it. I also know of Landon Southerly and his cousin Shane Buckel.

I might not have completely fulfilled my ambition that I wrote in the high school yearbook. It was to work for "world peace." Maybe it should have said "to help change the world for the better."

I know that I deeply influenced the way many students looked at the world, and sometimes changed minds and hearts. I know because I am often told that by my former students. They say they became more open-minded, independent thinking, and more tolerant of other kinds of people.

That is far from an achievement worthy of the Nobel Peace Prize, but each student who learned some important chance of viewpoint will spread my message to other people. And I am glad I was a part of making some very successful and valuable adults.

Meanwhile, back at the ranch (our farm), I was surprised at how wonderful and fulfilling the role of being a mother was. And I am very proud of how my girls turned out now that they are on the threshold of adulthood. But sadly, today is the end of a way too short spring break. I cried when they drove off, but it's only about one month until this semester will be over, then they can come for the summer.

During the first few years of the 1990s, I was so happy and fulfilled, never dreaming that in one minute on April 17, 1994, I would lose everything that I had worked so hard for. I lost some things right away, and others years after. But since that bad day in April, I have never felt like myself. And everyone treats me so differently.

I certainly lost confidence in myself. Now I feel pretty powerless. Maybe most painful is the fact that before my aneurysm, I felt totally confident about my ability to confront any challenges I encountered. But now my life is surrounded by fear and hopelessness. I am so fearful, I hate to go anywhere.

I fully planned to go to the Easter Sunday service this morning, but I felt so miserable. I was exhausted, and had lots of pain in my left leg. I also had a bad headache and just felt generally flu-ish. I can't think of a time I didn't go to services at Easter. One especially memorable one was when I attended a sunrise service on top of the Empire State Building.

When my family was still intact, my husband and I would put together three perfect Easter baskets loaded with all kinds of treats the night before. Then we hid them around the house. I used to decorate Easter bonnets for the girls when they were still preschool age. Those were the days when everything was just about perfect.

I had a dream job for me. It used all my years of education with some exceptionally talented teachers that I could draw inspiration from, and a high bar about what it took to be a great teacher. Mainly, you need to really know your students: their strengths and weaknesses.

You also especially needed to be able to see what would prevent them from someday becoming the best they could possibly be, and know when you need to encourage or to push them harder. Of course, the expression of anyone's ideas is most important in any profession.

I taught both written composition and speech, and various kinds of literature. Of course, before you can communicate, you must be able to put together ideas involving critical thinking, not just looking at a subject but actually seeing the truth embodied in it. And one must care as much as possible about each of the students, and want the best for them. Of course, some students were easier to care deeply for, others not so much. Having the highest possible standards and always being were also crucial.

The high point of my career as a college professor was during my last days of teaching. I got an assignment to put together a class of humanities, about the relationship of mankind with the environment. It was especially for Garrett College's wildlife and natural resources studies, but also having a wide appeal for almost any student.

Of course, there wasn't a textbook for that kind of class. So while developing the course, I read just about all the important historical writings – the Bible, literature, and some landmark non-fiction works. I even studied some popular music, films, and paintings. I studied the thousands-of-years-old roots of the vision of the natural world, including pre-historic humans, basic religious ideas, and the Native American's relationship with nature. Then I moved to the rest of American history, starting with the words of Columbus about the unbelievable resources, followed by the settlement periods.

I assigned our local work, Forty-four Years of the Life of a Hunter by Meshach Browning, in which he tells about one day of hunting's yield to his rifle: 10 deer and a few bears. He certainly expressed the early American's attitude toward the wild country: Exploit the natural resources as much and as fast as possible.

Then at the dawn of the 20th century, there was a new idea that some of this wild and wonderful country should be preserved for future Americans. Teddy Roosevelt established a national park and protected the ecosystem. Suddenly, the federal government was the chief protector of our environment.

It's funny, but there wasn't any negative backlash about federal laws dictating what we can and can't do in certain large plots of land. The hunters and trappers didn't threaten the president and demand complete freedom to do what they felt like doing.

Roosevelt also took the big step of enacting a national program for all Americans. He was one of several visionary presidents who proposed big things for the good of all Americans.

The Lake Effect will play at the Recher Theatre in Towson this Friday to release their new album, Right, By Accident.

The cover art for the CD was taken on the farm behind the barn. They are very excited to release the CD that they have been diligently working on for the past year.

The band consists of Elliot, Darryl, and Robbie Glotfelty, and David Valenta, who is from Finzel.

This is the first show that they have gotten to headline at the Recher, and they expect a large turnout.

The Lake Effect will be playing on Memorial Day weekend at Wisp Resort for the annual K-9s, Tunes, and Brews event. You can find out more about the Lake Effect online at www.tleband.com.

Despite the heartbreaking WVU loss to Duke, I am still very excited about baseball being back. Yesterday was the Baltimore Orioles' opening day, and today the Pittsburgh Pirates will begin a new season at 1 p.m. They lost some really fine players last year as free agents.

I saw one of the new players, Jones, hit a home run into the Allegheny River. And the Goodyear Blimp was over the stadium.

One of the most unusual sights on our farm was about 20 years ago, as the Goodyear Blimp was sailing above the ridge of Meadow Mountain.

My twin nephews Darryl and Elliot Glotfelty turned 21 years old! I didn't see them this last weekend, but they did come home. They just had to go back early on Sunday. I heard that Darryl is running for student body treasurer at Towson State.

It happens that Lea Stanton Pochet shares the same birthday with the twins, and she was their first babysitter.

Jonathan Michael Stem, 22, Oakland, was convicted of two counts of second degree assault by a jury in Garrett County Circuit Court yesterday. He was found not guilty of two counts of first degree assault. Judge Jim Sherbin ordered a pre-sentence investigation report be completed prior to sentencing and continued Stem's release on bond.

Stem was charged by Garrett County Sheriff's deputies who investigated an incident along Maryland Highway last July. The victims alleged Stem had almost struck their vehicle while passing on the right at a high rate of speed. After several attempts to contact Stem, they were traveling east near Deer Park when they again encountered Stem who pulled behind them, following closely, before he passed a number of vehicles and moved to the opposite shoulder to avoid on-coming traffic.

Norman Eugene Simmons II, 44, Aurora, W. Va., pled guilty to driving under the influence of alcohol. Judge Sherbin sentenced Simmons to the maximum possible sentence of three years in the Division of Corrections and imposed fines and court costs totaling $1,145.

Simmons was arrested and charged in November after the vehicle he was driving was stopped by a Maryland State Police trooper for a speeding violation, traveling 78 MPH in a posted 55 MPH zone, along Garrett Highway, south of Oakland. The officer made observations of Simmons and conducted field sobriety tests, which Simmons could not complete. After Simmons was charged, it was learned he has seven prior convictions on his record for alcohol offenses.

Connie Marie Workman, 24, Mtn. Lake Park, was sentenced by Judge Sherbin to 18 months in the Garrett County jail for possession of marijuana. She had pled guilty to the crime in January and the court had ordered a pre-sentence investigation report be completed for this hearing.

Workman was arrested and charged by investigators with the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force in September. Conducting an on-going investigation, officers located Workman's vehicle in which she was the front seat passenger and stopped the vehicle for various equipment violations. While the traffic stop was on-going, the vehicle was scanned by a drug-detection canine, with a positive alert noted. A quantity of marijuana was found behind the glove box. Workman later acknowledged the marijuana was hers.

A charge of second degree assault against Larissa Kay Kitzmiller, 18, Oakland, was placed on the stet [inactive] docket. Kitzmiller was charged in October by sheriff's deputies who responded to a reported fight in the parking lot of an Oakland business.

State's Attorney Lisa Welch advised, "Kitzmiller claimed to be coming to the assistance of a friend who was being assault by a third person, determined to be John Knox. Mr. Knox was convicted last month in the district court of committing that assault, and the state determined Ms. Kitzmiller's claim had sufficient merit that this was the appropriate disposition for her charges. To avoid any further difficulties, during the term of the stet, she is required not to have any contact with Mr. Knox."

Justin Alan Sines, 19, Oakland, pled guilty in the to second degree assault and to driving under the influence of alcohol. Related charged were dismissed upon his plea. Sines was then sentenced by Judge Sherbin to six months in the Garrett County jail for the assault charge. The sentence was suspended and Sines was placed on probation, with conditions that include having no contact with the victim.

Sherbin granted Sines probation before judgment on the DUI charge and placed him on probation, with conditions that include alcohol treatment. Fines and costs totaling $770 were imposed.

On July 4, 2009, Sines was arrested by sheriff's deputies who responded to an Oakland-area residence after a friend of the assault victim contact police to report Sines had the assault victim in his vehicle. The complainant followed Sines as he drove along various roads from Deep Creek Lake toward the Sand Flat Road area, until he pulled into a residential driveway. When deputies arrived, they observed Sines assaulting the same victim and took him into custody.

The DUI and related charges were placed after the officers noted he had consumed alcohol and the witnesses provided statements about his driving.

Sandra Kay Tenant, 40, Bruceton Mills, W.Va., pled guilty to misdemeanor theft. Judge Sherbin sentenced her to 18 months in the Garrett County jail and suspended the sentence in favor of probation. Conditions of probation include paying restitution of $630 and court costs of $345.

Tenant was charged in January 2009 by sheriff's deputies who investigated a report from the owners of the Sugar Shack in Friendsville that Tenant, then an employee, had provided drinks to patrons without charging them.

new road. The purpose of the road is to improve access from Garrett Highway to the new commercial site, ease congestion, spur future commercial development, and create new jobs.

Construction of the new road is expected to create approximately 50 jobs and leverage $3 million in private investment. The project will be administered by the Maryland State Highway Administration.

In addition to ARC funds, Garrett County will provide a $150,000 match toward the $750,000 project.

"In addition to creating new jobs, this ARC grant provides the funding for an access road to a new commercial development for Garrett County residents," said Cardin. "Greater economic growth is the key to a sustained economic recovery, and I strongly support projects that will provide the resources that are needed for future development and opportunity."

The ARC is a federal-state partnership that works with the people of Appalachia to create opportunities for self-sustaining economic development and improved quality of life.

The Arts

DANCERS TAKE FIRST PLACE IN 10 DANCES – Local ballroom dancers Victoria ("Tori") Miske and Benjamin Christophel recently competed in the Maryland DanceSport Championships in Bethesda, where they took first place in 10 separate contests. The young pair danced five different dances in two separate levels for a total of 10 heats. They danced the cha cha, samba, rumba, jive, and paso doble in both the Pre-Bronze and the Bronze Pre-Teen levels. Although there were several competitors from the metropolitan area in each of the heats, the dancers took firsts in all 10 dances. Tori is the daughter of Curt and Rita Miske, Oakland, and attends Broad Ford Elementary School. Benjamin is the son of Jennifer and Dan Christophel and lives in Springs, Pa. Both dancers are members of the Art & Style Dance Team of Pittsburgh, Pa. They are instructed locally by professional dancer/executive director of Dancing Classrooms Western Maryland Jennifer Christophel, Balanced Body Studios. The number of couples in the dance heats ranged from six to eight couples. But the placement procedure in the dance competitions is based on a point system. The dancers could be the only couple in their competition level and division and still only get second, third, or they may not place at all. "So it's not just competing against the other dancers, but against the judge's point system," explained Rita Miske.

WAL-MART DONATES TO GLAF – Garrett Lakes Arts Festival (GLAF) has accepted a $500 grant from the Wal-Mart Foundation in support of GLAF's educational programs. The first of these programs will be in conjunction with the season-opening GLAF performance on April 24, the Yu Wei Chinese Dance Collection. The day before, on Friday, April 23, all 4th grade students will be brought by bus during the school day to Garrett College for special performances by Yu Wei. Educational programs such as this are made possible also by a donation from the Howard and Audrey Naylor Family Trust. Mary Callis, GLAF board chairperson, said the organization greatly appreciates contributions such as Wal-Mart's that allow the continuation of programs that expose Garrett County students to the arts. Pictured from left are Angie Griffith, assistant manager at the Wal-Mart in Oakland; Betty Ellington, GLAF fundraising co-chair; and Callis.

GCAC Offering Needle Arts Class Next Month

The first in a series of artistic workshops scheduled for 2010 will be offered by the Garrett County Arts Council in early May. "The Threaded Needle" is the title of a needle arts class to be taught by Dolores Andrew on May 3-5.

Andrew is part-time resident of Garrett County. She has taught fine arts and needlework at the college level and privately, as well as workshops for local, regional, and national groups. The author of three needlework design books, she actively judges and lectures in the fine arts and needle arts fields. In 2005, she was awarded a Lifetime Achievement Award from the National Academy of Needlearts.

As a designer, Andrew works in the embroidery media and favors the surface techniques of crewel, pulled thread, and silk. She said she has been influenced by her graduate study in Italian Renaissance embroidery and by research in lesser known media such as Casalguidi and whitework.

The workshop will consist of three days exploring different techniques. Through lecture, demonstration, discussion, and hands-on work, students will create a small project each day.

The class will cover samplers and counted thread on Monday, where students will work with floss on "aida" cloth.

Tuesday's topic will be needlepoint wool on canvas. On Wednesday, crewel work on linen will be covered.

A kit of materials for the class will be provided by the instructor. The sessions will be held from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Oakland Community Center (former armory), located at 14 N. Eighth Street.

The cost is $45 plus a $24 materials kit fee. Students should be 16 years or older. Beginners are welcome to participate.

Other 2010 workshops scheduled by the council include Watercolor Concepts by Robert Yonke, May 3-5; Beginner Watercolor by Sue Arnson, June 15-17; Oil Painting for Beginners, July 20-22; Watercolor Pencil Techniques with Judith Becker, Aug. 16-17; and Basket Coiling by Ginni Neff, Sept. 27-28.

To register for any workshop or obtain more information, persons may call 301-334-6580 or stop by the council office located within the Gallery Shop, 206 E. Alder Street in downtown Oakland.

The Garrett County Arts Council provides activities dedicated to the promotion of cultural arts in Garrett County and integrates such activities into the life of the community, a spokesperson said. Funding is made possible through an annual allocation from the Garrett County Board of Commissioners and the Maryland State Arts Council, in addition to member support and fundraising activities.

Yonke To Lead Watercolor Class For Arts Council

The Garrett County Arts Council is now accepting reservations for a watercolor workshop to be held Monday through Wednesday, May 3-5. The class will take place at the Discovery Center at Deep Creek Lake State Park each day from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., and will be taught by local painter Robert Yonke.

The class is geared toward painters with some experience. There will be a discussion of materials and tips on how to use them most effectively.

Students will learn relaxation techniques, how to gather sources for new painting ideas, and how to build a painting with solid design. For the more experienced watercolor painter, developing an individual style and the opportunity to share ideas, points of view, and creative approaches to work will be covered, a spokesperson noted.

Yonke works out of his two home studios, one in Pittsburgh, Pa., and the other in Garrett County. He said his watercolors reflect his love of music, the mountains, and the outdoors.

He is a member of the Participating Artists of the Turkeyfoot Highlands, the Pittsburgh Watercolor Society, and the Garrett County Arts Council. His work can be viewed at appalachian-studio.com.

Perspective students may register by stopping by the arts council office at 206 E. Alder Street, Oakland, or by calling 301-334-6580. Class size is limited. The fee for the three-day session is $75. A materials list will be provided. The registration deadline is April 20.

"The Garrett County Arts Council strives to make art opportunities available to the public through our ongoing support of local art organizations, our gallery displays, and other programs," said Karen Reckner, executive director of GCAC. "We are thrilled that Mr. Yonke will be offering his expertise to our students. His love of our Appalachian region is evident in his work."

An additional workshop being offered in the month of May is the "Threaded Needle," a three-day course in needle arts by Dolores Andrew. See separate story.

Writers' Guild To Meet Wednesday

The Wednesday Writers' Guild will meet on April 14 from 6:45 until 9 p.m. in the Oakland Town Hall meeting room.

The group meets the second Wednesday of each month. Members critique each others' poems, short stories, and works-in-progress. New writers and members are always welcome.

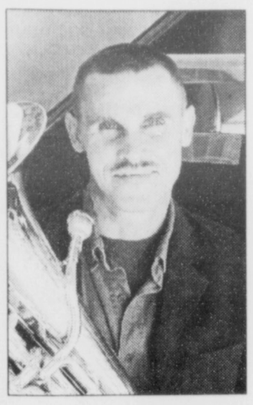
Neal Corwell To Present Benefit Concert At Our Town Theatre



Dr. Neal Corwell, an accomplished euphonium soloist and composer, will present a benefit concert at Our Town Theatre, Oakland, on Saturday, April 17, beginning at 8 p.m. He will be accompanied by his wife, Kathryn Sincell-Corwell, on piano.

Tickets to the event are $35, with 100% of the proceeds to benefit Our Town Theatre. The doors will open at 7:30 p.m. Following the concert, guests will be invited to a reception with wine, cheese, champagne, and chocolate.

Corwell served as euphoniumist with Pershing's Own, the United States Army Band in Washington, D.C., from 1981 to 1989. During those years, he was featured as soloist at numerous events. After briefly serving as principal euphonium with the 257th Army National Guard Band (Washington, D.C.) during 2001, the musician rejoined Pershing's Own in 2002, this time as a member of the Ceremonial Band.

During his years as a civilian, Dr. Corwell taught at Shepherd and Frostburg State universities, earned a doctoral degree in euphonium performance and pedagogy at the University of Maryland under the tutelage of Dr. Brian Bowman, served on the executive committee of ITEA and the board of the Women's Brass Conference, and appeared as a Willson performing euphonium artist at numerous events overseas and across the United States.

To date he has had over 50 of his compositions published, recorded several CDs featuring his arrangements and original works, and presented over 1,000 solo recitals.

In addition to playing euphonium in ceremonies in the National Capital area at Arlington National Cemetery, Fort Myer, the Pentagon, and other venues, Corwell also plays bass trumpet in the Army Band Herald trumpets. They are regularly featured at national concerts, such as the National Memorial Day Concert, July 4th Concert on the Mall, Christmas in Washington, and at presidential inaugurations. The Heralds also presented the national anthem at the Super Bowl and performed for numerous important personages at the White House, including the Queen of England and the pope. The group has performed recently with several orchestras, including the National Symphony, the St. Louis Symphony, and the Boston Pops Orchestra.

His wife Kathryn was a founder and the longtime executive director of Garrett Lakes Arts Festival's Symphony at Deep Creek, for which Corwell performed as soloist and composer on several occasions.

Corwell offered to present the benefit because of his admiration of Our Town Theatre's mission.

"I think it is a great thing Jane Avery is doing by having created that space," Corwell said. "I think it's a great service to the community, and I wanted to contribute somehow."

The program will chiefly consist of pieces arranged and/or composed by Corwell. Works by J.S. Bach and Pablo de Sarasate will also be performed.

Sincell-Corwell, who is a native of Garrett County, said she is happy to be part of the event, and expressed her thoughts about Our Town Theatre.

"It is such a wonderful thing for the county, and I'm proud to be from an area that has such a wonderful community theatre," she said. "OTT not only produces wonderful plays and musicals, but encourages the community to get involved as actors or in some other supportive position. So, it isn't just a venue, it's a place where people can enjoy seeing and hearing wonderful productions, and where they can choose to participate if they so desire."

Persons may make reservations for the benefit by calling the theatre at 301-334-5640.

Fundraiser Set For Little Yough Music Festival

The 2010 Little Yough Summer Music Festival will have a pre-season kick-off fundraiser Friday, April 9, at Mountain State Brewing Company from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. Guest bartenders Rob Michael of State Farm Insurance, Scott Lohr of Lohr Distributors, and Oakland Main Street manager Arlene Murray will be on hand to serve patrons and gather tips. Rams Now 6-1 Overall, 4-1 In AMAC; Record Eight Home Runs In Four Games

Corey Helbig collected two home runs in one game and then tacked another in the second of a doubleheader against Tucker Co. in the Tucker Tournament last Saturday in Parsons, W.Va. He led his team to a 14-0 first game sweep and a 15-2 second game victory. If that wasn't enough, the Rams went on to defeat county rival Northern on Monday, 10-9, where Ryan Bennett picked up two homers himself.

Helbig picked up his fourth homer of the week in last night's game against Allegany, where the Rams dominated the Campers 14-4. Jeremy Sharpless and Tyler Sweitzer smacked the ball over the fence for one home run apiece.

The first game of the Tucker Tourney was scoreless until Southern erupted for 12 runs in the fourth inning. Helbig hit his first of two home runs and then followed it up with a 3-run homer in the big inning. He also led on the mound allowing just two hits from Tucker and striking out 13. Southern tacked on two more runs in the fifth inning for the shutout.

Nathan King doubled and singled in the first game, while Bubba Scheffel had two singles and four RBI. Teammate Ryan Bennett added a double and a single in the win.

In the nightcap, the score was tied 2-2 after two innings, but the Rams took the lead for good with a 3-run third, and then scored 10 more runs over the final two innings. Tucker did not get any other runs in the final three innings.

Hunter Haskiell hit a 2-run homer for Southern, and Helbig recorded his third homer and a single. King had two singles and three RBI, Scheffel added three singles and three RBI, and Bennett finished with a double, single, and two RBI.

In the upset of Northern on Monday, the Garrett County rivals combined for 19 runs, 27 hits and six errors.

Bennett homered in a 5-run first inning and a 4-run third that gave the Rams an early 9-3 lead. Jeremy Sharpless had two hits, including a solo home run in the third, while Scheffel finished with three hits which included a double and two RBI. Catcher Helbig had three hits, Calvin Hilliard two hits including a double, and King a double.

Northern was paced by Justin Shaw's 3-run home run in the second inning. He finished with four hits and three RBI. Alex Smith doubled, singled, and had an RBI. Corbyn Browne and Andrew Sisler had two hits and Cody Humberson doubled. Sisler also recorded two RBI.

Andy Umbel led off the Northern seventh with a solo home run. The Huskies, who had pulled to within 10-7 after six innings, pushed another run across and had the bases loaded with two outs before King, who went the distance and allowed two walks, recorded his ninth strikeout.

Northern's Cody Rodeheaver came on in the third inning in relief of Dylan Miller and, in his first varsity appearance on the mound, gave up only two runs that helped the Huskies to mount their comeback.

Southern led from the start in last night's game with one run in the first inning. Allegany picked up one in the second, but the Rams matched it to stay ahead 2-1 and then tacked on another two in the bottom of the third. The Campers gained two runs in the fourth to get within one run, but then Southern broke open in the fourth with seven runs for an 11-3 lead. Allegany recorded one more run in the defeat while Southern tacked on an additional three in the bottom of the fifth.

Sharpless pitched a complete game, allowing just three hits, striking out seven, and walking one. He also connected with a two-run homer and a single, plus three RBI to lead the Rams. Helbig had four hits that included a double, two singles, and an 3-run homer. Teammate Tyler Sweitzer homered, doubled, and singled to knock in two runs for the Rams. Scheffel and King both added three singles to boost Southern's hits to a total of 17.

The Rams, now 6-1 overall and 4-1 in the AMAC, are scheduled to travel to Mtn. Ridge on Monday.

NHS Baseball Team Falls To Four, Defeats Two; Now 4-4, 3-3 AMAC

After leading through five innings, the Northern High School varsity baseball team couldn't hold on in last Thursday's game against Allegany. The Huskies were edged, 7-6, after a strong fifth inning by the Campers.

Northern went on to compete in the Musselman Tournament on Saturday, defeating Salisbury in the first game, 13-5, but then falling to Musselman in the second game, 7-1. The Huskies faced cross-county rival Southern at home on Monday and were edged 10-9. See other story for details from the Southern game.

Northern visited Hampshire on Tuesday and suffered a 14-6 loss, and then finished up the week with an away game at Fort Hill last night, dominating on the field with a 14-3 victory.

The Huskies led 4-1 after five innings, collecting one run in the first, third, fourth, and fifth innings. The Campers recorded one run in the third inning, and then took the lead in the fifth. With bases loaded, Allegany's Cory McCagh busted out a triple to take a 6-4 lead.

Northern tied the score at the top of the sixth with a pair of runs and a single home run from Andy Umbel. Cameron Brown provided the game-winning run for Allegany with a solo homer in the bottom of the inning.

Alex Smith was 2-for-3 with a double and an RBI for Northern.

Aiding in Allegany's victory was J.D. Hook with his double, while Kevin Hupe added an RBI single.

In the first game of the Musselman Tourney last Saturday, the Huskies led 2-0 after three innings until Salisbury added three runs in the fourth and two in the fifth for control. Northern answered with an 11-run sixth inning to seal the victory.

Steven Holtschneider had four hits and two RBI, Andrew Sisler collected two hits and an RBI, and Teddy Linton finished with two hits and two RBI for the Huskies. Teammate Umbel recorded two hits which included a 3-run double, while Cody Rodeheaver connected with two hits and two RBI.

The second game remained scoreless through three innings until Northern got the first run at the top of the fourth. Musselman matched that in the bottom of the inning, and then added three runs each in the fifth and sixth inning to make it 7-1.

Northern's Holtschneider, Linton, Rodeheaver, and Corbyn Brown each finished with two hits, and Smith's RBI single gave Northern the 1-0 lead in the fourth inning.

Mike Mocahbee and John Mocahbee combined for five hits and two RBI for Musselman. Teammate Eric Wollum recorded a 2-run triple and Josh Barrett finished with an RBI double.

The Huskies weren't able to catch up in Tuesday's game against Hampshire as the Trojans opened the game with a 9-run first inning. The score was 10-0 after the second inning and remained until the fourth when Northern got its first run. Hampshire added two more in the fourth and fifth innings, while the Huskies brought their score up to 6 with a 5-run fifth inning.

Thank You

The family of Andy Harsh would like to thank all those who have sent cards, food, and expressed their love and sympathy during our recent time of loss. Thank you to the staff members at Garrett Memorial and Ruby Memorial hospitals for their kindness.

A very special thank you to Brigadier General Peter Hinz for the love and kindness he has shown. We sincerely appreciate the fact that he rearranged his entire schedule to come and support the family and to share his beloved memories of Andy. In General Hinz's own words, Andy taught him "about soldiers and people, leadership, and finishing the mission, and life." These were so much more than words to our family and you have our heartfelt appreciation.

Finally, a very special thank you to Wade and Mary Harsh, Victor and Jane Kope, Pastors Tom and Sandy McGinnis, Danny and Cathy Moats, Randy Dick, and Dot (a dear friend who is always there).

Lakers Sweep Westmoreland, PG Before Falling To Allegany Trojans

It was a much improved 4-1 week for the Garrett College baseball team, as the Lakers swept host Westmoreland College last Friday, 4-2 and 15-9, and took two Maryland JUCO games from visiting Prince George's CC on Saturday, 23-3 and 18-10, before losing a conference slugfest to visiting Allegany College of Maryland yesterday, 30-14.

The Lakers overall record is now 7-11, and their JUCO mark improved to 3-6.

In Friday's first game against Westmoreland, the Lakers took a 4-0 lead into the bottom of the sixth inning, which is when the home team rallied for two runs, but could get no closer.

Garrett's Chris Kelley earned the win on the mound, as he allowed only four hits and yielded to reliever Ryan Krumlauf in the seventh. Krumlauf recorded a 1-2-3 seventh to get the save.

Brett Martin rapped a double and a single and scored twice for the Lakers, while teammate Clint Whitman also doubled and singled for one RBI.

Jordan Gibson had a pair of singles and an RBI for Westmoreland.

The second game turned into a slugfest, with the Lakers connecting for 17 hits and Westmoreland recording 15.

Garrett trailed 3-0 after one inning, and was down 5-4 until the top of the fourth when they took the lead for good with four runs. Dan Warnick smacked a two-run single in the fourth, and finished the game with four singles and three RBI. Brandon Noe had a pair of doubles for the Lakers, while Krumlauf, Martin, and Will Fisher each provided two singles.

For Westmoreland, Gibson hit two doubles and a single.

Kelley, who took over the mound in the third, earned the victory over three Westmoreland pitchers.

The Lakers amassed a total of 34 hits in the two victories over Prince George's on Saturday, with former Northern High standout Dan Warnick going 5-for-5 with a grand slam and nine RBI.

Warnick's homer was one of five recorded by the Lakers for the afternoon.

Coach Eric Hallenbeck's squad wasted no time taking control of the first game, as the Lakers recorded 13 runs in the first inning, eight in the second, and five in the third. The contest was called in the fifth because of the 10-run mercy rule.

Whitman hit a two-run blast and Warnick provided a bases-loaded triple in the first inning for Garrett. The eight-run second frame was highlighted by Warnick's grand slam and a three-run homer by Steven Peters.

Whitman also hit a single and finished with five RBI.

Going the distance for the Lakers was Peter Garcia, who allowed six hits and fanned five batters.

The Lakers never trailed in the second game either, recording five runs in their half of the second and 11 more in the bottom of the third.

Warnick went 3-for-3 with a double and two singles, plus two RBI, Chris Kelley finished 4-for-5 with a double and three singles, and Julius Niemand provided a two-run homer and a run-producing double.

Rapping homers for the Owls were Christian Ludlom and Terrance Cook.

Four Laker pitchers allowed a total of nine hits, with starter Will Fisher getting the win.

The final score of yesterday's match-up with the Trojans of Allegany College looked more like that of a football game, as nine pitchers gave up a total of 41 hits, 28 for the Trojans and 13 for the Lakers.

After AC built a 9-3 lead in the top of the third, the Lakers came back with eight runs in the bottom of that frame to take an 11-9 advantage. Garrett was up 12-10 going into the fifth frame, but that's when the visitors erupted for eight runs to take the lead for good.

Things only got worse for the Lakers, who gave up a dozen more runs in the final two innings.

John Shaffer and John Kemmer each hit a pair of homers, and the two of them accounted for 10 of the Trojans' hits and 14 runs.

Shaffer had a double and two singles, besides his pair of homers, and finished with eight RBI, while Kemmer had three singles plus two round-trippers to drive home six runs.

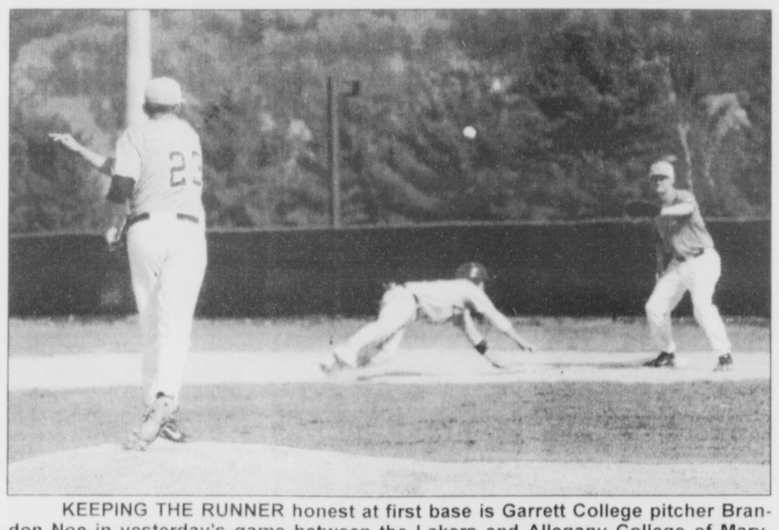
Allegany's Corey Dorman hit three doubles for five RBI, Ethan Newton rapped four singles, Cody Brickenstaff provided three singles, and A.J. Robinson and former Southern High standout Tommy Reams each hit a home run.

Leading the Lakers' offense was Krumlauf, who hit a double and three singles for three RBI. Jake Briley and Cam King each stroked a double and a single, with Briley bringing in a pair of runs. Will Fisher hit two singles for two RBI.

Ultimately getting the win on the mound was Andy Lytle, who took the mound in the fourth.

The victory upped the Trojans' overall record to 19-4, and their conference mark to 9-3.

The Lakers will play a doubleheader against the Davis & Elkins junior varsity squad in Elkins this Friday, and entertain Anne Arundel CC on Saturday in a JUCO twinbill, with the first game scheduled to begin at noon. Then they will host the College of Southern Maryland for two games on Sunday, also beginning at noon, and Montgomery Germantown will come to the GC campus for a conference doubleheader next Tuesday, with the first game set to get under way at 3 p.m.



KEEPING THE RUNNER honest at first base is Garrett College pitcher Brandon Noe in yesterday's game between the Lakers and Allegany College of Maryland, played on the Lakers' diamond in McHenry. The game featured little defense, as a total of 44 runs were scored, with the Trojans cruising to a 30-14 victory. A total of 41 hits were recorded against nine different pitchers, five for the Lakers and four for Allegany. The loss broke a four-game winning streak by the Lakers. See story for details. Stoner To Open On The Mound For Mets' Bisons

TOBI STONER

Ken Oberkfell, manager of the Triple-A Buffalo Bisons in the New York Mets franchise, has named Garrett County native Tobi Stoner as his opening day starter.

The right-hander, who made his major-league debut with the Mets last fall, will take the mound this evening as the Bisons open the 2010 season in Scranton/Wilkes-Barre against the Yankees at PNC Field.

Stoner, a 2002 graduate of Southern High School, is coming off a breakout 2009 season that saw him climb from Double-A Binghamton to his major league debut with the New York Mets.

Last summer, Stoner was 7-7 with a 3.96 ERA in 16 starts with the Bisons. He joined the Herd on June 15 and closed out the season with Buffalo, finishing tied for first on the club in wins (7), tied for second in starts (16), and third in innings pitched (97.2). Stoner went 4-0 with a 1.91 ERA in his final five starts of the season.

After the Bisons' 2009 season concluded, Stoner was promoted to the Mets and made four relief appearances with New York. He allowed four runs in nine innings of work, striking out five. He was 2-2 with a 2.68 ERA in seven starts with the Binghamton Mets to begin the 2009 season.

Stoner was 1-0 with a 3.38 ERA in three appearances with the Mets this spring. He gave up five hits and two earned runs in 5 1/3 innings, with three strikeouts and no walks.

Stoner was originally selected by the Mets in the 16th round of the 2006 draft, just after he graduated from Davis & Elkins College. He is also a graduate of Garrett College.

The former SHS and area standout is the son of Neal and Linda Stoner, Mountain Lake Park.

Southern Softball Team Defeated By Keyser, Petersburg, And Mtn. Ridge

Even though it recorded 12 hits to Keyser's 5, the Southern High School varsity softball team couldn't get many players home in last Thursday's away game, ultimately falling 9-4 to the Golden Tornadoes. The Rams hosted Petersburg on Monday and were dominated, 10-5, and then traveled to Mtn. Ridge on Tuesday, where they suffered an 11-1 defeat.

Southern didn't score until the sixth inning in the game against Keyser. Meanwhile, the Tornadoes posted runs in four innings straight. They collected one run in the first, two runs each in the second and third, and three runs in the fourth to lead 8-0 by the fifth inning. Keyser tacked on one final run in the sixth inning to conclude with nine. The Rams got two runs off at the top of the sixth inning and added their final two in the seventh.

Kendra Hardesty led Southern with her two doubles and a single that brought home a player. Alycia Horner finished with three singles, and Lindsey Brady added two.

For Keyser, Meghan Anderson drove in four runs, while Alicia Cuthbertson finished with a triple. Teammate Brooke Mangold recorded two singles and two runs scored.

Horner homered and doubled for Southern in Monday's game against Petersburg. Kendra Hardesty, Katie Eggleston, and Chelsea Miller each doubled and singled.

For Petersburg, Megan Whetzel hit a double and two singles, while Melissa Sharp had three singles. Brittany George collected a pair of singles. The Vikings had built an early lead with a six-run second inning.

Against Mtn. Ridge, Southern led 1-0 after two innings, but were forced to give up the lead when the Miners erupted with five runs in the bottom of the third inning. Mtn. Ridge then put up one run in the fourth, two in the fifth, and three in the sixth for the victory.

Southern's Horner singled twice plus struck out eight on the mound, while Kendra Hardesty singled and scored the single Rams' run.

Maggie Wilson connected with a pair of singles and scored twice for the Miners. Stephanie Fazenbaker and Shae Winner doubled, singled, and scored a pair of runs to lead Mtn. Ridge. Carlie Lewis got the win, scattering six hits, striking out seven, and walking three.

The Southern jayvees suffered a 12-5 defeat by the Mtn. Ridge junior varsity. The Rams led 5-0 after the first inning, but were answered by 12 runs by the Miners. Southern was led by Michaela Bosley and McKenzy Raffery's two singles and Sophie Schwab's double.

Southern (1-6, 1-4 AMAC) is scheduled to travel to Fort Hill tonight, and will not have a game until next Thursday when they face county rival Northern in Accident.

Huskies Held To 4-3 By Keyser In Final Inning

The varsity softball team of Northern High School was within reach of a win over visiting Keyser on Tuesday, but couldn't seal the deal. The Huskies were held to 4-3 by the Tornadoes in the last inning of play. Northern was to host Berlin last Thursday and Mtn. Ridge last night, but details were not received.

Northern struck first with a run in the first inning, but Keyser scored the next four to gain a 4-1 lead. The Huskies made it 4-2 in the bottom of the sixth, and got an RBI triple from Whitney Miller in the bottom of the seventh to get within a run. Taylor Sines scored on the hit, which could have been a home run if not for a heads-up play from Keyser right fielder Carly Burns.

Northern's Taryn Brenneman had 10 strikeouts and two walks in a complete game for the Huskies.

The Golden Tornado got a double from Meghan Anderson, and two singles and two RBI from Taylor Haggerty. Sam Hoban started for Keyser and recorded 10 strikeouts and three walks.

Northern, now 1-3 overall and 0-3 AMAC, is scheduled to host Frankfort this evening and Hampshire on Monday. The Huskies will then travel to Allegany on Wednesday.

Md. Spring Turkey Season To Begin With Jr. Hunt Day

Maryland's statewide spring turkey season will begin Saturday, April 17 with a one-day Junior Turkey Hunt. The regular season will open Monday, April 19, and continue through May 24.

Hunters can expect to find a similar or slightly lower number of turkeys as they search for a gobbler this year. Based on survey data, turkey reproductive success was below-average four of the last five years across much of the state.

"Hunters should not be discouraged by the statewide survey results," said Bob Long, a Maryland Department of Natural Resources wild turkey biologist. "Turkey populations remain healthy and population levels can vary substantially depending on the region or even the local area you hunt."

Regionally, according to DNR turkey numbers are stable or slightly increasing in the southern region and the upper portion of the Eastern Shore. Although populations remain high in the traditional turkey strongholds of the western mountains and the lower Eastern Shore, a general decline is evident in both regions. Turkey numbers in the central part of the state are lower than in other areas but appear to be holding steady.

The DNR encourages adults to take a young hunter out on the Junior Turkey Hunt day. This one-day hunt allows licensed hunters aged 16 or younger to hunt wild turkeys when accompanied by an unarmed, licensed adult of at least 21 years of age.

"Gobbling activity is typically higher before the regular season opens, making this day a perfect opportunity to introduce a young person to turkey hunting," said a DNR spokesperson.

Public turkey hunting opportunities are readily available throughout Maryland. Hunting pressure tends to be high on opening day and Saturdays, but usually is less on weekdays and later in the season.

Hunters should note that turkey hunting at Millington Wildlife Management Area is now administered via a reservation system to better manage hunting pressure. For more information, persons may call 410-928-3650.

"Turkey hunting accidents are rare in Maryland but hunters should always remember to hunt safely," said the spokesperson. "Hunters should positively identify their targets as a bearded turkey and eliminate the colors of a gobbler's head (red, white and blue) from their clothing. Hunters are also encouraged to wear a fluorescent orange cap while moving and tie an orange ribbon around a nearby tree while calling."

Complete regulations, turkey check-in procedures and information on public land hunting opportunities can be found at dnr.maryland.gov/huntersguide or in the "2009-2010 Maryland Guide to Hunting & Trapping" issued with each hunting license.

No Increase

"In other words, year four becomes year five, year five becomes year six," the administrator told Bestpitch. "There will be no increase for wages in year four."

Pagenhardt said Bestpitch was open to that idea, and meetings were held to discuss it further. The proposal was then put to a vote and was approved by the union workers.

The commissioners, Pagenhardt, Roads Department general superintendent Jay Moyer, Bestpitch, and Local 1834 president Mike Pritt signed the agreement modification document on Tuesday. On hand for the signing were Larry Lewis, Accident garage foreman; Mark Wells, Grantsville foreman; and Paul Harvey, Oakland foreman.

Grade 1 employees currently receive $17.95 per hour; Grade 2, $18.45; and Grade 3, $18.93. They were to receive $18.67, $19.19, and $19.69, respectively, in FY '11. That raise will now be deferred to FY '12, and that year's four percent increase is now bumped up to FY '13.

Pagenhardt noted that without the revised agreement the county would have had to cut non-union employee hours or enacted a furlough plan.

Commissioner Fred Holliday expressed his appreciation to the road crews for their hard work, especially this past winter, and for understanding the county's budget situation. He noted that in 2008 the county received $5.5 million from the highway user funds. Last year, however, because of its financial difficulties, the state reduced that allocation to the county down to $230,000.

"So, that's money that has gone away," Holliday said about the more than $5 million lost.

Commissioners Ernie Gregg and Denny Glotfelty also expressed their appreciation to the road crews for their teamwork and cooperation.

"Finances are somewhat meager at this time, but we shall overcome; it will get better," Gregg said.

Bestpitch said the union has had a good working relationship with Garrett County and its commissioners.

"We know it's tough economically, not just in Garrett County but everywhere," Bestpitch said. "I have to congratulate the commissioners that they have been fiscally responsible, more than other counties in this state."

He said the commissioners have spent their money very wisely.

"Other counties are laying people off, furloughing people, and people's lives are being disrupted," Bestpitch said.

He indicated that AFSCME members were open to dialogue that would have stopped this kind of drastic change in people's lives.

"I was glad that we were able to come up with something that spared everybody a lot of hardship," Bestpitch said.

Gregg said the commissioners and county government were adamant about maintaining their workforce.

"We absolutely do not want work stoppages or furloughs," he said. "Hopefully the adjustments we're making fiscally will prevent that."

ler, Aurora, Mt. Storm, Mt. Grove, Kingwood, and New Creek (W.Va.) fire departments. Bayard firefighters stood by at the Oakland station.

Also called to the scene were the Southern Rescue Squad, Terra Alta Ambulance, Oakland City Police, and personnel from the Oakland Water Department and Allegheny Power company.

Garrett County Roads Department personnel also came to the scene to deliver needed fuel for the fire apparatus.

Maryland Deputy State fire Marshal Michael Mattingly investigated the incident and estimated the loss to be $150,000 to the structure and $50,000 to contents. He reported that there were no injuries.

The legion had closed about a half-hour prior to the discovery of the fire, but a couple of employees and one patron were there at the time.

Most of the damage to the first floor of the building was a result of smoke and water, while the attic and much of the roof area were heavily damaged by fire.

According to Milford Beckman, finance officer for Proctor Kildow Post 71, the actual loss is considerably higher than that estimated by the fire investigators. He said that the organization intends to rebuild and is currently "in the planning stage."

"The insurance adjustor was here just yesterday (Wednesday)," Beckman said. "We are going to hire an architect so that the rebuilding is done properly. We know that the new structure will be a little different," he said, noting that it will not have a second story.

Beckman added that the organization is "well covered" by insurance, and that he expects the pending project to cost at least $500,000.

Garrett County," Glotfelty said.

He started chemotherapy and radiation last week and acknowledged their side effects may slow him down for about five hours on treatment days.

"But I'm kind of bullheaded; I'm not going to let it slow me down," Glotfelty said about cancer.

He added that everybody has experienced cancer in their families.

"It is a tough thing; it's a shock," he said. "But you've got to endure it, and we're in the endurance part right now."

The commissioners usually hold their public meetings on Tuesday mornings and their work sessions on Thursday mornings. Commissioner Fred Holliday noted, however, that those events will now be scheduled at different times to accommodate Glotfelty's treatment plan.

"We're going to make it work," Holliday said.

County administrator Monty Pagenhardt added that the review and final approval of the county's new fiscal year budget will continue over the next several weeks, and the commissioners will continue to make this process a priority.

Commissioner Ernie Gregg asked everyone to keep Commissioner Glotfelty in their prayers.

BIRDING PROGRAM TO BE PRESENTED – A program titled "Important Bird Areas: Making the Connection between Birders and Bird Conservation" will be presented by David Yeany II (pictured), Important Bird Areas (IBA) program coordinator, on April 14 at the Deep Creek Lake Discovery Center, beginning at 7 p.m. IBAs are sites that provide essential habitat for one or more species of vulnerable birds, Yeany said. See story. A Canada warbler is pictured. It is an Audubon Yellow Watchlist species, and breeds in forests and mountain peat lands of Garrett County. Its populations have steadily declined over the past 40 years because of habitat loss and fragmentation on both its breeding and wintering grounds, Yeany said.

Specialist Yeany To Discuss Bird Program At DCL

"Important Bird Areas: Making the Connection between Birders and Bird Conservation" is a program to be presented by David Yeany II, Important Bird Areas (IBA) program coordinator, on April 14 at the Deep Creek Lake Discovery Center, beginning at 7 p.m. IBAs are sites that provide essential habitat for one or more species of vulnerable birds, Yeany said.

Audubon Maryland/DC uses IBAs to focus its statewide bird conservation efforts. Since 2006, the identification of new sites in the IBA network has relied upon volunteer-based breeding bird surveys known as Bird Blitz. These surveys record at-risk bird species and are used to determine whether sites support the minimum populations necessary to qualify them as new IBAs.

The results of 2009 Bird Blitz surveys across the state will be presented during Yeany's talk, with a focus on areas in Allegany and Garrett counties. Persons will learn how to be Bird Blitz citizen-scientists to contribute toward the conservation of Maryland's birds, a spokesperson said.

Yeany has worked for Audubon Maryland-DC for more than a year, coordinating volunteer bird surveys, identifying critical habitat for birds, and working to protect at-risk birds and their habitats through outreach and conservation planning.

He graduated from Frostburg State University in 2009, receiving a master of science degree in conservation biology and applied ecology while studying avian communities and their habitat relationships in western Maryland.

Yeany earned a bachelor's degree in biology in 2006 from Messiah College, Grantham, Pa. He has also worked with the Pennsylvania Bureau of Forestry and the Wildlife Division at Fort Indiantown Gap National Guard Training Center.

DNR Reminds Outdoor Enthusiasts Of Alcohol Policy On Public Lands

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) has completed phasing in new restrictions regarding consumption of alcohol on all public lands, including state parks and state forests, as an agency-wide policy. In keeping with department-wide policy, consuming alcoholic beverages in wildlife management areas is not also allowed.

The DNR reminds campers and outdoor enthusiasts to adhere to the new policies, "to help preserve the family friendly atmosphere of those areas."

The new policy has increased safety in Maryland parks and brought the state's alcohol policy in line with that of parks in neighboring states, according to Nita Settina, Maryland Park Service superintendent. Natural Resources Police (NRP) will continue to focus on educating the public to the new regulations in state forests, she said, as NRP did in state parks.

"The first phase of the expanded alcohol policy went pretty smoothly. Our visitors accept and understand what we're trying to accomplish," said Settina. "We saw a significant reduction in serious alcohol-related incidents in our picnic areas and beaches; we anticipate the same positive effect in our campgrounds."

In 2009, DNR worked to inform the public about the new policy – which prohibits the use of alcohol without a permit on Maryland state lands, except in full service cabins – through multilingual signs, multi-lingual brochures, notification on the DNR's web site, on-site education by park rangers and NRP, and communication through the reservation service.

With the ultimate goal of maximizing voluntary compliance, NRP monitored all park properties with a special focus on day-use areas, campgrounds, and other areas where alcoholic beverages had previously been permitted. Officers advised visitors in possession of alcohol outside of permitted areas to remove all alcoholic beverages from the park or to secure them in a locked vehicle.

Visitors are allowed to transport unopened alcoholic beverages through a park to areas where alcohol is permitted, such as a boat launch or designated shelter. Park rangers made those in violation of the policy aware of the new restrictions, and requested that they voluntarily comply with the new rules.

The following policy and additional restrictions were phased in over the course of 2009:

Effective March 31, 2009

•The consumption or possession of an open container of an alcoholic beverage of any kind was prohibited in all Maryland state park day-use areas, beach areas, and other areas with picnic tables not associated with a designated shelter or campground area, unless an alcohol permit had been issued.

•Alcoholic beverages remained prohibited in youth group camping areas.

•As part of the phased-in policy, alcoholic beverages continued to be permitted in campgrounds, shelters, and full-service cabins.

•Alcohol permits were issued upon request by the park manager for special events operating under a use agreement.

Effective November 1, 2009

•The consumption or possession of an open container of any alcoholic beverage is now prohibited in all Maryland state park areas and public lands, including state forests, with the exception of full-service cabins, unless an alcohol permit has been issued.

•Alcoholic beverages are prohibited in state park and state forest campgrounds, and at non-designated shelters.

•Alcohol permits will be issued only through a reservation for a designated shelter or other facility approved by the Maryland Park Service superintendent or director of the Maryland Forest Service.

•A fee of $35 will be charged for each alcohol permit in state parks. For state forests, the fee will be phased in during 2010.

•Alcohol permits may be issued upon request by the park or forest manager for special events operating under a use agreement.

•An alcohol permit may be revoked for cause by the park or forest manager, the manager's designee, or an NRP officer.

HEADED BACK TO PAPUA NEW GUINEA – Grantsville resident Rachel Stanton recently received enough donations to be able to plan her return trip to Papua New Guinea. "I'm thankful for all of the people who have gotten behind my work through giving and praying," she said. "I'm thrilled to be returning to the work that I love – teaching missionary kids in Papua New Guinea. It's very exciting!" She is pictured above during her last stay in the country. She was digging a garden for friends in the village with the help of her young friend Setma. Stanton will fly out of Pittsburgh on April 26 to continue to teach her second grade class at the international school. She will also attend a six-week language/cultural training school in August. Stanton's home church, Calvary Fellowship of Grantsville, will hold a special prayer service for her on Sunday, April 25, at 11 a.m., followed by a dessert send-off reception at noon. Everyone is invited, but persons who plan to attend are asked to call 301-245-4180 to ensure that enough refreshments will be available.

Goldie Pratt Says That One Is Never Too Old To Learn To Play

by Susan Fowler

Garrett College always has a display table at the annual Garrett County Fair, complete with GC brochures and promotional materials that describe the institution that sits just across the field from the fairgrounds. As people pass by the display, among the frequent comments of the visitors are "I'm too old for school," or "I can't learn anything new," or "I never went to college, and it's too late for me now."

GOLDIE PRATT

Goldie Pratt would argue against all of these statements. In fact, she didn't discover her passion – playing the autoharp – until the ripe age of 69.

"There's nothing you shouldn't try, if you want to do it," says Pratt. "It's often not until the senior years that folks have time to learn to play an instrument. Playing music is a great way to meet people and intermingle with others who also enjoy music."

The autoharp is a stringed instrument that has been a part of the bluegrass, folk, and old-time country music in this area for generations. It is relatively easy to learn to play an autoharp as a rhythm instrument, and in the hands of a more skilled musician, it is a wonderful melody instrument.

Pratt has been active in music, performing and singing since she was 3 years old. She spent her school years throughout various parts of West Virginia, playing the piano and singing in choirs and with a teen gospel quartet. She graduated from high school in Preston County and moved to Maryland, where she was active as a vocalist in the Baltimore, Washington, and Virginia region.

After a 25-year career as an accountant, Pratt moved to the Deep Creek Lake area and got involved at an Accident church, where music included the hammered dulcimer, guitar, and autoharp.

"I tried playing the guitar, but had trouble getting my fingers around the neck. So I decided I'd try the autoharp," she said. At the age of 69, she started to learn to play the autoharp, and by the following April, she was performing in shows.

By chance, at a July 4th picnic in 2001, Pratt met a man who would change her life – Jim McDonald sold a lawn mower to her brother for $75, and she was "thrown in to boot."

McDonald was a longtime lap dulcimer player, and with a mutual love for music, Pratt and McDonald began a journey through life together and began performing as Jim 'n I.

Today, the two present a very unique act, playing three old and traditional instruments and singing some of the finest traditional bluegrass, gospel, and country music around. They perform at fairs and festivals throughout the region, and give over 50 performances for the Summer Performers Program for West Virginia State Parks & Resorts. Somehow in this period, they also managed to produce two CDs.

Garrett College's Continuing Education is offering an Introduction to the Autoharp class that gives participants an opportunity to learn more about the autoharp and how to play a simple song.

"We can't guarantee it will change your life," said a GC spokesperson, "but you will meet and work with a wonderful instructor, Ms. Pratt, whose life has taken a new turn, thanks to the autoharp."

For more information on Pratt's class, which will meet April 13 and 20, or for information about other courses at Garrett College, persons are invited to telephone 301-387-3069 or go online and visit http://www.garrettcollege.edu/coned/.

GC Committee Plans Events For Earth Day 2010

The Garrett College Green Environmental Awareness Committee is sponsoring activities for Earth Day, which will be April 22. On that day, there will be demonstrations, such as making recycled jewelry made from old T-shirts. There will also be displays by local organizations, agencies, and businesses, including the Friends of Deep Creek Lake and the Garrett County Office of Solid Waste and Recycling.

The committee members said that they hope to have additional participants from the community to participate. Those who have a display idea and/or desire more information are invited to telephone Dana Shimrock at 301-387-3003.

Laker Janay Collins Receives NJCAA Recognition For Efforts On The Court

by Melissa Parker

Janay Collins' stint as a Garrett College basketball player may have come to an end, but she's leaving the college on a high note. After playing one of the best games of her career against Baltimore City Community College (BCCC) in the second round of the National Junior College Athletic Association (NJCAA) Region XX Tournament, Collins was recognized for her performance by the NJCAA.

"I went into this tournament with a point to prove," said Collins. "I was a standout for the Lakers last year, but I barely played this year, so my name sort of fell off the map. I went into this game wanting to prove what kind of player I am."

Collins, a sophomore forward from the Bronx, N.Y., did just that. After the Lady Lakers beat Potomac State College in the first round of the tournament, Collins scored 20 points and had 15 rebounds in the second round of the tournament against BCCC, which led to her being named to the Region XX All-Tournament team.

Unfortunately, Collins' notable performance wasn't enough to lead the Lakers to a victory, and they went on to lose the semi-final game, 73-39.

Things seemed to go wrong for the team early in the game, according to Collins, as the Lakers got into foul trouble in the first half. Freshman guard Tashara Van Alstyne had three fouls in the first half and had to sit out for a large part of the game. When she finally got back into the contest during the second half, although she made a big impact, it was just too late.

Also during the first half, Collins dove for the ball, fell, hit her head, and blacked out. While this episode didn't take her out of the game completely, it certainly sidelined her for several minutes.

"Five minutes into the second half, the game was pretty much over," said Collins. "BCCC had increased their lead to 20 and kept increasing it by hitting three-pointers."

One opponent that Collins couldn't wait to face in the Baltimore game was Ashley Jones, the 6'2 sophomore forward who's a friend of Collins. On the floor, though, she's a rival.

Collins hadn't gotten the chance to play against her all season; she sat out the regular season game against BCCC, and a death in her family caused her to miss playing against the team in the Md. JUCO tournament. Although the outcome wasn't what she had hoped for, she was pleased with the opportunity to play against Jones.

Even before the fall that caused her to black out, the game was a very rough one for Collins.

"I was having back spasms that whole day," she said. "They gave me heat treatments before the game, and I was still getting them during warm-ups. I didn't even get to go through the whole warm-up routine. It was hard fighting through that."

Still, Collins had one of her best games of the year, and led the Lakers in scoring.

In addition to making the All-Tournament Team for the NJCAA Region XX Tournament, Collins received Honorable Mention All-Conference in the Maryland JUCO in February. Freshman guard and teammate Kwaiyera Davis was also an Honorable Mention selection.

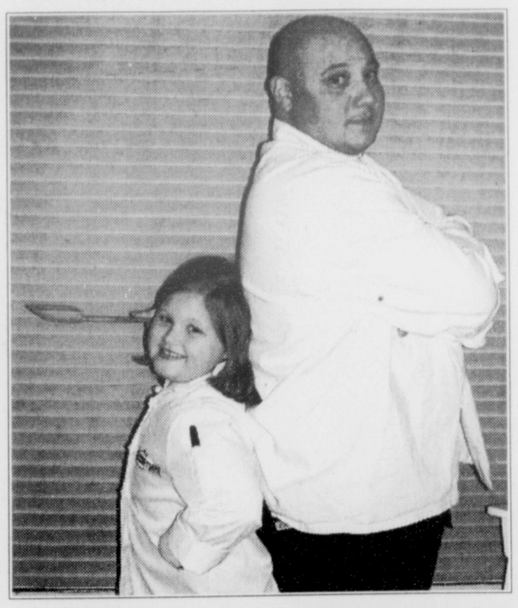
Collins will leave GC in the spring and move on to the next step in her academic and basketball career. She hasn't made any concrete plans for where she'll go next fall, but she has several good options. She has three upcoming showcases that she plans to attend: at Benedict College in Columbia, S.C., Virginia State University in Petersburg, Va., and the University of the District of Columbia in Washington, D.C., all of which are NCAA Division II programs.

According to Collins, the University of the District of Columbia looks to be the best fit for her, and she expects to get a scholarship there. She has been in close contact with the coach and should hear something from the college soon.

Whatever she chooses, Collins says she is ready to move on. Although she came to Garrett to get away from the city, she says she is more than ready to go back.

Until that time comes, she'll spend her free time with what she refers to as the "Uptown Crew," a small group of friends that includes her teammates Davis and Candace Phrance.

Basketball has been a very important part of her time at Garrett, but these friendships, Collins said, were definite highlights as well.



"BREAKFAST IN BED FOR MOM: A Father-Child Culinary Experience" is the name of a special program being sponsored by Garrett College that will be presented at the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad building in Mountain Lake Park on Saturday, April 24. Pictured are Chef Matthew Gale of Nemacolin Woodlands Resort & Spa, and his daughter Emaleigh, who will lead the program. The presentation will include a demonstration of the preparation of a "scrumptious breakfast in bed for Mom," hands-on demonstrations of "kid-friendly" kitchen techniques, and the opportunity to sample all of the "culinary creations." Students will leave with a set of recipes, a shopping list, and a special gift for their mothers. "This will be a wonderful opportunity for husbands to impress their wives, while spending valuable time with a son or daughter," said a GC spokesperson. A $30 fee will covers the cost for both father and child.

Open House Set At GC Campus

Garrett College will hold an open house for prospective students and their families on Saturday, April 17. The open house will begin at 11 a.m. on the McHenry campus. Check-in will begin at 10:30 a.m. in the Lakers Café.

During the program, Garrett College faculty and staff will provide information about the enrollment process, programs of study, campus life, support services, and financial aid.

Cissy VanSickle, director of financial aid, will be available to answer questions students and parents may have about the various forms of financial aid, including scholarships.

Current GC students will also be available to share information about their own experiences at Garrett, as well as provide tours of the campus. Lunch will be provided in the Lakers Café.

The program is free of charge; however, pre-registration for open house is encouraged. Further information and on-line registration are available online at www.garrettcollege.edu or by calling the Garrett College Office of Admissions at 301-387-3044 or, toll-free, 866-554-2773.

Celebration Events Set For Operation Christmas Child

Operation Christmas Child is active all year long. To inform the public about that activity and the success of the 2009 shoebox project, the local area OCC team will hold "celebration events."

Since 1993, this "power of a simple gift" ministry has collected more than 8.2 million shoebox gifts and delivered them by barges, ships, boats, trucks, trains, airplanes, helicopters, camels, elephants, and even dog sleds to needy children in 130 countries, including the United States.

Christ Community Church in Augusta, W.Va., will host an event on Friday, April 9, at 7 p.m. The church is located five miles east of Romney, W.Va.

Oakland resident Debbie Welch, Keyser (W.Va.) Panhandle Area coordinator, will report on children in various nations who received the gift-filled shoeboxes.

In addition, Welch will share pictures and stories of her experiences while traveling with OCC to Ecuador in January to hand-deliver shoeboxes to children.

Area team coordinators and members will also celebrate OCC successes in the local area and discuss the year-round volunteer opportunities that are available for people who want to be involved in this ministry.

Celebration events are also planned for Sunday, May 2, at Pleasant View Baptist Church, two miles south of Oakland, at 6 p.m., and Locust Grove Church of the Brethren, located along Bismarck Road near Mt. Storm, W.Va., on Wednesday, May 12, at 7 p.m.

CANDLES

by Dr. Tom Sheahen

Q. At our church at Easter, everybody got to hold a candle for a while. Looking at the candle, it seemed that no matter how much it burned down, the wick at the top stayed the same length. How come a candle burns that way?

A. The wick burns too, but its burn-rate is controlled by the wax as it melts. Even for a candle only about ½ inch in diameter, the wick is still less than 1% of the total. The way a candle works, it is almost entirely the wax that does the burning.

When a candle is first lit, the wick does indeed start to burn. But right away, the heat from that fire warms up and melts some wax. Any liquid, including liquid wax, will move toward and creep up the wick. In fact, the word "wicking" refers to exactly such motion. This is because of the phenomenon of surface tension.

Gravity pulls a liquid downward, but there are molecular forces that tend to pull molecules toward each other, no matter which direction is up or down. If a molecule is touching the wall of a container, it holds on tight, and so the next molecule comes a little closer. Then the next molecule is pulled closer, all by forces between molecules within the liquid. That's surface tension. A slight pile of molecules accumulates right at the wall. If you look very carefully sideways at a glass of water, you'll see that slight rising at the edge, known as a meniscus. The molecules are trying to climb the wall.

While a molecule is trying to move upward, gravity is pulling it downward. There is an equilibrium condition where the forces are equal and opposite, and so the molecules climb no more, and the meniscus settles into a certain shape. The details of the shape depend on the container and the liquid.

Basically the same thing takes place in a candle. The surface of the wick acts as that wall to which wax molecules cling, and they pile up and "climb" the wick. But as they move upward toward the tip, they enter the hot region (the flame) and "catch fire," which means that the wax molecule chemically combines with oxygen from the air, releasing energy and turning into H_2O and CO_2. The released energy is the heat and light given off by the flame.

When some of the wax has been burned up in this way, the tip of the wick is no longer soaked in liquid, so it too burns away, since it's only cloth to begin with. So the wick gets a little shorter, until it is once again coated with liquid wax. The decreasing level of solid wax below determines when the tip of the wick becomes dry and burns. Of course, nobody notices that "now the tip is dry" or "now it's wet." The overall picture is simply that the candle burns down uniformly. Throughout the process, the wick sticks up a certain amount above the solid wax below.

When you put out the candle flame, the unburned wax loses surface tension and sinks back down as it solidifies, leaving a short length of wick ready to be lit next time. The same process goes on in tiny birthday-cake candles or really large ceremonial candles.

Ruth Enlow Library Will Celebrate National Library Week, April 11–17

April 11–17 marks National Library Week, a time to celebrate the contributions of libraries, librarians, and library workers in schools, campuses, and communities nationwide. This year's theme is "Communities Thrive @ Your Library®."

"Libraries are the heart of every community and our library helps our community thrive," said Cathy Ashby, director of the Ruth Enlow Library. "People of all backgrounds come together here for community meetings, lectures, and programs, to do research with the assistance of a trained professional, to get help finding a job, or to find homework help."

National Library Week is a national observance sponsored by the American Library Association and libraries across the country each April.

The Ruth Enlow Library is celebrating the week with activities at all branches. At the Oakland library, patrons are invited to draw or write something about how communities thrive at the local library, and then receive a free seed packet donated by Pleasant Valley Greenhouse. Paper, pencils, and markers will be provided at one of the library tables.

A Magic Tree House Party for children age 5–12 is scheduled for Tuesday, April 13, from 4 to 5 p.m., and StoryTails is planned for Wednesday, April 14, from 4 to 5:30 p.m. Regularly scheduled programs for that week include Bedtime Stories, LapSit, Children's Hour, and HomeSchoolers. The theme for LapSit and Children's Hour will be "libraries."

At the Accident library, preschoolers attending Story Time on April 13, 11 a.m. to noon, will hear stories about gardening and receive their own flowers to plant.

On April 14, StoryTails is scheduled from 4 to 5 p.m., and a program on Container Gardens is planned from 5:30 to 7 p.m.

The regularly scheduled HomeSchooler Program on April 15 will also focus on gardening.

On April 12, 13, 15, and 16, teens are welcome to come and play any of the new Wii games from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m., enjoy some snacks, and get free books.

A Lunch Bunch event is scheduled for April 17 from 11 a.m. to noon. Children are encouraged to bring their own bagged lunches to the library. While outside they will hear picnic stories, learn about the life cycle of a plant, create their own flower pots, and welcome spring signs and picnic invaders (ants). Reservations are not required, but courtesy calls to the library are appreciated, Ashby noted.

Friendsville library will hold movie nights on Monday, April 12, and Wednesday, April 14, from 6 to 8 p.m., with popcorn and a craft for children through grade 5.

Kitzmiller library will present a children's program centering around the National Library Week theme on Tuesday, April 13, from 11 to 11:30 a.m.

Grantsville will hold its regular Children's Story Time on Wednesday, April 14, from 11 a.m. to noon.

In appreciation for its patrons, the Ruth Enlow Library is offering fine forgiveness during the week of April 11–17. At all branches, fines will be forgiven on materials returned during that week. Past fines on overdue items will not be forgiven.

Information about the library's services and programs can be viewed on the web site at www.relib.net. The calendar page shows a listing of all events.

For more information about any of the activities, persons may contact their local branch.

Stormy Weather

We all need dependable shelter when the tragedies of life rain down upon us. Yet, like the pedestrian who didn't replace his battered umbrella with a stronger one, many of us wait until our situation is desperate before we start looking for protection.

Don't wait until the pelting storms of your life turn your spirit inside out; come to know the love of the Creator of the Universe. In Psalm 57:1, it is proclaimed, "I will take refuge in the shadow of your wings until the disaster has passed."

You can meet God in His sanctuary as you worship each week. He will give you shelter from the storms in your life.

Authenticity

What does it mean to be authentic? Honesty, integrity and authenticity usually go hand in hand. Persons who are authentic are honest with themselves, and by extension, will be honest with others as well. As Shakespeare put it, "To thine own self be true, and it must follow, as the night the day, thou canst not then be false to any man." Being true to oneself is what integrity is all about, being whole and having a unified personality that is not in conflict with itself, and can present itself honestly in a variety of situations. This is not an easy task, because we often don't know exactly who we are. When someone tells you to "just be yourself," you are often left wondering exactly who that is. Young people frequently go through periods where they try on different selves or identities. The term "identity crisis" was coined by the psychologist Erik Erikson to describe the period in late adolescence when we struggle with who we are and must make decisions that will affect our identity, such as career choices and choices about friends. But identity crises are not limited to teenagers. Our whole life is one long identity crisis, where we must figure out at each critical juncture who we want to be.

Behold, You desire truth in the inward parts, and in the hidden part You will make me to know wisdom.

Management of This Condition of the Esophagus

Achalasia is a medical term that describes an abnormal functioning of the esophagus and lower esophageal sphincter. A breakdown of nerves in the wall of the esophagus occurs. Normal muscle contractions that move food through the digestive tract (peristalsis) are impaired, and the lower esophageal sphincter does not relax properly. This combination leads to impaired emptying, and can therefore lead to obstruction of the esophagus. About 1 person in 100,000 each year is affected. Adults between the ages of 25 and 60 years are most commonly affected. Common signs and symptoms include dysphagia (difficulty swallowing), weight loss, chest pain, and heartburn. Hiccups also occur commonly in persons with achalasia.

The process of nerve breakdown in the esophageal wall cannot be stopped. However, treatments that work to improve the functioning of the esophagus may be prescribed. Nitrates and calcium channel blockers relax the smooth muscle of the lower esophageal sphincter. Procedures such as physical dilation of the sphincter and surgery also may be performed. Botulinum toxin injection into the sphincter itself may be administered to decrease pressure.

USA is doing something 'Criminal' again

By Jay Bobbin

Jeff Goldblum

Q: With NBC's lineup shuffle after the Jay Leno move, I thought I might be seeing "Law & Order: Criminal Intent" again. However, I haven't seen any new episodes lately, either on NBC or USA Network. Is there any update on when we might see it again? –Bill Helin, Renton, Wash.

A: Yes ... you can see it now. New episodes began at the end of March on USA, where the series is shown on Tuesdays. Continuing star Jeff Goldblum has a new police detective partner in Saffron Burrows ("Deep Blue Sea"), and he also has a new boss played by Mary Elizabeth Mastrantonio ("The Abyss"). As was the case the past couple of seasons, USA is getting first rights to the new "Criminal Intent" episodes before they appear on NBC.

Q: Will "Drop Dead Diva" be back anytime soon? Yolanda Aguilfon, San Antonio

A: June 6, to be precise. The Brooke Elliott-starring show is set for a run of 13 new episodes for its second season, which will start with a return appearance by guest star Paula Abdul – and a "musical dream sequence" is promised.

Q: What is the status of two of my favorites, "Reaper" and "Everybody Hates Chris"? They were supposed to return in January 2010. –Audrey Friedrich, Cheektowaga, N.Y.

A: They were? That's news to us. The CW canceled both series last year. Chris Rock actually said that the time had come to conclude "Chris"in advance of the network's decision – and though there had been talk of continuing "Reaper" as a syndicated show, that ultimately didn't happen.

Q: Since novelist Robert B. Parker has died, will there be any more releases of the Tom Selleck "Jesse Stone" mysteries? –Ed Schultze, Dallas

A: Here's the easy answer: CBS is scheduled to broadcast the sixth and newest chapter in Selleck's Parker-inspired TV movie series, "Jesse Stone: No Remorse," on May 9.

Q: I recently paid extra to receive RFD TV. How do I find out the schedule of programs? –Marvin Denny, El Reno, Okla.

A: At any given time, a full week's schedule of the channel's programming is posted at the Web site www.rfdtv.com.

• Guinness, that notoriously dark and bitter Irish brew, contains fewer calories than skim milk or orange juice. Stout for breakfast, anyone?

• Lawmakers in Phoenix once saw fit to make it illegal to walk through a hotel lobby while wearing spurs.

• It's hard to imagine what life was like before the widespread availability of refrigeration, isn't it? Some people have decided to find out — and you might be surprised at how many. Although 99.5 percent of all households in the United States have a refrigerator, that still means that more than 1.5 million households are fridge-less.

• It seems that Warren G. Harding, the 29th president of the United States, was something of a gambler. During one hand of poker he bet the White House china — and lost it.

• The Australia Zoo was recently the site of an attempted escape — by a 137-pound orangutan named Karta. The ingenious primate evidently short-circuited the electric fence around her enclosure using a stick, then stacked up more sticks to climb over the fence.

• The English word "gelatin" comes from the French for "edible jelly."

• On April 12, 1633, physicist and astronomer Galileo Galilei is ordered to turn himself in to begin trial for the second time for holding the belief that the Earth revolves around the Sun. It took more than 300 years for the Church to admit that Galileo was right and to clear his name of heresy.

• On April 13, 1742, George Friedrich Handel's "Messiah" premieres in Dublin. Although singing the oratorio has become a Christmas tradition, the "Messiah" made its world premiere during the Christian season of Lent. Handel composed the score for "Messiah" in just 24 days.

• On April 15, 1865, President Abraham Lincoln succumbs to a gunshot wound inflicted by an assassin the night before, and he is pronounced dead at 7:22 a.m. During the autopsy, Mary Lincoln sent the surgeons a note requesting they cut a lock of Lincoln's hair for her.

• On April 14, 1912, just before midnight in the North Atlantic, the RMS Titanic fails to divert its course from an iceberg, ruptures its hull and begins to sink. The Titanic's hull was divided into 16 compartments that were presumed to be watertight, and the ship was considered unsinkable.

• On April 16, 1947, in Texas City's port on Galveston Bay, a fire aboard the French freighter Grandcamp ignites ammonium nitrate, causing a massive blast that destroys much of the city and takes nearly 600 lives. The fire department tried to douse the flames, but the ship was so hot that the water from their fire hoses instantly vaporized.

• On April 17, 1964, the Ford Mustang is officially unveiled by Henry Ford II at the World's Fair in Flushing Meadows, N.Y. GCHS OPENS NEW BEDROOM – The Garrett County Historical Society has remodeled and refurbished its Victorian Bedroom exhibit at the museum in Oakland. Bob Boal, president of the historical society, said the upgrade of the display was made possible via a "major gift" from former Oakland resident, Dan Offutt, now of Weston, Conn. The room features a complete four-piece walnut late Victorian bedroom suite from the estate of Teresa Wilkins of Gorman, as well as multiple Victorian era accessories and clothing. A significant highlight of the display, Boal noted, is a large Victorian bible of the Offutt family. Another unique piece is a 1901 invitation to a ball at the Offutt Music Hall that was once in Oakland.

Mennonite Groups Will Be "Singing To Make A Difference"

Volunteers from 13 Mennonite churches in the tri-state area will present a musical program, "Singing to Make a Difference," at Cherry Glade Mennonite Church (MC), 4051 Accident-Bittinger Road, this Sunday, April 11, at 3 p.m. Proceeds will benefit victims of natural disasters, war, and poverty.

An a cappella choir from Gortner Union Church will begin the program, followed by a vocal and instrumental group from Meadow Mountain MC, Swanton.

Also scheduled are God's Ambassadors, an instrumental and vocal group from Red Run MC, Grantsville, that has performed around the country; Kaufman MC, Davidsville, Pa., and a men's quartet from Crossroads MC of Johnstown, Pa., called The Alumni, whose members have sung together since high school.

A western Maryland ensemble comprising of members of Cherry Glade, Meadow Mountain, and other churches from Frostburg and Hyndman, Pa., will feature bass, guitar, mandolin, and fiddle, accompanying vocalists.

Members of Scottdale MC, Scottdale, Pa., will perform vocal numbers, and a published poet from Philippi, W.Va., will read several poems from her latest work.

The program will culminate with a presentation by a combined chorus consisting of members from five churches: Cherry Glade MC, Springs MC of Springs, Pa., Maple Glen MC of Grantsville; Oakland Dale MC of Salisbury, Pa.; and Emmanuel Lutheran Church, Bittinger.

An offering will be taken to support the Mennonite Central Committee's programs in the United States and around the world. For further information, persons may call 814-442-4594.

GOP Women Participate In Red Scarf Day

The Maryland Federation of Republican Women (MFRW) held its fifth annual Red Scarf Legislative Day in Annapolis recently under the leadership of president Ruth Umbel, a native and resident of Garrett County.

"Red Scarf Day gives MFRW members an opportunity and inspires incentive to observe legislators in action, participate in the legislative process, and meet with political representatives to share personal views," said a spokesperson.

Wearing their red scarves, approximately 80 MFRW members attended the Senate or House Republican Caucus meetings, listened to a State House General Assembly session from the galleries, testified on several issues before House or Senate committees, and participated in individual meetings and discussions with legislators.

Republican legislators were honored guests at a MFRW hosted brunch at the Calvert House, where they mingled with members and encouraged discussion and opinions on pending legislative issues. Senate Minority Leader Allan Kittleman and numerous other senators and delegates thanked the Republican women for their support and encouraged them to stay involved.

MFRW also sponsored a rally on Lawyers' Mall to bring renewed attention to "Jessica's Law." About 70 Red Scarf Day participants and local residents heard MFRW president Umbel and member Ginny Meerman pledge their support for strengthening the law and urged lawmakers to show their concern for children by passing the many sexual predator related bills introduced in this General Assembly session.

Red Scarf Day is named for the elephant design red scarves that all members participating in Legislative Day wear to be identified as members of the MFRW organization. The 2010 Red Scarf Day was organized by Faith Loudon, MFRW legislative chairman, and Joyce Thomann, vice chairman.

The 1,700 MFRW members work to influence legislation on specific issues adopted at the MFRW annual convention. This is accomplished through letter writing, e-mail, petition, and telephone call campaigns, plus rallies, personal visits with legislators, and various other gatherings. This year's legislative focus is to support the protection of children from sexual predators budget, restraint, and opposition to same day voter registration/voting.

The MFRW is a member of the National Federation of Republican Women, headquartered in Arlington, Va., with organizations in all 50 states and U.S. territories. For more information about the organization, persons may call Umbel at 301-387-5035.

GARRETT COUNTY NOTICE OF A PROPOSED REAL PROPERTY TAX INCREASE

The Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland, proposes to increase real property taxes.

1. For the tax year beginning July 1, 2010, the estimated real property assessable base will increase by 5.0% (a) from $4,270,533,230 (b) to $4,481,949,130 (c).

2. If Garrett County maintains the current tax rate of $0.990 (d) per $100 of assessment, real property tax revenues will increase by 5.0% (e) resulting in $2,093,017 (f) of new real property tax revenues.

3. In order to fully offset the effect of increasing assessments, the real property tax rate should be reduced to $0.9433 (g), the constant yield tax rate.

4. The County is considering not reducing its real property tax rate enough to fully offset increasing assessments. The County proposes to adopt a real property tax rate of $0.990 (h) per $100 of assessment. This tax rate is 5.0% (i) higher than the constant yield tax rate and will generate $2,093,017 (j) in additional property tax revenues.

A public hearing on the proposed real property tax rate increase will be held at 11:00 a.m. on April 20, 2010, in the County Commissioners' Public Meeting Room, County Courthouse, Oakland, Maryland. The hearing is open to the public, and public testimony is encouraged. Persons with questions regarding this hearing may call 301-334-8970 for further information.

There are certain municipalities within the County which have different county tax rates. The above revenues and tax rates are county wide, excluding municipalities with different county tax rates. The following chart provides the corresponding information and tax rates for those municipalities.

LEGION FIRE PHOTOS SUBMITTED – Several local persons who happened to be on the scene of a structure fire along Memorial Drive in Oakland late Friday captured the event with their cameras and submitted photos to The Republican for publication. Numerous area fire departments were summoned to the Proctor Kildow Post 71 American Legion hall after fire was discovered in the ceiling on the first floor by an employee. The photo above left was taken by Angie Mellott, wife of Oakland firefighter Alex Mellott, soon after the arrival of the first fire vehicles. Above right is a shot taken by Mountain Lake Park resident Andrew Hill, and the close-up view below right was taken by Deb Swiger, wife of OVFD member and former chief Tom Swiger. Approximately 100 volunteers from 10 area fire departments were on the scene for over four hours. According to Maryland Deputy State Fire Marshal Michael Mattingly, the cause of the blaze was accidental in nature, most likely started by a malfunctioning exhaust fan. Hagerstown Man Receives Five-Year Sentence For Arson Threat

In recent Garrett County District Court proceedings, Steven Wayne Harris, 31, Hagerstown, was found guilty by Judge Charles E. Foos III of threatening by arson, and was sentenced to five years and suspended fines.

According to court documents, Harris sent a letter in December 2009 to Lisa Thayer Welch at the state's attorney's office. In the letter, he made threatening statements toward Welch about burning her office and her home. He is currently incarcerated at the Roxbury Correctional Institute on arson charges and has made the threat of arson before. He was not prosecuted on a second charge of threatening by arson.

In another court hearing, Keith Randall Kyle, 24, Meyersdale, Pa., was found guilty of theft valued at less than $500, and was sentenced to 13 months with all being suspended, restitution costs of $274.97 to the state's attorney's office, and suspended fines.

Kyle was charged in June 2009 stemming from a reported theft from the Chestnut Ridge Gas and Liquors. Investigation revealed that Kyle had allegedly stolen three Buck Knives, valued at $274.97. He was later located in Pennsylvania after he was arrested by Pennsylvania State Police for driving under the influence shortly after the theft from the convenience store.

In an unrelated case, Brandon Lee Hartman, 24, Rawlings, was found guilty by Judge Leonard J. Eiswert for theft valued at less than $1,000, and was sentenced to one year with 11 months, 26 days suspended, three years of supervised probation, and $57.50 in fines.

Garrett County sheriff's officers were contacted by the business owner of Pioneer Conveyer in October 2009 to report stolen steel. An investigation revealed that two employees of the business had stolen scrap pieces of steel over the course of a couple months and had sold them to Ours Salvage.

Hartman was found to be one of the employees involved in the theft, and was found to have stolen and sold over $14,000 worth of steel scrap. It was also later found that he had stolen five safety helmets belonging to Pioneer. He was not prosecuted on a charge of theft-scheme valued at $500-plus.

James Robert Collins, 40, Oakland, was not prosecuted on a second-degree assault charge, stemming from a December 2009 domestic dispute involving two other adults.

Alice Mae Gaither, 77, Oakland, was not prosecuted on a charge of second-degree assault, stemming from a domestic dispute involving another adult in December 2009.

DUI/DWI HEARINGS

The following driving while under the influence (DUI) and driving while impaired (DWI) cases were heard in recent Garrett County District Court proceedings, with Judge Eiswert presiding.

Joseph Michael DeWitt, 47, Md., was found guilty for a DUI per se charge from December 2007, and was sentenced to 13 months with all being suspended plus suspended fines. He was not prosecuted on charges of DUI and DWI.

Synjun Thomas Skeweris, 21, Pa., pleaded guilty to a January DWI charge, received a probation before judgment (PBJ) verdict, and was sentenced to 30 days with all suspended, one year of unsupervised probation, and $207.50 in fines. He was not prosecuted on charges of DUI and DUI per se.

Geoffrey Cole Tressler, 25, Md., pleaded guilty to a DWI charge from January, received a PBJ verdict, and was sentenced to 30 days with all suspended, one year of unsupervised probation, and $207.50 in fines. He was not prosecuted on charges of DUI and DUI per se.

Christopher Douglas Carey, 33, Md., pleaded guilty to a January DWI charge, received a PBJ verdict, and was sentenced to 30 days with all suspended, one year of unsupervised probation, and $257.50 in fines. He was not prosecuted on a charge of DUI per se.

William Edward Boyden, 35, Md., pleaded guilty to a December 2009 DWI charge, received a PBJ verdict, and was sentenced to 30 days with all suspended, one year of unsupervised probation, and $257.50 in fines. He was not prosecuted on a charge of DUI.

Patricia Ann Broadwater, 37, Md., was not prosecuted on charges of DUI and DWI from November 2009.

GC Collaborative Transition Prog. Proves To Be Successful

by Scott Hollingsworth, Appalachian Crossroads director, day/vocational programs, and Michelle Ross, program coordinator

High school students with disabilities are twice as likely to drop out of school as are general education students, according to the National Center on Secondary Education and Transition. Students with disabilities continue to have limited access to traditional community based jobs during the school days, continue to experience failure in traditional settings, and continue to lack hope and any perception of a future that includes work based competence and success.

It was against this background that the Garrett County Collaborative Transition Program (CTP) was launched five years ago and, as evidenced by its presentation at the state convention this fall, continues to be a model for the entire state today.

The CTP comprises three components: an 18-week paid internship, a bi-monthly Job Club at Garrett College, and expanded career exposure. This program is a collaborative effort between the Garrett County Board of Education, Appalachian Crossroads, and the Division of Rehabilitation Services.

Students attend school for ½ day and then board a school bus to be transported to their job site for the internship. For many this is their first job experience and they learn invaluable lesto work on necessary skills such as interviewing techniques, resume writing, social skill development, appropriate dress, good hygiene, filling out employment forms, and job search techniques. Guest speakers are scheduled on a variety of topics.

"I am glad I am in this program because if I wasn't, I would be in school and getting in trouble," says Jessica Baker, a Northern High junior. "I don't like sitting in the same class all day; all I wanted to do was sleep. I want to gain work experience, and I need help with my attitude, knowing what employers expect and job skills."

A concerted effort is also made to expand career options for these students, many of whom have limited experience to see alternatives. The students take tours of local businesses and have toured such places as Garrett Container, Phenix Technologies, Mtn. Top Granite and Marble, Beitzel Corporation, and Nu-Way Cleaners. Several businesses have hosted a student for mentoring day and allowed the student to shadow another employee.

At the completion of the school year the seniors are assisted in transitioning to employment or higher education. The job coach helps them with the job search, and once hired continues to assist them to become successful.

Since 2005, the CTP program has served over 50 students, with 92 percent completing the program and 96 percent staying enrolled in school.

"I like my work; I like sons in responsibility, initiative and reliability. A job coach from Appalachian Crossroads will accompany the students to assist them to learn their job duties.

"The CTP program is successfully turning at-risk students into motivated and enthusiastic students because in these internships they begin to understand the relevance of education to the real world of work and they begin to experience competence beyond their original expectations," says Mike Friend, the drop-out prevention coordinator at Northern High School.

As much as possible, students are placed into jobs consistent with their career pathways. For the 2009-2010 school year, the CTP program has served 12 students and has had six different businesses participate in placing students, including Oakland Nursing and Rehab, Naylor's Hardware, Pine Lodge Steakhouse, Wisp Resort, Garrett Containers, and Appalachian Crossroads.

"We hired a student to work on the shop floor," says Elizabeth Morin from Garrett Container Systems. "We were so pleased with him that we offered another student a position to help in the office. Both students are eager to work and a pleasure to have as a part of our organization."

A Job Club is held two afternoons per month at Garrett College. The job coach from Appalachian Crossroads facilitates the classroom experience. In this forum, students from all internship sites get together being outside," says Josh Sines, a Northern High School senior. "If I didn't have this job, I would probably be at home watching TV because I would have dropped out. I like this program; it's helped me a lot."

A special thank-you to all those who make this program a success, including local businesses, the supportive school personnel, parents, and mentors. If any employers are interested in helping an at-risk student create a new history for himself/herself, they may call Michelle Ross, Appalachian Crossroads program coordinator, at 301-616-8459.

The signals are out there: home sales are picking up and prices are slowly ascending. However, recovery isn't obvious everywhere yet. Most markets are still seeing the cheapest homes selling fastest, while mid-range homes are taking longer, and upper-end properties are languishing.

Whether buying or selling, your best strategy in this dynamic marketplace depends on which tier your property sits. This column will begin by offering advice for that bottom tier of the most affordable homes. In the next column one of my colleagues will discuss the mid-range market, and then finally we'll get around to those most expensive properties at the top.

Most of the two million recent foreclosures have made up the bulk of the least expensive homes on the market. Bargain prices and a federal tax credit have lured investors and first-time buyers into the fray, increasing sales of $100-$250K homes by 9% over the last year. Buyers should act quickly and submit their offer with due haste. If your offer isn't accepted, keep checking back, because deals commonly fall through.

While it's hard to compete against foreclosures in the pricing category, they're often in dire need of repairs. Sellers can increase their odds of success by offering their home in "model condition" at a fair price. Whether you're a buyer or a seller, watch this space for more advice on making your sale or purchase work.

If you are thinking of buying or selling a home but feel "out of touch" with real estate, give me a call today.

Bloomington School Wins $1,000 Grant Through Mighty Milers Prog.

The student-athletes of Bloomington School recently won $1,000 for their Mighty Milers program from New York Road Runners (NYRR). Mighty Milers, the flagship youth running program of New York Road Runners, challenged students across the country to run half a mile, at least twice a week, with a school-year goal of completing one to four "marathons of miles" (26.2 miles – 104.8 miles). Since starting the free program earlier this year, Bloomington students are approaching 900 miles.

"Mighty Milers brings a wonderful sense of community, togetherness, and accomplishment to our school," said teacher Paula Streets, who brought the program to her small school. "We all have the same goal in sight and support each other to accomplish it."

Streets says she appreciates Mighty Milers for the healthy habits it instills in her students and is pleased at how staff members have all jumped in to volunteer as running session leaders– from the principal to the teacher's aide.

Classroom teachers fit Mighty Milers into their weekly schedule, and the whole school runs together on Fridays. Students earn awards as they advance toward their goal and every running session brings them closer to their first Marathon of Miles medal. While Streets hasn't decided what to do with the grant money, she has many ideas, including health events for children and parents, more awards for the kids, and creating an outdoor path for the running/walking sessions.

NYRR launched Mighty Milers in 2004 in New York City, where there are now more than 300 program sites. Last year NYRR expanded its support to start programs in every state. To help spur this growth, the club awarded a $1,000 grant to an outstanding Mighty Milers site in every state.

"Our vision is to make running a part of every child's school day," said NYRR Youth Programs executive director Cliff Sperber. "More than 60,000 kids in schools and community centers across the country participate in Mighty Milers programs and, since September, have collectively run over 1 million miles."

"Mighty Milers was created to educate and empower kids to make lifestyle changes so they can avoid the devastating and lifelong consequences of obesity," says Sperber, "but the kids from Bloomington School, like kids all across the country, embrace Mighty Milers because it's fun and challenging in a way that helps them feel good about themselves."

Schools can learn more or apply for their own Mighty Milers program at www.mightymilers.org/apply.

KITZMILLER INSTALLS SCHOOL/TOWN BULLETIN BOARD – Through help by Project Open Space funds and the town of Kitzmiller, the new school and town park bulletin board was completed and installed by Domenick Signs of Deer Park. The school will use the board to help visitors identify and locate what kind of trees and plants are in the Kitzmiller Botanical Garden, as well as other environmental information. The town holds numerous activities throughout the year, and its side of the board will reflect the details concerning the town's outdoor activities. Barry Domenick is pictured above installing the board while fifth graders hold up the billboard signs. From left are Courtney Sanders, Debrah Layton, Joston Lipscomb, Rachel Scott, Petie Davis, Colton Lucas, and Brandon Welch. Below is the completed bulletin board.

Have You HEARD?
by M. Keith Nester, Sr., BC-HIS

Cathy A. Nester, HIS
THE HEARING LOSS EPIDEMIC
According to one estimate, one in three adults suffers from some degree of hearing loss. Even more alarming, one out of six adults (29 million) experiences trouble understanding speech. If these numbers were attached to an influenza outbreak, there would be headlines. Instead, all too many people suffer in silence. In reality, some degree of age-related hearing loss, known as "presbycusis," is to be expected. After age 65, men are 5.5 times more likely than women to be afflicted with hearing loss that makes communication difficult. However, hearing loss also affects 8.5% of those in their 20s and 17% of adults in their 30s. These statistics suggest that people of all ages adopt prevention strategies and seek treatment if necessary.
We bring you this column on hearing healthcare in order to better educate our friends in our community on the importance and benefits of taking care of their hearing, thus enhancing their quality of life. If you are having trouble hearing, or if a family member seems to be experiencing hearing difficulties, we welcome your call at AUDIBEL. We offer comprehensive hearing health services, including hearing tests and evaluations, individualized hearing instrument fittings, and follow-up care.
P.S. The current hearing loss epidemic can largely be blamed on prolonged exposure to loud noise.

Species At Risk To Be Topic For Plant Society

The Western Mountains Chapter of the Maryland Native Plant Society will hold its regular meeting at the Appalachian Laboratory in Frostburg on Tuesday, April 20, at 7 p.m. The guest speaker will be Linh Phu, coordinator of the Maryland Landowner Incentive Program.

Phu will give a PowerPoint presentation titled "The Maryland Landowner Incentive Program, Private Lands Restoration for Species-at-Risk." Her program will begin immediately following a brief business meeting. The public is welcome to attend.

During her presentation Phu will provide information on her program, which provides cost share grants to private landowners to restore habitat for species at risk. She will highlight a few of over 60 projects that the program has developed, implemented, and funded over the last five years.

Specifically, she will speak about statewide efforts to treat hemlock wooly adelgid, restore wetland and grassland habitats, and combat invasive species, sometimes employing the use of goats.

Phu is a natural resource biologist for the Maryland Department of Natural Resources Wildlife & Heritage Service. She developed the Maryland Landowner Incentive Program in 2005 and now coordinates habitat restoration projects statewide.

Phu completed her undergraduate work at the University of Maryland, College Park, and earned her graduate degree at Marshall University, Huntington, W.Va.

The Appalachian Laboratory is located along Braddock Road just off U.S. Rt. 68 at the Midlothian Road exit. There is ample parking available in front of the building.

The Maryland Native Plant Society uses education, research, and community service to increase awareness and appreciation of native plants and their habitats, leading to their conservation and restoration. Membership is open to all who are interested in Maryland's native plants and their habitats.

Preserving Maryland's natural heritage, increasing knowledge about native plants, and helping to further the society's mission are the goals of the organization. More information can be found online at www.mdflora.org.

The Western Mountains Chapter was formed to expand the efforts of MNPS on the Allegheny Plateau and ridge and valley physiographic provinces of the central Appalachians. Residents of western Maryland, nearby Pennsylvania, and West Virginia, and anyone else interested in learning more about and conserving the native plants of the region are invited to join. For more information, persons may contact Liz McDowell, chapter coordinator, by telephone at 301-895-3686, or online at boyerandmcdowell@earthlink.net.

A POWERPOINT PRESENTATION by Linh Phu, coordinator of the Maryland Landowner Incentive Program, will be given at the April 20 meeting of the Western Mountains Chapter of the Maryland Native Plant Society. Phu is pictured above with some "acquaintances" who are busy dining on some unwanted multiflora rose plants. Phu said that the goats help control populations of this species, as well as the mile-a-minute plant and Japanese honey suckle. The meeting will be held at the Appalachian Laboratory in Frostburg. See story.

Garrett County Visitors Guide Now Available

The 2010/2011 Garrett County Visitors Guide is now available. This annual Garrett County Chamber of Commerce publication includes information about area attractions, family-friendly activities, outdoor adventures, restaurants, lodging, parks, and events.

"The chamber's Visitors Guide is the comprehensive tourism reference guide for Garrett County," said Joyce Bishoff, the chamber's interim president/CEO. "This year's guide focuses on the 'Great Times, Great Value, and Great Memories' to be found in Garrett County by highlighting activities ranging from visiting our county parks to celebrating Autumn Glory to touring the historic National Road and everything in between."

Along with advertisements from and a directory of all of the chamber's members, the guide features colorful photography and annual events, and lists activities that visitors to the area can do in the winter, on the water, to relax, and as a family, along with state parks and forest information, arts and cultural activities, shopping, dining and lodging options, and business information.

The back of the guide also features a Garrett County map along with quick reference grids that list options for state parks and forest, recreation, dining and retreats/meetings, and accommodations and vacation rentals.

I miss you both more than anyone knows
But I look forward to seeing you again in Heaven
Mom, you couldn't wait to be with Dad
For I saw in your eyes you were sad
But silently you wept no more
As Jesus met you at Heaven's door
Now I know you both are well
As Heaven is where you dwell
Together, forever more...

The town will participate in the annual Municipal Clean-up Day, which is offered by the Garrett County Landfill. The date for the event will be announced.

The council discussed the 2010-11 FY budget. The town has been informed that the Highway User Revenue will again be cut by 90% for the 2011 year. A public hearing is tentatively scheduled to be held before the June 3 town meeting.

The Garrett County Health Fair will be held at the Wisp Resort on Saturday, April 17, from 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The next town meeting will be held on Thursday, May 6, at 7 p.m.

OAKLAND
CHANGES TO BULK PICK-UP REGULATIONS; RECYCLING SUSPENDED

At the recent meeting of the mayor and town council of Oakland, a decision was made to change the policy for bulk pick-up and recycling. Because of significant budget constraints, effective immediately, the following will be the policy for Oakland town residents:

•Friday recycling will be suspended until further notice.

•Spring clean-up will be held as usual the entire week of April 26 through April 30.

•With the exception of Spring Clean-up, Friday bulk pick-up will be limited to small quantities of yard waste and limited amounts of tree limbs/branches. Yard waste must be bagged.

•Large quantities of limbs or yard waste will require payment of a fee at Oakland City Hall, prior to pickup. The Oakland Street Department may be contacted for an estimate of the cost for large quantities.

•Large items (such as sofas, grills, etc.) will be picked up on Fridays only after payment for the item is made at Oakland City Hall.

•All other items placed out will not be collected, and will be considered a violation of Oakland's trash, debris, and rubbish regulations.

Read. Then Recycle.

"EVERYONE SMILES IN THE SAME LANGUAGE" is the motto noted on the Heart to Heart International banner, shown hanging above the organization's clinic in Port Au Prince, Haiti. Cindy Mankamyer, a Garrett County nurse, spent two weeks in the earthquake-ravaged area recently through Heart to Heart, which is a global humanitarian relief organization that works to improve health and to respond to the needs of disaster victims worldwide. She joined a number of other medical volunteers from across the United States to offer their help and care to those still suffering from the effects of the devastating January earthquake. See story and more photos on Page A-18 in today's issue.

DISASTER SCENE? Fortunately, this was a mock disaster scene staged at Northern High School yesterday afternoon by the Garrett County Office of Emergency Management, various fire and rescue personnel, members of the NHS Emergency Services Club, and local law enforcement. A number of NHS students participated as accident "victims" to help organizers graphically emphasize what kinds of tragedies can result from certain behaviors, such as drunk driving, driving while talking or texting on a cell phone, speeding, and the like. Students who were extricated from the vehicle were Josh Beitzel, driver, Morgan Yoder, and Ashley Hackett. The "deceased patient" placed in the body bag, left foreground, was John Wilt. Other students who participated were Greg Blocher, Kate Dignan, James Donahue, Russell Frazee, Cameron Friend, Chelsea Kirkham, Alex Ruff, Travis Silbaugh, Jessica Spiker, and Ryan Wilburn. Wayne Tiemersma was the instructor. Photo by Lisa Broadwater.

School Calendar Approved, Race To The Top Rejected

The Garrett County Board of Education addressed two significant issues at this month's board of education meeting this Tuesday.

The proposed 2010-11 school calendar was voted on and approved with a vote of three to two. The main discrepancies over the calendar were the first day of school for students, set for Aug. 25, and Presidents' Day was set as a possible make-up date.

It was stated that getting students into school on Aug. 25 would allow teachers an additional week of assessment preparation. The main concern of those against the motion was that it would affect the local business industry during the Labor Day holiday, as many high school students are employed during the summer. The motion that was voted on and approved included an amendment to remove Presidents' Day from the make-up list.

A recommendation to sign on to the Race to the Top Program was not approved at this time. There were several items brought to the attention of the board concerning the program, which resulted in a unanimous "no."

The federal program is an initiative that challenges the way teachers and students are evaluated in order to compete for federal grants. It requires states to submit proposals for changing assessment systems for students.

The director of the Maryland State Education Association in Allegany and Garrett counties, Steve Benson, was present at the meeting to share a few points of interest. He felt that signing on to the program would give all control over education to the federal government.

Maryland could receive up to $250 million, but that's only if it wins in the second round of funding awards, which is to be decided at the end of September. Half of that money would then be divided among the state school districts that have signed on to the program. That funding would then be given over a four-year period.

Two Killed In Single-Vehicle Wreck Sunday

A single-vehicle accident on I-68 east on Sunday resulted in the fatalities of two New Jersey residents. Maryland State Police, Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department, and Northern Rescue Squad responded to the 1:52 p.m. scene.

Investigation revealed that Jarrett Steven Gallipoli, 20, Hillsdale, had been operating a 2006 Honda Civic, when he lost control of the vehicle, which crossed the center median and went airborne. The vehicle overturned several times before striking a guardrail on westbound I-68 and traveling 56 feet down an embankment.

Rear passenger Anthony Mario Picinic Jr., 20, Cliffside, was not wearing a seatbelt and was ejected from the vehicle. Both Gallipoli and Picinic succumbed to their injuries at the scene.

Front seat passenger Christina M. Izquierdo, 20, Hillsdale, was wearing her seatbelt and only suffered minor injuries. She was first assisted by members of the Rapid Assistance to Community Emergency team from Delaware, Ohio, who happened to be in the area after a training exercise at Green Ridge State Forest.

According to an MSP spokesperson, Izquierdo unbuckled herself and crawled out of the vehicle, and the RACE team rendered medical assistance and comfort that possibly kept her from going into shock. He also commented that her seat belt and side air bag were probably what

Constant Yield Hearing Scheduled; County Budget Cut By $15.7 Million

The Garrett County commissioners will conduct a constant yield public hearing on Tuesday, April 20, at 11 a.m. in their meeting room at the courthouse in Oakland. They have also scheduled a review of the proposed real property tax rate that same day at 7 p.m. at Garrett College.

The purpose of these events is to receive public commentary on the proposed real property tax rate, $0.990 per $100 of the assessable base, in Fiscal Year 2011, which begins on July 1. The meetings are also part of the commissioners' review process for the FY '11 Operating and Capital Budget.

County administrator Monty Pagenhardt and the Department of Financial Services staff have evaluated estimated revenue and requests for funding from all departments and agencies. Late last year, they were instructed to submit flat budgets for the upcoming fiscal year.

"At the direction of the board [of commissioners], all requests for an annual appropriation for FY '11 are to be equal to that of FY '10," Pagenhardt noted. "This directive was based on the evident realization that state of Maryland funding to the county and local revenue collected would be less than prior fiscal periods."

The review of expected revenue and requests for funding completed by Pagenhardt and Financial Services shows a total budget for FY '11 of $68,173,566, compared to an amended budget for FY '10 of $83,908,587.

"Estimated revenue projections for FY '11 show substantial reductions in income tax, recordation tax, and local transfer tax," Pagenhardt said.

For example, highway user funds distributed to the county from the state decreased from $5.2 million in FY '08 to $4.5 million in FY '09 and down to $223,300 in FY '10. In FY '11, the county expects to receive $222,370.

"Based on the realization associated with this loss of revenue, both locally and from the state of Maryland, the board has instructed that the FY '11 budget be based on the same real property tax rate as FY '10," Pagenhardt said. "There is an estimated increase in real property tax revenue of

Local Lawmakers Encounter Success, Disappointment In General Assembly

by Brandon Butler, legislative aide

The confetti flew in both chambers as the 2010 legislative session of the Maryland General Assembly came to an end in Annapolis on Monday, and Del. Wendell R. Beitzel (R–Dist. 1A) and Sen. George C. Edwards (R–Dist. 1) had a lot to celebrate.

"Despite some disappointments, the Garrett and Allegany County delegations got a lot accomplished this year both individually and as a group" said Beitzel.

Beitzel and Edwards also served on all four conference committees that dealt with the state budget. Beitzel served as a voting member of the committee, while Edwards was an advisor to the committee. This was the first time that Garrett and Allegany representatives served on all of the conference committees and were represented by both the House and Senate.

As a result, the Maryland Mined Coal Tax Credit was, once again, restored. The measure, which makes Maryland coal competitive with cheaper Pennsylvania and West Virginia coal, has been a measure that has directly contributed to industrial jobs in Garrett and Allegany counties.

"The General Assembly has been concerned about job creation and retention; this tax credit is a proven job creator for Garrett and Allegany counties," said Edwards.

The Allegany County Delegation also sponsored a measure that would authorize counties to establish a preference for local construction firms competing for school construction projects. Delegate Beitzel worked hard to get Senate Bill 551 through during the closing minutes of the session. The House of Delegates even momentarily adjourned the session and immediately reconvened in order to overcome a procedural hurdle that would have prohibited the passing of the Senate bill.

Another large accomplishment was the passing of the Maryland Dormant Mineral Interests Act. This measure would clear up title problems related to the ownership of a mineral interest.

Last year, the measure passed the House unanimously, but failed to get out of the Senate. This year's bill, which was supported by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, gained unanimous support in both chambers.

Budget, Cell Phones, Sex Offenders Dominate Final Days of Session

by Capital News Service Reporters

ANNAPOLIS – Budget woes, sex offenders, same-sex marriage, cell-phone use while driving, and medical marijuana were just some of the issues that dominated the General Assembly's legislative session, which drew to a close late Monday night.

Debate over these issues will likely carry on into this fall's elections, including the rematch between incumbent Democratic Gov. Martin O'Malley and former Republican Gov. Robert Ehrlich. O'Malley unseated Ehrlich in 2006.

O'Malley praised what he called the "collegial and cooperative tone" of the session at a bill-signing Tuesday.

"[It's] a tribute to the leadership in the House and the leadership in the Senate to bring people together and move our state forward in difficult times," O'Malley said.

Senate President Thomas V. "Mike" Miller Jr., D-Calvert, said the state was still a long way from a full economic recovery.

"We made great steps [this year]," Miller said. "But we have more strides to make before we get the job done."

Absent from Monday's flurry of last-minute debate was the state's $13.2 billion operating budget, which the House and Senate had each passed by Saturday. Last year, the budget was not resolved until the last day of the session.

The fiscal year 2011 budget adopted by the legislature is fundamentally unchanged from what O'Malley proposed in January. Legislators made few cuts and maintained the governor's extensive use of accounting mechanisms to close a $2 billion shortfall.

Republicans blasted the budget for not closing a projected, long-term multibillion gap between revenues and expenditures, accusing Democrats of refusing to make tough but necessary cuts in an election year, and setting the stage for future tax increases.

"We didn't go nearly far enough in solving Maryland's overspending," House Minority Leader Anthony J. O'Donnell, R-Calvert, said Tuesday. "We borrowed a lot of money from the federal government and a lot of other one-time sources that will run out next year."

Democrats countered that O'Malley's series of fund transfers will help Maryland maintain services until the economy recovers.

THE 2010 GARRETT COUNTY ARTS FAIR, Americana, will be held this Friday and Saturday at Garrett College. Students from all area schools will be presenting a variety of performances and art work from 6:30 to 9 p.m. Friday and 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday. Pictured are members of the Elementary School Honor Band practicing for the event. From left are Julia Hershman, Dennett Road, and Blake Smith and Jonah Faccioli, both of Broad Ford.

A SEA OF FORSYTHIA – A warm and pleasant spring season has come to the mountaintop, which is a rare event, and flowers such as this forsythia are opening everywhere. Springtime in Garrett County is more often than not rife with cold and even icy rain, gray skies, and below-freezing temperatures. While the nighttime air has indeed dropped to the 30s, the days have been generally warmer and more fair than usual. The "flipside" of the atypical balminess, however, is the spiking pollen count, which is causing some discomfort for those who deal with allergies. Today's count, according to pollen.com, is in the red-zone high range of 11 (12 is as high as the chart goes). The predominate pollen is coming from the maple, oak, and birch trees, along with all the budding flowers and fruit trees. Of course the potential is always here for a downward drop in temperature, and it will be surprising if the county has seen the last of this season's snow. One can only hope the warmth remains! Young Entrepreneur, Customer Service Awards Presented By Local Chamber

Young Entrepreneur of the Year nominees must be between the ages of 21 and 40 during the calendar year of the award presentation, an owner or partner in a business located in Garrett County for at least one year, and must demonstrate "exceptional" leadership, innovation, growth potential, current success, and drive in the business and their community.

Over the Top nominees must be a person or a business that exemplifies "high standards," giving priority attention to every customer, client, or guest. The nominated business's focus must be first and foremost service to the customer and have a policy in place that demonstrates that attitude.

If employees are involved in that business, all employees must demonstrate the customer-service attitude through training and/or incentives, and there must be a policy of customer care and service through objectives and strategies that can be demonstrated, particularly in how this has driven business growth.

The theme for this year's Membership Forum and luncheon was "Together – Working on the Vision." The event included a state-of-the-chamber presentation, a board "visioning" discussion," and sessions on tourism education, economic development, and business support services.

For more information about the chamber, persons may call 301-387-4386 or visit garrettchamber.com.

He was taken to the Garrett County Jail to await an initial appearance before a District Court commissioner.

Deputies stopped a vehicle being operated by Patrick Anthony Grinnan on Garrett Highway near Sang Run Road for failure to drive right of center. Man Charged With Possession Of Marijuana

A Westernport man was arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies after they responded to Oak Street, Oakland, for a suspicious person. Investigation led deputies to charge Daniel Nevis, 46, with CDS possession of marijuana and CDS possession of paraphernalia. He was taken into custody to await a bond hearing.

Oakland Man Charged With Animal Cruelty

An Oakland man was arrested for animal cruelty by Garrett County sheriff's deputies Sunday afternoon. Deputies responded to an Oakland Sang Run Road residence, where they learned that Daniel P. Friend had reportedly shot a domestic dog with a small caliber rifle. The dog belonged to a relative of Friend's neighbor. He was taken to the Garrett County Jail, where he was released on personal recognizance.

Woman Injured In ATV Wreck On Private Prop.

Garrett County sheriff's deputies were dispatched to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for a report of a patient being treated as a result of an ATV accident.

According to the patient, Laura Ashburn Bobb, Pasadena, she was operating a 2008 Polaris four-wheeler on private property, when she wrecked, injuring herself. She was taken to GCMH by private vehicle. No charges were filed by the GCSO.

Three Arrested On District Court Warrants

Three men were arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies this week on the strength of District Court warrants.

Tyler Allen Arnold is charged with failure to appear. He was taken into custody in lieu of a $250 bond.

Alan Francis Varner, 43, Swanton, is charged with one count of second degree assault. He was taken to the Garrett County Jail to await a bond hearing.

Victor Manuel Jimenez is charged with second degree assault. The warrant was obtained by the victim. He was incarcerated on $6,500 bond.

Deputies Charge Two Men With Prop. Destruction

Two men were arrested on Monday when Garrett County sheriff's deputies responded to Smouse Road for a reported destruction of property.

Through investigation, deputies learned that Robert Joseph Thomas and Kevin Russell Lyons had reportedly committed the crime and were located during a traffic stop on Lynndale Road. Lyons was found to be in possession of suspected marijuana and paraphernalia. Thomas is charged with destruction of property less than $500, and Lyons is charged with CDS possession of marijuana, CDS possession of paraphernalia, and destruction of property less than $500.

Both men were taken into custody to await a bond hearing.

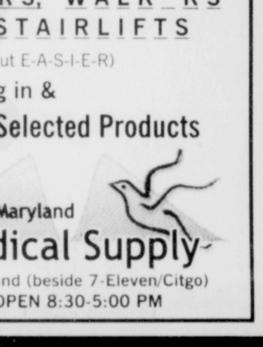
Two Charged With Assault By GCSO

Garrett County sheriff's deputies charged two people with assault in unrelated incidents this week.

A reported assault at a Maple Avenue, Loch Lynn, residence led to the arrest of James Reed Reckart. He is charged with second degree assault and was taken into custody to await a bond hearing.

In a separate incident, deputies responded to Winters Place, Oakland, for a reported assault. It was learned through investigation that a juvenile female had committed an assault against another juvenile female at Southern High School. The juvenile is charged with second degree assault and was released back to the school.

Sines Announces Candidacy For Register Of Wills



John K. Sines has announced his candidacy for the position of register of wills for Garrett County.

"When elected," Sines said. "I will maintain the high quality, knowledgeable, courteous, caring, and compassionate standards exemplified by the former longtime register."

Sines served in the U.S. Army from March 1979 to March 1982 as a military police officer. He has served the citizens of Oakland in a law enforcement capacity since 1983, and was appointed Oakland's police chief on July 1, 1984.

Sines stated that the privilege of being police chief has given him the opportunity to meet many families, young and old, to see firsthand the devastation caused when loved ones die intestate.

"Too many citizens of Garrett County are dying without a will," Sines said. "I believe that preparation is the best protection, and to that end, I want to raise community awareness of the importance of making a will. Creating an estate plan is the first step in protecting your family and the assts you have accumulated over a lifetime."

As a lifelong resident of Garrett County, Sines said he is a motivated member of the community. He is currently an active member of the Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club, the Fraternal Order of Police Lodge #99, the International Chiefs of Police Association, the Maryland Chiefs of Police Association, the Maryland Municipal League, Garrett County Historical Society, Sons of the American Legion, and Woodmen of the World Lodge #11, serving locally and nationally.

He has also served as chairman of the Garrett County Republican State Central Committee, the Garrett County Mental Health Advisory Board, and as state director of the Oakland Jaycees.

"My involvement in the community and my dedication to the citizens of Garrett County are assets that complement my desire to represent the people as the next register," Sines said.

He attended both Northern and Southern high schools and graduated from Southern in 1976. He is number 9 of 13 children.

Sines noted that his wife Crystal and daughters Kandi and Elizabeth encourage his aspirations to "make the world a better place."

"I will make a difference," Sines said.

How About a Letter?...

The Garrett County Board of Education made the correct vote Tuesday by deciding to continue starting the new school year prior to the Labor Day holiday. What is a bit disconcerting about that vote by the lay board members is that it was by a 3-2 margin, rather than unanimous.

The negative votes were cast by board vice president Thomas Carr and Charlotte Sebold, who argued that the school year should commence after Labor Day so that student employees in businesses at Deep Creek Lake, in particular, would still be on the job during such a busy time. They asserted that this was somehow owed to Garrett County's business community.

The board addressed – and rejected – the same proposal two years ago, and after the kind of winter we had this past season, it seems that the motion to continue to return to school before Labor Day should have been unanimously approved this time around. Because of so many snow days, the current school year for students has been extended to June 16. Had the school year begun after Labor Day last fall, obviously our students would be in school for almost the entire month of June.

Board president Don Forrester's response to the concern about the lake business owners was right on the mark when he said that the priority of the board should be "what they do as students, not what they do as workers." While it is agreed that various kinds of partnerships between local businesses and our school system are a good thing and should be encouraged, the education, and not the employment, of our kids must always be the priority of the lay board members.

There are a number of other points to be made: 1. Given the entire student population of Garrett County, it is probable that less than 1% of them even have summer jobs at the lake. 2. Students will still be available to work the three-day Labor Day weekend, since they have Labor Day itself off from school. 3. The great majority of summer vacations do not extend beyond Labor Day anyway since most schools are either already back in session, or will be the day after Labor Day. 4: Would not there be a similar problem for business owners in late June, when their student workers are still in school and significant numbers of summer visitors begin arriving in early to mid June?

We would love to hear from the business owners who are pushing for this change in the school calendar, and not just one or two of them. (We already know who you are). How about a letter signed by all of the business owners who believe that this change would be a good idea? It seems that real numbers – of affected employers and students – should be made available to help the board of education members decide if there is sufficient reason to reconsider the matter in the future.

Letters to the Editor

Writers of letters to the editor are reminded that letters will not be published if they exceed 400 words, do not include contact information, and/or are deemed to be libelous.

To the Editor:

I was pleased to read your editorial in last week's Republican revealing the wonderful attitude of the county road workers union during these difficult times. I wish that more unions would have this "We're all in this together" attitude.

This past winter especially showed all of us the dedication of these men and women to keep the roads open so that we could get to work, to the doctor's office, the hospital, the grocery store, etc. They worked many long days, and should be commended.

I have heard so many people comment that, if it weren't for this dedication by the county (and state) roads departments and the great job they did on the roads, many potentially tragic events could have occurred.

Our present budget situation should be a lesson for our present and future county commissioners. On average, every five years the economy will fall into a recession. The commissioners (as well as state officials) should always develop their budgets so that, under normal circumstances, there is a surplus so that when a recession does occur, there will be monies available to avoid deep budget cuts and, therefore, layoffs.

Sincerely,
Vincent Genco

To the Editor:

I am completely confused and disappointed by your editorial of 04/08/10. If your intent was to thank the hard-working employees of the Garrett County Roads Department, then you should write that!

By pointing out the Garrett County Roads Department is the exception [to being greedy] illustrates your negative perspective of unions. I believe the anger and resentment you comment on in your editorial belongs to your hostility of unions. Were you trying to say union members are less significant citizens because they belong to a union? Or were you trying to say, in spite of being union members, Garrett County Roads Department employees are good citizens? Well?

Do you understand that labor unions are legal organizations who bargain with employers for safe working conditions and fair wages? That's why we have them. Your claim that unions are greedy is very perplexing, and the facts do not support your assertion. The people who believe the unions are greedy are at the top 10% of the population, or the misinformed. I will try to help you to understand what greed really is.

Did you know that 10% of your readers own 90% of business equity, 88% of financial securities, 82% of all trust funds, 84% of all stock and mutual funds financial securities, and 80% of commercial real estate?

To put it more simply, 1% of the people own 50% of all the wealth, and the next 9% own the next 35% of all the wealth. This group includes no union workers and 1,000 of your approximately 10,200 readers.

The reality of this is that 90% of the people own only 15% of the wealth. This group includes union workers and 9,000 of your approximately 10,200 readers.

If you feel compelled to write an editorial on greed and unions, you should also include Don Blankenship in that discussion.

I firmly believe you owe an apology to the hard-working men and women of the Garrett County Roads Department.

Retired Carpenter

Mr. Krewson:

Wow, you sure read a lot into that editorial, most of which, in my opinion, was not there.

Nowhere in my editorial did I write that unions and their memberships are greedy. My exact sentence was: "Because union members are among the better paid workers in the nation, they are often branded as 'greedy' whenever a work stoppage is called." I believe this is an absolute fact. I did not say, in any way, that they are greedy, but that they are often branded as greedy – big difference.

Why do I believe that is a fact, and not my opinion? Just look at the typical reaction of the masses when teachers or auto workers or miners go on strike for higher wages. Most union members are already making considerably more money and have better benefits than most non-union employees, so resentment by the latter group is simply human nature. Such resentment may not be fair or "right," but it is nonetheless real.

As for my personal opinion of unions, I believe that they were absolutely necessary when they were founded, because of the horrendous abuse by some owners and often very dangerous working conditions. Many of these negatives were eliminated thanks to unions. And for the same reason, one can successfully argue that there is still a need for unions today.

But, unfortunately, in some cases the demands of unions have been taken to extremes – again, because it's human nature. The demands have in a few instances all but destroyed unions, as well as the industry itself. (The American steel industry is a good example, and the auto industry is not far behind.)

So, I'm pretty sure that I did sincerely compliment our GC roads workers, and I don't feel a great need to apologize to them. But you certainly have every right to "firmly believe" that I do!

Editor

P.S. While the circulation of our paper is approximately 10,200, as you note, we have an estimated readership of 25,000-30,000, as a family of three, for example, rarely purchases more than one copy each week.

To the Editor:

The county commissioners were never intended to be "full-time" employees. We have a well-paid county administrator who handles the delegation of powers to the various departments.

Back in about 1996 (the exact date is not relevant) the commissioners established not only a pension for themselves, but also health insurance. Their idea was to benefit (line their nests) and continue to have their other full-time positions outside the county pay-trough. The cost of their sitting in their seats is now over $165,000 per year! Part-time!

That office should be filled by county citizens who already have established themselves as productive people who have income and understand how a business is run.

The position of commissioner should be filled by those who care about the citizens and taxpayers here. Instead, we see project after project being built. It is plain to see that the commissioners do not understand the plight of the economy, nor do they want to hear any suggestions on why we need to reduce excessive spending.

The budget for the present includes about 10 million dollars from the state and federal governments. Our commissioners use that money to build and do not even show it as part of the general expenditure of the county, which is another 70 million.

Voters of Garrett County, it is time to elect human beings who care about you and me, not re-elect those who have been spending and building projects which we must maintain and heat. Now is the time to begin to find fiscally responsible people who are willing to work part-time for a lesser salary and benefits, and get our costs in line. Seek ones who do not want to park at the courthouse for 20 years and continue to cause our taxes to generate poverty. Please act!

To the Editor:

I realize now why so many angry people are blaming President Obama for all our financial and job-loss problems, when in reality he is just cleaning up after the last administration. It seems that the people who elected Bush do not want to take responsibility for their own actions.

As we are a democracy of the people, by the people, and for the people, they really are the ones to be blamed – those who chose Bush and kept silent while he cut taxes, did not fund the wars, increased the debt, and ran the country on borrowed money – along with the irresponsible Congress.

The sad thing is that the American people were led down a path toward deficit spending themselves to keep the economy going – credit debt, unsound mortgages, buy more bigger, better. What a great distraction, along with the "war on terror." Now the real terror is here – endless deficits, manufacturing jobs gone for good, unemployment here to stay, depressed low wages, and the rich get richer.

Now we have no choice. "We, the people" will have to pay taxes, insist that our elected officials tell the truth and govern, and create a whole new tax system that works for all. This country should not even have a class called "the working poor," with hungry children living in poverty. We must work together to save us all. It is time for cooperation, not constant competition and ugly words that harm us all.

And, William Hebler, it is easy for you to speak of freedom. The founding fathers wrote the constitution for folks like you – assuming you are white, male, and own property. Others were left out and some are still fighting for their rights. Remember, your rights only go as far as the next person's nose.

Thanks to the county commissioners for their wise handling of the Eagle Rock dispute, and to the newspaper for its fair coverage.

Thanks, Sarah Morgan, for your inspiring letter – you said it all, beautifully. I hope the energies of greed and resentment release their grip on the country, and that hearts were opened by your loving words.

Thanks, Ellie Paugh, for your brave letter. I'm appalled by the actions of the teacher and her lie about who raped whom. God bless the student who brought this to her wonderful parent's attention.

Sincerely,
Cynthia S. Knight

To the Editor:

I would like to let Garrett County know how disgusted I am in our county's judiciary system! I was involved in an incident where my children were taken from school, without my permission and against court-ordered custody papers. When I saw them in the Oakland area, I tried to get them out of the car and was struck repeatedly by a vehicle.

Lisa Welch, you have slapped me in the face! Who are you to say that a mother of three children, trying to protect them, who ends up being a victim, is not worthy of a trial? Are you not a mother who would do anything to protect your children? You have no idea of what I have to deal with involving these people every day, and yet when I put my faith in the justice system, you've failed me. You have shown my children that this kind of behavior is OK, and there will be no justice! The defendant was the one who "prayed for the jury trial." You're the one who decided to let her walk.

Chief Sines and Officer Alexander, how dare the two of you! You didn't bother to even take the time to write my statement down. You never took one photo until days later, and were more concerned about who was related to whom. Apparently my name didn't mean much to you, so you let me slip through the cracks. You both should be ashamed of yourselves! Alexander told me later that the reason he couldn't do anything until a week later was because the incident happened at the end of his shift and the beginning of his vacation, and Sines was not the investigating officer.

On the positive side, Randy Wright takes great pride in his job! He went above and beyond his duty in this case. He did diagrams of the scene, got copies of the photos of my injuries that I took, got in contact with the witness, and took all the information to the state's attorney's office for district court.

Tracey Henline was very compassionate in her handling of my case as well. Thank you, Tracey!

How do you sleep at night knowing there are people out there whom you could have helped, and you did nothing to protect these children or me!

To the Editor:

This is in response to Mr. McLaughlin's letter concerning the television programs that can be received in Garrett County. I have also been frustrated with the lack of Maryland programming available in Garrett County.

My wife and I recently watched a show on Maryland Public TV called "Outdoors Maryland." It had a terrific segment about Garrett County and all it has to offer. Unfortunately, we could not watch it in Garrett County, but we watched it in Montgomery County.

I receive my programming from Dish Network, and until about three years ago I was receiving the Washington, D.C., channels. My access stopped when a judge in a Florida appeals court ruled that Dish Network could no longer provide what they referred to as "distant locals" to their customers. My understanding is that the FCC regulates consumers' access to stations using Nielsen Designated Market Areas (NDMA) (http://www.fcc.gov/dtv/markets/), which determines who receives which broadcast channels. Baltimore is the only NDMA in Maryland. There is also an NDMA in Washington, D.C., which covers parts of Maryland, including Baltimore.

Since Garrett County is in the Pittsburgh NDMA, they are our local channels.

There are markets all over the United States just like Garrett County where people have the same frustrations and are forced to receive programming from states other than where they reside. I understand that legislation was being proposed in Congress this past year to address this issue. I have written to Senators Mikulski and Cardin, Representative Bartlett, and Senator Edwards to try to find the status of such a bill. I either have received no response or a response that was nothing more than repeating the facts as I stated in my letter. I have also written to the other six representatives in Maryland, but they do not seem to be interested if you do not live in their district.

Cable and satellite providers should be allowed to provide Marylanders with channels that will report news, weather, sports, and politics that are relevant to where we live. The only way this issue will be resolved is through Congressional legislation. I am aware of several people in Garrett County who receive Washington, D.C., local channels through satellite providers by providing addresses in the Washington, D.C., area.

To the Editor:

There has been recent news about a "Christian fundamentalist militia group" that gets its ideas of violence "from the Bible" and that has been busted by federal agents who are accusing them of seeking to kill policemen.

My immediate question is, why has there not been a single political leader say something like: "Christianity is a beautiful religion. Please don't think that these would-be murderers represent Christianity. They have perverted and hijacked a wonderful way of faith. Please don't lash out at Christians . . ."

Also, why have there been no newspersons, when reporting on an attack by an Islamic extremist, say something like, "They base their violence on passages from the Koran."

If these people were plotting to kill policemen, then they need to be stopped, and I'll be among the first to condemn their ideas and plans. However, I find it interesting that the media have no problem claiming them as Christians while continually seeking to downplay the religious beliefs of Islamic extremists, who have killed only-God-knows-how-many in the name of their god Allah, and his "prophet" Muhammed.

As a Christian pastor, I deplore and condemn any violence to another human in the name of "religion" (any religion, and especially the Christian religion). Where are the Islamic clerics who condemn the ideas, plans, and activities of the Islamic militants who are carrying out their evil deeds?

To the Editor:

I'm a student at Garrett College. This is my last semester there before I transfer into the nursing program at Allegany College in the fall. I have taken Anatomy I and Physiology I, and I am currently taking Anatomy II and Physiology II.

I feel that the anatomy and physiology professor, Carolyn Deniker, deserves a round of applause. She is a truly inspiring teacher. She goes above and beyond just getting the information to us. She continually uses analogies to make sure that her students understand the concepts and can remember them beyond the test. Since most of her students are future nurses, I think this is outstanding of her. She has even brought in Play-Doh and put together her markers to make difficult subjects clear and logical.

After two years of attending college, I can say t hat Mrs. Deniker has certainly made a mark in my life. Too often great teachers are not recognized for the impacts that they make in others' lives. She should be an inspiration to anyone who wishes to teach others.

Kudos to Mrs. Carolyn Deniker!

Sincerely
Tammy Crayton

Editor's note: The writer of the following letter to the Garrett County commissioners requested that it appear in this column.

To the Garrett County Commissioners:

I bet you three guys are mighty sick of the wind issue, and here I am bringing it up again. Now I'm curious. What if all the stuff you've heard in opposition to the turbines is correct? (Please refer to and watch http://vimeo.com/10558108 on your computers).

Now I'm sure you'd like to brush off my request like it's a pesky fly, but I really am curious. How will you feel if all of this is a colossal failure and disaster? Will you excuse your culpability by saying, "Well, I did what I thought would be best," even though way, way too many facts and reports are out there which pose way too many unanswerable questions about this type of energy? Will you say, "Well, we can't go back on our word!" Why not, if it is the right thing to do? If an engaged couple decides not to get married an hour before the wedding, there may be a lot of commotion, but at least the couple handled things honestly instead of making a sham of it all. (Also, refer to Judge Hathorne's decisions during the Salem Witch Trials!)

I couldn't live with myself if I thought I had ruined people's lives and killed a lot of nature, all to bring alternative power so we don't have to rely on coal, etc., which we'll have to rely on for a while anyway! There are probable solutions being investigated as I write this – the human mind is capable of amazing inventions! But to kill our economy (tourism), our animals and their habitats, to destroy people's homes and livelihoods, to keep barreling forth repeatedly exemplifying the ignorance of Stewart Udall's Myth of Supernatural Abundance... all because we are having a panic attack about energy, as well as some of us just having a lust for easy money... well, it's dishonorable behavior!

So what do you do with the possible and even probable guilt? You can only play the "powerless-to-do-anything" card so many times before it loses all meaning. If you are powerless, why are you in power? Why do we have county commissioners?

"Slow and steady wins the race; fools rush in where angels fear to tread; an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" are old maxims that make a lot more sense to me than, "Strike while the iron is hot!"

Sincerely,
Jane Avery

Historical Society Dinner To Feature Wildlife Biologist/Author Presentation

The Garrett County Historical Society will hold its annual spring fundraising dinner on Friday, May 14, at the Pleasant Valley Community Center. Dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m., followed by a PowerPoint presentation by retired West Virginia University professor Dr. Edwin Daryl Michael.

"We encourage the community to come out that evening for a wonderful meal, an excellent program, and to show financial support for GCHS," said president Bob Boal.

Michael has written two books of local historic interest: A Valley Called Canaan: 1885–2002 and Shadow of the Alleghenies: The Wilderness Adventures of a Frontiersman and His Wolf Pup.

A West Virginia native, the author was born along Plum Run, located near Mannington and Farmington. He received a bachelor of science degree from Marietta College, and master of science and doctor of philosophy degrees in wildlife ecology from Texas A&M University.

After teaching six years at Stephen F. Austin State University in Nacogdoches, Texas, Michael returned to his home state, where he taught at WVU from 1970 to 1997. Following retirement, he was awarded the title of professor emeritus in 1998.

Michael became a part-time resident of Canaan Valley, W.Va., and conducted numerous studies on the movements and behavior of snapping turtles in that ecosystem. That research is the basis for A Valley Called Canaan. The historical novel is told through the unique perspective of three generations of snapping turtles.

Set against a background of major human events, the author describes the natural history of the wetland wildlife that inhabit Canaan Valley and how logging, railroading, and farming have affected their delicate ecosystem.

Shadow of the Alleghenies is also a work of historical fiction. Michael sets the tale in the Allegheny region during its early years of settlement. Native Americans, climate and natural resources, and such indigenous creatures as wolves, buffalo, mountain lions, and beavers are featured.

The main characters, however, are a tall Scotsman named Angus McCallendar and a wolf pup named Schatto (German for shadow).

As Angus and Schatto come upon the occasional farm, settlement, or trading post, readers see human nature at its best and worst. For example, at the Dunkard family settlement, Angus receives food, hospitality, and kindness. In return, Angus provides the family with game and valuable information from his travels.

In contrast, when Angus and his well-trained wolf get the attention of shifty, restless men, the pair's well-being is threatened.

Ultimately Angus earns the praise of a young George Washington during skirmishes with the French and Indians. Angus eventually realizes that he is no longer a Scotsman, but an American.

Michael had produced more than 100 publications, both scientific and popular, during his 45-year career as a wildlife biologist. He continues to be an active outdoorsman and researcher, concentrating most of his efforts on wildlife of the Appalachian Mountains.

A Valley Called Canaan and Shadow of the Alleghenies will be available for purchase during the GCHS fundraiser. For more information about the event, persons may call 301-334-3226.

Phone Scam Being Investigated By Sheriff's Office

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office is conducting numerous investigations concerning additional automated telephone calls that local citizens have been receiving over the past weekend. This is a scam.

It has been reported that numerous local residents have received calls on house phones and/or cell phones in which an automated voice "warns" them that their WEPCO Federal Credit Union debit/credit card has been breeched. It is then requested that the person's account number, pin number, and expiration date be given in order for them to be issued a new card.

It has been determined that once the numbers are obtained, within minutes the account is used for withdrawals from various ATMs within the United States. The GCSO urges citizens to not provide any personal or account information to anyone over the telephone. Contact should be made with the respected banking institution to verify any questionable inquiries.

The event is coordinated by the Grantsville Lions Club. Donations can be sent to the club at P.O. Box 450, Grantsville, 21536.

Construction To Begin Soon For New Museum

The Garrett County Historical Society has announced that ground will be broken along Liberty Street in Oakland for its new Museum of Transportation within the next full month in Oakland.

GCHS has signed 99-year leases on the former Pritts Garage site and the Liberty Street parking lot for the museum.

Architectural and engineering work has been completed, a temporary grading permit has been approved, and construction may begin very soon, according to GCHS president Bob Boal.

"The approximately 10,000-square-foot Transportation Museum building is a generous gift to the people of Garrett County and the surrounding area from the Howard and Audrey Naylor Trust through the Community Trust Foundation," Boal said.

He noted that all parking on the two involved lots along Liberty Street will end within the next week, as the area must be clear and open for construction vehicles and the removal of concrete from the site (all areas between St. Matthew's Social Hall and Success Flooring).

Superintendent Dr. Wendell Teets agreed with much of what Benson said; however, he did commented that the board should be cautious of not signing on because it could affect further federal funding for schools. The board decided that it would be re-evaluated, if given a chance to sign on at a later date.

Additional action items included an approved motion to accept the new high school health resource Conception to Birth, and an approval of the date for the retirement dinner held each year, which is set for June 17.

The FIRST LEGO League team Fiery Snowbricks, the Northern Middle School robotics team, was recognized for its first place win of the Champions Award at the state FLL competition held at the University of Maryland in January. Team members Alex Miller, Saylor Wampler, Zach Voekel, and Clark Morin were all present with their parents and Chuck Trautwein, Garrett County's instructional technology coordinator, to give a short presentation of their project and be recognized for the achievement.

Budget Cut

$2,341,393 with no increase in the tax rate of $0.990."

The draft budget does not include any salary increases for county employees, and numerous soon-to-be-vacant positions will not be filled.

"County government anticipates 16 employees to retire on June 30, and funding has not been included for the replacement of any of these positions," Pagenhardt said.

Recommended capital outlay has been reduced from $1.124 million in FY '10 to $542,000 for next year, with approximately half of that total appropriated for maintenance and improvements to the jail, he added.

A draft of the FY '11 budget is available online at garrettcounty.org for constituents to review. Also, anyone interested in receiving a copy of the proposed budget may contact the county administrator or Department of Financial Services.

Together, We Can Make A Difference.

It was after much consultation with close friends that I chose to file as a Republican candidate for Sheriff of Garrett County. A Garrett County native with over 34 years of experience in law enforcement, I retired from the Garrett County Sheriff's office in 2007 after serving that office for over 27 years. During that time, I worked alongside six different Sheriffs, gaining knowledge and experience with each one.

However, long ago, I came to realize that the administration of an office as important as Sheriff required teamwork, not just the efforts of one person. That teamwork had to include the entire staff, but more importantly, a person to serve directly under the Sheriff who would serve as a Chief Deputy. I have selected George "Butch" Zimmerman for that position because Butch possesses all of the required attributes: dedication, experience, initiative, and integrity. Our game plan is simple: to serve all of the citizens of Garrett County in a fair and just manner.

I have always embraced the belief that a Sheriff's image is only as good as those employees serving under him. They make him look good. Our plan incorporates a well-structured staff organization in both law enforcement and corrections. Butch and I both adhere to the "grass roots" theory of law enforcement: maintaining close contacts with the citizens we serve in order that we may better understand their issues that need to be addressed. I am confident that we can serve Garrett County in a manner that will make it a better and safer place in which to reside.

We look forward to visiting your area and talking to you individually. Feel free to contact me if you are seeking additional information.

Thank You For Your Support.

Authority: Jeff Nelson, Treas.

USDA ANNOUNCES C OMMODITY CREDIT CORP. LENDING RATES FOR APRIL

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) has announced interest rates for April 2010. The CCC borrowing rate-based charge for April is 0.375 percent, unchanged from March. For 1996 and subsequent crop year commodity and marketing assistance loans, the interest rate for loans disbursed during April is 1.375 percent, unchanged from March.

In accordance with the 2008 Farm Bill, interest rates for Farm Storage Facility Loans approved for April are as follows: 3.125 percent with seven-year loan terms, 3.625 percent with 10-year loan terms, and 4.0 percent with 12-year loan terms, all unchanged from March. The interest rate for Sugar Storage Facility Loans for April is 4.250 percent, also unchanged.

Past monthly releases announcing interest rates charged by CCC on commodity and marketing assistance loans disbursed for that particular month reflect the interest rate the U.S. Treasury charged CCC for that month. This was the interest rate specified by CCC since Jan. 1, 1982, but the process of establishing the interest rate was changed by a provision of the Federal Agriculture Improvement and Reform Act of 1996, enacted on April 4, 1996.

Section 163 of the act requires that monthly interest rates applicable to commodity and marketing assistance loans are to be 100 basis points – or 1 percent – greater than the rate determined under the applicable interest rate formula in effect on Oct. 1, 1995. This formula resulted in a rate equivalent to the amount the U.S. Treasury charged CCC for borrowing, for the month.

Further program information is available from USDA Farm Service Agency's (FSA) Financial Management Division at 703-305-1386.

AGENCY ANNOUNCES CROP ACREAGE REPORTING DEADLINES

Eric McCartney, executive director of USDA's Farm Service Agency in Preston County, reminds farmers of the importance of filing timely crop acreage reports. Reports of crop acreage are required for participation in many USDA-FSA farm programs.

FSA programs requiring annual crop acreage reports include the Direct and Counter-Cyclical Program (DCP), Average Crop Revenue Election (ACRE) Program, Conservation Reserve Program (CRP/CREP), Loan Deficiency Payments (LDPs), Marketing Assistance Loans (MALs), the Farm Storage Facility Loan Program, and the Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program (NAP).

June 1 – Small grains: oats, wheat, and barley.

July 15 – All other crops not specifically named: corn, alfalfa, clover, grass, legumes, lespedeza, lettuce, mixed hay, peas, commercial produce, strawberries, timothy, and vetch.

September 30 – Aquaculture, ornamental horticulture, ginseng, turfgrass sod, mushrooms, Christmas trees, and floriculture.

January 3, 2011 – Honey and maple sap.

Failed acreage must be reported within 15 days of the disaster event and before disposition of the crop. Prevented planting must be reported no later than 15 days after the final planting date.

Acreage reports on crops for which Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program (NAP) assistance may be paid are due in the county office by the earlier of June 1 for noninsurable small grains and July 15 for all other crops, or 15 calendar days before the onset of harvest or grazing of the specific crop acreage being reported.

For further information regarding crop acreage reports, producers may visit the Farm Service Agency located in the Corner Mall of the Kingwood Plaza or telephone 304-329-1923.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

Thank goodness it is really spring! There are a lot of daffodils in bloom around. And the flowering shrubs are in bloom, like forsythia and a bush with tiny white flowers. I never know what it's called. But it's still living at the same place where it was in my childhood. And from Accident-Bittinger Road, you can see some blush on the side of Negro Mountain. That is the first stage of budding out.

I have three daffodils in bloom. I am sure that coltsfoot are blooming on the side of the road. But I didn't actually see them.

I heard some four-wheelers around and about, with the operators enjoying the welcome spring weather. There are not many wildflowers in the woods yet. But I am sure the big patch of ramps between Rodney's house and mine is thick and lush. This was a very important part of old-time days, because they are the first green vegetable, giving a needed dose of vitamin B.

Today, Sunday, April 11, is the 65th wedding anniversary of Bob and his gal Margie. I guess they married in 1945 during World War II.

Emmanuel Lutheran Church had a simple reception to celebrate with them. Bob told the crowd that he fell in love with her when she was 3 years old. But he was an "older man" of 8. That five-year difference has grown smaller and smaller over the years.

It is pretty routine for couples to have a golden anniversary. In my grandparents' and my parents' generation, the only way they ended a marriage before their golden anniversary was if death parted them.

My parents were so happy together, but they weren't as lucky as Bob and Margie. They enjoyed 26 years of very happy marriage, but it was ended very suddenly by a fatal heart attack.

Daddy died the evening we celebrated the 50th anniversary of his parents Oral and Emma Glotfelty, so all his brothers and sisters were around. It was so sad. It was also my youngest brother Scott's senior prom. He came home to find my uncle Dr. Ralph Hummel performing CPR on Daddy.

And Dad planned to retire soon. It was so cruel that it happened when they had an opportunity to enjoy life together. The next day was Mother's Day, which was a sad irony. His last Mother's Day present is still thriving: an old-fashioned deep red rose bush.

My mother was lucky enough to meet another wonderful man, Dino, and it was not too long until they tied the knot. They enjoyed every minute at Dino's place along the Savage River. They both loved to go trout fishing.

But he was among the unlucky workers in the ship yard, a prime place to get cancer from asbestos, and even his first wife was also a victim of it, because you can catch cancer from second-hand exposure to asbestos. She died several years before he and my mother met.

I don't think that I ever told Daddy what a wonderful father he was. I hope he knew what he meant to me. His death was so sudden. It was hard to watch my mother dying slowly – she took months to die. But it gave her family time to shower a lot of love on her. It was hard to watch her suffering, but I know she knew how much she meant to her family and friends; especially her 10 grandchildren, who entertained and showed love to her every day.

I'm glad I had a chance to hold her hand and sing, "You are my sunshine... you'll never know, dear, how much I love you." I told her plainly that she was the best mother in the world. I was happy to hear that when I was a little baby, I was their "bundle of joy."

Dino was a real family member to us. It seemed only natural to have him walk me down the aisle at my wedding. But I'm not sure I did the right thing, because my Dad's brother Pappy Dale Glotfelty was childless. And he was like a second father to me. He even helped Dad pay for Little Joe for me.

I am not sure why I feel so deeply about the loved ones I lost. But it was just about this time of year, just when the first flowers were starting to appear, when we got the terrible news about my little brother Scott, who died alone in Africa. What a loss for the whole world, because he was determined to make right all the wrongs in the world.

Torrey Poholsky has started racing in half marathons. He recently placed second in his age group at High Point, N.C., and he plans to run in several others soon, including one in Pittsburgh.

Well, the death toll was 29 from the mine explosion in southern West Virginia. Those people were fathers, husbands, sons, and even grandfathers. A young miner closely connected to our community was one of the last miners to get out. He is the husband of Oren Bender's granddaughter.

The union-buster owner of the West Virginia mine that exploded should be charged with mass manslaughter, because he always put profit above his people. And the men of West Virginia have no other jobs to support their families – just mining.

President Obama knows it will require a worldwide effort to end the nuclear threat, and that is what he is doing, although he is the target of unbelievable hate and mistrust by the some on the Right. But he is one of the most respected persons in the world. Last year, he was voted the most respected person in the world. Who better to make some progress in ending the nuclear threat?

Thank goodness it is still one week before Militia Day, or Domestic Terror Day. Monday, April 19, is the anniversary of the Oklahoma City bombing, when many hate-filled anti-government armed groups lined up across the Potomac River. It was kind of an informal declaration of civil war. Thank goodness all those international leaders do not see firsthand what America is becoming.

I do not see much hope for my girls' American future, because election results do not mean anything. Conservatives do not recognize that they lost in 2008, and that we now have a head of state who is somewhat liberal, but not radical, or in any way a Nazi or a Socialist. The voters did speak, but some refuse to allow him to lead our country.

What prevents the majority of Americans from not embracing liberty and freedom for all is that it's just a basic liberal idea. If you really believe in America, you realize that there is enough freedom to go around. But too many people believe some of those hateful talking heads. Gay marriage would harm heterosexual marriage? How? Tell me how it hurts it. Certainly not as much as the harm caused by the infidelities of our elected leaders, and we see plenty of that.

Believe it or not, today, April 11, is the 65th anniversary of the death of FDR. Some of the last words he spoke about the nuclear threat were, "Be careful."

Wow, the daffodils have really come in big-time. Naomi Beitzel brought me a nice big bouquet of them. I only have a few blossoms so far. But it was only about a month ago that it was almost hard to imagine we would make it to flower time. But where there were five-foot high snow drifts, now there are daffodils!

I heard we are supposed to get a new deep mine near Grantsville. It may offer wages, but at what risk? Just your life!

You want to get some coal out? Well, then some of our elected officials should crawl in that dark, airless death trap in their three-piece suits. You get it out, or die trying. That would end our dependence on coal as an energy source.

Several members of the Bittinger Lutheran Parish met Sunday afternoon for a pot-luck supper at the parsonage and to continue planning for the parish Vacation Bible School, which is scheduled for June 27 through July 1 with the theme of "Cross Roads."

Cindy Richardson and Marvin Beckman attended a two-day conference in Charleston, W.Va., last weekend.

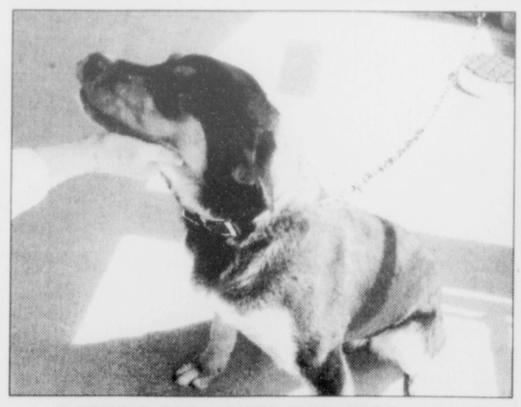
Both Cindy and Marvin are members of the board of directors of Community Lutheran Partners, a social ministry arm of the West Virginia/Western Maryland Synod of the ELCA.

There were several speakers representing outreach agencies working within the Appalachian area. Marvin reported that he was particularly impressed with a speaker who was a former employee at the coal mine near Charleston where the fatal explosion occurred earlier in the week.

The annual retreat for the Bittinger Parish will be held Sunday, April 25, at Uno's Restaurant. Anyone planning to attend is asked to notify the pastor or a council member.

The Mutual Ministry team will meet next Monday, April 19, to finalize plans for this retreat, which is sponsored by the joint council.

Adorable Adoptables



LOOKING FOR HOMES THIS WEEK at the Garrett County Animal Shelter is this hound-Rottweiler mix (above left). He follows some commands, so his previous owner must have given him at least a little training, according to a Humane Society spokesperson. Also in need of a home is a blue heeler, above right. "She is full of energy," said the spokesperson. "She goes and goes, so she needs to work somewhere that she can run and run." Below are a male tabby with white (in front) and younger orange tabby (partially hidden) that were brought into the shelter together. Some cats and few dogs were recently taken from the shelter to rescue facilities. "Plus, recently featured Rufus was adopted into a great home where he will run in a fenced in yard and spend the night inside with his new canine buddy," said the spokesperson. "More cases of the parvo virus have been reported. If your dog is outside at all, please make sure it is vaccinated against this horrible disease. If your dog shows signs of black diarrhea and flulike symptoms, take it to a vet immediately." For more information, persons may call the shelter at 301-334-3553. Located along Oakland Sang Run Road, the facility is open Monday through Friday.

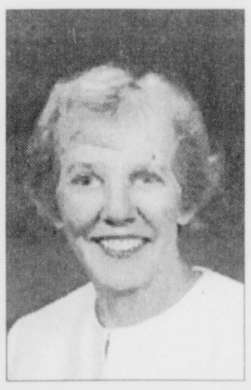
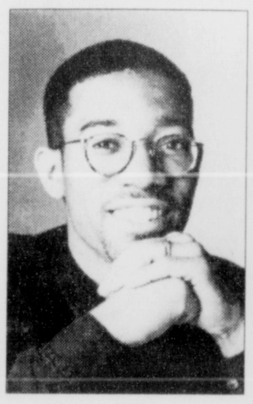
FSU To Present Annual Spring Festival Of Children's Literature

LAURA MALONE ELLIOTT



HELEN LESTER

BARBARA REID



BRIAN PINKNEY

Frostburg State University will celebrate the 28th annual Spring Festival of Children's Literature on Friday, April 23, and Saturday, April 24, at Mountain Ridge High School in Frostburg.

The theme for the weekend will be "Literature for the Ages." Laura Malone Elliott, Helen Lester, Barbara Reid, and Brian Pinkney will be the award-winning authors and illustrators present this year.

The agenda for the festival includes small-group sessions and large-group presentations. Topics will range from hosting a successful school-based author visit to enabling students to share literature through the use of technology.

In addition to the adult activities, the R. Margaret Hamilton Children's Hour, for children ages 4 to 13, will be held Friday afternoon, beginning at 4 p.m. Age-specific workshops are presented by the authors, in which they share their work with children, as well as the process of writing and illustrating. Autographing and book sales will be available from 4 to 4:30 p.m.

These sessions are free and open to the public, but registration is required and can be arranged by telephoning Dr. Jodi Welsch at 301-687-3096.

Laura Malone Elliott has penned several young adult novels and picture books. Her titles include the novels Under a War-Torn Sky, A Troubled Peace, and Annie, Between the States. She is also the author of the picture books Hunter's Best Friend at School, Hunter and Stripe and the Soccer Showdown, and Hunter's Big Sister.

Helen Lester, a former elementary teacher, said that she loved reading funny stories to her two sons at bedtime and decided that "the world needed more stories to make children laugh." Lester received the Children's Choice Award from 17 states for Hooway for Wodney Wat.

While growing up in Toronto, Barbara Reid said she enjoyed writing, but later learned that her greatest talent was in drawing and art. Using her signature plasticine artwork style, she has written and illustrated a variety of picture books for children, which have won numerous awards, including the UNICEF Ezra Jack Keats Award.

Brian Pinkney said he learned much from his father, children's illustrator Jerry Pinkney. As an accomplished illustrator in his own right, Brian has been the recipient of many awards, including a Coretta Scott King Award and two Caldecott Honors.

Admission to the festival is by registration only and is limited in number. Advanced registration is required, and pre-orders are available for books that will be featured at the festival.

The festival is administered by the Frostburg State University Foundation and sponsored by the FSU Department of Educational Professions and the Children's Literature Centre. For more information, persons may telephone the Centre at 301-687-3133 or Dr. William Bingman at 301-687-4420.

HOMESCHOOLERS VISIT OTT – HomeSchoolers at the Oakland library recently visited Our Town Theatre for a tour with director Jane Avery. The students started out in the theatre, with Avery explaining the stage set-up for an upcoming production, the lighting, and the general physical space that can be adapted to all types of plays. They moved downstairs to have a look at the puppets and then on to a nearby building called the Backstage, where OTT set decorations, props, and costumes are created/stored. "We make all sorts of things here," Avery said about the Backstage. She reminded the group about the activities that OTT sponsors for children, including Summer Camp and Kids Stuff. The Oakland library will hold three more HomeSchooler programs this year from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. on April 16, May 7, and May 21. For questions, persons may contact Keela Pfaff at 301-334-3996, ext. 115, or keela@relib.net. Information about the library's programs can be viewed on the calendar page at www.relib.net.

Chinese Dancer Yu Wei To Give First 2010 GLAF Performance

Garrett Lakes Arts Festival (GLAF) will present its first performing arts event of the 2010 season with the Yu Wei Chinese Dance Collection, to be staged at the Garrett College auditorium on Saturday, April 24, at 7:30 p.m.

Immediately following the performance, the audience will be invited to a special "meet and greet" reception for Yu Wei and a fortune cookie fundraiser in the college art gallery. Refreshments will be served.

Yu Wei was born in China, trained to become a professional dancer at the Wuhan Dance Academy, and came to the U.S in 2000, where she has performed for many audiences, including those at the Kennedy Center.

"Honored as the 'Daughter of Dance' in China, Yu Wei's captivating dance visions have been holding American audiences spellbound," a GLAF spokesperson said. "Her performances are multimedia, alternating short films and solo dances to Chinese and Western composers' music."

The cultural films shown during the dance performance have English subtitles, the spokesperson noted.

As part of GLAF's educational mission, Yu Wei will also present two school performances on April 23 for the 4th grade students of Garrett County. This portion of the artist's performance was made possible by a donation from the Howard and Audrey Naylor Family Trust.

Tickets for the Saturday evening event are $15 for adults, $5 for students, and free for children 5 years and younger (tickets are required).

Tickets may be purchased by calling the GLAF office at 301-387-3082, or through the GLAF web site at www.artsandentertainment.org.

Season sponsors of GLAF are First United Trust & Investments, Howard and Audrey Naylor Family Trust, Jim O'Connell and Connie Leary, Sincell Publishing Company, and Wisp Resort. Additional funding has been provided by the Garrett County Arts Council; the Maryland State Arts Council; Pennsylvania Performing Arts on Tour (Penn Pat), a program developed and funded by the Heinz Endowments; the William Penn Foundation; the Pennsylvania Council of the Arts, a state agency; and the Pew Charitable Trusts.

They also pointed to hundreds of millions of dollars in budget cuts – including several dozen state employee layoffs – and some measures taken to address the state's structural deficit.

Democrats further cited the state's retained AAA bond rating – announced in February – as evidence that Maryland has continued to be fiscally prudent.

In addition to passing the budget, lawmakers tightened laws concerning sex offenders after the December kidnapping and death of an 11-year-old girl on the Eastern Shore.

A series of bills increasing sentences and supervision for sex offenders passed with strong bipartisan support, with legislators approving the final details Monday. Changes included tripling the minimum sentences for some offenses against minors to 15 years, and requiring lifetime monitoring of violent and repeat offenders.

Both O'Donnell and Senate Minority Whip Nancy Jacobs, R-Harford, praised the tougher sex offender laws.

"That was huge," Jacobs said.

O'Donnell said the legislature succeeded in "waking Gov. O'Malley out of his stupor to realize that child sex offenders are a serious problem."

Another much-publicized issue was same-sex marriage.

Last month, Delegate Don Dwyer, R-Anne Arundel, brought impeachment charges against Attorney General Douglas Gansler on the House floor, citing "willful neglect of duty" by Gansler in issuing an opinion that Maryland should recognize same-sex marriages performed outside the state.

After some floor debate on rules and procedure, the House voted to uphold a decision by Busch to send the impeachment issue to the Judiciary Committee, which roundly rejected the motion for impeachment.

The General Assembly expanded on last year's texting-while-driving ban to include any use of a handheld cell phone. Motorists cannot be pulled over only for using phones, but cell phone users who are stopped for other offenses could face an extra $40 fine. The ban goes into effect Oct. 1.

As federal lawmakers worked to pass President Obama's health care overhaul, Maryland lawmakers were making changes to the state's health-care policies.

The legislature established civil penalties for filing false health claims. Lawmakers say the legislation, which failed during last year's session, will help the state regain millions of dollars in Medicaid funds from false claims.

A bill legalizing marijuana use for medicinal purposes passed in the Senate, but didn't make it out of committee in the House.

"The House was being a 'fraidy-cat' about taking up medical marijuana," said Sen. Jamie Raskin, D-Montgomery, a co-sponsor of the bill. "The Senate courageously took up the bill."

Advocates for the disabled were disappointed with the defeat of a proposed dime-a-drink alcohol tax. The money would have been set aside to fund substance abuse prevention programs. The funds would also have helped reduce the waiting list for Developmental Disabilities Administration services, which stood at more than 19,000 people in January. Neither chamber voted on the tax.

One significant piece of legislation that did pass allows all persons under guardianship because of mental disability the right to vote unless a court specifically decides the individual is incapable. Currently, no one under guardianship with a mental disability may vote. The new law will go into effect June 1.

Legislation calling for an expansion of Maryland gambling laws to include games such as poker and roulette failed to make it out of House and Senate committees. O'Malley and Busch have both said they want to focus on getting the state's slot machines up and running before talking about expanding gaming.

Maryland public schools got a boost from the fiscal 2011 budget, with a record $5.7 billion going to K-12 education. But the budget also saw the end of the four-year, in-state tuition freeze for higher education. The legislature passed a modest increase of 3 percent, pending approval of the university system.

Lawmakers also approved a package of education reforms expected to make Maryland's bid for a possible $250 million in federal Race to the Top funds more competitive. The legislation increased the minimum length of time before a teacher is eligible for tenure from two years to three years and required student performance data to be used in evaluating teachers and principals.

A controversial plan to shift a portion of the cost of teacher pensions from the state onto the counties gained traction in the legislature this year. A budget amendment proposed by Sen. Richard Madaleno, D-Montgomery, passed the Senate, but was struck from the House version of the bill.

Northern Softball Team Has Ups And Downs With One Victory, Two Losses

It was an up and down week for the Northern High School varsity girls' softball team as it was defeated, 5-2, by Frankfort on Thursday at home, but then came back with a 3-2 victory over Hampshire on Monday. The Huskies were then dominated 12-2 by Allegany Tuesday at home.

Northern led through the first two innings, 1-0, after Taryn Brenneman recorded an RBI single. It didn't last long as the Falcons recorded three runs in the third and two more in the fourth. The Huskies collected a final run in the bottom of the third off a Frankfort error.

Leading the Falcons was Savannah Hose with her triple and single. Jasmine Morgan doubled and knocked in two runs, while Allie Lantz finished with a two-run single.

Against Hampshire on Monday, the score was 0-0 after two innings until Northern's Kierstin Butler belted a two-run homer in the third for a 2-0 lead, and then later singled. Kaitlynn Fratz aided with a single of her own. The Trojans answered back in the fourth inning with two runs, but were unable to get past the Huskies.

Brenneman pitched a complete game for Northern with her seven strikeouts. She allowed just two hits from Hampshire and walked one. Miranda Beasom stayed steady as catcher in the victory.

Kayla Keckley had a triple in the fourth and got home on a throwing error, while Kacey Patterson finished with a single and also struck out five for Hampshire.

The Huskies' junior varsity team edged the Trojan jayvees, 6-5.

"I'm very pleased with the way our junior varsity girls were hitting in this game," said assistant coach Gale Keller, who has been with the Northern team for three years. "They were aggressive and hit the ball well."

The Huskies opened with two runs in the first inning against the Campers on Tuesday, but were quickly taken over as Allegany broke open with eight runs. The Campers proceeded to post two runs in the second, one run in the third, and one final run in the fifth inning.

Northern was held to one hit as Allegany racked up 11.

Northern (2-7, 1-5 AMAC) is scheduled to host county-rival Southern this evening at 4:30 p.m. The Huskies will then host Allegany on Wednesday, with game time at 4:30 p.m.

Lakers Split Three Doubleheaders, Take A Pair From Southern Maryland

It was a busy week on the baseball diamond for the Garrett College baseball team, as the Lakers played four doubleheaders, splitting three of them and sweeping one.

Coach Eric Halleback's squad traveled to Elkins last Friday, where they were edged in the first game by the Davis & Elkins junior varsity, 12-11, and came back to take the second game, 6-4.

In a Maryland JUCO home twinbill on Saturday, GC nipped Anne Arundel CC in the opener, 7-6, and were topped in the second contest, 13-9.

About 24 hours later, the Lakers took a pair of conference games from visiting Southern Maryland, 8-4 and 18-11, and in tough weather conditions on Tuesday, also in McHenry, the home team whipped Montgomery Germantown in the first game, 8-3, but dropped the second one, 10-3.

The results left the Lakers with a 12-14 overall record and a 7-8 mark in the JUCO standings.

In Friday's first game against the D&E jayvees, the Lakers had a relatively comfortable 11-7 advantage going into the bottom of the seventh, but that's when the host squad rallied for five runs to get the one-run win.

The Lakers 10-hit attack was paced by Ryan Krumlauf, who smacked a pair of doubles and had two RBI. Will Fisher and Clint Whitman each contributed a pair of singles.

The Lakers scored all of their runs in the first and third innings.

Leading the Lakers at the plate in the second game were Brett Martin with three singles, Krumlauf with two singles and two RBI, and Jake Briley with a run-producing single.

Fisher recorded seven strikeouts and went the distance to get the win.

In Saturday's first game against Anne Arundel, the Lakes trailed 5-0 going into the bottom of the second inning. They knotted the score at 6-6 with a four-run fifth, and won the game in the seventh via a walk-off homer by Clint Whitman.

The Lakers' four-run fifth was led by Stephen Peters, who rapped a two-run double. The two other runs were scored on an error.

Martin and Chris Kelley each hit a double and a single for the Lakers, while Roberto Mendoza provided three hits and three RBI for the Pioneers.

Getting the win in relief was Brian Maxfield, to took the mound for the Lakers in the fifth.

The second game had to go into an extra inning after the Lakers scored two runs in the bottom of the seventh to tie the score at 9-9. The runs were scored on a two-out, two-strike, two-run double by Martin. But the Pioneers responded with four runs in the top of the eighth to get the victory.

Leading Garrett's 10-hit performance was Martin, who had three doubles and three RBI, while Cam King contributed a double and a single, and Krumlauf hit two singles.

The Pioneers nailed four Laker pitchers with 17 hits, as Dwight Wilcox stroked a double and two singles for three RBI, and Mendoza hit a double and a single.

No. 5 Huskies Top Keyser, 7-2, But Fall Short To Frankfort, 5-4

The fifth-ranked Northern High School varsity boys' baseball team had a good start to the week as it topped Keyser, 7-2, on Monday at home. The Huskies didn't end well, however, as they were edged 5-4 by Frankfort on Tuesday.

Dylan Miller led the Huskies as he struck out six in a complete game performance on Monday against the Tornadoes. Northern took control of the game in the fourth inning after being tied with Keyser, 1-1, through three innings. The Huskies got five runs in the fourth, highlighted by a two-run single by Alex Smith and RBI singles from Steven Holtschneider and Corbyn Browne.

The Tornadoes added a run in the fifth, and the Huskies tacked on a final run in the sixth for the win. Andrew Sisler added a double, Teddy Linton hit a run-scoring triple, and Andy Umbel had an RBI single in the win.

Keyser got a double from Jamison Jones and two singles from Dillon Simone.

Patrick Sines had three hits and three RBI in three at-bats to lead Northern over Keyser, 17-9, in junior varsity baseball.

Sines, who finished with a single and two doubles, pitched the first three innings and struck out four. Aaron Broadwater homered, and teammates Josh Mason, Jared Fike, and Josh Bittinger each finished with an RBI double.

Keyser was carried by Mike Mallow's two doubles and four RBI, and Colin Fox's double.

In Tuesday's game against Frankfort, the Huskies trailed 2-0 for the first two innings, but gained the lead with a 3-run third. The fourth inning was scoreless, and both teams gained one run in the fifth. The Falcons tacked on another run in the bottom of the sixth to tie it 4-4. The seventh inning had no runs for either team, which forced the game into an eighth inning where Frankfort posted the winning run.

Holtschneider belted an RBI double for the Huskies, and fanned seven in six innings. Cody Rodeheaver had an RBI single, and Umbel finished with two singles and an RBI single. Smith also had two singles.

It wasn't all bad news for the junior varsity baseball team of Southern, however, as it defeated Keyser earlier in the week in a doubleheader on Saturday. Cody Slider and Mason Dick allowed two hits from Keyser in the first game to lead Southern to a 9-2 victory. Aaron Shotwell knocked in the winning run in the bottom of the eighth in the second game for a 4-3 sweep.

Corey Patterson hit a solo home run in the sixth to aid in the Falcon victory, and teammate James Jones aided with a double and single. Aaron Lehman doubled, while Dylan Wagoner added an RBI single. Taylor singled in the bottom of the eighth inning and scored on a single by Shotwell in the second game to lead the Rams. Scott Bittinger singled twice and also struck out seven.

Keyser's Caleb Piraino had six strikeouts in seven innings, and had two singles at the plate. Mike Mallow hit a double and a single, while Randy Sites finished with three singles and two RBI.

Final Days

Madaleno said Tuesday that the problem wasn't going away, and pointed to the difficulties in states like California, where pension funds assume a greater return on their investments than they're actually getting.

A new commission established to study the retiree benefits system for state employees, including teachers, will deliver a report to the General Assembly in December.

"There's potential for incorporating those recommendations into the budget that will be before us in the '11 session, Madaleno said.

A proposed 75 percent income tax credit for businesses that make donations to scholarships and enrichment programs for public and private schools was voted down in subcommittee this session, despite bipartisan support in both chambers. The Building Opportunities for All Students and Teachers, or BOAST, bill appeared to have increased momentum this session, including an endorsement from the governor.

The bill had the support of Catholic groups, but drew fire from teachers' unions and the American Civil Liberties Union. It passed the Senate for the second time this year, but was once again stopped in the House Ways and Means Committee.

The Department of Juvenile Services faced heavy criticism this session following a series of incidents, including the February slaying of a teacher at Cheltenham Youth Facility in Prince George's County.

Delegate Kathleen Dumais, D-Montgomery, introduced a bill that would close the Thomas J.S. Waxter Center for female juvenile offenders in Laurel, as well as a bill requiring gender parity in services for girls in the system, including job training. Both bills died in committee.

Last month, girls who have lived at Waxter reported through the American Civil Liberties Union of Maryland that the Waxter facility was dirty, bug-ridden, and potentially unsafe in the event of an emergency.

Department of Juvenile Services Secretary Donald DeVore said Waxter would stop accepting girls into its high-security program, leading to charges by advocates that girls would be sent out of state for treatment.

Of the many oyster-related bills that brought watermen off their boats and into Annapolis this session, only one managed to pass through both houses of the assembly. The legislation allows fishermen to use a special metal device known as a "devil diver" when dredging for oysters.

Watermen also supported other bills, including one that would limit the scope of oyster sanctuaries in the bay. They opposed a measure to increase the percentage of viable oyster habitat designated as sanctuary. Neither bill made it out of the chamber where it was introduced.

Environmentalists didn't spend the entire session talking about oysters. Two bills passed that ban chemicals believed to be harmful to children. Bisphenol-A, or BPA, a chemical commonly used in hard plastic bottles, will be banned in baby bottles and children's products. A flame retardant, Deca-BDE, will also be eliminated from electronics, mattresses, couches and other uses.

New stormwater pollution rules will take effect in May for construction sites, though some projects will be grandfathered in or waived from the restrictions.

SOMEWHERE IN BETWEEN

My colleague's last column discussed how real estate is beginning to recover, although not everywhere yet. Whether you're buying or selling, you need to be aware of local conditions, and adjust your strategy according to the value of your home.

We've already covered a couple tips for the least expensive homes on the market, and now we'll look at the middle tier of properties. While these listings are seeing more activity than luxury homes, demand is still soft compared to the often bargain "distressed" properties on the market.

Buyers are facing some difficulty in trading up, because their equity has taken a hit over the last few years. As a buyer, it's best to list your current home for sale and get it under contract before making an offer on the home you want. When you're ready, reason dictates that you're safe offering 10% under the asking price in a still lukewarm market.

As a seller in the mid-price range, you'll need to make your listing stand out from the competition. Forget about incremental price drops and go for a big cut, which will draw the most attention. Or offer incentives like paying closing costs or a decorating allowance.

If the home you're selling or want to buy is in the luxury range, you'll want to read our next column for some tips in that market.

If you are thinking of buying or selling a home but feel "out of touch" with real estate, give me a call today.

Ask The Everyday Scientist

SPECIAL SATELLITE ORBITS
by Dr. Tom Sheahen

Q. Of all the satellites up in orbit, some of them stay in the same place all the time. How do they get a satellite to stay put?

A. Your question has two very different answers that fit different classes of satellites.

First are the satellites that are in geosynchronous orbits. That word means that the satellite actually goes around Earth, but it takes 24 hours to do so, and during that time Earth below is rotating on its axis. The result is that the satellite seems to remain directly above a particular place on Earth. The best example of that are the satellites that observe the weather, and report images every day to TV channels. When you watch the TV weather news, the view from the satellite is always the same.

For any satellite at any radius, the acceleration of gravity pulls the satellite inward as the satellite is moving sideways at high velocity; and although the satellite is constantly "falling" toward Earth, for the speed at which it is moving it stays at the same radius, circling Earth. The reason rocket boosters are used to place the satellites into orbit is to give them the necessary high velocity.

The velocity needed to keep a satellite in orbit just outside Earth's atmosphere (300 miles up) is about 17,000 miles/hour. However, a satellite that has been boosted into orbit 22,300 miles away from Earth will feel a weaker gravitational pull, and the velocity will be 6,900 miles/hour. At that speed, it will travel 165,000 miles in 24 hours, bringing it completely around Earth once. But in that same time, Earth will have spun on its axis once, and therefore all the while it remains "overhead."

Therefore, all the geosynchronous satellites are placed at approximately the same altitude, 22,300 miles. Because the speed of transmitting signals (= the speed of light) is 186,000 miles/second, there is a slight delay in TV broadcasts coming from faraway countries.

A completely different kind of stationary orbit is one used by NASA to place particular satellites into orbits that are useful for special purposes. There are certain points out in space where the simultaneous gravitational pull of Earth and the sun are balanced, but in different directions. Consequently, a satellite placed there moves in an orbit around the sun that maintains the same position relative to Earth; we call that "stationary." (The spinning of Earth is irrelevant to such orbits.)

There are five LaGrange points, named after the 18th century mathematician who calculated their locations. Three of them lie along the line connecting the earth and sun, and are called L_1, L_2 and L_3. The other two (L_4, L_5) are points on Earth's orbital path, either "ahead of" or "behind" where the earth is at any given time. That is, during April, the point L_4 is about where Earth will be in June, while L_5 is where it was in February; and they keep their relative positions as Earth orbits the sun.

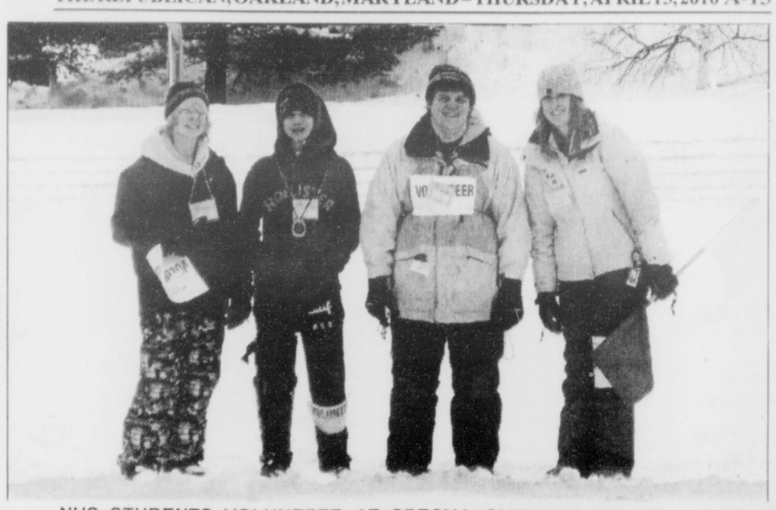
Point L_1 is in between Earth and the sun, and NASA has put the Solar and Heliospheric Observatory (SOHO) satellite there, because it can constantly look at the sun without ever going behind the earth. Point L_2 likewise lies along the Earth-sun line, but is out beyond Earth, and therefore anything at that point is always positioned with Earth blocking the sun. The James Webb space telescope, which makes observations in the infrared region, will be placed there. When you're trying to look deep into space in the infrared, it is advantageous to block out all the sunlight.

Given enough time, satellites at those positions would drift away, so small course and attitude corrections are required every month.

LaGrange point L_3 is on the far side of the sun and can never been seen from Earth. It's not a useful place for satellite observations. There have been some science-fiction stories imagining a twin planet there.

The stable LaGrange points L_4 and L_5 are known as Trojan points, for reasons stemming from Greek mythology. For other planets in the solar system, their L_4 and L_5 points are home to asteroids that remain in those stable positions relative to their planets, and they can be seen from Earth with very good equipment. For the Earth-moon system, the L_4 and L_5 points are already actually occupied, not by NASA satellites, but by space dust that accumulated over time, much like "dust bunnies" under the bed.

STUDENTS PARTICIPATE IN BLIND SKIER PROGRAM – Students from both Northern and Southern high schools recently helped with the Deep Creek Lake Lions Club Blind Skier Program at Wisp Resort. Students gave up a day or two to help on the slopes with students from the Maryland School for the Blind. A total of 25 students from NHS and three students from SHS helped this year. "The students gain valuable life lessons from spending the day with a blind student," said a spokesperson. Besides skiing, students eat lunch with the guests and help them at the rental shop. Local adults also volunteered to help with this program. For more information on the Blind Skier Program, persons should call Tom Wenzel at 301-616-4811. Above, from left, are Beck Sherrard and Lake Sherrard, both from NHS, and Kyle Kamp and Nick MeGettigan, both SHS. Back row: Tyler Warnick, Asa Archer, Christine Carpenter, all NHS, and Pam Schrimer, instructor from the Maryland School for the Blind. Barbara Law, NHS, and Steve Skipper, SHS, helped organize and schedule the students from both schools. Below are two students leading one of the blind students.



NHS STUDENTS VOLUNTEER AT SPECIAL OLYMPICS WINTER GAMES – Northern High School students volunteered this winter at the Special Olympics Winter Games that were held at Wisp Resort. A total of 46 students participated, supervised by Barbara Law, teacher at Northern High School. Both days were snow days, but the students showed up to help anyway. "I was impressed that the students showed up and stuck to their commitment to help the Special Olympics organization even though they could have chosen to stay home on a snow day," said Law. "This was also a great way for students to earn service learning hours." Above, from left, are Bayley Smoot, Alec Smoot, Guy Vignoli, and Maddy Whittemore. Below are Brittany Buckel and Melody Friend, using head sets to receive and record racing scores from the downhill events.

allow bow hunting on private property on the last three Sundays of October and first Sunday of November. A similar measure failed to receive approval during the 2009 session, but this year's measure had no such problem.

Another measure, House Bill 245/Senate Bill 289, would also allow a person to hunt turkey in Allegany County and Garrett County on the last Sunday in April and the first Sunday in May, except on Easter Sunday.

One bill that received overwhelming support in the House but failed to get through the Senate was House Bill 1465, known as a "buy American" bill for state projects. It was sponsored by Delegate Beitzel.

"Members of the House Health and Government Operations Committee believed so much in this bill that they amended on as co-sponsors," said Beitzel. "Unfortunately, we just ran out of time. It will be the first bill that I file next year."

Beitzel and Edwards also secured $200,000 in bond money for the B&O Railroad Museum. The request for funding was brought to Beitzel and Edwards by the Oakland Town Council. The project received the full amount requested, which is unique for any bond project.

Other local measures that received approval from the General Assembly include a measure that would establish a Garrett County Emergency Services Board, a measure that would create a Wine Festival license in Garrett County, and another measure that makes technical changes for provisions relating to the judges of Orphans' Court.

Plans Finalized For Saturday's GC Open House

Plans are finalized for Garrett College's open house for prospective students and their families, which is scheduled for this Saturday, April 17. The open house will begin at 11 a.m. on the McHenry campus. Check-in will begin at 10:30 a.m. in the Lakers Café.

During the program, Garrett College faculty and staff will provide information about the enrollment process, programs of study, campus life, support services, and financial aid. Cissy VanSickle, director of financial aid, will be available to answer questions about the various forms of financial aid, including scholarships.

Current GC students will be present to share information about their own experiences at the college, as well as provide tours of the campus. Lunch will be provided in the Lakers Café.

"Open house is a great opportunity for prospective students and their families to obtain a variety of information about attending Garrett College," said Rachelle Davis, director of admissions. "We encourage individuals of all ages who may be thinking about enrolling at Garrett to come see the campus and hear about the programs and services we offer."

She added that it is not too late to apply for the 2010 summer and fall semesters, and not too early to learn about future enrollment.

The program is free of charge; however, pre-registration for the open house is encouraged. Further information and online registration are available at www.garrettcollege.edu, or by telephoning the Garrett College Office of Admissions at 301-387-3044, or toll-free, 866-554-2773.

Garrett College Helps Present EMS Seminar

The Maryland Institute for Emergency Medical Services Systems (MIEMSS), in conjunction with several other local organizations, including Garrett College, presented the eighth annual Miltenberger Emergency Services Seminar in March. The event is designed to meet the continuing education needs of western Maryland's pre-hospital Basic Life Support and Advanced Life Support providers.

The seminar covered a large diversity of tracks, including emergency medical service (EMS), nursing, fire, and dispatch, since a strong inter-working relationship among public safety and health-care providers is the key to the successful outcome of any incident.

Guest speaker for the seminar was 1st Sgt. (Ret.) Matthew Eversmann, who shared his experiences in Somalia. Eversmann was immortalized in the epic film Black Hawk Down, which tells the heroic account of a group of elite U.S. soldiers sent into Mogadishu, Somalia, in 1993 as part of a UN peacekeeping operation. For his service in Somalia, Eversmann was awarded the Bronze Star Medal with Valor device and the Combat Infantryman's Badge.

Eversmann is the founder and president of Freeman Phillips LLC, a leadership development company.

Eversmann's topic was "Trauma Leadership" at the general session, and he provided a pre-conference workshop for participants.

The seminar was an all-weekend event, providing workshops on Friday, Friday evening classes, and the all-day seminar on Saturday.

A wide range of classes and workshops were offered, including Dispatcher Training, Air Medical Familiarization and Safety Class, Mass Casualties... What Do I Do Now?, Ambulance Safety: When Your Life is On the Line, Criminal Gang Recognition, and Traumatic Brain Injury Management.

In addition to Eversmann, a number of other speakers and instructors were featured. There were nearly 300 participants.

The seminar was held at the Allegany County Public Safety Building and Rocky Gap Lodge and Golf Resort near Cumberland. It was sponsored by MIEMSS, the Maryland Fire and Rescue Institute, the Western Maryland Training Foundation, the Allegany College of Maryland, and Garrett College.

For additional information about the Miltenberger Seminar, persons may telephone Jean Tressler, coordinator of operations for Garrett College's Continuing Education Division, at 301-387-3085.

GC Foundation Seeking Alumni

The Garrett College Foundation has created a survey so that it can learn more about GC alumni and where they are today. Garrett College graduates are being asked to complete a brief survey to share some information about themselves with the foundation.

The survey can be found online at www.surveymonkey.com/garrettcollege-alumnisurvey, or persons can visit the Garrett College web site at www.garrettcollege.edu for a link.

A spokesperson said that the foundation hopes to soon be able to stay in contact with all GC alumni on a regular basis and possibly to start organizing a reunion. Questions and comments may be directed to Katie Ashby at 301-387-3131.

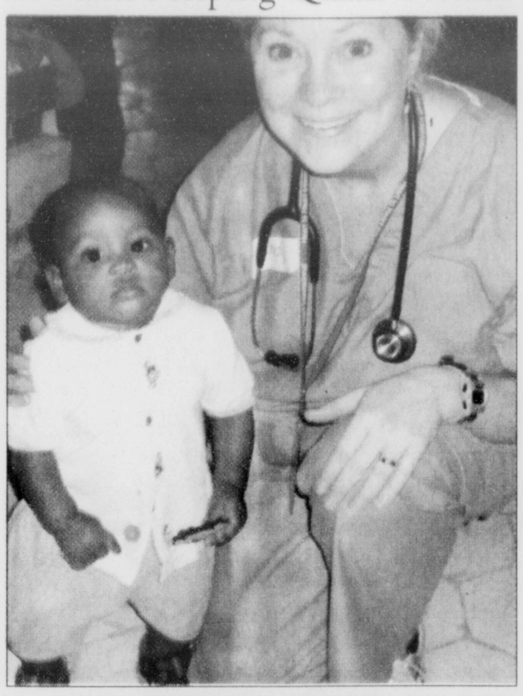
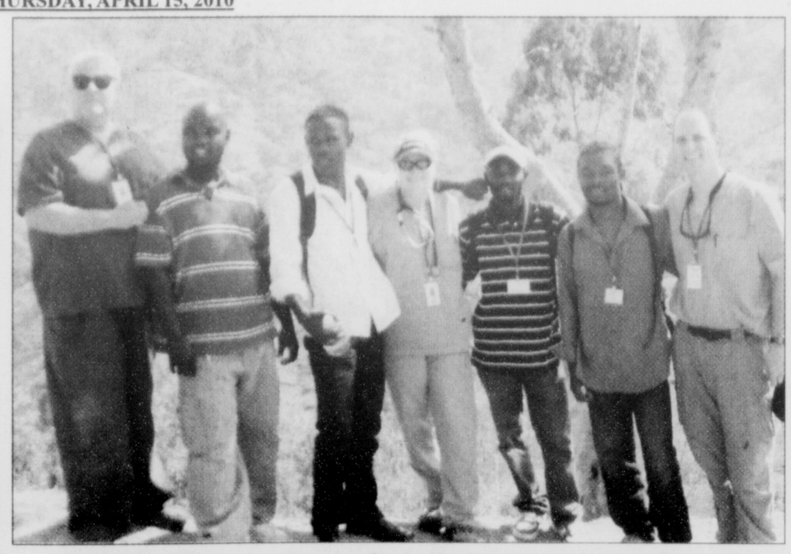
Local Nurse Spends Two Weeks In Haiti Helping Quake Victims

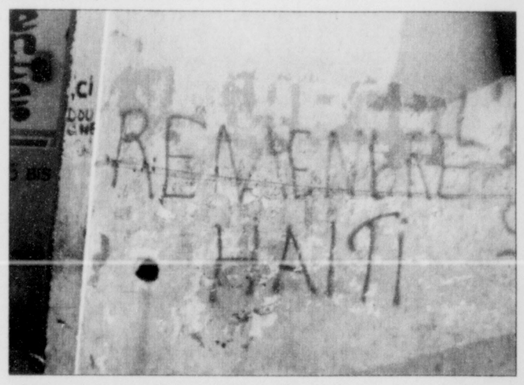


NURSE TENDS TO MANY CHILDREN – Nurse Cindy Mankamyer reported that many of the patients she saw in Haiti during her two-week volunteer effort were children, infected with preventable diseases, like malaria, typhoid, and tuberculosis. Others suffered with quake-related injuries, which were sometimes infected.



THERE TO HELP – Local nurse Cindy Mankamyer is pictured above (center) along with her co-volunteers and newfound Haitian friends in the mountaintop village of Fondwa. Doctors and nurses are rotated about every two weeks by Heart to Heart International. Mankamyer's physician partners were from Iowa and Washington state. In Fondwa, the team tended to a man who had not seen a doctor since the quake, and still had casts on his arm and leg. They removed the plaster with a Swiss army knife, shown below, and provided the patient with rehabilitation exercises for his atrophied limbs

AN EVERYDAY SCENE IN HAITI – Buildings remain just piles of rubble throughout Port Au Prince, where nurse Cindy Mankamyer spent time helping the struggling residents of the area. She said the concrete dust is still heavy in the air, which causes respiratory problems and eye irritation for many. Even with the constant hardships, however, the local nurse said the people there remain sturdy and willing to press on. She said she was touched by their resilience. In the photo below, all are prompted to not forget the plight of the Haitian people.



Cindy Mankamyer of Swanton recently returned from Haiti after joining a volunteer medical team with Heart to Heart International, offering medical care in the earthquake damaged areas in and around Port au Prince.

More than two months after the January 12 earthquake, sick and injured people continue to need medical care in the quake-stricken area. While Mankamyer was there, the team of physicians and nurses saw more than 170 patients on just one day at a church-turned-clinic in downtown Port au Prince.

She said there many children sick with malaria, typhoid, and tuberculosis, and some with infected earthquake-related wounds. A number of people had complaints of eye pain, throat pain, and lung congestion, all related to the thick concrete dust that still hangs over the area.

At one point during her two-week stint, Cindy joined a small field team that left Port au Prince and traveled to remote villages, crossing rivers and hiking to mountaintops, to offer medical care to victims who had not seen a doctor since the quake.

"One day, a man with his right arm and right leg in a cast since the January 12 earthquake was carried up the mountain while seated in a small wooden chair," she said. "He told us how he was crushed under rubble for over an hour until he was rescued."

The Heart to Heart medical team cut off the casts using a Swiss army knife and a small piece of wood, and then instructed him in some basic physical therapy techniques for his atrophied limbs and stiffened joints.

"The earthquake-stricken areas are devastated," Mankamyer said. "Families who have lost loved ones and homes are trying to survive in tent cities with little food, no electricity or sanitation, and limited clean water. The Haitian people were very grateful for the medical care, and many of them thanked the 'blanc' ["white" in the French/Creole language] doctors and nurses for traveling such a long distance just to help them."

On her travels to the mountains, Mankamyer spoke with a young Haitian man who described how the quake caused the earth to shake and roll. He and some friends were in a town on the border of the Dominican Republic, more than 40 miles away from the epicenter. He said they were all thrown to the ground. As reports of trapped people came from Port au Prince, he took several friends and drove into the city and spent the next three days and nights digging injured people out of the rubble, and then transporting them to care.

Cindy explained that Heart to Heart rotates volunteers in and out of the area about every 8 to 10 days. The volunteers go not knowing with whom they will serve. The doctors and nurses at the compound with the Garrett County nurse were from Iowa, Kansas City, Missouri, Seattle, Washington, Oklahoma and New Mexico. The two physicians who went on the "extreme team" trek into the mountains were from Iowa and Seattle, Wash. The volunteers, who bonded through their experience, have since created a FaceBook page to stay in touch.

While her accommodations were rugged, Cindy said she was well-fed throughout her stay.

"We had a wonderful Haitian cook at the compound," the nurse said. "She made french toast, chicken casserole, parslied potatoes, and other dishes. When I was 'camping' [in the mountains], we had a Mennonite lady who made Philly cheese steak sandwiches and homemade cookies. We did not suffer for meals."

All water for the volunteers had to be carried in, as no other is safe to drink. The compound had electricity only twice per day, provided via generators and battery back-up. There was of course no air conditioning.

"It was definitely hot and humid," Cindy said. "I tried to drink three to four liters of water a day, but I still got dehydrated. And I got rained on several nights in the tent because the rainy season has started. I can't imagine the people trying to sleep in the dirt and mud in the numerous tent cities when it rains. We were serenaded by roosters, barking dogs, and Haitians singing well into the night all around the villages."

Throughout her experience, she said she was moved by the spirit of the Haitians.

"The people were so clean and dressed so nicely in spite of the horrid conditions and dust and dirt," she said. "One of my translators from Port au Prince named John even paid out of his not-so-high daily salary to have his shirts washed and pressed so he could look nice for work. That nearly made me cry. He showed me his demolished house right in the city. He slept on a church pew to guard our medications and supplies in the church-clinic in Port au Prince. They are proud and wonderful people."

In spite of the pervasive grieving and sadness, Cindy said the residents also have hope for a brighter future in the rebuilding of a better Haiti as international partners pledge their continued aid.

"Humanitarian aid organizations like Heart to Heart International will stay and work in Haiti for quite some time as the struggling nation gets back on its feet," she said.

Mankamyer wished to thank all her friends, family, colleagues, church family, organizations, and community for supporting her on her trip.

Cumberland Man Found Guilty Of Theft; Sentenced To Three Years

In recent Garrett County District Court proceedings, Derrick Aldine Malone, 25, Cumberland, was found guilty by Judge Leonard J. Eiswert of theft valued at $500-plus, and was sentenced to three years with two years, seven months suspended, two years of supervised probation, and suspended fines.

Garrett County sheriff's officers investigated a theft report in March 2009 of an estate in Finzel where several outdoor sheds had been broken into. A neighbor to the estate stated that he was woken during the night of the burglary, and watched as a Dodge Neon went up the driveway of the estate with its headlights off. The neighbor then observed two suspects with flashlights exit the vehicle and proceed to the buildings on the estate. The suspects were there for two hours and then departed.

Officers conducted surveillance of the estate for several hours the next evening, but the suspects did not show up at that time. However, later that night, the neighbor was woken again by two cars going into the estate. Further investigation revealed that items were stolen including miscellaneous tools, a tool box, a gas generator, and an air compressor.

Officers were then later contacted by the C3I investigative unit in Cumberland regarding the burglaries. Two suspects confessed to multiple burglaries in Allegany County as well as the burglaries in Finzel. Officers were then advised that several of the stolen items had been pawned in LaVale for cash.

Malone was one of these suspects, and was later interviewed regarding the Finzel burglaries. He later admitted and explained how he and two others located the estate and committed two separate burglaries to the property.

Malone was not prosecuted on two charges of first-degree burglary, and one charge each of malicious destruction of property valued at $500-plus and theft valued at less than $100.

In another court proceeding, Michael Duane Reed, 46, Accident, was found guilty of second degree assault, and was sentenced to two years, with suspended fines.

An investigation took place in October 2009 in regard to an inmate assault at the Garrett County Detention Center. The suspect involved was Reed, and the victim was a certified correctional officer employed at the GC sheriff's office.

It was reported that Reed was being disruptive while being seen by Dr. Miller over a discrepancy about medication. He was taken to a padded cell for his belligerent behavior and for safety concerns, and while attempting to get him into the cell, Reed allegedly physically assaulted the corrections officer. He was eventually placed in hand restraints and placed in the cell with no further incident. No other charges were filed.

In an unrelated hearing, Albert Manuel Moon, 41, Kitzmiller, was found guilty of second-degree assault, and was sentenced to six months with five months, 20 days suspended, and $257.50 in fines.

GCSO responded to the Kitzmiller area for a reported domestic assault in February. Upon arrival, officers were informed that the suspect, Moon, had left the residence. Officers made contact with victim and two other people, who were at the residence at the time, and stated that Moon had allegedly broken items throughout the house and physically assaulted the victim multiple times.

The other two adults witnessed the incident, and injuries to the victim matched the assault report. A warrant was placed for his arrest. Moon was not prosecuted on a first-degree assault charge.

Daniel Joseph Allen, 29, Park Hills, Mo., was charged in December 2009 for having a handgun in his vehicle, stemming from a traffic stop by Maryland State Police. His charge was placed on stet with conditions to forfeit the weapon and pay a fine.

Justin Daniel Saylor, 28, Oakland, was charged with violation of a protective order in December 2009. His charge was placed on stet with conditions to obey all laws.

Michael Allen Carty III, 39, Thurmont, was not prosecuted on charges of first-degree burglary, second-degree general burglary, and two charges each of malicious destruction of property valued at less than $500 and theft valued at less than $500. He was charged in September 2009.

DUI/DWI HEARINGS

The following driving while under the influence (DUI) and driving while impaired (DWI) cases were heard in recent Garrett County District Court proceedings, with Judge Eiswert presiding.

James Edward Shawley Jr., 52, S.C., was found guilty of DUI per se from September 2009, and was sentenced to two years with 23 months suspended, two years of supervised probation, and $207.50 in fines.

He was not prosecuted on charges of DUI and DWI.

Dustin Robert Klotz, 20, Md., pleaded guilty to a December 2009 DUI

Friendsville Once Again Named Tree City Community

Friendsville was recognized by the nonprofit Arbor Day Foundation as a Tree City USA community for its commitment to urban forestry. It is the third year Friendsville has earn this national designation.

The Tree City USA program is sponsored by the Arbor Day Foundation in cooperation with the National Association of State Foresters and the USDA Forest Service.

Friendsville has met the four standards to become a Tree City USA community. Tree City USA communities must have a tree board or department, a tree-care ordinance, a comprehensive community forestry program, and an Arbor Day observance and proclamation.

"We commend Friendsville's elected officials, volunteers, and its citizens for providing vital care for its urban forest," said John Rosenow, chief executive and founder of the Arbor Day Foundation. "Trees provide numerous environmental, economical, and health benefits to millions of people each day, and we applaud communities that make planting and caring for trees a top priority."

He added that communities that earn Tree City USA recognition not only have taken the time to meet the four standards, they know that trees:

•Promote healthier communities by filtering the air one breathes by removing dust and other particles.

•Moderate climate, conserve water, and provide vital habitat for wildlife.

•Reduce the heat island effect in urban areas caused by pavement and buildings.

•Increase property values, reduce energy use, and add beauty to homes and neighborhoods.

More information about Tree City USA can be found at arborday.org/TreeCityUSA.

The Arbor Day Foundation is a nonprofit, environmental, and education organization of nearly 1 million members, with a mission to inspire people, to plant, nurture, and celebrate trees.

Local Functional Fitness Program Will Be Led By Accident Resident

Internationally recognized sports medicine researcher Dr. Jolie Bookspan recently announced that Accident resident Peggy Santamaria has been appointed to a directorship in Dr. Bookspan's Academy of Functional Exercise Medicine (AFEM).

Named as academy director of developing abilities, Santamaria will take Dr. Bookspan's teachings to the staff and trainees at Appalachian Crossroads in Oakland. The new AFEM program targets the job coaches who work with, train, and find employment for developmentally disabled adults.

"The program teaches healthy movement techniques to train participants in useful work skills and how to prevent injuries. We hope this program will become a model for programs all over the nation like it," said Bookspan.

AFEM, an international project based in the United States, was founded by Dr. Bookspan to teach individuals and groups healthy biomechanics and instill healthy habits for daily life instead of injury-producing habits. "Not all exercise is good medicine. Not all medicine is healthy. We change that," she said.

Bookspan emphasizes replacing artificial exercises with real-life movement habits that are retrained to stop sources of pain and restore ability to do more.

"Strengthening and stretching do not automatically change damaging movement habits or fix pain. Retraining daily life movement to be built-in health care is an exciting change in fitness and health. We make health care healthy," she said.

Santamaria, a yoga instructor in Garrett County, has worked primarily with people age 50 and over. "At Flowery Vale Senior Health & Fitness Center I teach yoga and stretching to people with a wide variety of abilities and limitations. So I am constantly doing research to see what the latest information is on movement to improve quality of life," she said.

It was during this research that Santamaria found web sites featuring the work of Dr. Bookspan. "The stuff she wrote just made good sense. I checked out her credentials to see what her background was. Wow! I was amazed," said Santamaria. "As a research physiologist she has worked with the U.S. military, universities, and top training centers to revamp unsuccessful training and rehabilitation programs. Her list of accomplishments is really impressive. I immediately began to modify my teaching to incorporate her healthier movements, and noticed the improvement right away."

During the heavy snows in Garrett County in February, Santamaria used Dr. Bookspan's recommendations of replacing unhealthy bending with the healthy bending of real life squats and lunges to lift shovels full of snow.

"I was able to work for hours without any back discomfort at all. I later e-mailed this information to Dr. Bookspan at her Fitness Fixer web site along with photos of Garrett County under snow."

Santamaria, who sits on the board of directors for Appalachian Crossroads, decided she would like to share the functional fitness concepts with the staff and trainees at the agency. "I e-mailed Dr. Bookspan for permission to use her work and create some teaching materials using her cartoon character Backman™. Her response was more than positive. She offered me the directorship in the academy to develop community-based wellness education using Dr. Bookspan's Functional Fitness concepts," Santamaria said.

"I am really honored to be part of this project. The staff and trainees at Appalachian Crossroads are terrific to work with. The photos of the first group in the training are all posted on the Fitness Fixer web site. This is all very exciting," Santamaria concluded.

To learn more about Dr. Bookspan's programs, persons may visit the Fitness Fixer web site at www.healthline.com/blogs or visit www.DrBookspan.com. To learn more about Appalachian Crossroads, persons may visit www.appalachiancrossroads.com

TRAINEES TAKE PART IN NEW PROGRAM – Mailroom trainees at Appalachian Crossroads are seen taking part in a pilot program for functional fitness through the Academy of Functional Exercise Medicine, led by Accident resident Peggy Santamaria. She created teaching materials for the mailroom service unit using Dr. Jolie Bookspan's cartoon character Backman™. Santamaria was recently named as the Academy Director of Developing Abilities. In the photo above, from left, are Wayne, Paul, Robert, Phillip, Zach, Randy, Krista, Mary, John, Eric, Laurie, Shirley, Pat Chetelet (instructor), and Robin. Pictured at right, trainee Shirley demonstrates the unhealthy, and healthy, way to push the mail room cart. See story for more information about the program.

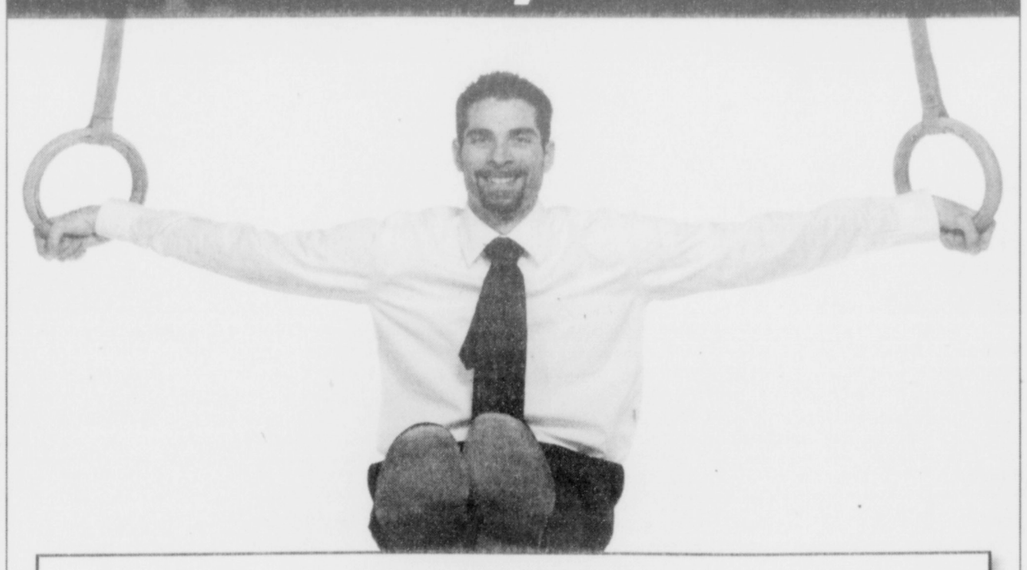
Come One, Come All



It's spring...the circus is in town! Excitement and surprise wait under the big top. Animals, jugglers, clowns...there is no end to the variety of entertainment. It's show time!

Cast your eyes on the center ring! Trapeze artists and acrobats fly through the air with ease exhibiting a delicate combination of balance, synchronization, strength, skill and trust. Their beautiful performances that appear so effortless require hours of physical and mental preparation.

There are people who appear to glide through life with similar ease. They prepare for each day with prayer and seek the knowledge of God's will for their lives. Each week they are further strengthened by worship and fellowship in God's house. You can join them!

Move through life as one with God. Come one! Come all!!

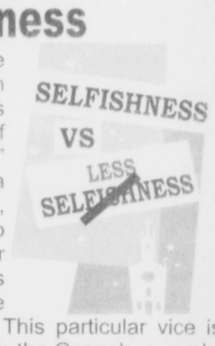
Selfishness



The tenth work of the flesh mentioned by Paul in his epistle to the Galatians is selfishness, a translation of the Greek word "eritheia." The word "eritheia" refers to a self-centered attitude, exemplified by someone who seeks political office for personal gain, or who does good works for the purpose of recognition or ambition. This particular vice is contrary to a central theme in the Gospels, namely, Jesus' warning that "If any man would come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow me. For whoever would save his life will lose it, and whoever loses his life for my sake will find it." (Matthew 16:24-25) Who of us can honestly say that we have denied ourselves and are truly willing to lose our lives for someone else? True selflessness is so rare that when we see a genuine case of someone putting other people's interests ahead of their own, especially when it has significant costs to that individual, we consider it heroic. The question, however, is whether we can truly make these heroic sacrifices in a selfless way, or whether we are doing it with the aim of some otherworldly reward. Many of us make these sacrifices with the secret hope that we will be rewarded in heaven, and this is simply another version of selfishness. Indeed, an emphasis on one's "personal salvation" is a form of eritheia. We should always consider whether our acts of goodness are done for selfishness or from a more pure motive.

Do nothing from selfishness or conceit, but in humility count others better than yourselves. Let each of you look not only to his own interests but also to the interests of others.

Treatment for Excess Hair Growth in Women

Hirsutism is a condition caused by a hormonal imbalance, specifically an excessive production of androgens (typically testosterone) in women. About 5 to 10 percent of women of child-bearing age are affected. The excessive amount of androgens increases hair follicle size and hair fiber diameter. The increased level of testosterone leads to increased hair growth. Danazol, an androgen medication, may cause hirsutism. Race and ethnicity also play a role in natural pattern and rate of hair growth. The cause of the condition in some women may be unknown.

Although the condition does not pose a threat to the woman's health, treatment options are available for women who are uncomfortable with the excess hair. Oral contraceptives containing ethinyl estradiol may be prescribed as an initial treatment. Oral contraceptives work to decrease androgen levels by inhibiting luteinizing hormone (LH) secretion and increasing production of sex hormone-binding globulin (SHBG), which leads to decreased androgen levels. Antiandrogen medications, such as spironolactone, finasteride, and dutasteride may be prescribed. Women who take these medications must take precautions against pregnancy, because harm to the fetus is possible.

TV Pipeline

'Past' is in Fox's future – but not for long

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Q: I would appreciate any update on "Past Life," which was on Thursday nights on Fox. It stopped a few weeks ago. –Patricia Butler, Port St. Lucie, Fla.

A: After a couple of weeks, Fox wasn't happy with the ratings for the show – starring Kelli Giddish and Nicholas Bishop as investigators of (you guessed it) past lives that may figure into modern crimes – so it was pulled. The remaining episodes that haven't aired yet will be played off on Fridays starting May 28, interestingly with a two-hour airing ... something unusual for a program that has been canceled.

Q: Are Stana Katic of "Castle" and Branka Katic of "Big Love" related? –Larry Moser, Everett, Wash.

A: You might think so, with that last name in common, but we can't find any indication that they are.

Q: Do you know if "The Pacific" will play on another channel so viewers who do not have HBO can have the opportunity to see it? –Barbara Silva, Mission Viejo, Calif.

A: That likely will happen eventually, but not for some time ... and by that, we're talking in terms of years. HBO clearly wants the current, much-promoted drama to keep its subscribers on board and lure new ones, so it's not about to share or give up the rights to it anytime soon.

A good example to go by is "Band of Brothers," which debuted on HBO and was repeated there a number of times. Later, it was licensed to other channels; in fact, a marathon of that miniseries was just shown by Spike TV. There will be another way to see "The Pacific" in between; HBO is indicating that it will become available on home video in the near future.

Q: Will we see the program "October Road" again? What was the reason for the series ending? –Claudette Tetreault, Blackstone, Mass.

In terms of new episodes, no, you won't see it again. A good clue is that many of the actors have gone on to other projects; for instance, central star Bryan Greenberg's latest series is HBO's "How to Make It in America."

When it premiered on ABC in March 2007, the show scored surprisingly strong ratings, prompting the network to renew it for a second season. However, that early promise didn't continue with the second round, and ABC opted to get out early after 13 episodes (though that order could have been extended to 22). The two existing seasons of "October Road" are available on DVD.

Strange BUT TRUE
By Samantha Weaver

• It was American journalist, satirist, critic and editor H.L. Mencken who made the following observation: "For centuries, theologians have been explaining the unknowable in terms of the-not-worth-knowing."

• In a standard deck of playing cards, the only king without a mustache is the king of hearts.

• If you ever make a trip to Alaska, you might want to keep in mind the fact that it is illegal there to wake a sleeping bear for the purpose of taking its picture.

• Those who study such things claim that when a glass breaks, the cracks travel along the glass at a speed of more than 3,000 miles per hour.

• You probably know that the Wright Brothers made the first powered airplane flight in Kitty Hawk, NC. It was Dec. 17, 1903, and Orville piloted the aircraft a total of 120 feet. You might not be aware, however, that the length of that flight is shorter than the wingspan on one of today's Boeing 747s.

• An autumn visit to a corn maze in North Yorkshire in the United Kingdom last year turned disastrous for Anne Moon. When she reached her hand into a pen to pet a pig, the pig (named Ginger, incidentally) took Moon's hand into its mouth. The pig released the hand unharmed but kept the diamond out of the woman's engagement ring. The farmer who owned the attraction, Paul Caygill, then had to spend days searching for the gemstone in the pig's refuse.

• The next time you're looking at a map and see a "you-are-here" arrow pointing to your current location, you'll know that the arrow is technically known as an ideo locator.

Moments in time
THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On April 24, 1800, President John Adams approves legislation to appropriate $5,000 to establish the Library of Congress. The first books, ordered from London, consisted of 964 volumes. Today the collection, housed in three enormous buildings in Washington, contains more than 17 million books.

• On April 23, 1859, William Byers distributes the first newspaper ever published in the frontier boomtown of Denver. Working with a hand press in the attic of a local saloon, Byers printed and distributed the first edition of The Rocky Mountain News, beating the first release of competitor The Cherry Creek Pioneer by only 20 minutes.

• On April 19, 1876, a Wichita, Kan., commission votes not to rehire policeman Wyatt Earp (of O.K. Corral fame) after he beats up a candidate for county sheriff. For much of his life, Earp worked in law enforcement, but his own allegiance to the rule of law was conditional at best.

• On April 21, 1930, a fire at an Ohio prison kills 320 inmates, some of whom burn to death when they are not unlocked from their cells. The prison, built to hold 1,500 people, was almost always overcrowded. At the time of the 1930 fire, there were 4,300 prisoners living in the jail.

• On April 25, 1947, President Harry S. Truman officially opens the first White House two-lane bowling alley. President Eisenhower closed the alley in 1955 and turned it into a mimeograph room, while President Nixon had a one-lane alley installed underground directly beneath the North Portico entrance of the White House.

• On April 22, 1970, Earth Day, an event to increase public awareness of the world's environmental problems, is celebrated in the United States for the first time. Millions of Americans, including students from thousands of colleges and universities, participated in rallies, marches and educational programs.

• On April 20, 1986, the Chicago Bulls' Michael Jordan scores 63 points in an NBA playoff game against the Boston Celtics, setting a post-season scoring record. Jordan remains the NBA's highest regular season scorer, with an average of 30.1 points per game.

Q. I have a booklet that was written by Ty Cobb and produced by Hillerich Publishing, "The Science of Batting." He was a neighbor of mine when I lived in California, and he signed this item to me personally, "To Joyce, my friend, Ty Cobb 8/26/49." Would you have any idea of its value? — Joyce, Sun City West, Ariz.

A. It is probably worth more than you might think. I checked Sports Authority, an Internet clearinghouse for memorabilia, and discovered that a signed baseball by Cobb generally sells in the $5,000 to $8000 range; a photo, $3,500 to $5,000; and a clipped signature, $1,000 to $1,500. You can contact this business at its e-mail address, email@keymancollectibles.com.

At History for Sale, another Internet business specializing in autographs, a signed letter by Cobb was listed for $5,999. You can contact the firm at 1-800-425-5379. Judging by these amounts, your booklet could be worth more than $5,000. The way to nail down a value is to consult with an expert.

Power Of One Event Now Set For April 24

After being canceled twice this winter because of inclement weather, the "Power of One, How You Can Change the World" event is now set for Saturday, April 24. The United Methodist Women of St. Paul's UM Church will host the seminar, which will begin at 1 p.m. at the church, located at the corner of Third and Oak streets in Oakland.

The Power of One is designed to demonstrate the various opportunities for volunteering in the area. Representatives from about 18 local organizations will give short talks on their programs, and will make suggestions as to how others may volunteer, and "find their call to service," said Ginny Grove, the coordinator of the event.

Grove mentioned that as it happens, the United Methodist Communications, a national Methodist organization, will promote the theme of "Rethink Church: Build Community Locally" on the weekend of April 24 and 25. The web site for the organization poses the question "What if on one weekend all around the world 11 million United Methodists came together to work in their local communities?"

"If we had held the Power of One on its original date in January or on the rescheduled date in February, we wouldn't have had our program fall on this particular weekend," Grove said. "We didn't even know about this weekend recently. But now it's the at the same time."

The public is invited to attend the event. Following the meeting there will be refreshments, as well as the opportunity to talk with the service organization representatives.

There is a voluntary admission "charge" of food for the House of Hope pantry, or $5 gasoline cards for the clients of the Dove Center.

For more information, persons may call the church at 301-334-2391, or Grove at 301-334-8269.

REV. LEE NAMED CHAPLAIN OF THE YEAR – Rev. Chip Lee was recently honored by Garrett County Memorial Hospital as the Chaplain of the Year at the annual recognition luncheon held for the hospital's volunteer chaplains. Pictured, left to right, are Rev. Randy Nairn, Lee, and Donald Battista, GCMH president/CEO. Lee became a member of the GCMH Chaplaincy Program in 1992 upon his arrival to Garrett County. Lee remarked that he likes it here in Garrett County and it reminds him of upstate New York, where he grew up. In addition to the ministry, Lee's background includes a degree in communications, which led him into broadcasting in 1986. He was given his first church in 1990 in Kemmerer, Wyo., where he stayed for three years prior to coming to Garrett County. He completed his master's degree in 1989. In 1999, Lee began working on his doctorate degree, which he achieved in 2002 from Seabury-Western Theological Seminary in Chicago, Ill. Locally, Lee is associated with St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, Oakland, and St. John's Episcopal Church, Deer Park. He is the fifth hospital chaplain to be honored at the annual recognition reception. A plaque with the names of honored chaplains is located near the chapel on the third floor of the hospital. Today, the GCMH Chaplaincy Pro-gram consists of 30 members representing most local denominations and continues to be backed by the Mountain Top Ministerium.

Brust To Speak At Next Garden Club Meeting

The Mountain Laurel Garden Club will meet at the DC Steak House, Wisp Resort, McHenry, for its Tuesday, April 20, meeting, which will begin at 10:30 a.m. After a short business meeting, Dr. Jerry Brust will present a program titled "Good Bugs and Bad Bugs: How to Identify and Attract Beneficial Insects to Your Garden."

Lunch will follow the program.

Dr. Brust is the integrated pest management (IPM) vegetable specialist at the Central Maryland Research and Education Center of the University of Maryland. He is the vegetable specialist responsible for providing leadership in the development, implementation, and evaluation of a comprehensive agriculture and natural resources education, as well as the applied research program in vegetable crops.

New pest and nutrient management programs for growers are examined and developed by Brust. By working with the industry through education and research to promote sustainable production practices that minimize environmental impacts, he investigates reduced risk pesticides that target pests but leave natural enemies unharmed.

Brust works with large and small farm operations, county-based extension educators, and governmental and non-governmental organizations to develop economically viable and environmentally responsible commercial vegetable operations, a spokesperson said.

The meeting is open to all members of the public. Club members will be called in advance, and guests are asked to make lunch reservations by calling Ginni Neff at 301-387-7387.

The Mountain Laurel Garden Club is a member of the National Garden Clubs Inc., the Central Atlantic Region, and the Federated Garden Clubs of Maryland Inc. GC Health Dept. Recognizes Its Many Volunteers

Nearly 80 volunteers recently gathered at DC's Restaurant at Wisp Resort as honored guests of the Garrett County Health Department at its annual volunteer dinner. County commissioners Ernie Gregg and Fred Holliday were on hand to acknowledge the positive impact of volunteerism in our communities.

"The Garrett County Health Department is able to have a greater impact on our community through a strong, skilled network of volunteers," said Garrett County health officer Rodney Glotfelty. "Garrett County residents serve their neighbors by volunteering their time and expertise with community planning groups, after-school programs, and a number of committees tasked with improving citizen well-being."

Between March and December of 2009, more than 4,700 volunteer hours were donated by 239 people through the health department. Within the volunteer base, a large number of young people are leading the way among teens in making healthy life choices, commented a spokesperson.

Youth serve in Pandora's Box Teen Theatre group, SADD (Students Against Destructive Decisions), STEAM (Student Tobacco Elimination Among Minors), and planning groups in their communities. In July of 2009, SADD members met with state legislators about young-driver safety issues.

"People are always talking about a generation gap," said Commissioner Fred Holliday, "but I don't see a generation gap here. I see young people working together with older people. That's what Garrett County does."

Community planning groups in nine towns throughout the county give residents an opportunity to address the needs of their particular community. These volunteer-run organizations use health department support to bring healthy messages, community-building events, and youth programs such as recreation nights to their towns.

"Having such a dedicated base of volunteers allows the benefits of health department efforts to grow exponentially," said Glotfelty, "resulting in not only increasing the number of county residents served, but also in the number of residents who can be proud of serving their community."

For more information about any of the groups sponsored by the Garrett County Health Department, persons may call 301-334-7730 or 301-895-3111.

Dr. Frank Harvey To Speak At LL Church Of God

Dr. Frank Harvey will be the guest speaker at Loch Lynn Church of God on Sunday, April 25. The service will honor and celebrate Reverends Ivan and Cindy Ackerman for 30 years of service in ministry.

Harvey is the founder and bishop of Covenant Life Ministries, an international apostolic network of churches and ministries. Harvey and his wife Shirley pioneered New Covenant Church, Clyde, N.C., in 1977 and he remained senior pastor there until January 2004.

Prior to founding of that church, Harvey served as an evangelist and Southern Baptist pastor in Maryland and North Carolina.

He graduated from Fruitland Baptist Bible Institute in Hendersonville, N.C., and has earned bachelor of ministry and a master of theology degrees from the Christian Life School of Theology, Columbus, Ga. In 1998, Harvey was awarded an honorary doctor of divinity degree by Christian Life School of Theology.

As bishop of Covenant Life Ministries, Harvey has ministered in hundreds of churches of all denominations througnout the United States and internationally, according to a spokesperson.

He is a member of the Board of Elders of Evangel Fellowship International, a North Carolina state presbyter, and is a regent and board member of Beacon University in Columbus, Ga. He presently serves as overseer for western Europe for Beacon University's Institute of Ministry, which involves overseeing the Bible colleges there and the establishment of new ones.

Harvey also functions in an apostolic role with several ministers and churches, in both the U.S. and abroad. According to the spokesperson, Harvey has been instrumental in the founding of several new churches and reconstituting others.

He regularly meets with ministers to provide ongoing apostolic oversight and teaching, hosting Sustained Apostolic Leadership Training (SALT) meetings.

"He is a 'father in faith' to many spiritual sons and daughters whom he has helped raise up and send out in ministry," said the spokesperson. "For more than a decade he has been involved in apostolic and apostolic/prophetic roundtables and forums to actively promote the understanding and functions of the Fivefold Ministry, both in the United States and internationally."

Loch Lynn Church of God is located along Rt. 560 beside radio station WKHJ, Loch Lynn.

Rev. Harvey To Be Guest Speaker At Women's Rally

The Loch Lynn Church of God has announced that its Women's Rally will be held on Monday, April 26 at 7 p.m., and will host special speaker Rev. Shirley Harvey of Clyde, N.C.

All women are invited to attend this time of worship, renewal, and fellowship. Rev. Harvey's message will be "Royal Gardeners."

Rev. Harvey and husband Rev. Frank Harvey founded and pastored New Covenant Church for over 26 years. New Covenant Church is a non-denominational, New Testament church, located in Clyde. Prior to that time, they had been involved in pastoring Southern Baptist churches in North Carolina.

Rev. Harvey, a native of western North Carolina, was born near Hendersonville and is a 1971 graduate of Western Carolina University. In 1999, she received a master of divinity degree from Christian Life School of Theology, and in 2010, she received her doctorate of theology.

In 1995, Rev. Harvey began a ladies outreach ministry to female inmates at various nearby jails, which is still active. She also trained workers for the Life Ministry Team and Ladies Mentoring Program at New Covenant Church. This involved coordinating workers who minister to those who need intensive spiritual help. She is now raising up healing ministries in various churches.

Rev. Harvey speaks at many churches, primarily in the southeast, as well as internationally. She has ministered in ladies conferences in Mexico, Scotland, Honduras, Russia, and Greece.

Currently, she and her husband travel extensively giving oversight to many ministers and wives. Covenant Life Ministries was born as a need for this kind of pastoral ministry.

The church is located at 8649 Gorman Road, Oakland. For more information, persons may contact pastors Ivan and Cindy Ackerman by calling the church office at 301-334-3221.

IS THERE ANY HOPE?

YES! God loves you!

"For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." John 3:16

In these uncertain times, there is hope, peace and comfort in Jesus Christ, God's Son. All of these are found in His Word, the Bible.

However, you must understand what God's Word teaches us about sin and salvation.

SIN:

"For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God;" Romans 3:23
"As it is written, there is none righteous, no, not one: There is none that understandeth, there is none that seeketh after God." Romans 3:10-11

When Adam disobeyed God's command, he died spiritually and plunged the whole human race into sin. Mankind is in a lost condition without Christ. You are condemned to a lake of fire when you die.

"And whosoever was not found written in the book of life was cast into the lake of fire." Revelation 20:15

SALVATION:

Jesus loves you and His love reaches beyond your sin. He loved you even before you were born.

"But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us." Romans 5:8

Christ died upon a cross for you so that you would not burn in the lake of fire. He died so that you could be saved forever. He paid the penalty for your sins.

"For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord." Romans 6:23

You must repent of your sins and receive Christ as your Savior. Read what God says in His Word:

"That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation... For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved." Romans 10:9-10, 13

Today, if you would like to be receive Christ as your Savior, just bow your head and pray this simple prayer:

God, I know that I am a sinner. I now repent of my sins and ask you to come into my heart and life and save me. In Jesus Name I pray. Amen.

If you prayed this prayer, we would like to hear from you and send you further information on the Christian life.

Town Hall

LOCH LYNN HEIGHTS

Spring yard clean-up has been set for the week of April 26–30. Residents should bag leaves to be set out, as the leaf truck is not available. Residents are asked to cut and bundle small twigs and limbs to fit on the truck. Large limbs will be chipped with the chipper. Debris is not to be placed in ditches.

Spring household clean-up will be scheduled in late May.

Because of budget constraints, the town maintenance staff will no longer pick up newspapers for recycling.

Residents who did not receive a Census form may get one at the town hall during regular office hours: Tuesdays and Thursday between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. It is important for every resident to be counted.

The Planning Commission will meet next Monday, April 19, at 6 p.m. at the town hall.

The regularly scheduled May 4 council meeting has been rescheduled for May 18 at 6 p.m. at the town hall.

MARYLAND DEPARTMENT OF THE ENVIRONMENT
WATER MANAGEMENT ADMINISTRATION
NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
Garrett County

Application for State Discharge Permit 09-DP-3667, NDPES Permit MD0070629:

Maryland Energy Resources, LLC, 6015 Ferguson Rd., Indiana, PA 15701, submitted an application for a permit to discharge an average of 500,000 gallons per day of mine drainage and variable volumes of storm water from a proposed underground coal mine, located along Durst Rd., southwest of Grantsville, MD, to the North Branch Casselman River (Existing Use III waters).

The Department proposes to issue the permit with limits for total suspended solids (30 mg/l average and 45 mg/l maximum), settleable solids (0.5 ml/l maximum), total iron (3.0 mg/l average and 6.0), total manganese (2.0 mg/l average, 4.0 mg/l maximum), temperature (68°F daily maximum), pH range (6.5 to 8.5), mine drainage flow (144,000 gpd daily maximum, 1.1 cfs instantaneous maximum), mine drainage toxicity (less than 1 TUa) and effluent monitoring for numerous other parameters. The permit requires immediate suspension of the discharge in the event of mine drainage temperature or pH exceedance, wastewater operator certification, biomonitoring, restrictions on the use of treatment chemicals, best management practices, a storm water pollution prevention plan, and additional requirements for acid mine drainage. The permit also requires a study of stream flow velocity to support an authorization for a higher flow limit for mine drainage.

It has been determined that at least two State listed endangered species habitats are situated downstream from the discharges that are authorized under this permit. While the permit conditions are appropriately conservative and stringent, issuance of this permit will not relieve the permittee from the responsibility to ensure that the continued existence of these endangered species is not put at risk or jeopardized by the activities authorized under this permit.

The Department has received a request for a public hearing on the tentative determination for the above permit and has scheduled the hearing for Wednesday, May 19, 2010, at 6:30 PM, in the cafeteria of the Grantsville Elementary School, 120 Grant Street, Grantsville, MD 21536.

Persons who wish to present information regarding the tentative determination may speak at the public hearing; submit written comments at the public hearing, or submit a written statement to the Department no later than May 26, 2010. All comments will be considered in making a final determination.

Written comments should be addressed to the Maryland Department of the Environment, Water Management Administration, 1800 Washington Blvd., Baltimore, Maryland 21230-1708, Attn.: Mr. Michael Richardson, Chief, Industrial and General Discharge Permits Division. The supporting information for the tentative determination, including the draft permit and fact sheet, may be reviewed by contacting Mr. Richardson at the above address or by telephone at 410-537-3323 or 800-633-6101 to schedule an appointment. Copies of documents may be procured at a cost of $0.36 per page.

Any hearing-impaired person may request an interpreter to be present at the public hearing by giving ten working days' notice to Mr. Richardson at the address or telephone number listed above.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Mayor and Town Council of Friendsville hereby gives notice, pursuant to Article 23A, Section 2(24) of the Annotated Code of Maryland, of its intention to sell by private sale certain unimproved real estate not located within the Town of Friendsville, and known as part of "Ironwood Resurveyed Twice".

NOTICE IS ALSO GIVEN, that Ordinance No. 20101 has been introduced before the Town Council, authorizing the Town to sell the said real estate and other property interests, consisting of one half acre, more or less, along with certain water and other easements not within the Town, more commonly known and designated as part of "Ironwood Resurveyed Twice", to the Estate of Theresa Selby Murphy, under the terms and conditions set forth below, and that the Mayor and Town Council of Friendsville shall hold a public hearing on said Ordinance on the 3rd day of May, 2010, at 6:30 P.M., at the Friendsville Town Hall located at 313 Chestnut Street, Friendsville, Maryland 21550.

A fair summary of the Ordinance is as follows:

An Ordinance authorizing the Mayor and Town Council of Friendsville to convey, by Quit Claim Deed, to the Estate of Theresa Selby Murphy certain lands and easements not within the Town of Friendsville, known as part of "Ironwood Resurveyed Twice", consisting of one half of an acre of ground, more or less, along with certain water rights, easements and other property rights, not within the Town, in consideration of the payment to the Mayor and Town Council of Friendsville by the Estate of Theresa Selby Murphy a purchase price of Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00), to be paid in cash at the time of settlement. The intended Grantee shall also pay all costs of said transfer, including, but not limited to, attorney's fees to the Town attorney for preparation of the Ordinance, the required Public Notice and all other such costs of document preparation, as well as the cost of the required publication of this Public Notice, any transfer taxes, recordation fees, title searches and all other such costs. The subject property was conveyed to the Town, in its proprietary capacity, by the City Water Company of Garrett County, Inc., by deed dated November 1, 1973, and recorded in Book 344, Page 167, among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, consisting of approximately one half acre for the purpose of providing water to the Town, and said property is not held in public trust; that the Town desires to dispose of said property by private sale and to use the proceeds for other Town purposes. The Town water system of which the property and property rights to be conveyed were a part has long been abandoned by the Town and said property and rights are of no use to the Town. The one half acre cannot be located on the ground due to an incomplete deed description and there is no clear access to the said property. The property rights hereby conveyed were part of and represented an encumbrance on the land owned by Theresa Selby Murphy, now deceased, and constitute a cloud on the title of the said property which passed to her estate.

On or about April 5, 2010, the Mayor and Town Council adopted Resolution No. 2010-1, declaring that said property was held by the Town of Friendsville as business property, and not in public trust, and that the property is no longer needed for any public purpose in that the actual land does not have access and cannot be located and the easements and other property interests to be conveyed were only of use to the Town for the operation of the abandoned water system.

That this Notice is intended to meet the requirements of Article 23A, Section 2(24), of the Annotated Code of Maryland, and to give notice of the public hearing on Ordinance No. 2010-1.

The full text of Ordinance No. 2010-1 is available at the Friendsville Town Hall, 313 Chestnut Street, Friendsville, Monday through Friday, from 10 A.M. until 2:30 P.M.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $33,000 in cash, cashier's check or certified check is required at time of sale. Balance of the purchase price, together with interest on the unpaid purchase money at the current rate contained in the Deed of Trust Note from the date of sale to the date funds are received by the Trustees, payable in cash within ten days of final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court. There will be no abatement of interest due from the purchaser in the event additional funds are tendered before settlement or if settlement is delayed for any reason. TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE FOR THE PURCHASER. Adjustment of current year real property taxes will be made as of the date of sale and thereafter assumed by the purchaser. All past due property taxes paid by the purchaser. In any such event, this sale shall be null and void, and the Purchaser's sole remedy, in law or equity, shall be the return of the deposit without interest. If Purchaser fails to settle within ten days of ratification, he agrees to pay attorneys' fees in the amount of $750.00, plus costs, if the Trustees have moved to resell the property. Purchaser waives personal service of any paper filed in connection with such a motion on himself and/or any principal or corporate designee, and expressly agrees to accept service of any such paper by regular mail directed to the address provided by said bidder at the time of the sale. If Purchaser defaults under these terms, deposit shall be forfeited. The Trustees may then resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. The defaulted purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds resulting from said resale even if such surplus results from improvements to the property by said defaulted purchaser. If Trustees are unable to convey either insurable or marketable title, or if the sale is not ratified by the Circuit Court for any reason, the Purchaser's sole remedy, at law or equity, is the return of the deposit without interest. Purchaser agrees to pay $295.00 at settlement to the Seller's attorney for review of the settlement documents and an additional fee of $295.00 for review of any motion which may be subsequently filed with the Court to substitute a purchaser herein.

MARYLAND DEPARTMENT OF THE ENVIRONMENT
ENGINEERING AND CAPITAL PROJECTS PROGRAM
PRELIMINARY DECISION TO GRANT
CATEGORICAL EXCLUSION (CE #379)

Project Name/Number:	Oakland Water System Disinfection Byproduct Elimination Project DW09-550-12L
Project Applicant:	Town of Oakland
Project Location/County:	Oakland/Garrett County
Total Project Cost/Loan:	$95,000/$95,000

Project Description: The proposed project entails modifications to the Town of Oakland's Broadford Lake and Bradley Run water treatment plants to lower the concentration of disinfection byproducts. The scope of work includes study, design, and construction activities to modify both facilities. The proposed improvements will bring the Town's drinking water treatment plants into compliance with the Disinfectants and Disinfection Byproducts Rule.

The Town of Oakland has applied for financial assistance from the Maryland Department of the Environment's State Revolving Loan Fund for the proposed project as described above. In accordance with requirements for complying with the State Environmental Review Procedures (SERP) under COMAR 26.03.11 for such assistance, a review has been performed by the Department on the applicant's request for a Categorical Exclusion from a comprehensive environmental review under SERP. The Department has determined that the proposed project qualifies for a Categorical Exclusion pursuant to COMAR 26.03.11.04 because the project constitutes the construction of new ancillary facilities that do not increase the capacity of the existing facility. This determination is based on a careful review of the supporting documentation provided by the applicant and other documents available to the Department. In concert with this preliminary determination, the Department has also found the project to be consistent with the Maryland Economic Growth, Resource Protection, and Planning Policy in accordance with Executive Order 01.01.1992.27, and Maryland's Smart Growth and Neighborhood Conservation Policy, in accordance with Executive Order 01.01.1998.04.

As a result of the above determination, the applicant will not need to prepare and/or finalize an Environmental Information Document, and the Department is prepared to approve the applicant's request for financial assistance without further environmental review.

Comments supporting or disagreeing with the above preliminary decision may be submitted for consideration by writing to:

Mehdi Majedi, Chief
Water and Wastewater Division
Engineering & Capital Projects Program
Maryland Department of Environment
1800 Washington Boulevard
Baltimore, Maryland 21230

After evaluating any comments received, the Department will make a final decision no sooner than 20 calendar days from the date of this notice. No administrative action will be taken with respect to this proposal during this timeframe.

Stemple Named Volunteer Of The Month At Hospital

Elsie Stemple has been named the Loar Auxiliary Volunteer of the Month for April at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. She joined the auxiliary in 2003 and works twice a week in the hospital's gift shop.

"We really missed Elsie in February when the snow had her trapped at home," said shop manager Denise Shay. "Now that the weather has turned toward spring, we are glad to see her on duty, serving customers and ringing up sales in the shop."

Anyone interested in volunteering for the Loar Auxiliary or the Volunteers in Various Areas (VIVA) program is asked to call the hospital's Volunteer Services Department at 301-533-4041.

Ramp Cook-Off Slated At DCL Discovery Center

The Discovery Center at Deep Creek Lake will be the locale for a ramp cook-off, in celebration, a spokesperson said, of "Garrett County's rich folk life."

The event is slated at the center on Saturday, April 24, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Persons are invited to bring their own ramp dishes.

Past dishes include beef and cheesy ramp wraps, ramp frittata, caramelized ramp pesto pasta, "ramptato" chips, and others.

The judging of the entered dishes will take place at 11 a.m. The public may taste-test the entrees beginning at 11:45 a.m. A two-judge panel will determine the winner based on creativity, ramp flavor, and presentation.

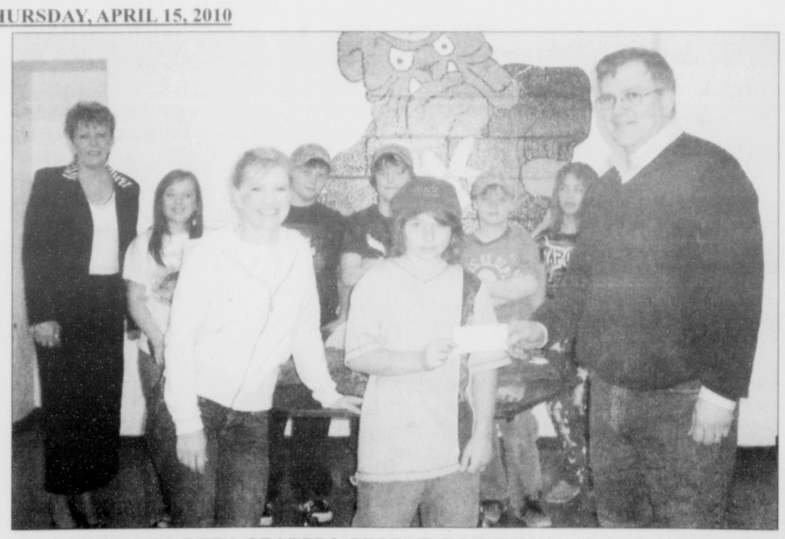
"Ramp gathering, preserving, and eating has long been an eagerly awaited sign of spring in Appalachia," a spokesperson said. "The late wild foods promoter Euell Gibbons considered ramps 'the sweetest and the best of the wild onions.'"

Ramps are high in vitamins C and A, and contain several healthful minerals. They have the cholesterol-reducing capacity of garlic.

"Folk medicine claims that ramps keep away colds and flu," the spokesperson said. "Many love the flavorful wild food, but it is distinguished by its strong garlic and onion odor, which is quite persistent."

Persons who wish to compete in the cook-off are required to register. They may do so by calling the Discovery Center at 301-387-7067.

Electricity will be available for those who require it. Competitors must register by April 23. Space is limited.



KITZMILLER FIFTH GRADERS RECEIVE DONATIONS – Debrah Layton's fifth grade class at Kitzmiller Elementary School recently received two donations that were made to fund end-of-the-year school projects. ICG Vindex Energy Corporation made a donation of $250 to the class. Also donated were hats, shirts, and fossil rocks. Above is Mike Grabosky and Rox Wooden presenting a check to Petie Davis. In the back are Layton, Rachel Scott, Josten Lipscomb, Colton Lucas, Brandon Welch, and Courtney Sanders. The Kitzmiller Volunteer Fire Department made a donation of $100. Below are Welch, Davis, Sanders, and Scott. Back row: David Burrell, Lucas, Layton, Lipscomb, Robert Paugh, and Kent Burrell.

Have You HEARD?
by M. Keith Nester, Sr., BC-HIS
M. Keith Nester, Sr., BC-HIS — Cathy A. Nester, HIS
THE REAL DEAL
To get the most accurate sense of how a hearing instrument is performing, the hearing instrument specialist will conduct a "real ear measurement." This test involves placing a miniature microphone in the wearer's ear canal to measure sounds that are introduced to the wearer's ear. The measurement is taken both with and without the hearing instrument in the ear. This enables the hearing instrument specialist to calculate the difference between the two measurements, called the "real-ear insertion gain," which provides information about how the sound is resonating and being amplified within the ear canal. This information provides a better understanding of how the signal should be changed to suit the wearer's individual needs.
A hearing instrument that doesn't fit properly or deliver the quality of sound the wearer has a right to expect is probably going to end up unworn. For comprehensive testing and evaluations, a complete line of today's most innovative hearing instruments, expert fittings, as well as follow-up adjustments using state-of-the-art technology, please call AUDIBEL. When it comes to better hearing, you can always count on us being on your side and by your side.
P.S. Real ear measurement provides an objective evaluation of hearing instrument performance that can be used to augment the wearer's subjective assessment.

Revitalize Your Lawn After A Long Winter

Every spring, homeowners head outside to take stock of how the winter treated their lawn. Homeowners in areas that experience heavy snow or rainfall each winter likely do not look forward to this inventory, fearful of what another harsh winter did to their property. Fallen tree branches, frozen ground and winter wind storms can do a number on even the most well-manicured lawns, turning a summertime labor of love into a nightmare.

While homeowners might not be able to do anything about the weather, there are ways to revitalize a lawn each spring. And you don't have to be an accomplished landscaper to handle the task. The following tips can help bring your luscious lawn back to life, helping make winter a distant memory.

• Remove all debris from your yard. Debris includes any trash in the yard, wood, large roots, fallen branches, and even stones. The presence of trash such as broken glass or even faded paper products such as cups or bags is not only unsafe for the environment, but it can prove harmful to anyone who might be out in the yard once your grass grows, especially if you have children. Oftentimes, winter winds can blow trash from nearby garbage cans across the yard, no matter how neatly homeowners put out their trash.

• Smooth the soil. Once all debris has been removed, examine the soil for any abnormalities that might need to be smoothed out. Use a spade or rake to smooth any areas that aren't up to par. Next you'll want to loosen the soil as well, something that can be done with a garden rake. Any unsightly ar-

When It Comes To Home Improvement, Investing In The Small Projects Pays Off

(ARA) – Current economic conditions have forced many families to re-evaluate their spending habits and cut back in certain areas that are no longer deemed necessities. Dining out, family vacations, and the purchase of that new TV are all being postponed until the economy makes it out of the red – but some things, like home improvement projects, can't be pushed off quite as easily.

And while you may not be ready to invest in a whole new set of tools to begin your home improvement project, a trip to your local rental store provides a cost-effective solution to help you tackle those jobs that just can't wait.

Protect Your Largest Investment

Your home is your largest investment and no matter what the economic conditions, you don't want to cut corners on projects around the house. Taking the time to do these projects right the first time will not only ensure the safety and well-being of your family, but it will also ensure your financial security for years to come.

Investing some energy and money into fixing little problems, like a crack in your home's foundation, will prevent larger repairs down the road. Even something as unassuming as a clogged drain or leaky faucet can lead to much more costly problems if not addressed properly, and can negatively impact the overall value of your home.

jects, like a fresh coat of paint or a little landscaping work, will not only make your home feel more warm and inviting, but will also yield a larger return on investment when it comes time to put your house on the market.

Other projects, like adding a skylight or fireplace, can make your home more energy efficient and help reduce bills in the long run – and with most family budgets still in survival mode, projects that can produce long-term savings are a smart investment.

Upgrade Your House Without Upgrading Your Bills

Although many home improvement projects appear to be simple, they often require tools that most weekend warriors don't have just lying around. This is when it makes sense to enlist the help of your local rental store.

And since you will most likely only need the tools or equipment once, renting is a much more cost-effective solution than buying new or hiring a handyman. Plus, you get the added satisfaction of knowing that you had a hand in sprucing up your home and increasing its value.

Stocked with pressure washers to clean off your siding or deck, jackhammers to tear out that uneven front walk, and concrete polishers to give your garage floor a distinctive new finish, your nearby rental store is like the ultimate workshop – filled with professional grade tools.

Your local rental professionals will make sure you get the right tools for your job, and they will teach you how to properly use the equipment you will need. And no need to worry about storing the tools once you are

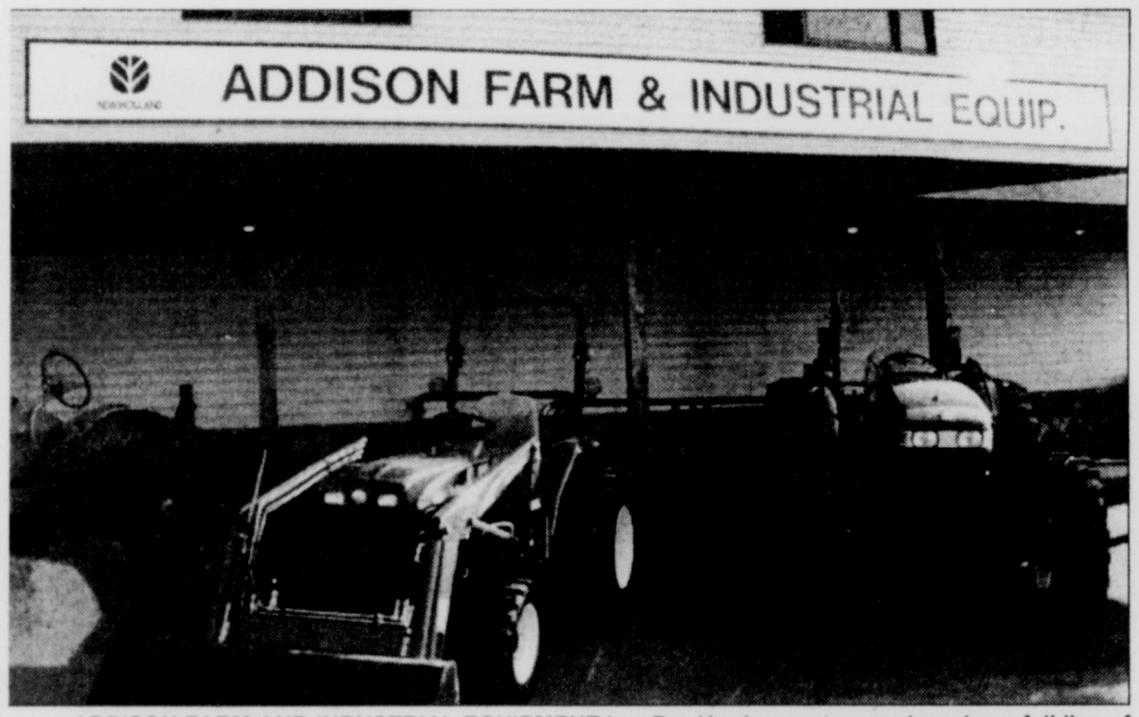
Prep Your Mower And Yard For Spring With These Simple Steps

(ARA) – With weather warming up after the long winter, it's time to get back outside and start working in the yard again. Before you fire up the mower for the first cut, it's important to prepare the unit with a few maintenance steps.

"If you didn't properly winterize your mower last year, it's important to spend time at the start of the season with your equipment," says Jessica Gardner of MTD Products Inc., a global manufacturer of outdoor power equipment. "This will prevent many common malfunctions, keep it running better, and help prolong the life of the mower."

MTD suggests five simple steps to help prepare your mower for its first run of the season.



ADDISON FARM AND INDUSTRIAL EQUIPMENT is a Pro Hardware store and carries a full line of hardware supplies. The business has also been the local New Holland dealer for over 40 years. Now under new management, Addison Farm and Industrial Equipment is located at 7008 National Pike, Addison, Pa., and is open Monday–Friday, 8 a.m.–5 p.m., and Saturday, 8 a.m.–noon. For more information, call 813-395-3521.

Clean the mower deck. It's important to clean the grass and debris buildup from under the mower deck and on the cutting blades at frequent intervals in order to prevent clogging and to improve cutting performance. Do not use sharp instruments to clean the deck, always wear safety glasses, and make sure the spark plug wire is removed from the spark plug before performing any maintenance.

Change the air filter and oil. In order for your mower to run at its optimum level, you must change the oil and air filter once a year.

Replace or clean spark plugs. Your spark plugs should be replaced when you notice rust forming around them; however it's important to clean them on a regular basis. If you don't replace or clean the spark plugs, the mower will not function properly.

Sharpen or replace mower blades. In order to get the best cut possible, sharpen or replace the blades. You can use a metal file to sharpen blades, but if you're uncomfortable doing it yourself, take it to your local hardware store.

Use fresh gas and fuel stabilizer. Old gas can clog the engine, which can cause major system damage to your mower. Be sure to use up or empty gas at the end of the season and start with a fresh tank every 30 days. Always use a minimum of 87 octane gas with no more than 10 percent ethanol and add fuel stabilizer to your gas can at every refill to protect your mower from problems that can be caused by today's ethanol-blended fuels.

"Just a simple tune-up at the beginning of the season can reduce fuel consumption by up to 30 percent and emissions by up to 50 percent," says Gardner. "These few simple steps will keep your mower running at peak performance season after season."

Now that the mower is ready to use, here are a few more tips to help your green thumb jump-start into spring.

Clean your yard of debris. After all the snow has melted and your lawn is dry, rake your yard to get rid of the dead growth, stray leaves, twigs, and winter debris, so the grass can grow more easily.

Weed away. Try to spot weeds early, as they grow more vigorously at the beginning of spring.

Create a planting checklist. Check which flowers

PLANET Offers Eco-Friendly Yard Tips

The start of spring gets people excited about working in the yard. These days, many people want to create yards that are easier to maintain and more eco-friendly, but they don't know where to start. The nation's lawn and landscape association, the Professional Landcare Network (PLANET), offers consumers tips for making their yard and gardens more eco-friendly.

"To create an eco-friendly yard, you have to start from the ground up," said PLANET member Richard Heller, landscape industry certified manager and technician. "Test your soil and make sure it is in good shape; then assess the healthiness of your grass, plants, and trees," he continued. "If your yard and plants are healthy and the eco-system is in balance, you need to worry less about watering and treating for diseases and pests."

•Test your soil. To ensure that you have a healthy yard, check the pH level of the soil. Either have a professional do it or get a test kit from the local agricultural extension office. Nothing will grow well if the pH balance is off.

•Create a yard that has a rich biomass by planting in layers. The amount of biomass in a square foot is measured by the number of different types of plants, animals, and insects that live in that space. The rainforest, for instance, has an incredibly rich biomass. A rich biomass produces more oxygen, sequesters more carbon, and supports local native animals and insects that help keep the ecosystem healthy.

•Plant the right plants in the right places. Make sure that you are planting shade plants in shady areas and plants that need sun in bright areas. Doing so will create less stress on the plants which will help to keep them disease-free.

•Create a yard that uses less water. Look for plants and grasses that use less water. Different plants have different watering needs: research it and don't use a one-size-fits-all approach to watering. Also, water early in the morning or late in the day; and water less often, but for a longer time.

For more information, or to find a lawn and landscape professional, log on to www.landcarenetwork.org/findaprofessional.

With more than 3,500 PLANET member companies and affiliates, these firms and their employees represent more than 100,000 green industry professionals. Some of these professionals have taken the extra step of becoming certified through PLANET and bear the distinction of being known as landscape industry certified.

grow best in your soil and weather conditions. Make sure the timing is right as most annuals don't tolerate frost well, but it's also usually best to plant as early as possible to ensure successful growth.

Repair cracks to fences or pathways. Repair any cracks or damage to your fences or pathways that might have developed during the winter. Also, if your fence needs repainting, do it before the summer heat hits.

Sharpen tools. Make sure to sharpen your gardening tools because, like your mower blades, they get dull during the course of the year. To sharpen, add clean oil, such as vegetable oil, to a bucket of sand and stick the sharp end of your tools in and out of the bucket several times.

Protect Your Home From Damage With Basement Waterproofing

(ARA) – A damp, leaky basement can be a homeowner's worst nightmare. Active water leaks and excessive moisture in basement or foundation walls can rob a home of extra storage or living space. And, if left unchecked, more serious problems can result, including costly structural damage and high humidity levels throughout the home. That's why it is important to take care of water problems before they start.

Fortunately, there are state-of-the-art technologies that make basement waterproofing easier than ever before – even for inexperienced do-it-yourselfers. New waterproofing paints are low odor and are easy to apply, eliminating the expense associated with hiring a contractor.

"Some homeowners delay basement waterproofing because they don't have the money to hire a contractor and don't think they have the skills to do it themselves. Nothing could be further from the truth," says Watertite brand manager Beth Froncek. "Thanks to easy-to-use waterproofing technologies, basement waterproofing is almost as easy as painting a room. Plus a clean, dry basement can equal extra living space and increased home value, making it a great project to put on the 'to do' list."

Getting Started: Prepare The Surface

Before you get started, make sure basement walls are thoroughly cleaned to get rid of dirt, grease, and other contaminants. Kill any existing mold and mildew by washing with a solution of household bleach and water, consisting of no more than one cup of bleach in one gallon of water.

Next, remove any efflorescence, a powdery white deposit found on many concrete surfaces, with a concrete etching solution to ensure the waterproofing paint sticks to the basement walls.

Patch any holes and cracks – especially those that show signs of active water leaks or those around windows, doors and joints. Products like Zinsser Watertite Etch, Watertite Hydraulic Cement and Watertite Polyurethane Sealant are specifically formulated for basement waterproofing prep.

Apply Two Coats Of Waterproofing Paint

Waterproofing paints like Watertite Mold and Mildew-Proof Waterproofing Paint are guaranteed to stop water and offer a five-year mold- and mildew-proof paint film guarantee. Low odor and easy to use, Watertite is available in an oil-base formula, which is great for waterproofing wet walls, or a convenient latex formula for

Growing Roses Can Be Easy With These Simple Tips

(ARA) – No other flower can evoke romance in the garden like a rose. As America's favorite flower, roses can be found adorning homes in quaint coastal villages to rural farmlands, modern cities to quiet mountain retreats.

"Anybody can grow roses, no matter where they live. If you can grow grass, you can grow roses in your landscape," says James A. Baggett, editor of Country Gardens Magazine.

Whether it's a prize-winning hybrid tea rose you're after, the rich colors of shrub roses sprinkled throughout your landscape or containers full of blooms on your deck or patio, with a little know-how, you'll grow roses that are healthy and beautiful and that you can show off with pride.

Stress Buster

It can happen to anyone. Even experienced rose enthusiasts have lost a favorite rose to stressors like powdery mildew, drought, or extreme summer heat.

Now science has come to the rescue to give your plants the fitness edge they need to keep healthy and strong – no matter what unpredictable heat spell, cold snap, or disease should hit.

Whether you're a beginner or a seasoned rose gardener, you can enjoy success with a good plant-strengthening spray like Jaz Rose Spray, new this spring.

This easy-to use, safe and biodegradable leaf spray was developed by plant scientists and endorsed by the American Rose Society.

Jaz Rose Spray (www.jazsprays.com) contains jasmonate, which naturally occurs in plants and helps to keep all roses strong and resistant to disease, pests, excessive heat, drought, cold, and salt. It works by boosting your plant's natural resistance to environmental stressors and encouraging vigorous roots, growth, and blooms.

Simple Tips From The Experts

Renowned landscape designer Jon Carloftis plants shrub roses in containers. "I like to give them perfect planting conditions such as good drainage, rich soil, and the addition of regular fertil-

"The best way everyone can commemorate Arbor Day is to plant trees in communities all across America," said John Rosenow, chief executive and founder of the Arbor Day Foundation. "These trees will provide shade and beauty year-round and magnificent color in the fall."

The trees will be shipped postpaid at the right time for planting in April or May with enclosed planting instructions. The 6- to 12-inch trees are guaranteed to grow or they will be replaced free of charge.

"Planting a tree connects us directly to nature," Rosenow said. "It's the perfect activity for parents, grandparents, and children to do together because trees will last for generations to come."

To become a member of the Foundation and receive the free trees, send a $10 contribution to Ten Free Shade Trees, Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Avenue, Nebraska City, NE 68410, by April 30, 2010, or visit www.arborday.org/april.

Saving Money On Home Improvements

The warmer temperatures make it a great time to tackle much needed home improvement projects. And contrary to popular belief, these adjustments don't need to be expensive or exhausting.

There are many cost-effective, eco-friendly design and renovation projects you can undertake that will spruce up your home and positively impact the environment.

"Simply put, environmentally friendly home renovation projects create a healthy home and save energy and money," said Tove Anderson, principal of Tove Anderson Architecture and the past chair of the American Institute of Architects Committee on the Environment, D.C. Chapter. "Whether it is reusing what is in your home or incorporating new materials, there are a variety of environmentally friendly design options that can fit anyone's taste and budget."

To start, consider the following practices:

Find Hidden Gems

Before shopping for costly new pieces of furniture, take a second look at unused pieces in your basement, garage or guest rooms. In many cases, long-ignored decor can be refurbished with a new coat of paint, reupholstering, or another creative makeover. If you can't fight the urge to splurge, shop locally first or visit a high-end, second-hand store. This eliminates manufacturing and transportation costs and is a more sustainable approach to furnishing your home. You might also browse online stores for environmentally friendly furniture, paint, or artwork.

Use What You Have

Enlist an architect to help you reconfigure existing space in your home, rather than make costly structural modifications or additions on your own. These professionals can help you assess how you can create the home of your dreams by working with already existing space.

For example, if you've always wanted more sunlight or an open floor plan, an architect can help you make the needed adjustments – such as new window treatments, adding windows and skylights, or knocking down walls. To find an architect in your area, visit architectfinder.aia.org.

Say It With Color

A new coat of paint can do wonders in changing a room's look. Make sure to choose low-VOC (volatile organic chemicals) paint, which uses water instead of oil, thereby reducing toxins and limiting the impact on your home and the environment.

Be Energy Efficient

Insulation leaks and cracks can exist in both new and old homes, leading to energy waste and inflated bills. A free home energy audit can provide ways to save money and energy. Your local energy provider usually can assist in setting up an appointment.

Reseal windows, walls, ceilings, and attic to start making a sizable, positive impact.

SPRING HAS SPRUNG, and Pleasant Valley Greenhouse & Nursery is ready to fulfill the various gardening needs of its customers. The greenhouse has over 250 varieties of flowers and gardening plants, including shrubs, ornamental trees, fruit trees, and more than 100 varieties of perennials. For those who enjoy growing their own food, Pleasant Valley offers a full line of garden seeds; strawberry and blueberry plants; broccoli, cabbage and cauliflower plants; 34 varieties of tomatoes; and many other garden goodies. The business is open Monday through Saturday, and can be reached by calling 301-334-0787.

Additionally, if you are looking to purchase a new appliance, consider Energy-Star qualified appliances, which use 25-40 percent less energy than conventional options and can result in savings of up to $100 (or more) a year on energy bills.

If your water heater is more than 10 years old, it might be time to purchase a new one. If that's not possible, cover your old one with a water heater jacket, which can eliminate heat loss by 25-40 percent.

And remember to shut off and unplug electrical devices when not in use.

"By making the decision to adopt sustainable renovation practices that are eco-friendly, homeowners will help the environment and be rewarded with extra money savings, in the short and long term," said Anderson.

There Are Lots Of Ways To Up The Value Of Your Home

It's a busy time in the wild world of real estate. After a nationwide crisis, there has been a surge of home sales across the country and homeowners once again are looking for ways to increase the value of their houses – regardless of their intent on selling them.

Experts say there are a number of simple ways to help your property see a rise in value.

"To draw buyers in, you need to create a visual story of how they could live in your home," said Starr Osborne, founder of moving-management and design company Tailored Transitions and author of Home Staging That Works: Sell Your Home in Less Time for More Money. "You need to prepare your home in such a way that it tells them a tale of the wonderful life that awaits them."

With a few quick moves, telling that story can be easier.

Consider an Inspection

When it comes to the inner workings of any home, a lot can go wrong. There are also plenty of inopportune times for a house's plumbing or electricity to suddenly go out. Plan a proper home inspection and rest easier knowing your property is up to code.

Get a Fresh Perspective

By bringing in a home stager for a couple of hours, you'll gain insight into your home from someone with an established background in real estate. By offering the odd decorating idea, he or she can help bring your home in line with the latest and most popular design trends.

Stage Your Home

There are many ways easy or temporary upgrades to your home that can come in handy if you're showing it to prospective buyers. "Home staging has infiltrated the selling process all across the country," said Osborne. "Clearly, staging boosts sales prices."

According to a recent HomeGain survey of 2,000 realtors nationwide, 91 percent recommended staging before selling. Simple solutions from replacing faucets to moving furniture can dramatically impact your home's sale price.

Unclutter

If you're looking to sell, improve that first impression.

Your Home's Living Spaces Can Be Extended To The Outdoors

It doesn't matter if your backyard is a tiny patch of grass or an expansive green lawn. You can extend your home's living spaces by creating an inviting outdoor room for relaxing, dining, entertaining, and even cooking.

Outdoor living rooms are a booming trend in home design, representing a creative way to expand your home's living areas. NPMA Provides Tips To Prevent Insects, Termintes From Attacking Your Home

This spring and summer, your home could be under attack by termites, known as "silent destroyers" because of their ability to quickly and quietly cause serious property damage. As the temperature increases, so does the potential for termite swarms and infestations by other insects seeking to chew up your home and its value.

In fact, according to the National Pest Management Association (NPMA), termites cause more than $5 billion in property damage each year all across the country. What's worse is that damage caused by these wood-destroying insects is typically not covered by homeowners' insurance policies.

"No matter where you live, wood destroying insects pose serious property risks and can seriously compromise the structural stability of a home. Homeowners need to regularly inspect their homes, as these hungry pests typically remain hidden until damage to your house becomes visible," said Missy Henriksen, vice president of Public Affairs for the NPMA.

The key to preventing pests from attacking your home is to eliminate their access to food, water, and shelter:

*Carefully inspect the perimeter of your home for rotting wood, mud tubes, or a visible termite presence. Be vigilant!

*Eliminate any sources of moisture or standing water, as water attracts termites and other insects.

*Divert water away from your property through properly-functioning downspouts, gutters, and splash blocks.

*Seal cracks and small openings along your house's foundation, and screen windows and doors.

*Keep tree branches and other plants cut back from the house.

*Keep kitchens clean by wiping counters and empty-full of potassium, folate and manganese, making it a great addition to your menu. Zucchini take about a month to mature and be ready to harvest. They grow on vines and produce large flowers before bearing fruit.

3. Beets: Root vegetables like beets and radishes work well in the garden also. The bright purple color of beets indicates they are full of many essential vitamins and minerals. Toss beets in salads or use them in the traditional soup, borscht.

4. Carrots: Another subterranean-growing veggie, carrots require moist soil as they germinate, but as the plants mature need less water. Carrots can be enjoyed in a number of ways and are a staple of cooking year-round.

5. Peas: Peas grow inside the pods of legumes. These plants like moist soil that drains well. Water frequently but make sure the soil doesn't become flooded if you want peas to flourish.

6. Peppers: Peppers come in so many varieties it's easy to find ones that appeal to your taste in cooking. Generally, peppers thrive in soil high in magnesium. Using compost and Epsom salt in the soil can help achieve the environment peppers desire.

7. Lettuce: Lettuce is another staple and the basis for many salad dishes. Lettuce also tops sandwiches and can be filled and wrapped for other recipe ideas. Seeds should be planted between 8 and 16 inches apart. Water in the morning instead of at night to prevent disease from developing.

Bring On The Birds – Simple Solutions To Turn Your Backyard Into An Avian Oasis

(ARA) – Who doesn't love spring? Flowers bloom, trees bud, and bright songbirds return to the area. The renewed resurgence of radiant life may make you want to get in on the action.

But if gardening's not your thing and you just don't see yourself as the type to go on a long outdoor hike, you can still engage in spring's revelry and bring beautiful birds to your own backyard. Convincing songbirds and favorites like hummingbirds to visit your yard is as simple as providing them with plentiful sources of food, water, and nesting material.

The avian experts at Songbird Essentials, a leading provider of accoutrements and food for outdoor birds of all species, offer a few tips for attracting some popular, picturesque feathered friends to your neighborhood:

Birds need to eat a lot to survive every day. While natural food sources are plentiful in warmer months, they're just as happy to dine at your backyard buffet. You can attract delightful birds like yellow goldfinches, orioles, and hummingbirds with the right mix of food and feeder types.

Start out by overlooking a few dandelions when you're weeding your yard. Goldfinches love dandelion seed. They also like company when they eat and will dine in large groups. Look for feeders like the Three Tube Finch Feeder, that allow 24 or more birds to perch and dine at the same time. The Three Tube Finch Feeder certainly sets the stage for a spectacular show!

Orioles, with their glossy black coats trimmed in bright orange or yellow, will fill your backyard with distinctive whistles and songs. They migrate at night and arrive in your neighborhood tired, cold and hungry, so if you wait until you actually see them to put out food, you might miss them altogether.

Set out oranges, sliced in half with the juicy side out, before you see the first oriole of the season. Or try feeding them all new BirdBerry Jelly, a human grade product that's better for the birds. It's all natural – no preservatives – and is lower in sugar content than most jellies. The unique grape/blackberry flavor attracts orioles and other species and keeps them coming back for more.

Try using a feeder like Songbird Essentials' Grand Slam Oriole Feeder made of recycled plastic. It holds four orange halves and has two serving bowls for jelly. Other birds that love jelly include woodpeckers, robins, and warblers.

Hummingbirds, while not great singers, are among the most intriguing and adorable birds to watch. Nearly every region of the U.S. has at least one native species of these tiny, speedy little birds. There are several ways you can tempt them into your yard; try these tips:

* Provide plenty of nectar feeders – the more the merrier. Dr. J.B.'s Hummingbird Feeder is a good choice; it is dishwasher safe and easy to clean, has an extra wide mouth for easy filling and is bee resistant.

Bob Sergeant, president of the Hummer Bird Study Group, the world's largest association dedicated to the study and preservation of hummingbirds, simply says, "This is the best hummingbird feeder ever!" Plus, the hummers love it.

* Be sure hummers see red. Plant red open-throated plants. Or, if planting is not possible, tie a big red bow in your yard near your feeder.

* Let the water flow. Hummingbirds prefer mov-

Make sure your lawn, shrubbery, walkway, and driveway are all tidy. Get rid of messes and consider a new doormat or some nice planters. Removing books and lamps helps unclutter a living or family room.

Fix the Easy Stuff

Repair paint cracks with spackle and a new coat. Fix cracked or missing baseboards, thresholds and tiling. Make sure hinges are well oiled and that doors and windows open and close easily.

Add Some Color

By investing in some nice paints and applying a fresh coat, any home can be given new life quickly and easily. Assign specific colors to different rooms, and you'll find that walking around the house is a whole new experience.

In a quick-fix marketplace where home values have decreased while transactions increase, deciding to sell or not can be a big decision. But a few simple tweaks can raise your home's value, whatever decision you make.

*Outdoor Kitchens: Kitchens aren't just for indoors. Many upscale appliances are available for outdoor installation. While barbecue grills are fine by themselves, gas-powered stoves, outdoor rotisseries, burners, and granite countertops also help homeowners get in touch with their inner and outdoor chef.

"By extending your home's living spaces to the great outdoors with comfy seating and an outdoor fireplace or kitchen, you can give your friends and family more space to enjoy while increasing your house's resale value," says Robert Dischner, director of marketing for Lennox Hearth Products.

ing water sources like sprinklers, fountains, waterfalls, misters, or drippers. Attract hummingbirds by keeping water sources fresh and clean and positioning them near food sources.

* Provide natural nesting material. Hummingbirds won't nest in birdhouses or nesting boxes; they build their cup-shaped nests in trees. Encourage nesting by providing materials like Hummer Helper Nesting Material, recommended by the Hummingbird Society of North America. An all-natural product, Hummer Helper comes in an open wire frame that allows hummingbirds easy access to natural nesting material.

An Attractive And Eco-Friendly Way To Put Rainwater To Work

Spring showers certainly may bring flowers, but they can also bring something very valuable for many homeowners – an easy and inexpensive way to offset your water bills and your eco-footprint while keeping your landscape green.

A rain barrel harvests rainwater that flows off your roof and through your home's downspouts. The amount of water that can be collected is astounding. A 1,000-square-foot roof feeding a downspout can produce up to 600 gallons of collected rainwater from a one-inch rainfall. That's enough water to fill an average hot tub.

Harvesting rainwater is a viable option if you're looking to save money and reduce your eco-footprint. Collected water can be used to water plants and lawns, which is a boon if you're a gardening enthusiast who often has to contend with no-watering drought restrictions and the fear of a shriveled, brown landscape. In addition, collected rainwater is naturally low in sodium and chlorine, making it a healthier option for plants. Rainwater can also be used to wash your car or take care of minor clean-up tasks outside of the home.

The money saved by using rainwater in lieu of municipal water for some applications can quickly add up. Who wouldn't want to find a reduced water bill in the mail, especially during these trying economic times?

Many people are interested in harvesting rainwater but think a collection barrel could be an unattractive option in their yard. Others worry about overflow and potential water damage to their home. Fiskars has developed a series of rainwater harvesting systems that offer peace of mind and aesthetic appeal for the landscape.

These smart rain barrels feature a distinctive and decorative design with a worry-free downspout connector. The downspout connector kit allows rainwater to flow from the downspout into the barrel. Once the rain barrel is full the water is diverted automatically back down the downspout away from the home's foundation as it is meant to – no risk of overflow.

The attractively designed rain barrels rest flush up against your home in neutral colors that blend seamlessly with the landscape and most home exteriors. A handy threaded spigot located on the front of the barrels is at the perfect height to easily fill a standard watering can or connect a garden or soaker hose.

Just a small investment of time and money is needed to add a rainwater harvesting system to your landscape. The reward is a reduction in your eco-footprint, healthier plants, and a savings on your utility bill over time.

For more information on Fiskars Rainwater Harvesting Systems, visit www.rain-barrel.com.

*Keep all food containers sealed and avoid leaving pet food dishes out for long periods of time.

*Keep trash containers clean and sealed, both indoors and outdoors.

*Do not stack firewood or lumber near your home, and inspect it carefully before bringing it indoors.

*If your home is newly constructed, remove old form boards and grade stakes left behind.

*If you see signs of an insect or termite infestation, contact a licensed pest professional promptly to treat it.

For more tips on seasonal pests, go online and visit www.PestWorld.org, where you also can use the site's "Find a Pro" ZIP code locator if you have a problem that needs professional help.

The 7 Easiest Vegetables To Grow At Home

Rising costs at the supermarket and worries about unhealthy pesticides or preservatives on foods has led many people to start a vegetable garden at home.

Growing vegetables is easier than one would think. Plus, you don't need an expansive plot of land to grow a garden. Many popular varieties can be grown right in containers or in compact spaces.

Perhaps you're wondering what vegetables are the easiest to grow if this is your first attempt at a food-based garden. There are several to try.

1. Tomatoes: While commonly considered vegetables, tomatoes are actually fruits. But tomatoes can be an integral part of a vegetable garden. Tomatoes are high in lycopene and other antioxidants. There are also myriad varieties to tempt your palate. Tomatoes can be planted after the soil has thawed and there is no other chance for frost. They'll require plenty of sunlight. Fruit will be available to harvest toward the latter part of the summer.

2. Zucchini: Zucchini are an Italian squash variety that appear similar to a cucumber. They can be green or yellow in coloring. This vegetable is

Top 10 Kitchen And Bath Trends For 2010

(ARA) – Does your kitchen or bathroom look like it's stuck in a time warp? Then it might be time to update the most-used rooms in your home. For inspiration, look no further than the National Kitchen and Bath Association (NKBA), which recently shared its top 2010 kitchen and bath trends.

To compile the findings and determine the latest kitchen and bath trends, the organization surveyed those members who designed a kitchen or bathroom during the last quarter of 2009.

According to NKBA, the top 10 trends for 2010 are:

1. Shaker style kitchen design
2. Maple and alder cabinetry finishes
3. Quartz countertops
4. Pull-down/pull-out kitchen faucets
5. Polished chrome finishes

Growing Roses

izer that won't be an overdose to neighboring plants," he says.

Here are the basics for all those who are a bit rosephobic and long for rosy success:

* Sunlight: Provide your roses with direct sunlight for at least five to six hours each day.

* Soil: Roses grow best in good soil with a pH ranging from 6.5 to 6.8. Till to a depth of two feet – adding a good organic compost or peat moss for healthy drainage.

* Location: Don't plant roses too close to shrubs or trees that will compete for water, light, and nutrients. Provide them with adequate space for air circulation.

* Water: It's best to water rose bushes twice a week, thoroughly at the base of the plant. Avoid late-evening watering that can foster powdery mildew. Instead, water early in the morning to allow the leaves to dry before nightfall.

* Fertilize: Fertilize roses every one to two months starting in the spring with balanced fertilizers containing nitrogen, phosphorus, and potassium. Stop fertilizing in late summer or early fall to prepare them for dormancy.

* Drainage: Whether you grow them in containers or the ground, good drainage is necessary to prevent water from pooling at the roots. Improve drainage with tilling or raised beds and containers with drainage holes.

So grab a shovel and get digging in the dirt and get set to enjoy beautiful roses. To learn more about rose care from the experts and Jaz Rose Spray, visit www.jazsprays.com.

In The Kitchen

Making a big statement throughout the kitchen in 2010 is the addition of functional drawer appliances. One such example, which has been specified by nearly a third of NKBA's kitchen designers, is modern refrigeration technology.

Turning convenience into a luxury, under-counter refrigerated drawers feature adjustable horizontal, and vertical dividers to keep frequently used items close at hand. Perfect for the ultimate entertainer, refrigerated drawers are quite roomy, typically tall enough to store a 2-liter bottle and wide enough to hold items such as serving trays and pizza boxes.

half-full, consider installing a dishwasher drawer. Because it's independently operated, you can wash small loads as economically as large ones.

Plus, the extra flexibility to run cycles simultaneously with your traditional dishwasher makes clean-up quicker and easier, explaining why nearly a third of designers are incorporating this new trend into kitchens, as well.

Another popular element to include in the kitchen in 2010 is a pull-down or pull-out faucet. Utilized by 85 percent of kitchen designers, it's an easy way to make a design statement at the kitchen sink while increasing functionality.

The new Arbor pull-down kitchen faucet from Moen seamlessly brings simple sophistication to the kitchen with its transitional styling that complements virtually any decor. It's available in a chrome finish, which is another 2010 trend to look for in appliances, accents, and hardware throughout the entire kitchen.

In The Bath

Granite is the dominant material chosen for vanities in current remodels – used by seven of every eight designers – however, in 2010 alternative natural materials, like marble, will continue to grow in popularity.

According to NKBA, just under half of bathroom designers utilize marble, as it provides a sophisticated look that's reminiscent of Roman baths with its regal, refined detail that exudes a sense of luxury.

Plus, marble countertops provide a stain-resistant, water-resistant, rugged and durable surface – ideal for child-friendly bathrooms or homes with just one bathroom that see a lot of traffic throughout the day.

NKBA also forecasts that integrated sink tops will be a popular choice this year, as you can easily use existing items to achieve this look. By adding a sink into an antique dresser or chest, designers are creating one-of-a-kind vanities for nearly 30 percent of all clients.

Polished chrome finishes are another bathroom design trend for 2010. Look to incorporate this chic metal accent into all your hardware by updating the accessories in your bath, as well. You'll be able to make a big impact with small updates like new towel bars and robe hooks, for a completely coordinated look.

eas, such as humps or ditches, should either be smoothed out or filled in, depending on which is appropriate. This can be done with some soil and should not prove too costly.

• Consider seeding the lawn if need be. For lawns that took a particularly harsh beating over the winter, consider seeding the lawn to help revitalize it. When seeding a lawn, be sure you choose the right seeds. Different regions respond better to different types of grass. But don't be intimidated if you don't know the correct grass to choose. Simply ask a landscaper or consult a lawn care specialist at a nearby home improvement center as to which type of grass is the best fit your region and your yard.

When you're read to seed, the seed can be scattered by hand for smaller yards, or with a drop spreader for larger lawns. When spreading with a drop spreader, use the suggested amount of seed on the bag (even a little less seed should do the trick) and make sure you spread out the rows evenly in the same direction. Once you've sowed the first part of your lawn in one direction, you can criss-cross back over that part at a 90-degree angle, making sure you keep equal distance and calibrate your spreader at the same speed.

• Add mulch for aesthetic and practical appeal. Moist helps the soil, and can also add aesthetic appeal to a lawn. Moist helps the soil by allowing it to retain moisture, making it more conducive to growing healthy grass. When laying mulch down, keep the mulch at roughly a quarter-inch to ensure your lawn will grow in nicely.

Pruning Tips For Trees and Shrubs

Homeowners typically spend lots of time caring for their property. Be it a modest ranch house or a mansion on top of a hill, a home's outside appearance is often a point of pride for homeowners.

One commonly overlooked element of an aesthetically appealing home is the role trees can play. Trees can add an element of beauty to a yard while also playing a practical role, such as shading the grass from intense summer sun and acting as great support for hanging a hammock.

While trees can add appeal to a homeowner's property, they can also be an eyesore if not properly pruned. Homeowners hoping to get the most out of their trees should consider some pruning guidelines.

• Fruit trees: If the buds on a fruit tree have already started swelling, you've waited too long too prune. In general, fruit trees are best pruned in late winter or early spring. When pruning, be sure to remove all branches growing inward as well as limbs growing straight up.

• Berry bushes: Berry bushes are typically pruned in late fall or early winter, once you have finished harvesting the berries. When pruning berry bushes, keep in mind the importance of shape with respect to a berry bush's aesthetic appeal.

Pruning Tips

• Rosebushes: Rosebushes are generally best pruned in late winter, with early spring the latest possible cut-off date. Remove any older shoots and leave between four and eight canes while removing any that are growing inward. When cutting them down, try to cut them to right around two feet above ground, and cut close to an inch above a bud or strong shoot.

• Evergreen shrubs: Evergreen shrubs won't flower, but they can be pruned after they have produced cones or shrubs. That typically occurs between late winter and early spring, so this can be done as the weather begins to warm up as part of your early season spring cleanup.

• Evergreen trees: In general, evergreen trees do not need to be pruned. It's generally obvious when an evergreen does need to be pruned, as the tree will be noticeably larger and in obvious need of pruning. Evergreens that do need to be pruned typically need it in late spring or early summer, and they will likely not grow much after a good pruning.

•Deciduous trees: Deciduous trees are generally only pruned for shaping. For those looking to shape, mid to late winter is the ideal time to do so.

•Deciduous shrubs: Mid to late spring is often the best time to prune deciduous shrubs. That's generally after they have flowered, and it will be obvious when they are in need or pruning, as they will likely have lots of unsightly branches evident to the naked eye.

Community Action Awarded $50,000 "EmPower" Grant

Gov. Martin O'Malley announced last Wednesday that Garrett County Community Action was among the recipients for round one of the "EmPower Clean Energy Communities" grant program. The initiative helps local governments and nonprofits fund energy efficiency projects specifically for low to moderate income Marylanders.

Community Action will use its $50,000 grant to help purchase energy efficient appliances for a new 36 unit housing development currently being constructed in Oakland called Liberty Mews.

The EmPower grants, overseen by the Maryland Energy Administration (MEA), are providing a total of over $3 million this fiscal year, broken into two rounds, to local governments and nonprofits across Maryland. The first round of these funds will be used to perform energy make-overs to save money for at an estimated 1,000 low and moderate income Maryland families.

O'Malley also announced the start of round two for additional counties who did not exhaust their available funding for projects in round one.

"These grants are an example of exactly the type of efficiency projects we had intended for Maryland com-

READY TO RUN – and to be interviewed on national television – this weekend are six teachers from Broad Ford Elementary School, who have been training since last fall to participate in the More Magazine/Fitness Magazine Women's Half-Marathon, slated for this Sunday in New York City's Central Park. Not only will the local women be participating in the 13.1-mile event, but they have also been selected from among some 10,000 participants to be the "unofficial" spokespersons for the event on this Saturday's CBS segment of The Early Show. Calling themselves the "Get Off the Couch Girls," they are, from left above, Kim Weimer, Tammy Blythe, Amy Flanagan, Jessica Fratz, Amy Burgess, and Annalea Catulle. See story on this page. Broad Ford Teachers To Run In Half-Marathon, Appear On CBS

Six local elementary school teachers will be among an estimated 10,000 women who will participate in the 2010 More Magazine/Fitness Magazine Women's Half-Marathon, to be held in New York City's Central Park this Sunday, April 25.

Not only will the "Get Off the Couch Girls" from Broad Ford Elementary School be among the runners, but they learned just this past week that they have been selected to be the official spokespersons for the event in an interview on CBS Television's The Early Show this Saturday.

"We decided to embark on this journey back in September, and so far it has been a life-changing experience," said Kim Weimer, one of the teachers.

The others are Amy Flanigan, Annalea Catulle, Amy Burgess, Jessica Fratz, and Tammy Blythe.

Weimer said that the six of them enrolled in a 16-week training course at Garrett College, taught by local trainer and accomplished runner Jennifer Sober.

"We learned that there was so much more to preparing for a half-marathon than what we thought," said Weimer. "Jen prescribed a specific program for each one of us.

"Through the course we learned that there really is an 'art' to running," she continued. "Who knew the importance of having proper running form, special shoes depending on your running style, specific running attire sure not to chafe or increase sweat, and a precise nutrition plan? We all have a newfound respect for the real runners in the world."

She noted that, over the course, each of them experienced "some bumps in the road," including tendonitis to asthma to stress fractures to sinus infections.

Amy Burgess is still dealing with a stress fracture, and has tried to limit her distances over the past few weeks, but she is determined to participate in the event.

"Four of the six of us are mothers, too, so we found ourselves rearranging our personal lives to find time to run together for emotional support," Weimer said.

"Our spouses and the other members of our family have been so supportive through all of this," said Annalea Catulle. "We could not do this without them."

Weimer noted how the harsh weather conditions in Garrett County, particularly of this past winter, added extra challenges to their training regimen.

"With over 260 inches of snow this winter, our training runs were obviously very challenging," she said. "There were days that we ran in single-digit temperatures and in two feet of snow."

The teachers have also turned their training experience into a learning opportunity for their students, who are well aware of their efforts.

"It's important for our students to see that sometimes sacrifices are necessary in order to attain a

MSP Investigating Theft At Main St., Grantsville, Home

Maryland State Police are investigating a theft incident that occurred at a Grantsville residence on Tuesday afternoon.

Investigation revealed that two suspects approached the victim's house at 107 Main Street and stated that they were selling linoleum. They entered the residence and talked the victim into the kitchen area at the rear of the residence. A third suspect then entered the home, went upstairs, and stole miscellaneous rings valued at over $1,000.

The three suspects then left the residence in a silver Ford Crown Victoria, possibly a 2000 model. The vehicle was last observed traveling westbound on Rt. 40. The suspects are described as white males, approximately 40 to 50 years old.

Anyone with information regarding this incident is asked to contact Tfc. Arnold at the McHenry Barrack at 301-387-1101.

Mercury Release Causes Closing Of Southern HS Today

The Garrett County Health Department is working with the Garrett County Board of Education today to remedy an inadvertent, small release of mercury at Southern High School Wednesday afternoon. The school was closed today because of yesterday's afternoon incident.

The Maryland Department of Environment (MDE) has inspected the school and a licensed contractor is cleaning up any mercury residue, the health department spokesperson said. The school will reopen when the MDE declares it is safe for staff and students.

Approximately 20 students at Southern High School had primary exposure to mercury through inappropriate handling, the spokesperson reported.

If a student reports that he or she directly handled mercury, a medical professional should be consulted, or the health department should be contacted (301-334-7700). Affected students should also wash their hands thoroughly, air-dry any clothes worn yesterday outside for 6 to 8 hours, and then wash and dry the clothes.

"We worked diligently with the school system yesterday and into the night to identify which students had direct contact with the mercury," said Health Officer Rodney Glotfelty. "All these students have been tested and, when necessary, decontaminated. There does not appear to be any immediate health concern associated with this exposure, and we do not anticipate any long-term health issues."

Glotfelty said the staff feels confident that all the students who had primary contact have been identified.

"But to be sure, it is im-

County Commissioners Hold Constant Yield Hearing, Propose $.99 Tax Rate

The Garrett County commissioners held a constant yield hearing Tuesday morning in their public meeting room at the courthouse in Oakland. Eight members of the general public attended the event.

Garrett County Department of Financial Services director Wendy Yoder explained that the constant yield rate is calculated by the Maryland Department of Assessments and Taxation for each taxing authority in the state. It represents the real property tax rate for the coming fiscal year that will generate the same amount of tax revenue that was garnered during the current year.

"As assessments increase, the constant yield tax rate decreases," Yoder said. "When a tax authority plans to impose a real property tax rate that is higher than the constant yield tax rate, that taxing authority must advertise the tax increase and hold a public hearing."

The commissioners are proposing to maintain the current property tax rate of $.99 per $100 of assessment in Fiscal Year 2011. At that rate, the county expects to realize a 5 percent increase, or about $2.2 million, in additional revenue in FY '11.

If the county wanted to maintain the same amount of revenue in FY '11 as it did in FY '10, the property tax rate/constant yield rate would be $.9433.

Yoder noted that the county's assessable base is expected to increase by about $211,416,000 in the coming fiscal year. Local property owner Charles Mills asked if this included new home construction. Yoder said it did not.

Mills noted, therefore, that the county probably will see more than a 5 percent increase in revenue next year. He also noted that taxes for his Deep Creek Lake property have gone up 300 percent in the last 10 years alone.

Mills acknowledged that the property probably has increased in value, but questioned the dramatic increase in taxes.

"That's a very large percentage per year over a 10-year period," he said. "I have no idea where the money went."

Mills said he was having a tough time figuring out where the 30 percent increase a year in revenue is going.

"We're not building new roads here; we're not building new bridges," he said. "My road hasn't been painted in six years."

Mills asked the commissioners to consider that he and many other resident property owners are "portable," meaning they do not have to live in Garrett County and can move if they choose. They would still have to pay taxes on their local properties, but the county would not get their income taxes.

"I can vote with my feet; I can move to Florida and call that my residence, keep the [local] property, and, effectively, put a hole in the county budget," Mills said.

He stressed he did not want to do that, but it was a real option for him and others.

"That's sort of my revolt, if you want to call it that," Mills said. "I can withhold

Electrical Service Interruption Set For April 27

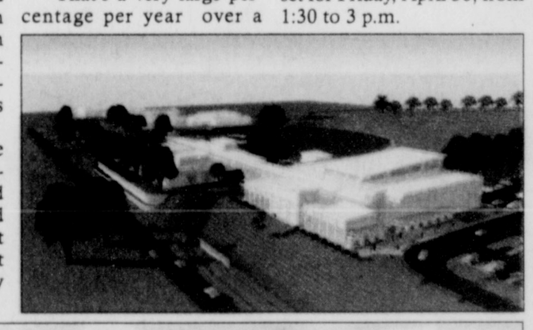
Allegheny Power has slated a service interruption on Tuesday, April 27, from approximately 1:30 to 3 p.m. in the Oakland, Hutton, and Red House areas. The interruption is necessary for the company to make upgrades to the electrical system and improve reliability.

The interruption will affect approximately 1,300 customers located in the following areas:

•Areas south of Oakland (along Rt. 219) from Cork's Cars to the W.Va. state line, including Rt. 50 (west to the W.Va. state line and east to Mason School Road).

•Crellin and Hutton areas west of Oakland, including areas south of Oakland between Rt. 219 South and Rt. 39.

In case of inclement weather, a rain date has been set for Friday, April 30, from 1:30 to 3 p.m.



HOUSE DESTROYED BY BLAZE – The cause of a fire that destroyed a two-story house in Oakland remains under investigation. Volunteers from the Oakland, Deer Park, Deep Creek, Gorman, and Terra Alta fire departments were summoned to 203 West Liberty Street at 5:14 p.m. Tuesday and found heavy flames on the first floor of the structure. The photo above was taken soon after the fire was brought under control; however, the house burned to the ground early the next morning after the fire rekindled. The house was owned by Laura V. Petersheim and occupied by Kendall S. Lowers, according to the report from the Maryland State Fire Marshal's Office. Loss to the structure was estimated to be $4,000, plus an additional $1,000 to contents. The report said that the occupant was staying at the house temporarily. Some three dozen firefighters responded to the scene, and there were no injuries reported. Photo by Mary McEwen.

GROUND BROKEN FOR CARC – Numerous officials were on hand Wednesday to celebrate the groundbreaking for the Garrett College Community Athletic and Recreation Center (CARC) on the McHenry campus. The $23 million complex will house two swimming pools and a physical therapy facility run by Garrett County Memorial Hospital, plus a gymnasium with event seating for 2,000 people. The first phase, which is the 32,000-square-foot aquatics center, is to be completed by the fall of 2011. The gymnasium will be in phase two. Senator George Edwards, one of yesterday's guest speakers, was instrumental in securing $17 million from the state of Maryland for the project. The remaining funds are being provided by the county. The county commissioners initially voted against the project, but reversed that decision after both an outcry from several thousand residents, and a reworking of the funding plan accomplished by college officials. Pictured at the event, from left, are Edwards; Jerry Zimmerman (who helped rework the funding plan); Commissioner Ernie Gregg; Josephine Gilman (who worked with Zimmerman); Dr. Jeanne Neff, interim president of Garrett College; Dusty Huxford, community partner, Manta Ray Swim League; Wendell Teets, superintendent of Garrett County schools; Linda Sherbin, chairperson of the Garrett College board of trustees; Don Battista, president/CEO of Garrett County Memorial Hospital; Catherine Patterson, GC student representative; David Whale, Grimm Parker Architects; Delegate Wendell Beitzel; Commissioner Fred Holliday; and Chuck Hess, CEO of Hess Construction. DAYS LIKE THIS ONE will continue for a long time at Grantsville Elementary School, thanks to a generous donation from kindergarten teacher Suzy Norris. After 35 years of teaching, she will retire at the end of the year, and decided to donate money toward a new swing set for the playground. Pictured above, from left, are Grantsville students Matthew McKenzie, Andrea House, Ashlyn Stakem, Richard Ravenscroft, and Luke Lowery. Below, from left, are Norris and Frostburg State University interns Megan Donaldson (from Meyersdale, Pa.) and Chelsea Hay (from Somerset, Pa.). Norris donated $2,000, and the interns set things in motion for raising the additional funds, which currently total over $700. See feature story for details.

Grantsville Teacher Ends 35-Year Career By Giving Back To School

by Brenda Ruggiero

When Grantsville Elementary School kindergarten teacher Suzy Norris decided it was time to retire, she wanted to give a gift that children could continue to enjoy even after she was gone. After putting some thought into it, she decided on a swing set.

One of the swing sets had recently been removed from the school playground because it was no longer safe to play on.

"I have been so blessed to be able to teach at this school," she said. "I've had a wonderful career here and I want to give something back. I want to leave something that the kids will enjoy for a long time."

Mrs. Norris gave $2,000 toward a new swing set. As part of their required service learning project, two Frostburg State University students who were interning at the school decided to take on the task of raising the remaining funds for the swing set, which will cost a total of $4,000.

"I wanted to get one that will last," Mrs. Norris said. "One that will be sturdy and safe for the next 30 years."

The interns, Megan Donaldson and Chelsea Hay, sent information home with the students about Norris' gift and requested donations. To date, more than $700 has been donated.

Norris has been teaching for a total of 35 years, 33 of which were spent at Grantsville Elementary. Her mother and her aunt were also teachers. In addition, her replacement, Kathy Bittinger, who currently teaches third grade at Grantsville, is one of Norris' cousins.

"That means there are three generations of teachers," Norris noted.

In the beginning, Norris didn't have any intentions of being a teacher. However, when she was in the 10th grade at Mount Savage, her mother taught first grade there. At one point, her mother needed to attend meetings and had no one to cover her classroom. The school administration agreed to let her daughter fill in.

"They pulled me out of my high school classes, and it was anywhere from half an hour to half a day," Norris said. "I thought it was fun, and was surprised to find that I did like teaching."

She got her degree at Frostburg and started her teaching career at Kitzmiller, which is also where her mother began hers. In the fall of 1977, she started teaching at Grantsville. Although she taught first grade for a time, most of her career has been spent leading a kindergarten classroom.

"I'm proud of the fact that there was never a child I couldn't stand," she said. "I may not have loved them all in the same way, but I found a way to love each child."

Norris noted that her husband of 34 years is retiring at the same time, and first on their agenda is a trip to Texas in October for the National Skeet Association's world shoot. They will also plan to visit family and friends in the area.

"We may possibly go on a mission trip, too," Norris said. "We have no set plans, but we're exploring the possibility. If someone needs help, we want to help."

The couple also plan to work on their own house and complete projects that they haven't had time to do.

"We won't be sitting still," Norris said.

In addition, they will spend time with their family, which includes three children and one grandchild. Another grandchild is expected to arrive next month.

Norris' favorite part of her long career has been the hugs.

"I love my hugs," she said. "I feel privileged that here in Grantsville I can hug the children and they hug me. No one thinks there's anything wrong with that. That's the love that I have received."

Another highlight of her career has been experiencing the joy of watching the children when the realization hits that they can actually read on their own.

Norris is thankful that she was able to continue teaching in this area throughout her entire career.

"I realize how blessed I have been to teach in a school like this," Norris said. "Garrett County is one of the best areas, and Grantsville is one of the best schools. I have received more from the families than I have given."

Let's Get Down To Business!

Miriam Sincell, Esquire

A new law practice has opened and is ready for business in Oakland. It is owned and operated by Miriam Sincell, Esq., and is located on the corner of South 2nd and Center streets, in the law office building of Stover & Sherbin. Her practice will focus on legal services in areas of family law such as divorce, custody, and domestic violence, and some criminal law. She will consider other legal areas.

What makes this law practice different from others? According to Sincell, a flexible fee scale and her own determination to increase not only local awareness of legal rights, but also understanding and access to the legal system.

"I consider it of vital importance that all members of our community have access to the justice system for protection of their legitimate rights," she said.

She practiced this passion during her years at the University of Richmond School of Law. There, she worked on numerous poverty law projects with legal aid organizations which focused on housing, domestic violence, employment, and foster care.

Sincell also volunteered with many service organizations. She was a key player in the Street Law Program, in which she directed law students to teach inner-city youth about relevant legal issues. She was also an active member in the Child Health Advocacy Program, where she helped to bring legal assistance to needy patients at the VCU Children's Hospital. Her activities won her the Oliver W. Hill Student Pro Bono Award given by the Virginia Bar Association.

Sincell hopes to continue serving the community through her law practice. She will consider client income to determine reduced fees in most civil matters. She also hopes to work with local service organizations to hold legal education sessions for anyone associated with those groups, whether clients or employees.

"Examples would be working with an organization's employees who need training on new laws that will ultimately affect their own clients," said Sincell. "Or, providing legal education seminars for community members and families focusing on, say, custody issues, or landlord-tenant disputes." Sincell notes that such seminars are focused only on giving legal information, not legal advice. "Parties interested in receiving free legal advice need to be on the lookout for the Garrett County Bar Association's Law Day."

Sincell is a 2002 graduate of Southern High School, a 2006 graduate of Bucknell University, and a 2009 graduate of the University of Richmond School of Law. She serves as the chair of the Garrett County Bar Association's Pro Bono Committee, which focuses on improving legal access for low-income members of the community. She is the daughter of Ben and Beverly Sincell of Oakland.

For more information or to contact Sincell, persons may reach her by phone at 301-616-2547 or by e-mail at miriam.sincell@gmail.com.

Crawford's lecture is titled "Women and Leadership."

The judge was born in Pittsburgh, Pa., the daughter of Joan Crawford, Deep Creek Lake, and the late Bill Crawford. She earned a bachelor of arts degree in history from Bucknell University in 1969. From 1969 to 1974, Crawford taught history and coached women's interscholastic field hockey, basketball, and lacrosse teams at Radnor High School in Radnor, Pa.

She attended the New England School of Law in Boston, Mass., from 1974 to 1977. There she was elected president of the Student Bar Association, and graduated with honors.

Crawford began her legal career in 1977 with the Oakland law firm of Burnett, Eiswert, and Crawford. From 1978 to 1980, she served as assistant state's attorney for Garrett County.

She relocated in 1981 to the Washington, D.C., area to join the Reagan administration in the Defense Department, and in 1983 was appointed by President Ronald Reagan to the position of general counsel of the Department of the Army. She served as special counsel to Secretary of Defense Richard B. (Dick) Cheney from August to November of 1989.

In November 1989 she was nominated by President George H.W. Bush and confirmed by the United States Senate to serve as inspector general of the Department of Defense.

GARRETT COOPERATIVE MINISTRY SUPPORTS DOVE CENTER – Garrett Cooperative Ministry recently made an additional $3,000 contribution to the Dove Center's Capital Campaign, bringing its total donation to the project up to $13,000. The money will be used toward the construction of a new shelter and counseling facility. The Dove Center is Garrett County's independent non-profit agency formed to advocate for and provide assistance to victims of domestic violence. It also serves as Garrett County's rape crisis center. Now serving more than 500 clients per year, the agency has outgrown its current facilities. Property has been purchased, and grant money is being pursued. Money raised locally will serve as required matching funds for those grants. Individuals interested in contributing may send donations to Dove Center Capital Campaign, PO Box 402, Oakland MD, 21550. Garrett Trails To Present "Taste Of Garrett County," "Race Up The Face"

Garrett Trails will present the eighth annual "A Taste of Garrett County" fundraiser on Monday, May 17, from 6 to 9 p.m. at the Lodge at Wisp Resort in McHenry. Sales of entry wristbands will begin at 5 p.m.

"Come out and sample new dishes and classic favorite food and beverages prepared, produced, and served by local businesses," said Oakland mayor and Garrett Trails secretary Peggy Jamison. "There is no easier way to support local business as well as the construction and maintenance of the outstanding network of quality hiking and biking trails in Garrett County."

In addition to food, the event will feature door prizes, entertainment by Jonny Rock, and a cash bar.

Admission cost is $25 per person and will entitle each guest to 10 tickets to "spend" on food at vendors of one's choice. Cost for children age 12 and under will be $15 (also for 10 tickets). Additional food tickets will also be available for sale at the event. There will be no pre-sales of tickets this year.

A few changes have been made to the format of this year's event to help Garrett Trails give back to the restaurants and community that have contributed to the fundraiser in the past.

"We're excited about this new format," Garrett Trails president Steve Green said. "It will help make this a sustainable event moving forward and positions us to grow the event and show off Garrett County. It is important to help restaurants recoup some of their costs."

When talking about the importance of the Taste of Garrett, Green noted, "While there is money out there for construction of trails there is very little money for planning. Most counties and municipalities have paid staff that takes care of this planning that Garrett County being a rural county does not, so it has been a struggle, but the Taste of Garrett has helped us to overcome this hurdle."

As a addition to the Taste of Garrett County, Garrett Trails is also introducing the inaugural "Race Up The Face," a race up a black diamond ski trail at Wisp Resort.

While it is being called "the world's hardest 400 meter run," participants may also walk the distance. Prizes will be awarded to the fastest male and female, as well as the youngest and oldest competitors.

"The real reward will be bragging rights for the rest of their lives," said local runner and Garrett Trails volunteer Bob Stephens.

The Race Up the Face will begin a half hour before the Taste of Garrett at 5:30 p.m. Registration is at 5 p.m. The race will be an informal event, with a $5 registration fee, but participants are encouraged to sign up sponsors.

Prizes will be given for those who raise $25, $50, and $100 levels. The highest fundraiser will also receive a $75 gift certificate to Savage River Lodge.

Persons interested in signing up for the event may pick up applications at the Adventuredports Center International, Savage River Lodge, the Adventure Sports Institute at Garrett College, Think Outside, or High Mountain Sports.

The application may also be downloaded at www.adventuresportscenter.com or at www.GarrettTrails.org. For more information, persons may call Matt Taylor at 301-387-6250.

portant that parents question their children carefully to find out if they had contact with the mercury," Glotfelty said, "and if so to contact the health department at 301-334-7700 immediately."

Dr. Wendell Teets, Garrett County superintendent of schools, indicated that the school system is currently conducting a thorough investigation of the incident and appropriate actions will be taken.

"I appreciate the cooperation and teamwork of the health department in working with us through this situation," the superintendent said. "With the assistance of MDE and AEG Environmental, our cleanup company, we will assure the school will be cleaned and safe for the return to school."

The primary areas of concern at Southern High School are the boys' restrooms near the vocational-agriculture section and near the gym, as well as the following teachers' rooms: Tom Powers, Loren Bowser, Kathleen Doyle, Athena Wilson, and Harry Biggs.

Parents of students who may have been in those areas after 1 p.m. Wednesday are encouraged to place the child's shoes in a garbage bag and drop them off at Southern High School's office as soon as possible. Shoes will be accepted Thursday from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Friday 8 a.m. to noon. The bags are to be labeled with name, phone number, and address, and the shoes will be checked for mercury residue.

"Typically, low-level exposure to mercury leads to no lasting health effects and treatment is not needed," Glotfelty said. "A single, small exposure is not likely to cause delayed or long-term effects. Mercury does not cause a chemical burn, and washing the exposed skin with soap and water should remove any residual liquid mercury."

Staff from the health department and the high school will be available at Southern High School on Thursday and Friday morning to answer questions. For more information, persons may call the health department at 301-334-7700.

Credit is Due...

While this column is utilized from time to time to slam our county commissioners for their various actions or inactions, there are other times that it is used to give them credit when it is due. Their decision to maintain the property tax rate at 99 cents per $100 of assessed value is, under current economic conditions, probably the absolute best that they can do in order to try to at least maintain current services.

Yes, because of an increase in some property assessments and development, the county's tax base has grown such that the 99 cents will generate an additional estimated $2.2 million this coming fiscal year. That's a lot of money to most of us as individuals, but one must consider the fact that the county has lost in just the past two years over $5 million from the state in highway user funds alone. There are other major financial threats looming over the next few years, such as the state getting closer and closer to passing the cost of the state teachers' pension plan down to local governments, as noted this week by Commissioner Fred Holliday.

The floundering economy hits home for most of us, as individual families continue to struggle to make ends meet. However, the economic downturn has hit all levels of government as well – federal, state, county, and municipal. The current Garrett County commissioners have, in general, demonstrated sound fiscal management over the past several years. They have generally been frugal and have displayed good vision, which is why our current funding situation is not far worse than it is. There are thousands of towns and counties, not to mention a number of states, that are on the verge of bankruptcy.

Developing a county budget during such lean times is extremely difficult. Where do we make major cuts? To the education of our children? To the maintenance of our roads? To police protection? To fire departments and rescue squads? These represent the bulk of the county budget. Many of those who protest tax increases have never had to sit in the commissioners' chairs.

It is also recognized that property owners around Deep Creek Lake, unfortunately, get hammered with county taxes each year, and that a number of them are only part-time residents who have no children in our school system and do not utilize many of the services of the county. However, high assessments/high taxes come with the territory with highly valued properties. It is no different for owners of waterfront/resort area property everywhere else in the country.

Is there waste in county government? Most likely, just as there is in family and business budgets. But is there waste that amounts to millions or even hundreds of thousands of dollars in Garrett County's budget? Doubtful.

To the Editor:

Thank you very much for the impassioned editorial of March 25 regarding the rape of Eagle Rock by Constellation Energy. Having viewed the site twice since the devastation has begun, I agree and share your outrage.

Evil, corrupt politicians at every level of government, along with their deficient appointees, do the bidding of their corporate masters time and again, in complete disregard of the people's will. Not only do the voices of communities like ours go unheard, but they are held in contempt by the very ones charged with protecting them. And so the incivility grows as a small group of concerned citizens commence with legal and other actions against neighbors, contractors, billion-dollar corporations, and their very own government agencies.

To address the utter lack of understanding exhibited in Mr. Detrick's letter to the editor in today's (4/20/10) Cumberland Times-News, do some research that is not sponsored by wind industry. You will learn that industrial wind plants are a complete scam on the taxpayers and the utility rate payer.

Lastly, I must take exception to Lord Pagenhardt's crass characterization of our beautiful county which appeared in the Sun recently. Garrett County is somewhere!

Very truly yours,
Kim Connaughton

It is with sincere gratitude that I recognize the tireless efforts of Fresh Air Fund volunteers in Western Maryland as the country celebrates National Volunteer Week. Their commitment to helping New York City children is exemplary for all community members and truly embodies the spirit of the 2010 National Volunteer Week theme, "Celebrating People in Action."

Fresh Air volunteers work in several capacities throughout the year in 13 northeastern states and Canada to help make the Fund's programs possible. Caring Fresh Air host families open their homes and share the everyday joys of summertime with their Fresh Air guests.

Our local volunteer leaders – many of whom are also hosts – serve on our local committees, plan summer activities, publicize the program, and interview prospective host families. Additionally, individuals and businesses give generously of their time and resources to make the Friendly Town host family program throughout this area a great success each and every summer.

The Fresh Air Fund, an independent, not-for-profit agency, has provided free summer vacations to more than 1.7 million New York City children since 1877. For more information on how you can help to continue this wonderful tradition of volunteering, please call the Fresh Air Fund at 800-367-0003 or go online and visit www.freshair.org.

Here's a big thank-you to our representatives in Annapolis and Washington for the hard work they've been doing on our behalf – to Mikulski and Cardin for the grant money and jobs provided for the Cherry Glade Road project, and to Edwards and Beitzel for the nurse practitioner bill and the many others that will help our county.

Giving credit where it is due, I would also like to point out that the current administration and Congress have also passed bills that will help Garrett County citizens. These include the stimulus package (providing money for projects and jobs), unemployment insurance extensions, tax breaks to individuals and companies, and more.

There is a pervasive fear in this county that the government is just taking and not giving back. This fear is harmful to us all. I think it would be helpful if every newspaper in the country would publish – on the front page – just what current bills have been passed. This would educate the public and benefit all – maybe selling more newspapers. Having information clearly provided by responsible sources would help allay fears and increase a spirit of cooperative citizenship, knowing more about how to vote and feeling more inclined to do so.

People have fears regarding the health care bill because they don't understand it or know the benefits to Marylanders. Senator Mikulski's office sent me information, by my request, and I am happy with what I see. The new law closes the donut hole for seniors, gives coverage to children with pre-existing conditions, provides tax breaks to small businesses to help cover employees, prohibits lifetime caps on new insurance plans, stops insurers from dropping coverage when one gets sick, allows children to stay on their parents' policies until they are 26, and will in time provide coverage for people with pre-existing conditions. Reform should save Marylanders $1 billion over the next 10 years, provides preventive services with no co-pay to 700,000 seniors, makes health care coverage affordable to 455,000 Marylanders, and adds new consumer protection that will benefit 5.6 million.

Thanks to Senator Mikulski, women who enroll in new plans will have preventive care coverage, such as mammograms, Pap tests, and heart disease check-ups with no co-pays or deductibles. And there's more. If you ever wonder about tax dollars at work, just note how we miss the highway user tax monies right now.

Sincerely,
Cynthia S. Knight

To the Editor:

As economic development professionals in our various communities, our organizations share a common purpose to expand existing businesses, attract new businesses, and create a maximum element of job growth in the region. While each office functions individually and develops its own commerce-driven agenda, we recognize one issue of critical importance to each of our counties and municipalities – the North/South Appalachian Highway.

This main transportation corridor, defined as U.S. 219 North and U.S. 220 South, will provide a commercial connection to the Pennsylvania Turnpike, I-76, and Corridor H in West Virginia, and greatly expand the opportunity to grow any business that depends upon truck transport. The development of a north/south transportation passage, complemented by the existence and proven success of I-68, would serve to create opportunities for business growth and sustainability for our future generations.

In February 2009, the Greater Cumberland Committee, through the unanimous support of their membership, identified the North/South Appalachian Highway as a core economic driver, and publicly declared that its advancement would be the committee's main priority for expanded growth. Those efforts have been enhanced by the support of elected officials at the local, state, and federal levels.

As the year progressed, our development offices joined a growing list of North/South Appalachian Highway Coalition members who are fully engaged in the prospect of revitalizing our communities through the creation of thousands of new jobs. We recognize that the domino effect created by this development is simply staggering.

The realization that economic development "takes a long time" is an understatement in this regard; however, we are approaching this challenge with renewed fervor. Completion of the North/South Appalachian Highway will create a transportation hub for the regional economy, with easy access to surrounding cities, including Baltimore, Washington, D.C., Pittsburgh, and Morgantown. Unquestionably, this critical piece of infrastructure creates a landscape of economic opportunity we are proud to support.

To the Editor:

As the 59th National Day of Prayer is approaching, I ponder its theme, "Prayer for such a time as this." Christian faith has been the moral and spiritual compass for America's government for nearly two and one-half centuries.

We have been privileged and blessed to have had leaders who truly loved the God of the Bible. On June 28, 1787, a motion to have prayer at the Constitutional Convention was debated. It was thought that some might be offended if prayers for God's guidance were offered. Then wise Benjamin Franklin spoke, "I have lived, sir, a long time; and the longer I live, the more convincing proof I see of this truth, that God governs in the affairs of men. And if a sparrow cannot fall to the ground without His notice, is it possible that an empire can rise without His aid?"

Mr. Franklin also asserted, "He who shall introduce into public affairs the principles of primitive Christianity will change the face of the world."

Other great American leaders concurred with this theology, and God blessed America as she grew to be the greatest government in the world.

In this past decade, America has been tested by forces opposed to Judeo-Christian faith, and tried by Americans who disregarded words of our forefathers: "Is it possible that an empire can rise without His aid?" Benjamin Rush, who signed the Declaration of Independence, said, "History shows us that nations as well as individuals are strong only so long as they have faith in God. When they lose that faith they start on a downward path."

Thomas Jefferson – "Can the liberties of a nation be thought secure when we have removed their only firm basis, a conviction in the minds of the people that these liberties are the gift of God?"

Americans must listen to these words and believe that the Lord of our fathers "is good, a stronghold in the day of trouble; He protects those who take refuge in Him." (Nahum 1:7) "If my people, who are called by my Name, shall humble themselves and pray, seek My face, and turn from their wicked ways, then will I hear and forgive their sins, and heal their land." (Chronicles 7:14.

To pass this faith to future generations, people need to pray. Will you pray for our nation and support the principles of America's patriarchs? May 6 is National Day of Prayer.

In God we trust,
Rev. Ross and Linda Glotfelty,
Garrett County National Day of Prayer Coordinators

To the Editor:

Ms. Knight, your assumption is correct. Through absolutely no fault of my own, I was born a white male. Blame my parents for my whiteness, and my father specifically for my maleness.

Much to my chagrin, I was also born naked and penniless, which set my rise to prominence back by at least 25 years. Through years of schooling and labor, I managed to both clothe and feed myself, and oddly, able to convince a bank to lend me money to purchase property.

Thus, I achieved that glorious elite status of white male property owner, along with a sizable mortgage and hideously high payments. Owning property carries with it awesome responsibility, such as paying a ridiculously soaring property tax, wading through a multitude of local and state regulations about what you can do and what you can't do with your very own property, and purchasing insurance so that if an unwelcome, unbidden trespasser is injured on the property, you don't lose it. I'm quite sure the Founders had me in mind when creating the Constitution, as you so generously pointed out, even though I'm fairly certain the Founders had an absurdly simple view of property ownership rights in 1787.

The Founders were far from perfect, but over the last 200 years, the Constitution has been amended numerous times to correct their – what we now realize – myopic view of freedom and rights. What cannot be denied is that they did establish a country based on the principles that all men are free and certain rights cannot be violated by the government, which for the time was extremely radical. You can moan and groan, but the truth is, you, Ms. Knight, have benefited greatly by the foundation that they laid.

Remarkable as it may seem, this foundation has made it possible for you to have your views on where my rights end published in the newspaper. Imagine that!

You see, I cannot fail to notice that, although you are not a white male property owner, you haven't been curtailed from giving the readers of this newspaper the benefit of your somewhat questionable opinions. Be that as it may, this same foundation has made it possible for me to choose to ignore you completely or to proclaim that I and I alone will decide where my rights end, and suffer the consequences, if any, accordingly.

Garrett Plays Role In Preparing Local Teachers For Marathon

by Maney Gale

Running 13.1 miles is rarely on someone's "to-do" list, but it will be the goal of six Garrett County public school teachers from Broad Ford Elementary School this coming Sunday.

Kim Weimer, Amy Flanigan, Annalea Catulle, Amy Burgess, Jessica Fratz, and Tammy Blythe, who call themselves the "Get Off the Couch Girls," will be competing in the More Magazine/Fitness Magazine Women's Half-Marathon in New York City's Central Park.

Garrett College has played a role in preparing these local women for the event through its Train for a Half-Marathon in 15 Weeks, an offering of Continuing Education and Workforce Development, instructed by local personal trainer Jennifer Sober.

The women met once a week on the McHenry campus of GC, and communicated with Sober throughout the week to track and improve their training as distance runners.

The excitement of the weekend will begin Saturday, however, when the six teachers will be interviewed on the The Early Show, Saturday Edition, on CBS Television. After Kim Weimer wrote a letter detailing their training and explaining why they decided to participate in the marathon, The Early Show contacted her for an on-air interview.

The Early Show airs on Saturday mornings from 9 to 11 a.m. ET. Next week's "Garrett College News Beat" in this paper will feature a follow-up story on the local teachers and their race times, personal goals, and New York experiences.

See photos and other information about these teachers on the front page.

The Continuing Education division and Jen Sober will be offering two more running classes over the next few months: Running 101: Discovering Your Movement Potential; and Forward Moving: Discovering, Maintaining, and Increasing Your Running Potential. Both classes are designed for all levels of runners, from non-runners to accomplished marathoners. Interested persons may contact Maney Gale at 301-387-3086 or online at maney.gale@garrettcollege.edu.

Tragedy Averted By Actions Of Former GC Truck Driving Student

by Melissa Parker

What could have resulted in a very tragic situation turned out to be a less serious accident last month when Tobby Durst, former Garrett College Mountaintop Truck Driving (MTDI) student, put his coal truck into an embankment to avoid a serious collision with another vehicle along Route 160 in Callimont Borough, Pa., according to a report in the Daily American newspaper.

A witness of the accident told the newspaper that it was Durst's alertness and ability to control his truck that kept him from hitting the car broadside, which he believed would have made the accident much worse.

Because of Durst's efforts, the truck collided only with the front of the vehicle. Still, two people in the car sustained injuries and were transported to the hospital after the collision, but according to reports in the Daily American, they appeared to be doing well shortly after the accident.

The witness told the paper that Durst was "almost like a hero, what he did with that big truck."

Durst received his MTDI training in 2007-2008. According to Terry Beachy, MTDI director, Durst was an excellent student who excelled during his time in the program.

"Certainly, Tobby received training that helped him prepare for a career in trucking and gave him the skills to handle all types of situations while on the road," said Beachy.

Students in Garrett's MTDI program get that same quality training on a daily basis. In fact, the college is currently accepting applications for the next series of courses geared toward training individuals to obtain a Class A, commercial driver's license. The training is all-inclusive, offering classroom, range skills, and over-the-road training.

"Within a matter of weeks, graduates are on the road reaping the rewards of the trucking industry," said Beachy.

The next training will begin May 10. The program consists of 320 hours of training, provided over 15 weeks.

This will be the last training program that will be offered through the credit division of Garrett College. What this means for students is that after May 10, there will no longer be Pell grants and Stafford student loans available to assist with tuition and fees for the MTDI program. Pell grants are based on financial need and do not require repayment. Stafford loans must be repaid, but have a six-month deferment period before repayment begins.

After May 10, the same quality of program will continue to be offered, but in an abbreviated format over 30 days, focusing mainly on hands-on training. Thus, the weekday training will be 7½ weeks in duration, and the weekend training will be over 15 weekends. There is still the potential for local job services to offer financial assistance to students attending the training.

For additional information or to register for the course while federal funding is still available, persons may contact Beachy at 301-895-4700 or online at terrry.beachy@garrettcollege.edu.

my income tax."

He asked the commissioners to not "chase people away."

Karen Ray, Mtn. Lake Park, said she and her husband were, indeed, talking about moving out of the area.

"When I saw in the paper that taxes were going up, I just about died," she said.

Ray said she and her husband each work two minimum wage jobs. She noted that one of her jobs is contract based and may end soon.

"I'll lose my insurance; I'll lose my benefits," Ray said.

She added that five of her neighbors are also talking about moving to West Virginia or somewhere else because of the high cost of living here.

"We're having a hard time making ends meet already," Ray said. "With taxes going up, we can't afford to live where we do."

She asked the commissioners to consider not increasing taxes as much because people making minimum wage cannot afford them.

"We can't do it; we don't make a nice wage," she said.

James Stanton, Oakland, said he knew the commissioners have a tough job, as unemployment is still very high and revenue coming into the county has slowed. But, he noted, taxpayers cannot afford continual increases.

"Please work the budget to see if you can knock it down some more," Stanton asked the commissioners.

Commissioner Fred Holliday outlined some of the difficulties in preparing the new budget and its lack of revenue. In FY 2008, for example, the county received $5.5 million from the state's highway user funds. In FY '10, however, the county was only allocated $223,000.

"That sure ate up that $2.2 million real fast," Holliday said. "This 2011 budget is our toughest."

He noted that all county departments submitted new budgets that were at or below this year's

In addition, the FY '11 budget is $15.7 million lower than FY '10, county employees will not receive raises, 16 employees who plan to retire on June 30 will not be replaced, and no major equipment purchases are planned.

While the FY '11 budget process was tough, Holliday said the FY '12 one has him "scared." He noted that during the recent General Assembly session, lawmakers did not pass the cost of the state teachers' pension plan down to local governments, perhaps because it is an election year.

"But I'll guarantee you that next year, we're going to get that, and I don't know where we're going to get the money from to do that," Holliday said.

The commissioners held a informational meeting on the constant yield tax rate and proposed FY '11 budget on Tuesday evening at Garrett College for residents who could not attend the morning session. Three members of the Garrett County Board of Education and two members of the general public attended the evening event.

The commissioners will set the county's FY '11 real property tax rate on Tuesday, June 1, at 11 a.m. in their meeting room at the courthouse. The new fiscal year budget will also be presented at that time. FY '11 begins on July 1, 2010.

A draft of the budget is available online at garrettcounty.org for constituents to review. Anyone interested in receiving a copy of the proposed budget may contact the county administrator or Department of Financial Services.

LIONS CONDUCT VISION SCREENING – Members of the Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club recently conducted free vision screening at local Head Start centers and privately operated day care centers. Through a combined effort of all local Lions Clubs, a $5,000 instrument called a Welch-Allyn Sure Sight Vision Screener was purchased. It is used primarily to detect amblyopia (lazy eye), which is the leading cause of monocular blindness in North America for persons under age 70. However, if risk factors can be detected by age 4, 95% of patients can have their vision saved. Pictured above, Lion Porter Welch uses the vision screener on a youngster who is enrolled in the Crellin School Head Start program. Any organization or day care facility operator interested in obtaining this testing may telephone Welch at 301-334-4180.

GOP Women Hold Annual Spring Meeting

The Maryland Federation of Republican Women (MFRW) annual spring board of directors meeting was hosted by the Montgomery County Federation of Republican Women (MCFRW). The two-day meeting was chaired by president Ruth Umbel, a native and resident of Garrett County. Four members of the Northern and Southern Garrett County clubs joined Republican women from across Maryland as they developed plans to "Win in 2010!"

The two-day meeting began with a series of workshops focusing on broadening the base by recruiting new voters in underrepresented areas of the state, precinct and grassroots organization, and ways to combine the group's Caring for America charitable efforts with supporting U.S. troops.

That evening, MFRW members and their guests gathered to salute the Republican Women's Club of Frederick County on its 90th anniversary. Congressman Roscoe Bartlett presented club president Dorothy Kelly with an engraved plaque. After that, attendees heard from about 20 Republican candidates from national, state, and local races. Emcee Md. GOP chair and MFRW member Audrey Scott encouraged everyone to choose their candidate(s) and volunteer so Republicans can be elected as governor, senator, congressmen, and state and local legislators.

Governor Robert Ehrlich brought the crowd to its feet as the guest speaker for the Saturday luncheon. He shared his views on how Maryland can be better for citizens, businesses, and future generations. He thanked the federation for its support in the past and asked for its help to restore some balance to the state legislature and the office of governor.

"We are fired up and ready to work to get Republicans elected in 2010," said Umbel. "There are so many great candidates, including many of our members. Our emphasis this year is Victory in 2010!"

The Maryland Federation of Republican Women is a member of the National Federation of Republican Women, headquartered in Arlington, Va., with organizations in all 50 states and U.S. territories. For more information about Garrett County clubs, persons may call 301-387-4026 (Southern club) or 301-687-1055 (Northern club).

EGLON MOUNTAINEERS
by reporter

Fifteen members and eight adults met on April 12 to clean the grounds of the Farmers' Wildlife Park with the help of Keith Winters before their regular meeting. "A Call to Prayer" was the theme for devotions given by the conservation committee: Jonathan Blamble, Chad Vandevender, and Matthew Rinker. Sierra Evans led the pledges. Jackie Blamble, health chairperson, talked about dog safety. Members were asked to bring in items for a first aid kit for use by the club.

Those collecting pop tabs for Ronald McDonald House were asked to keep track of the weight, and also keep count of the number of Campbell Soup labels and Box Tops for Education collected for Aurora School.

Members learned that some items of trash, such as table scraps, paper, leather, and cigarette butts, can take up to 40 years to decompose, while plastic bags, disposable diapers, plastic grocery bags can take from 25 to 1,000 years. Americans produce 670,000 tons of trash per day and 4.3 pounds per person per day; 2.5 million bottled drinks are disposed of every hour. Americans need to learn to recycle trash, not litter, and buy recyclable packaging and products made from recycled materials, use less of everything, and repurpose as much as possible before throwing it away, as a legacy to the coming generations.

County 4-H Day will be held on May 1, which includes a Dog Skill-a-thon, a 4-H Art Display, Engineering Challenge, and on Extemporaneous/Impromptu Speaking Contest along with the regular public speaking and visual presentation events. First Year Member Weekend Camp is May 7 and 8. Members were encouraged to attend and participate in these two events. Members took picnic table raffle tickets to raise money for 4-H camps this summer. The table was donated by Terri Funk, county assessor,

The date chosen to pick up trash along the Eglon Road was April 21, with rain dates being April 26 or 28. The group will assemble at 6:30 a.m. at the Eglon Memorial Building. Members should come prepared to do some dirty work.

Talks were given by Wesley Spaid: "Ear Notching and Marking a Hog," Chad Vandevender: "Livestock Projects I Have Taken," Danielle Blamble: "My Goat Project," and Samantha Chambers: "A 6 Easy Bites Activity on TV Commercials." The following demonstrations were given: "Equipment used for showing hogs" by Wesley and "Making Pizza Bites" by Danielle Blamble, who passed out samples for tasting.

Members attending were Savannah Arnett, Danielle and Jonathon Blamble, Derek and Samantha Chambers, Sierra Evans, Trevor Lipscomb, Tyler Pomeroy, Alex and Matthew Rinker, Jesse Schalker, Wesley Spaid, Brooke Uphold, and Chad and Sydnee Vandevender.

MAKING AN OBSERVATION
Ear infections, usually occurring in the middle ear, are the most common illness suffered by infants and children. Known as "otitis media," they lead to "otitis media with effusion" when there is a buildup of fluid and mucus in the tubes of the middle ear. Otitis media causes severe pain and may result in serious complications (such as permanent hearing loss) if left untreated. For these reasons, parents of affected children usually insist on antibiotic treatment; however, it has been found that the infection usually clears up without antibiotic treatment. Thus, doctors may recommend an "observation option," which calls for children age two and over who are otherwise healthy to be observed for a short period before antibiotics are prescribed.
Because communication is a vital part of our world no matter what our age, we'll do all we can to promote healthy hearing for all members of your family. At AUDIBEL, we'll start with a comprehensive hearing test and evaluation to determine the best course of action to follow. If a hearing impairment is detected, we'll use all our knowledge and experience to match the correct instrument with your abilities in order to make the most of the hearing you do have.
P.S. Parents of children with ear infections should bear in mind that "observation" is different from "no treatment."

TOM HARMON

Pleasant View Baptist Church will host special services featuring the preaching ministry of Tom Harmon from Owosso, Mich., this Sunday, April 25, through Wednesday, April 28, at 6:30 p.m. Harmon's messages will be taken from Psalm 19.

"Tom will blend scripture, personal experience, and passion as he communicates the scriptures," said a church spokesperson. "Tom grew up in a Christian home and placed his faith in Jesus Christ at an early age."

He attended Northern Michigan University on a four-year, "full-ride" athletic scholarship and played college football for four years. Harmon graduated with a bachelor of science degree and went to work for the Michigan State Police. He worked as a Michigan state trooper for 11 years.

In 1984, Harmon left police work and went into fulltime gospel ministry. He was pastor of a small church north of Lansing, Mich., for four years and then went into fulltime itinerant preaching and has traveled all over the United States.

Harmon has been speaking in churches, camps, and Bible conferences for the past 23 years. He travels with his wife Joyce, whom he has been married to for 43 years. They have four children and seventeen grandchildren.

The public is invited to attend Harmon's services. Pleasant View Baptist church is located two miles south of Oakland along Rt. 219. For more information, persons may call 301-334-8515.

The births of two babies were announced this week, both boys.

A son, Jeffery Tyler Landon, was born to Marina Fink and Jeffery Landon, Oakland, on April 13 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

A son, Julius Gibson Moul, was born to Tiffine Ann Moul and Joseph-Lee Gibson Moul, Terra Alta, W.Va., on April 9 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Adorable Adoptables

AT THE GARRETT COUNTY ANIMAL SHELTER this week are several pets that were given up by their owners. Those include a male Rottweiler mix, a female longhaired feline in need of a good grooming, a male white/gray cat, and a nice medium size female collie mix, below. Also available are an active young black Lab mix and several other dogs and cats. "Kitten season is here; if you have not had your cats spayed or neutered, now is the time," said a Humane Society spokesperson. "Cats can have three litters a year, and that is too many, since there are so many homeless cats already. If your cat has had kittens, bring her in when the kittens are 6-8 weeks old and the Humane Society, PAWS, or HART can help you get her 'fixed' before she has another unwanted litter. Remember, if you have a pet, please be responsible for its health and care." For more information, persons may call the shelter at 301-334-3553. Located along Oakland Sang Run Road, the facility is open Monday through Friday.

Lakeside Assembly of God is located along Rt. 219 between Sand Flat and Glendale roads. Inquires may be made by calling 301-387-9242.

IS THERE ANY HOPE?

YES! God loves you!

"For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." John 3:16

In these uncertain times, there is hope, peace and comfort in Jesus Christ, God's Son. All of these are found in His Word, the Bible.

However, you must understand what God's Word teaches us about sin and salvation.

SIN:

"For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God;" Romans 3:23
"As it is written, there is none righteous, no, not one: There is none that understandeth, there is none that seeketh after God." Romans 3:10-11

When Adam disobeyed God's command, he died spiritually and plunged the whole human race into sin. Mankind is in a lost condition without Christ. You are condemned to a lake of fire when you die.

"And whosoever was not found written in the book of life was cast into the lake of fire." Revelation 20:15

SALVATION:

Jesus loves you and His love reaches beyond your sin. He loved you even before you were born.

"But God commendeth his love, toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us." Romans 5:8

Christ died upon a cross for you so that you would not burn in the lake of fire. He died so that you could be saved forever. He paid the penalty for your sins.

"For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord." Romans 6:23

You must repent of your sins and receive Christ as your Savior. Read what God says in His Word:

"That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation... For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved." Romans 10:9-10, 13

Today, if you would like to be receive Christ as your Savior, just bow your head and pray this simple prayer:

God, I know that I am a sinner. I now repent of my sins and ask you to come into my heart and life and save me. In Jesus Name I pray. Amen.

If you prayed this prayer, we would like to hear from you and send you further information on the Christian life.

Another New Beginning In Store For Mtn. Laurel Medical Center

by Cathy Paine, Mtn. Laurel Medical Center board chair

As we spring into spring we witness the rebirth of flowers and trees and celebrate new life. Another celebration is occurring at Mountain Laurel Medical Center.

The relocation to our new building at 1027 Memorial Drive provides the opportunity and capacity to increase access to care, and we are celebrating with an open house on Friday, April 30, from noon to 6 p.m. This event is for each of you in the community to give you the opportunity to see who we are and what your community health center is all about.

Mountain Laurel Medical Center is one of many community health centers across the country, funded in part by the Health Resources Services Administration. For more than 40 years, HRSA-supported health centers have provided comprehensive, culturally competent, quality primary health care services to medically underserved communities and vulnerable populations with a proven track record of success.

Health centers are community-based and patient-directed organizations. Because health centers provide access to quality, cost-effective, affordable primary and preventive health care to all people who need it, we provide the same quality care to all regardless of economic or insured status.

Health centers provide comprehensive primary health care services as well as supportive services that promote access to health care. Specifically, Mountain Laurel Medical Center employs a patient advocate to help patients navigate systems and obtain necessary services to meet their health care needs.

In addition, health centers must meet other performance and accountability requirements regarding administrative, clinical, and financial operations, ensuring the delivery of high quality service to everyone in the community.

An essential and distinguishing element of the Health Center Program is governance by and for the people served. Health centers must have a governing body that assumes full authority and oversight responsibility for the health center.

AWARD RECIPIENT INITIALLY NOMINATED BY LOCAL – Gary W. Croston of Clarysville was recently recognized as "Servant Leader of the Year" by the United Methodist Association of Health and Welfare Ministries (UMA) during its 70th year national convention at Burlingame, Calif. Croston is employed at Burlington United Methodist Family Services, where he serves as a chief financial officer, and was nominated by Connie Williams Trickett of Oakland. Trickett serves as the chairperson of Burlington United Methodist Family Services Inc., and said of Croston, "We are indeed privileged at BUMFS to have Gary as an employee. He stands as a model to other employees, and is indeed a team player... He exemplifies Wesleyan's Way of Living." The selection for this national award is based on one's "humble and caring nature" and one who "demonstrates a willingness to place the needs of others ahead of their own," noted Trickett. Croston was among individual staff members and volunteers from children, youth, and family service organizations, continuing care retirement communities, community service ministries, hospitals and healthcare systems, and connectional units of the United Methodist Church receiving the top awards at the UMA "Celebration of Excellence" 2010 convention. Pictured above, left to right, are Trickett, Croston, and Alexander Carmichel, interim CEO for Burlington. The United Methodist Association, of which Burlington UMFS is a member, is a national network of approximately 400 healthcare and human service organizations. UMA provides its members with education, accreditation, networking, communication, and business services, while keeping with the historical Wesleyan traditions and practices of the United Methodist denomination. To learn more, persons may visit the web site at www.bumfs.org.

Governance requirements for health centers are addressed in law, regulations, and policies. Health center governing boards must maintain an acceptable size, composition, and meeting schedules and at least 51 percent of the board's members must be patients of the health center.

As the board chair and a patient, I am proud to serve, and I welcome and celebrate the addition of new board members to the health center this year. We have a wonderful opportunity as well as the responsibility to help shape the direction for the delivery of services in the community.

Mountain Laurel Medical Center boasts a solid staff committed to ensuring that each patient is greeted cheerfully and respectfully and that each patients needs are met. The provider team includes Dr. Barbra Burkett, Danny Moon, NP, Laurel Grant, NP, and Barbara Monn, PA.

They are led by medical director Dr. Donald Richter, who inspires the staff and demonstrates his compassion and genuine concern for both patients and the staff. He has the responsibility of leading the clinical development of this health center.

"I am excited about the opportunity to work in a local community health center and coordinate some patient education and care issues with other local organizations and individuals so that we can succeed in providing better care to many local people," Dr. Richter said. "I am enthusiastic about my affiliation with Mountain Laurel Medical Center, and because of our community health center status and our sliding scale, I have been able to take care of some patients for a minimum cost to them so that they are able to return and get the appropriate medical care and follow-up needed. This is a wonderful opportunity, and I am very happy about our ability to grow and provide this needed care to our community."

Developing additional services at Mountain Laurel Medical Center is based on community need; we are always listening for feedback from the community.

Beginning Saturday, May 1, Mountain Laurel Medical Center will expand the morning hours to begin to see patients at 7:30 a.m. in an effort to accommodate workers in the community. We hope this expanded opportunity will be beneficial to the employee and the employer.

And because Mountain Laurel Medical Center offers a sliding fee discount and other options to pay for health care services to the uninsured and underinsured, we believe this can support businesses both large and small that provide limited insurance coverage or in some cases, no coverage at all. Healthy employees are productive employees.

The extended early morning hours also provide an opportunity for parents to bring their children for care without disrupting the school day. And last, Mountain Laurel Medical Center is in active negotiations to preserve the delivery of obstetrical care in the county.

Come and see for yourself at the open house just what Mountain Laurel Medical Center is all about and how they may be able to meet your health care needs. There will be food, music, door prizes, and health and physical educational activities for everyone throughout the day. Join us in celebrating this new building and new opportunities. See you then.

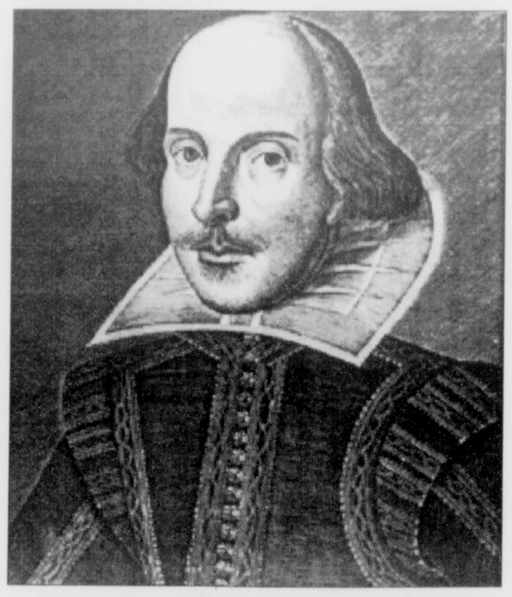
Shakespeare Born, Died April 23

TA Resident Pursues Honorary U.S. Citizenship For The Bard



Editor's note: William Shakespeare was born and died on April 23. Don Stump, the writer of the following article, believes that because of the tremendous influence by the most famous English bard, he should be made an honorary citizen of the United States, something which has been bestowed on only seven individuals in history. Stump, who is a resident of Terra Alta, W.Va., and a custodial employee at Garrett College, sent a letter to W.Va. Congresswoman Shelley Capito with his request, and is awaiting a response.

by Don Stump

I know it is a long shot to have Shakespeare made an honorary U.S. citizen, but I had to try. In truth, he should be an honorary citizen of the world. After all, he made all of us honorary citizens of his.

When I first read the words of Shakespeare, I couldn't believe my eyes. Suddenly, I saw what all the fuss was about. He wrote on themes of love, honor, patriotism, friendship, and the human spirit, things which are not only important to man, but vital to every society.

Combine these with two other things to explain Shakespeare's universality: his unprecedented perception of the depth of human nature and his uncanny ability to make malleable the entire English language. There wasn't a word that he couldn't shape to his will to articulate perfectly the true nature of each of his highly individualized characters.

Add to that two more important factors:

1. Before Shakespeare, literary characters were flat and one-dimensional; the good guy was lily white and the bad guy was pure evil. The Bard changed that. He created heroes with flaws and villains who elicited sympathy. Not only did he give villainy and valor a more realistic depiction, but he also sometimes masterfully blurred the line between the two. No matter how many times you've read it or seen a faithful adaptation, it is difficult to distinguish whether Brutus (from Julius Caesar) is a hero or villain.

2. He wrote for the stage – the stage, where characters magically come alive in glorious, living 3-D. There is something almost treacherous about watching a human tragedy (or comedy) unfold before your eyes, and when you are one among many watching, it becomes downright taboo. And remember, in Shakespeare's day, there were no scene breaks or intermissions – the play ran straight through without interruption, so the audience had no chance to become distracted and could better experience the full effect of the play.

A side note: When Shakespeare wrote, he knew which of his actors would play which roles. With his leading tragedian Richard Burbage in mind for such roles as Hamlet, Othello, Macbeth, and King Lear when he composed them, Shakespeare's work was influenced by the range and skill of Burbage. If he didn't believe that Burbage could have pulled it off, he wouldn't have written them the way he did.

Shakespeare not only created classic characters, but also invented the standard personae by which all others are impossibly measured. It is a testament to the ability and creativity of Mr. Burbage that Shakespeare dug so deeply to flesh out such immortal characters. It is not a stretch to proclaim that for one brief, magical moment in time, the greatest writer and the greatest actor ever collaborated in beautiful, everlasting harmony.

I was prepared for Shakespeare by discovering Hemingway years earlier. He wrote on the same themes as Shakespeare, but in the opposite way. It wasn't what he wrote but what he didn't write that made such an impact.

Hemingway wrote "on the principle of the iceberg. For every part that shows, there is seven-eighths of it under the surface." With his sparse narrative and ping-pong dialogue, he made you think, because even though everything necessary for full comprehension is there, you are still forced to read between the lines.

The legend goes that "Papa" – as he was known to friends – was sitting around with some buddies when one of them foolishly suggested a contest to see who could come up with the best story in the fewest words. Everyone took his turn while Papa patiently waited. When his turn came, the master word economist offered up this priceless gem: "For sale. Baby booties. Never worn." A tale of unbridled hope for a limitless future brought to a crushing end – all with only six words.

For the longest time, Hemingway ruined me for anyone else. His deceptively easy style made it impossible for me to acknowledge, let alone appreciate other

"Joys Of Summer" Exhibit Now On Display At Gallery

The Garrett County Arts Council has announced the opening of the newest display of artwork in the Backroom Gallery. "Joys of Summer" is the title of a collection of oil and mixed media works by member artist Sharon Corbin. The display will be on exhibit, with items for sale, through May 29.

Working in oils, Corbin has been experimenting with abstraction. Her pieces have been described as "feel-good, happy painting."

Soloist Koblish To Be Keynote Speaker At Faith

Soloist and international traveler David Koblish will be the keynote speaker at Faith Evangelical Free Church's 2010 Deeper Life Conference. It is slated for Friday, April 30, through Sunday, May 2, at the church, located in Mtn. Lake Park along Rt. 135.

Kolblish has ministered for more than 35 years, chiefly with his music ministry, "Under His Wings." He noted the name is derived from Psalm 17:8: "Keep me as the apple of the eye; hide me in the shadow of your wings."

Koblish lives in Minneapolis, Minn., where he makes his home with his wife of many years, Linda.

Koblish has given many concerts and crusades in the U.S., and has also often traveled internationally to minister with the International Ministries of the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association.

"David's joyous spirit, combined with vocal artistry, has touched many hearts and lives," said Graham associate Cliff Barrows. "Audiences are blessed and uplifted by his refreshing, easy-listening style."

Most recently Koblish ministered in Nagaland, India, and Santa Catarina, Brazil.

Lauren Libby, the current president of TransWorld Radio, said Koblish is not just an entertainer.

"He is a true minister through whom God's spirit flows freely," Libby said.

While Koblish will provide music during the Deeper Life Conference, his main purpose is to serve as the keynote speaker, organizers said.

Regular sessions at the church will be Friday and Saturday nights at 7 p.m., and there will also be a men's breakfast on Saturday morning at 8 a.m., as well as a ladies' brunch at 11.

Although there is no charge for any part of the conference, the church requests guests make reservations for the breakfast or brunch by calling Faith Evangelical at 301-334-4172.

In addition to the Friday and Saturday activities, on Sunday morning Kolblish will talk at 9:30 a.m. with teenagers and adults about his recent travels, and then he will give the morning message during the 10:45 a.m. service. Child care will be provided for the night and Sunday services.

"I've been blessed to witness David Koblish in ministry several times before," said Jeff Kroll, pastor of Faith Evangelical Free Church. "Whether before a crowd of tens of thousands or a small gathering of people, David's warmth and earnestness comes through, in his singing, in sharing the gospel, and in encouraging believers."

"I love the freedom abstraction offers in that I am not working toward a predetermined result, but allowing the work to evolve as I paint," she said. "People perceive my paintings on personal level, seeing the work totally different than I do, and that is okay. I feel I am successful if my work is aesthetically and emotionally pleasing to the viewer."

In addition to the abstracts, the show features what the artist has named "vistas," showing an expanse of sky in subtly painted landscapes.

She has traveled internationally, and was inspired in Sicily to create a particular painting which was then selected to be on the cover of an art program publication in Morgantown, W.Va.

The Backroom Gallery show will be Corbin's first solo exhibit.

writers. But, like all greats, he paid homage to those who came before. The more I read about the books and writers that he liked, the more I started expanding my mind. Some were his recommendations, some my own discoveries. Inevitably, I was led around to Shakespeare.

I consider myself lucky to have stumbled onto what many scholars believe to be the two most important writers in history. But there are others who have contributed to my love of words, words, words, and I would be remiss if I did not mention them.

I would like to take this opportunity to offer my deepest, sincerest thanks to Noah Webster, Peter Mark Roget, and William Strunk and E.B. White, the greatest teacher/student duo since Plato/Aristotle. I also thank all of my teachers, too numerous to mention, but God knows who they are.

I thank God I had parents who loved to read. My brother said he's never seen anyone who loved to read as much as my mother and me. I can remember, as a little boy, my father reading me Huckleberry Finn as I sat on his lap. But I was already so far advanced by then that I was skipping ahead two or three sentences, and had to wait for him to catch up.

Reading is important, but discernible reading is crucial. There's a reason why the classics have stood the test of time for hundreds and thousands of years. It has been said that Shakespeare created characters more real than actual people.

Hemingway tried to start each story with "one true sentence," and often said that when he wrote a story, he wanted to "make it truer than if it had truly happened."

That is dedication to the craft of writing, which is arguably the most disciplined art form. I thank these two giants and many others for their God-given talents. It is because of them that I look forward to books and devour them with such a shameless lust, and that is the highest tribute I can pay.

Final note: The writer is interested in receiving feedback to his article and/or his idea of pursuing honorary U.S. citizenship for Shakespeare. His e-mail address is donald.stump@garrettcollege.edu.

Lakers Split Doubleheader With Essex Before Sweeping Rockville

After losing 10 of their first 12 games, the Garrett College Lakers have rebounded nicely on the baseball diamond, as they have recorded 14 wins in their last 20 outings.

Three of those wins were gained in a pair of doubleheaders this past week. Coach Eric Hallenbeck's squad split a Maryland JUCO twinbill with visiting Essex CC last Friday, winning the first game, 15-9, and dropping the nightcap, 7-3.

The Lakers took two more JUCO games from Montgomery Rockville on Tuesday at the McHenry campus, 10-4 and 9-2.

Garrett is now even at 16-16 overall, and has an 11-10 mark in conference games.

In Friday's victory over Essex, the Lakers erased a 4-0 lead by the visitors by recording six runs in the bottom of the second inning. After Essex tied it at 6-6 with two runs in the third, Garrett took the lead for good with five runs in the bottom of that inning, and made it 15-6 with four more runs in the fourth.

Cam King led the Lakers at the plate, as he hit a pair of doubles and knocked in five runs. Dan Warnick and Clint Whitman each finished with two singles and two RBI.

Pacing the Knights offensively was Corbin Vickery, who was 3-for-4 with four RBI.

The Lakers held a 2-1 lead in the second game, but Essex added three runs in the fourth and never trailed again.

Charlie Ziolkowski rapped a solo home run and two singles to lead the Knights' 10-hit effort.

Recording a double and a single each for the Lakers were Warnick and Brett Martin, while teammate Tony Mazzolla added a run-producing double.

The Lakers took control early in the first game against Montgomery Rockville on Tuesday, jumping out to a 5-1 advantage in the third inning. Rockville cut the margin to 5-4 with three runs in the top of the fifth, but the Lakers put the game on ice with five runs in the bottom half of the sixth.

Ryan Krumlauf had three of the Lakers' 15 hits, as he tripled, doubled, and singled. Jake Briley stroked an RBI double and two singles, Whitman smacked a home run and finished with four RBI, Will Fisher added a solo homer, and Warnick contributed two singles.

Starter Brian Maxfield and reliever Peter Garcia combined for the win, giving up a total of five hits. Two of those hits were homers by Mike Vivian and Dominic Rumore.

Whitman led the Lakers' 10-hit effort in the second game, rapping a two-run double in the first inning, a two-run round-tripper in the third, and a single in the two-run fourth. Krumlauf hit a double and a single, and Martin singled twice.

Rockville managed just five hits in the second game as well, with Steven Peters and relievers Fisher and Julius Niemand combining for the victory.

The Lakers will be back in action at home this afternoon, hosting Hagerstown in a doubleheader that will begin at 3 p.m.

They will travel to CCBC Dundalk for two games on Saturday, play a pair at Baltimore City CC on Sunday, and entertain Potomac State College in a 3 p.m. single game next Wednesday.

The Garrett College women's softball team controlled Butler from the start in a double-header last Friday to post a 10-5 win in the first game, and a 10-2 victory in the second.

Two runs came from Butler in the opening inning of the first game on Friday, which were answered by four runs from Garrett. The Lakers proceeded to post two runs each in the second, third, and sixth innings for the win, while Butler added one in the second and two in the fifth. Garrett out-hit Butler 11-7 and had zero errors to Butler's five.

In the second game, Garrett scored first with a 3-run second inning. Butler collected two runs in the third, but was answered by two from the Lakers. Garrett then proceeded with one run in the fourth and two runs each in the fifth and sixth for the win.

The 37-year-old McHenry resident clocked a 1:32:59, which was three minutes and 42 seconds faster than her second place time last year.

Oakland's Golf Season Begins With Tourney

The Frostbite/Tough Day Tournament was held Saturday by members of the Oakland Golf Club on the Oakland course.

This is the first event of the year, and features difficult pin placements. A scramble format is used, with contestants allowed to make their own teams, with a modified handicap system.

According to one organizer, the tournament was aptly named considering the cold temperatures and "bone-chilling" winds. There was a chip-off to determine the low gross winners.

Winning low gross with a 67 was the team of Sherwin Teagarden, Bryan Paugh, Justin Liller, and Bryson Paugh. Low net of 63 was won by Jerry House, Jerry Pullias, Jim Zimmerman, and Red Guthrie.

The team of Kurt Lear, Mike Brantner, Josh Lear, and Hunter Mink lost in the chip-off.

Charlie's Angels, the Oakland club's senior men's group, played a team event on Tuesday.

The format was Team Stableford. Participants are allotted one point for a bogey, two for par, three for birdie, and four for eagle, with handicaps considered.

Winning first place with 12 points was the team of Bill Fredlock, Paul Sines, Frenchie Grimm, and Tom Mirras. In second place with 8 points were Ken Metheny, Don Wilkinson, Paul Cotter, and Gordon Wright. Finishing third with 5 points was the team of Jim Hetrick, Ellis "Dish" Cogley, Red Guthrie, and Bob Moran.

Charlie's Angels meet every Tuesday, and new members are welcome to join. Persons are advised to telephone the golf club for tee off times and rates.

Rams Dominate Spartans, Edge Huskies, And Collect Late Victory Over Trojans

The Southern High School varsity boys' baseball team started off its week with a complete 17-6 domination of Bishop Walsh last Friday in Cumberland, and then the Rams managed to edge county-rival Northern, 4-3, after seven innings of close play. Southern then managed a late 5-1 win against Hampshire last night at home after going through seven innings tied, 1-1.

Southern scored two runs in the first inning against Bishop Walsh, and then broke open with an 8-run second. The Spartans collected one run each in the first, second, and third inning, but were still trailing, 13-3 after the third when the Rams posted another three runs. Southern tacked on another four runs in the fourth, and Bishop Walsh answered in the fifth with three runs.

Calvin Hilliard belted a 2-run homer in the first inning, and also had an RBI single. Nathan King smacked a home run in the fourth inning for two runs and provided two singles. Bubba Scheffel had two singles, Ryan Bennett an RBI double and two RBI singles, Cody Myers two singles, and Shane Peck an RBI double in the win.

Cory Helbig was the winning pitcher in four innings for the Rams. He allowed six runs, seven hits, and four walks, and struck out two. King entered for the final inning to strike out one and allow just one hit.

King earned a complete game victory with eight strikeouts and two walks, and hit a home run in the fifth inning to seal the Rams' victory over the Huskies on Monday. He had had two of Southern's four hits, and drove in two runs.

Southern led 1-0 after the first inning, but was then overtaken in the second as the Huskies posted three runs. The Rams answered with two in the bottom of the third to tie it 3-3, and with King's homer in the fifth, sealed the victory.

Northern was led by starter Steven Holtschneider's single in the third, which drove in two of three runs. He had seven strikeouts and five walks in the loss.

Against Hampshire last night, the first four innings were scoreless, and the Trojans got the first run on the board at the top of the fifth inning, when Blake Saville doubled, took third on a bunt, and scored on a passed ball.

The Rams didn't get their first run until the bottom of the seventh inning, which tied the game 1-1 to force it into an extra inning. Bennett singled and scored the tying run on Christian Glotfelty's sacrifice fly.

Hilliard began with a triple in the bottom of the eighth inning. Two consecutive walks followed to load the bases, and Bennett belted a walkoff grand slam to bring all runners home.

The Rams' Shane Peck had two singles and winning pitcher Jeremy Sharpless out-dueled Hampshire's Caleb Hill by striking out 10, allowing five hits, and three walks. Hill, who had two doubles, gave up six hits and struck out three.

Southern was also victorious in the junior varsity contest, defeating Hampshire 6-4. Nathan Dick, Scott Bittinger, and Derek Getson had two hits each to lift the Ram jayvees, who are now 6-1. Dick had a double and single, Bittinger two singles and an RBI, and Getson two singles.

Leading Hampshire was Matt Maires who hit a double and single, while Josh Crawford had three singles.

Southern, now 9-2 overall and 7-2 in the AMAC, is scheduled to host Mtn. Ridge tomorrow, Fort Hill on Monday, and Frankfort on Wednesday, with game times at 4:30 p.m.

NHS Plays Two Games For Short Week; Defeats BW, Drops To SHS

There wasn't much action for the Northern High School varsity boys' baseball team this past week as the Huskies played two games, winning one and falling in the other.

Northern scored late in Thursday's game against Bishop Walsh, but overcame a 3-run deficit in the final two innings to defeat the Spartans, 7-3. The Huskies went on to fall, 4-3, to county-rival Southern on Monday for the second match-up of the season. See other story for details of the Southern game.

Bishop Walsh built a 3-0 lead after four innings, and held onto it through the fifth before Northern answered with three runs in the sixth and four in the seventh. The Huskies were outhit by the Spartans, 11-6, but steered clear of any errors. Hampshire had one error in the goal," said Weimer.

There really should be something in-between.

"We are also in the process of organizing a school wide one-mile run/walk with the support of our county health department, in order to promote a healthy, active lifestyle, and we encourage only healthy snacks to be brought into our classrooms."

Weimer noted that their principal, Suzie Sincell, has also been supportive of their endeavor, and will be in New York this weekend to join them for their CBS interview and to cheer them on during the race.

"Suzie is already thinking of ways to find money in the budget to offer fruit to all students next year, as a mid-morning snack," Weimer noted.

Weimer was contacted last week by Carrie Carlson, of the Meredith Corporation which publishes More Magazine, among many other publications.

"Your group sounds like a fun bunch, and we'd love to use your team as the unofficial 'spokespeople' for the half-marathon for Saturday's Early Show segment," Carlson told Weimer. "I am thrilled to meet you and the other teachers, and I have no doubt that your enthusiasm will shine on camera!"

"GET OFF THE COUCH GIRLS" – That's what six local elementary teachers began to call themselves soon after they started training for a women's half-marathon that will be held this Sunday in Central Park, New York City. The group will be interviewed on this Saturday's segment of CBS's The Early Show. Pictured from left above are Tammy Blythe, Kim Weimer, Amy Flanagan, Amy Burgess, Annalea Catulle, and Jessica Fratz. See story.

Carlson noted that this is the largest half-marathon for women in the country. It will be hosted by Sex and the City actress Kristin Davis. Race participants have raised nearly $17,000 for CARE, an organization that empowers women to help end global poverty.

"Through each step of this process, all six of us have been there to root each other on," said Weimer. "We've been inspired by watching one another overcome even the smallest challenges, yet continued to push ourselves to reach our fullest potential. Just six months ago we could call ourselves peers, colleagues, acquaintances, or co-workers. Now, thanks to the gift of running, we can call ourselves groupies, companions, confidants, or partners, but most importantly, great friends."

Saturday's edition of The Early Show will air locally on the Pittsburgh CBS station, beginning at 9 a.m.

SHS, NHS Tennis Teams Compete In AMAC Tourney; Miller Collects Championship Win

The tennis teams of Southern and Northern high schools competed in the Appalachian Mountain Athletic Conference tennis championship this past Saturday, and the Huskies' Ashley Miller came away with a championship match win.

Miller played Katey Roberts of Allegany in the first round and won 8-0, and then went to the semi-final round where she faced and defeated Fort Hill's Nikki Absher, 8-6. Miller then beat Mtn. Ridge's Katie Horrell, 8-2, for the championship. She was the only player to reach this level, but others had successful wins.

Southern's Brutus Scheffel defeated Hampshire's Adam Rison, 9-7, in the No. 4 singles match, and moved to the semifinals, where he lost to Allegany's Ryan Marchini, 8-3. Teammate Cody Murphy won his first No. 3 singles match against Northern's Ian Aiken, 8-5, but then faced Keyser's Jason Meyer in a second No. 3 singles match, only to fall 8-4.

Northern's Cara Stough took the first No. 1 singles match with an 8-1 defeat of Frankfort's Katie Bush, but lost in the semifinal match to Fort Hill's Jessica Currence, 8-1. The Huskies' Ryan Doerr defeated Emerson Kennedy of Fort Hill 8-6 in the first No. 4 singles match, but then fell to Ryan Marchini of Allegany in the second singles match, 8-2. Teammate Dan Bietzel defeated Southern's Nixon Malcolm in the first No. 2 singles match, 8-6. He was swept, 8-0, by Keyser's Cody Lambka in the second match.

Allegany won the boys' match with 21 points, and was followed by Keyser with 16, Bishop Walsh with 11, Hampshire with 10, Fort Hill with 9.5, Southern with 3, Mtn. Ridge with 2, Northern with 2, and Frankfort with 0.

The girls' match was won by Fort Hill with 20.5 points, and was followed by Keyser with 16, Allegany with 13, Mtn. Ridge with 8, Frankfort with 7, Northern with 6, Hampshire with 1, and Southern with 0.

The Huskies went on to defeat Frankfort on Monday at home, with the boys winning their match, 6-1, and the girls taking home a 4-3 victory. No other details were received.

Northern also collected a win over Mtn. Ridge last night at home, with the boys winning, 4-3, and the girls, 6-1. Dan Beitzel led the boys' team with his 8-6 singles match win over Benjamin Brackett, and Jeff Trautwein followed with an 8-4 victory over Alex Hovatter.

The doubles team of Austin Doerr/Beitzel posted the third win for the Huskies with an 8-2 victory over Jacob Bittner/Tyler Weimer. Kyle Herring/Derrick Yoder worked hard throughout their games to record a 9-8 match win over Aaron Whiteman/Khu Tembo.

In the girls' match, Cara Stough, Morgan Brosnihan, Ashley Miller, and Jordyn Milton took four of five singles matches. Stough defeated karina Whetstone, 8-0; Brosnihan, 8-2, over Diana Murphy; Miller, 8-2, over Katie Horrell, and Milton, 8-0, over Britton Minnick.

Stough/Custer teamed up in the doubles to defeat Jordan Rhoads/Whetstone, 8-3, and Cassie Doerr/Lauren Adams took the second doubles match, 8-5, against Madison Rhoads/Sarah Robinson.

Northern is scheduled to host Bishop Walsh on Friday, and will then travel to Southern on Tuesday.

The Rams faced Hampshire in an away make-up match last night. The boys' team was edged, 4-3, and the girls' team was defeated, 5-2.

Jake Bramande won the third match of the evening, and the first for Southern, by defeating Lucas Eckerson, 8-4. Scheffel followed with an 8-2 victory over Adam Rison in the final singles match. Bramande/Scheffel then teamed up for a doubles match, where they recorded an 8-3 win over Eckerson/Rison.

In the girls' match, Chloe Anderson defeated Allison Hott, 8-4, in the final singles match for the Rams first win. Abby Wildesen/Anderson captured the second doubles match, 8-4, over Tiffany Bishop/Hott.

Southern is scheduled to travel to Allegany tonight, and will then host Northern on Tuesday.

TOWN OF MOUNTAIN LAKE PARK
NOTICE OF A PROPOSED
REAL PROPERTY TAX INCREASE

The Town of Mountain Lake Park proposes to increase real property taxes.

1. For the tax year beginning July 1, 2010, the estimated real property assessable base will increase by 11.2% from $85,641,642 to $95,209,565.

2. If the Town of Mountain Lake Park maintains the current tax rate of $0.305 per $100 of assessment, real property tax revenue will increase by 11.2% resulting in $29,182 of new real property tax revenues.

3. In order to fully offset the effect of increasing assessments, the real property tax rate should be reduced to $0.2743, the constant yield tax rate.

4. The Town is considering not reducing its real property tax rate enough to fully offset increasing assessments. The Town proposes to adopt a real property tax rate of $.3355 per $100 of assessment. This tax rate is 22.3% higher than the constant yield tax rate and will generate $58,268 in additional property tax revenues.

A public hearing on the proposed real property tax rate increase will be held at 6:00 pm on Thursday, May 6, 2010, at Town Hall, 1007 Allegany Drive, Mountain Lake Park, Maryland 21550.

The hearing is open to the public and public testimony is encouraged.

Persons with questions regarding this hearing may call 301-334-2250 for further information.

FIRING THE BALL TO THIRD BASE above left is Southern High School's Kelsi Graham (#4), back right, while a Mtn. Ridge opponent runs at full speed. Shortstop Alycia Horner (#13) watches the throw, and Lindsay Lipscomb (#7) looks on. The Rams lost to the Miners, 6-2, on Tuesday. A few seconds later, the ball and the runner both arrived at 3rd base, above right, with Chelsea Miller (#21) ready to catch. The ball was a bit too late to get the out, and the Miners' runner was declared safe. SHS Falls To Northern, Mtn. Ridge; Overpowers Hampshire, Keyser

The Southern High School varsity girls' softball team posted matching stats in an away game against county-rival Northern last Thursday, but succumbed to the Huskies, 3-2. The Rams came back on Saturday to overpower Hampshire, 10-2, and then went on to dominate Keyser, 12-7, on Monday. Southern ended the week with a 6-2 loss to Mtn. Ridge on Tuesday. See other story for the Northern/Southern game.

The Rams collected two singles apiece from Kayla Fulmer, Chelsea Miller, Katie Eggleston, Lindsay Brady, and Kendra Hardesty for the win against Hampshire.

Alycia Horner fanned nine in a complete game for Southern, while Logan Sonner had two doubles for the Trojans.

The Rams also posted a 15-9 victory in the junior varsity game. McKenzy Rafferty had nine strikeouts to lead the Southern jayvees. Teammates Hannah Wiltison and Katie Sislo had singles, reached base three times, and scored twice for the Rams. Samantha Della finished with two singles for the Trojans' junior varsity.

Horner struck out 13 batters, and added two hits of her own to lead Southern over Keyser on Monday. Keyser's starter Sam Hoban struck out four, and both Horner and Hoban allowed nine hits apiece.

Southern got out to an early lead with four runs in the first inning and then added two more in the bottom of the second. Keyser got within one run in the third inning when it posted five runs. The Rams broke open in the fourth inning with six runs to put the lead at 12-5. The Tornadoes managed two more runs in the sixth inning.

Fulmer led Southern's offense with three singles, and Horner and Hardesty both collected two singles.

The Tornadoes were led by Carrie Riggleman's triple and two singles.

In Tuesday's face-off with Mtn. Ridge, the Rams were unable to bring anyone home through six innings. The Miners didn't waste any time in posting runs with two in the first, one in the fourth, and two in the sixth to lead 5-0. Southern recorded two runs in the seventh, after Mtn. Ridge had collected its sixth and final run at the top of the inning.

April Feaster hit two singles to lead the Rams, who had six hits and seven errors in the loss.

The Miners' Amber Ravenscroft hit a double and a single, while Shae Winner singled two times and Sara Hughes contributed with a double. Starter Carlie Lewis recorded 11 strikeouts for the win.

The Southern jayvees fell 11-5 to the Mtn. Ridge junior varsity. Brooke Spiker tripled for the Rams and pitcher McKenzy Rafferty collected six strikeouts. The Miners were led by Allison Haskins' triple and double, and Kennedy Logsdon struck out two in a complete game win.

The Rams, now 4-8 overall and 3-7 in the AMAC, are scheduled to travel to Allegany on Friday, and will then host the Ram Tournament on Saturday with game time at noon. Southern will then host Frankfort on Monday.

Huskies Defeat Rams, 3-2, After Matching Hit For Hit; Lose To Alco

The girls' varsity softball team of Northern High Schools matched Southern 5-5 in hits and 1-1 in errors in last Thursday's home game, and went through four innings tied 1-1, but the Huskies pulled out the stops to edge the Rams, 3-2, for a complete game victory. Northern went on to host Allegany last night, and lost 5-1.

Against the Rams last Thursday, the first inning was scoreless, and both teams collected a run in the second inning for a 1-1 tie. The third and fourth innings saw no runs from either team, but then the Huskies captured two runs for a 3-1 lead at the top of the fifth inning. Southern posted its final run in the bottom of the sixth.

Northern's Taryn Brenneman and Southern's Alycia Horner posted almost identical pitching lines. Both had five strikeouts and allowed five hits in complete games. Brenneman gave up one earned run, and Horner two.

Kaitlynn Fratz tripled and singled for the Huskies, while Kirsten Butler doubled and singled.

Leading the Rams was Kendra Hardesty and Adria Graham with two singles apiece.

The score was tied 1-1 after the first inning in last night's game against Allegany. The next three innings went scoreless, and in the fourth and fifth, the Campers collected one run in each. Allegany tacked on two additional runs in the seventh inning for the win.

Brenneman allowed just three hits from the Campers and no earned runs, while striking out nine and walking five. Audrey Eisentrout led Allegany on the mound with a two-hitter. She struck out 13 and walked only one.

Northern's Fratz and Beasom each provided a single to account for the Huskies' two hits.

Allegany was led by Stephanie Dawson's double, and Alex Sivic and Chelsea Oleksik's both aided with singles.

It's time to Spring Clean

NOTICE TO RESIDENTS OF OAKLAND: April 26 - April 30

FIX UP...

The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland wishes to notify Oakland Town Residents that the week of April 26 will be CLEAN UP, PAINT UP, FIX UP week. During this week, the Oakland Street Department will be picking up trash, weeds, rubbish, and/or junk. Town residents are requested to make an extra effort to do "Spring Cleaning" of their properties, including vacant lots as well as residences.

During this week, and this week only, fees for the following items will be waived, as a service provided by the County Commissioners: mattresses, chairs, sofas, washers, dryers, other household items, and a limited amount of construction debris (up to 100 pounds per household). This DOES NOT include commercial waste, paint, tires, batteries, large automobile parts, brush, leaves, stumps, refrigerators, freezers, air conditioners, dehumidifiers, or any other appliance with refrigerant. Please contact City Hall for the fees associated with the hauling of these items.

The Oakland Street Department now has a wood chipper. As a result, we no longer require limbs to be cut and bundled. Please call and let us know if you have limbs needing chipped. We are only able to handle limbs up to 6 inches in diameter. We will not remove commercially cut trees/debris! Large quantities must be paid for at Oakland City Hall prior to pick-up.

The Street Department will be hauling all five days between April 26, 2010, and April 30, 2010. If they should miss any items for disposal, please do not hesitate to call either the Street Department at 301-334-3253, or City Hall at 301-334-2691. Residents are reminded that the Street Department will only do limited bulk pick-up on Fridays (small quantities of yard waste and limbs). In addition we are suspending recycling pickup in Oakland until further notice; however, recycling collection sites are available throughout the county.

Do your part to help keep Oakland clean and beautiful!

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

Loren Powell, 18, will graduate on May 22 from Frostburg State University with a degree in psychology. She was awarded an assistantship for her graduate studies at FSU. She is the daughter of Joe and Kim Powell of Rock Lodge Road near Brenneman's Grove.

Although Caitlin was a classmate of Loren, she will not complete her bachelor's degree until next spring, because the WVU social work program has extra requirements. But her advisor told her that with her good GPA she would not have to take the tough graduate school examination.

Cheryl Bender, wife of Tim Bender, ran in a half marathon in Cumberland last Sunday. We sometimes joke about whether her lack of Kenyan blood puts her at a disadvantage in long-distance running. But Tim said she may have some Kenyan blood. She completed the 13-mile race at a pace of about nine minutes per each mile. That is pretty good.

It's only a few weeks before Caitlin and Mere will be home for summer break. Both already lined up summer jobs at the same places they worked last summer.

A couple of nearby young ladies who will graduate from Northern High in June are Maddy Whittemore and Erin Beiler. I can't believe they are already 18 years old! I have known both of them since the first day of their lives. Erin's brother Ryan will also gradate.

Today is April 19: Patriot Day. It also is the 15th anniversary of the Oklahoma City bombing, the day when our first domestic terrorist Tim McVeigh struck. In spite of the fact that he killed many little children, he still claimed, "I feel no shame about it." And he believed he was a patriot. It is not really funny, but amazing how some people use a word and give it a different meaning.

It is also the anniversary of the Battle of Lexington and Concord that marked the beginning of their independence. The first casualty of that war was, believe it or not, a slave. I believe his first name was Christopher. He is only the first African-American who sacrificed his life in American military service.

During World War II when America needed more soldiers, African Americans begged to be allowed to serve. Our dark-skinned brothers fought to be allowed to serve their country, even when it denied them full civil rights.

The idea that guns protect our freedom is just stupid. What about the freedom for the life of a student at Frostburg State University, who got shot for a trivial disagreement? If a gun was not handy, all that would have happened was a fist fight. A gun in the house for "self-protection" more likely will kill its owner or a member of his family. The arguments of the pro-gun crowd don't hold water with me.

I once asked a childhood friend of mine, "What do you think about gun control laws." I knew what her answer would be. "I'm against them." Then I asked, "What about automatic machine guns?" Her answer was "I don't know about that." Well, she sure knew about it within a week or so when one of the biggest mass murders happened in a nursing home, with dozens of helpless people being killed in just minutes.

I think lots of pro-gun people think that gun rights are questioning whether you can have a hunting rifle. Beyond that, they never think about the broader issue.

I admit that I've never had much experience with guns, only some target shooting at 4-H Camp, and one time a former student, Pete Bittinger, dropped by here just to say hello to me. Pete is a state policeman, and I asked if I could hold his gun. I didn't enjoy the experience of holding a deadly weapon in my hand.

Today (Thursday) is the 40th anniversary of the first Earth Day, a very important date in the 20th century. It marked the first time that people starting being aware of what we are doing to Mother Earth. And even more important, we can do something about it.

I wrote last week about my course "Mankind and the Environment." I assigned the book Silent Spring by Rachel Carson, which awakened millions of people to the dangers we are facing. It began with one sentence, "That spring, no birds sang." Imagine a spring without the sound of birds singing! The sound of birds gives voice to the joy all of us feel about spring's arrival, something that we too often take for granted.

During the 1950s and 1960s, we tried to control the environment with highly toxic chemical pesticides. Carson targeted one of them: DDT.

Silent Spring may be the most influential book in America today. It practically launched the environmental movement, and Earth Day.

Carson was uniquely qualified to write that book that shook the world, because she was a scientist and a chemist, as well as just a nature lover with a gift of poetry. Even if it is a small, short book, it is one of the biggest books of the 20th century. As we studied her book, I heard that morning that she died from breast cancer, a sad but appropriate death for her. Because DDT accumulates in our fat cells, and of course, breast tissue is primarily fat cells. When I told them that after they had just read her book, it was a life-changing moment for many of my students, even anti-environmentalist guys. One requirement of the course was that the students keep a journal in which they wrote the emotional and intellectual effect on them with the various content of the course, including the class discussions and assignments.

There were even kids who came from a farming background, and the usage of pesticides is an essential, unquestioned part of modern farming methods. It was marked as a "safe and effective" solution to the problem of weeds in crop fields, and even in one's family vegetable garden.

This was during the days of a big slogan in America, "Better living with chemicals." Most people thought that it must be safe, or they wouldn't be allowed to say that. Back then, most people trusted the big corporations selling products to America's consumers. That was also before any kind of rigorous testing of anything before it could be sold to an all too trusting public.

That was just about the same time that artificial sweetener, especially saccharin, appealed to the desire of people to lose weight without sacrifice to their sweet tooth. I remember the shock and surprise at the news that saccharin may cause cancer. Only recently it was released that pancreatic cancer may be linked with drinking lots of diet soda.

As a diabetic, my mother did drink a good bit of diet soda, and the cancer that killed her was pancreatic cancer. It is surprising and shocking how many chemicals that are part of the life of an average American do have a clear link to cancer. If you believe that you are safe from cancer because you do not smoke cigarettes, you are sadly mistaken.

It is clear that we can't blindly accept any product as safe, and we certainly cannot trust the company that sells them to rigorously test them. People are too accepting of studies. They need to ask themselves who did the study and whether they have some kind of vested interest in the result.

The Defense Department denied any link between Agent Orange and many serious diseases in soldiers who were exposed to it during the Vietnam War. In spite of the growing distrust of our government, the Defense Department couldn't lie! (ha ha).

What was the effect of Agent Orange on pregnant young women or their new babies? I can't even bear to think about it; it makes me cry. I doubt anyone investigated the health consequences from Agent Orange on the Vietnam civil population.

What we lack in America is a willingness to solve the tough issues we as a nation are facing. And I feel extreme pressure to write about these problems in this column. I hope readers will think about them, and discuss them with others.

When I worked at the college, there were plenty of people to talk with about serious issues. And occasionally people disagreed with the primary point that most faculty members had. Then they had to explain the reason for their point of view. And their views either sank or swam depending on the reasoning behind them.

I am aware that the student body is very different from the faculty – much more diverse. I am aware that they are not trained as well in debate as my colleagues with post-graduate degrees. But I refused to tolerate just a mindless opinion.

Most civil war in the Middle East is based on fighting between two different sects of Islam. But that happens when you give too much power to a religion in government. Even our mother nation, England or Great Britain, has a history of civil war based on religion linked with political power. The War of the Roses, which stretched over many centuries, was mainly a war between Catholics and Protestants.

Our Founding Fathers decided to separate church and state. In other words, "freedom of religion." What does it really mean? Can a government pass a law against something which is perfectly acceptable to religion? The Lutheran church has long been the most open and tolerant denomination, and also Episcopalian.

At least our president visited the site of the mining disaster. But it seems that most Americans are pretty much indifferent about those hard working blue collar workers who get dirty on their job. Anyway, West Virginia is one of the poorest states in our union. But that does not mean that they fit the stereotype of "dumb hillbillies."

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY INDUCTS 12 – The Northern High School chapter of National Honor Society recently inducted 12 students in a ceremony held at Uno's Restaurant. The induction was also attended by parents, family, formerly inducted honor society members, and several members of the faculty and staff of Northern High School. Gayle Grimm and Julie Brenneman, co-advisors of the National Honor Society, welcomed guests and spoke of criteria for acceptance in to the National Honor Society. The national criterion for acceptance is an 85% grade point average, but the Northern High policy requires that its members maintain an average of 90%. In addition to high scholarship, each candidate must demonstrate good character, strong leadership skills, and service in the school and community. The faculty of the school nominates potential new members each year, and a five-member faculty council selects students based on an activity information form and other qualifications as listed above. Brittany Mellow, current honor society president, led the induction ceremony, after which inductees and their families enjoyed a pizza buffet. In the front row, from left, are Nathan Mast, Cara Stough, Monica Maust, Keesha Fazenbaker, Nikkole Diehl, and Lauren Adams. Back row: Mitchell Mast, Nathan Maust, Andrew Mast, Cody Brenneman, Alecia Bender, and Rachel Hershberger.

"WEED WARRIORS" WANTED – The Savage River Watershed Association (SRWA) is looking for adult volunteers to continue control efforts of Japanese spiraea in the Bear Pen Run area of Savage River State Forest. "Bear Pen is designated as a Type 1 wildland, and like other natural areas around the state is threatened by a variety of exotic species," said an SRWA spokesperson. "We'll be working on Thursday, April 29, and Friday, May 7, from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. to continue efforts to reduce the infestation using both mechanical and chemical control methods." Kerrie Kyde, invasive plant specialist with the Maryland Wildlife and Heritage Service, will provide technical support for this "Battling Botanical Bullies" program. Wade Dorsey, Savage River State Forest manager, will provide work tools, and Mary Ironside, Big Run and New Germany State Park manager, will offer free camping the night before each "battle" for any out-of-town volunteers. The SRWA is coordinating the project and will provide snacks for volunteers. For more details or to volunteer, persons may e-mail SRWAcoordinator@gmail.com or call Ron Boyer, SRWA invasive species removal coordinator, at 301-895-3686. Pictured is a group of volunteers embarking on a recent eradication project in the Savage River State Forest. Left to right in the front are Laura Haynes, Donna Fitzpatrick, Kathy Tunney, and Paul Fletcher. In the back are Grover Martin, Bob Lewis, and Bill Fitzpatrick.

Morgantown has the state university, and lots of research and energy businesses. And there are several top regional hospitals. Morgantown is a major center for health care. It attracts patients from several states, especially for cancer treatment and trauma. Last month, WVU attracted national attention when its basketball team reached the Final Four in the national tournament. Most Final Four schools are bigger and better funded than WVU.

The university attracts many people from all kinds of places in the world. That ethnic diversity is something that my Caitlin enjoys very much. She has made close friends from all across the globe, including Egypt, Japan, and even Iran.

I was depressed on Saturday when there was no Pirates game. I guess because it was the second game in this round for the Stanley Cup. But I never really could get into hockey.

Today is the 55th anniversary of Roberto Clemente's first hit as a Pirate. And tomorrow is the anniversary of his first home run the same year, 1955. I was only 2 years old when he started his career, and I was a sophomore in college when he hit his 3,000th hit, then soon after died a hero. I can still clearly remember hearing the sad news that he died in a plane accident on the way to deliver earthquake relief supplies. I remember how hard I cried.

You can read his biography, The Great One. It is the story of a young man who went from the humblest beginnings to make himself into the Great One, not just as a baseball player, but as a man.

I hate to think that we may get a glimpse of what nuclear winter means. The volcano in Iceland may cause the next two winters to be the harshest ever. After last winter, that is a concerning prospect to me that is unthinkable. But we can't do anything about it. It is like the opposite of global warming. But it will make the global warming problem even worse.

In the short term, the cloud of ash from the volcano will block the sunshine so the Northern Hemisphere will be much cooler. Then the layer of pollution will hold the warmth down longer. So the Earth's temperature will rise, melting the polar ice caps and raising sea levels way up. You know how New England was after this fall's major rain Nor'easter storm. There was extreme flooding along the Atlantic Coast. Imagine New York City, Boston, and Baltimore flooded permanently.

Undoubtedly, Garrett County is way too high above sea level. But that doesn't mean we are unaffected by global warming. I have heard some people say that if we were facing the western migration of the East Coast urban area, we would just blow up the big cut on Sidling Mountain so they can't get into western Maryland.

I don't hold the belief that every word from the Bible is God-inspired, especially in the Old Testament, which is mainly just historical documents that often give some ancient civilization's idea of justices and human behaviors.

For example, the often-quoted "Spare the rod, spoil the child." One recent study revealed that small children who experience corporal punishment (spanking) are far more likely to grow up to be bullies, or even violent criminals. It makes good sense, when they only thing their parents show them is violence. When they desire to express their power over someone, they follow their parents' example.

My parents never had to beat us, because they earned our respect. Just their disapproval was enough to influence our behaviors. There was not much anger in our home. That is how I raised my daughters, and they seem very intent on pleasing me and their father.

Altar flowers at Emmanuel Lutheran Church on Sunday were given by Leora Yaste in memory of Ira O. "Tip" Yaste.

Sunday, May 2, will be a work day at Emmanuel. Members are asked to come to the service dressed in work clothes, and to bring along some yard tools. Immediately following the service, members will clean up the flowerbeds and give the place a spring cleaning. Lunch will be provided.

A Bible study will be started on May 5 on the world's great religions. The first religion to be studied will be Hinduism.

The Family of

would like to send a note of thanks and appreciation to everyone who shared their love and friendship during this very difficult time. Thank you for keeping our family in your thoughts and prayers. The acts of kindness will never be forgotten. The cards, food, flowers and monetary donations were greatly appreciated.

We would like to thank Newman Funeral Homes for the professional care given to Hazel and our family. Thanks to Pastor Don Clark for the beautiful and touching service and capturing our mother's love for us and the Lord and to Darlene Coddington for the beautiful songs. Thanks to Selbysport United Methodist Women's Group for providing an outstanding meal following the funeral and to the Sand Spring Church for the use of the fellowship hall, also to Garrett County Memorial Hospital and Northern Garrett Rescue Squad. A special and extended thanks to Lois Kahl for the love and care given her over the last three years.

Our wife/mother would be proud in how she was remembered. Hazel (Sissie) will be missed dearly, but our memories of her will be cherished forever.

Heaven has a new precious and beautiful angel!

Awarded Grant

munities and families when we entered into the Regional Greenhouse Gas Initiative, the nation's first multi-state collaborative carbon cap-and-trade program," said O'Malley. "These grants are another step forward in our goal to make Maryland's future cleaner, greener, and more sustainable for all our citizens."

Approximately $2 million in grants are being awarded in round one to a wide variety of projects that are expected to jumpstart energy savings and decrease monthly electricity bills. The MEA is providing a total of 24 grants to 13 Maryland counties in round one, with projects ranging from an energy efficiency retrofit of the Annapolis Boys and Girls Club building in the St. Ambrose Senior Community in Baltimore City, to supporting the efforts of the National Association of American Veterans to weatherize homes of low to moderate income veterans in Prince George's County.

"The Maryland Energy Administration is thrilled to be able to help hundreds of Maryland families reduce their energy bills with investments in their homes that will save them money today and for years to come," said MEA director Malcolm Woolf. "This marks yet another big step forward in meeting Governor O'Malley's EmPower Maryland goal of 15 percent reduced energy consumption by 2015."

Round two funding in the amount of approximately $1.2 million is currently available for projects in counties that have not yet exhausted their formula-based portion of the grants.

Each county and Baltimore City was provided an allocation based on the number of low-to-moderate income households residing in the respective area. Baltimore City, plus Garrett, Anne Arundel, Frederick, Howard, Prince George's, and Queen Anne's counties will not receive any funding in round two.

Guidelines for the grant program are on the MEA web page: http://www.energy.state.md.us/incentives/state-local/empowercleanenergycommunities.asp.

Garrett Trails Announces Earth Day Trail Clean-up

Garrett Trails has announced that its first Earth Day Trail Clean-up will be held on Thursday, April 22, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Garrett Trails, a non-profit organization responsible for developing trails in the region, invites the entire community to help clean up the debris, litter, and other obstacles left behind from the winter.

"Last winter's record-breaking snowfall is finally gone, but the effects can still be seen in Garrett County," said a spokesperson. "Many prominent hiking and biking trails have paid the price and now require attention."

The project will take place on the 5.5 miles of trail between Herrington Manor State Park and Swallow Falls State Park. Volunteers will need to check in at the Herrington Manor lake house.

Possible tasks will include: picking up litter, clearing downed branches, replacing and moving gravel, and minor pruning. Trash bags will be provided.

"With the hiking and biking season quickly coming up, there is no better time to roll up your sleeves and celebrate Earth Day by helping to maintain our outstanding network of quality trails that provide access to Garrett County's historic, municipal, and environmental treasures," said a spokesperson.

Anyone requiring more information should contact Nick Pratt at 301-801-3362 prior to the event. Persons participating are required to bring drinking water, appropriate clothing, work gloves, and boots, and are asked not to bring pets, unsafe equipment, chain saws, and motorized vehicles.

VOCANIC ACTIVITY

by Dr. Tom Sheahen

Q. Please explain about the vast smoke in Europe caused by the fires from the volcano so that no airplane will be able to fly for the next month. Not since 9/11/2001 have we had this type of blockage of the sky that pilots are not able to navigate. Would this qualify as part of the climate change? Have we ever had this type of smoke in the sky prior to last week?

A. Your questions bring up several different topics that are interconnected.

There are different kinds of volcanic eruptions, and this latest one in Iceland was of the "explosive" variety. It's somewhat like unscrewing the cap on the radiator of an auto engine that has overheated. An enormous amount of pressure underneath is suddenly released, and a plume of stuff (mostly water vapor, actually) shoots skyward. Extremely hot water (called supercritical) will remain liquid under very high pressure when it's deep under the Earth, but opening a hole to the surface lowers the pressure, and immediately all that hot liquid turns into steam. Steam expands rapidly with enormous force, and pushes everything in its way to high altitudes – 25,000 to 50,000 feet is not unusual, and that includes the band of altitudes where planes fly.

The crud shot up into the air (the ash cloud) is like ground-up cement and glass. That is what causes the worries that have shut down airports all over Europe. If that stuff gets into the intake of a jet engine, it's bad. There are two big things to worry about with planes and ash: clogging intakes, and abrasion.

Jet engines have a cooling system that draws in outside air to keep the metal parts from melting. The ash can clog the inlets; causing the engine to overheat (or shut down to avoid overheating).

Volcanic ash is composed of very fine particles (or they wouldn't be floating around), so it's very hard to filter it all out. Such material is a pretty good abrasive. Because of the high speed of air within an engine, it would be like running a sandblaster. Engine parts would be damaged rapidly. Also, the abrasive ash cloud won't do the airplane's windshield any good either.

With abrasion alone, there's a good chance you can land and repair. With intake clogging, it happens rapidly and causes an engine to shut down suddenly. If all four engines on a plane behave thus, you're suddenly flying a glider instead of a jet plane.

That actually happened near Mt. Redoubt in Alaska some years ago. After declining 15,000 feet the pilot was able to restart the engines and the plane landed safely. But a scare like that convinced every airline to never again fly through an ash cloud.

Moreover, once safely on the ground, you need to dismantle and completely rebuild the jet engine, which got severely impaired by the sandblasting.

The airlines are said to be losing $200,000,000 per day by having the airports in Europe shut down and the planes sitting motionless. It would cost them a lot more to repair the engines if they ran the engines in the ash-laden air of the present. And that's if they didn't have any crashes that killed people. I doubt they can even drive a plane into a hangar until the ash is swept up and taken away; starting an engine now would suck up ash off the pavement.

You asked about fires: This volcano didn't set any fires in Europe; what seems to be smoke is simply the ash cloud.

You also asked about previous similar smoke. Other volcanoes have also created enormous plumes of ash. Mt. Pinatubo in the Philippines (1991) was similar, but that ash cloud drifted out over the Pacific Ocean and didn't shut down many airports. This time, the ash cloud is drifting right over Europe. This is the worst incident when Europe suffered economic harm from a volcano elsewhere.

Separately, a volcanic eruption is not caused by climate change, but definitely can contribute a temporary change. The tiny particles that stay aloft for months reflect sunlight back into space, and hence the Earth's surface will get cooler. Again, Mt. Pinatubo (1991) provides a measure of the effect: The global average temperature dropped about ½° C in the year that followed. We can expect something similar in 2010.

As for greenhouse gases, any single volcano is a small event. Here is what the US Geological Survey has to say about CO2 from volcanoes:

Scientists have calculated that volcanoes emit between about 140-250 million tons of CO2 into the atmosphere every year. This estimate includes both subaerial and submarine volcanoes, about in equal amounts. Emissions of CO2 by human activities (including fossil fuel burning, cement production, and gas flaring) amount to about 30 billion tons per year. Human activities release more than 130 times the amount of CO2 emitted by volcanoes – the equivalent of more than 8,000 additional volcanoes like Kilauea. (Kilauea emits about 3.6 million tons/year!)

Volcanoes also emit sulfur dioxide (SO2), which leads to acid rain; so in the months ahead we can expect increased acidity of rainfall. Another obnoxious gas emitted by volcanoes is hydrogen fluoride (HF), which might accumulate on grass in Europe. Farmers will have to pay attention to ensure that their animals don't get poisoned by eating large amounts of such grass.

Good guy Graves once had television 'Fury'

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

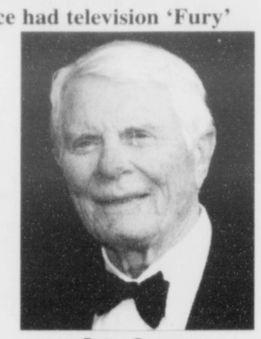
Q: In all the articles I've read about Peter Graves, nothing is mentioned about his starring in the television program "Fury" back in the 1950s. He was in it, wasn't he? And who played the boy in it, and what happened to him? –Joan De Tuccio, Glen Burnie, Md.

A: Indeed, Graves played Jim Newton in "Fury," the horse saga that had a five-season run (1955-60). One reason it might have been forgotten in some of the actor's recent obituaries was that it was principally a Saturday morning show, and the focus of those articles seemed to be on his prime-time work ... particularly "Mission: Impossible," of course. Since the 1980 movie "Airplane!" put a fresh spin on Graves' image, that also received major attention.

The youngster in "Fury" was Bobby Diamond, who did guest shots on various series ("The Twilight Zone," "Mister Ed," "The Patty Duke Show," "The Fugitive") through the 1960s and into the early 1970s. His last credit on record is a 1990 episode of "Midnight Caller," and he reportedly is now a civil and criminal law attorney in Los Angeles.

Q: What happened to Lauren Lee Smith, introduced as Riley Adams during season nine of "CSI: Crime Scene Investigation"? I wonder if there are plans to bring the character back at a later date. –Carolyn Lewis-Stone, Ann Arbor, Mich.

A: Seemingly not. Smith was released from the CBS series after that one season, with executive producer Naren Shankar saying at the time that it was



Peter Graves

"an issue of how we were feeling the ensemble was working."

Q: We are baffled by the "PA" shown after certain series. Please tell me what it means. –Judy Larson, Round Lake, Ill.

A: In a television program listing, it stands for "Parental Advisory," which replaced the previous "Viewer Discretion Advised." In either case, the meaning is that older viewers should proceed with caution if youngsters also are in front of the screen.

Q: Kyle Chandler, of the series "Early Edition" and "Friday Night Lights," was in another show that was a period piece about World War II. What was the name of the program, and was it ever released on VHS or DVD? –Sally Rowland, Seattle

A: It was "Homefront," a 1991-93 ABC drama whose other stars included John Slattery ("Mad Men") and Kelly Rutherford ("Gossip Girl"). It has not been released on home video in any format.

Let's Get Down To Business!

The Stables At Herrington LLC

The Stables at Herrington is now ready to begin programs in May. John and Terry Fram purchased the business in 2006 and spent the following time upgrading the facility, which is located on 33 acres outside Oakland at 2332 Herrington manor Road.

"The Stables at Herrington is a family oriented riding facility providing the highest standard of care in boarding, riding instruction, and/or educational horse-based programs," Terry said.

The facility has 16 box stalls in the main barn, 30 acres of turnout with new horse-safe fencing, an indoor riding arena measuring 60 feet by 100 feet, an outdoor riding ring that is 60 feet by 120 feet, a heated lounge and full bathroom, secured tack room, grooming stalls, wash stall with hot and cold water, and offers easy trail access to Herrington Manor State Park and the Youghiogheny River.

John and Terry have been married for 35 years and owned/operated Patapsco Horse Center (PHC) for more than 20 of those years. The center has now been handed over to their daughter Sherri and son-in-law, Chuck Trenary.

John was born in Frostburg and grew up in Deer Park, and the Frams have now chosen to retire in the Oakland area and start their new venture, the Stables at Herrington.

Terry founded and has been the director of the Maryland Council for Special Equestrians Inc., a non-profit organization offering equine facilitated therapy to individuals with disabilities, since 1982. Since 1983 she has been the director of therapeutic riding for Baltimore County Recreation and Parks Department, and since 1985, she has been a Baltimore County special Olympic equestrian coach.

Terry became a certified equestrian coach for Special Olympics Maryland in 1991. Two years later, she received an associate's degree from the Community College of Baltimore County in recreation and leisure studies, specializing in therapeutic recreation. Also in 1993, Terry became a Pennsylvania certified therapeutic riding instructor.

Her summary of accomplishments include the following:

•1983 – Requested, lobbied for, and received a $245,00 bond bill from the state to design and construct the first 100 percent accessible riding facility in Maryland.

•1998 – Named the "Therapeutic Practitioner of the Year" by the Maryland Recreation and Parks Association.

2000 – Recognized by the state House and Senate in a resolution for the Maryland Council for Special Equestrians, and selected as Special Olympics World Games coach, Dublin, Ireland.

•2010 – Selected for the Shining Star Volunteer Award from the Baltimore County executive.

The Stables at Herrington services include the following:

•Boarding – Full-care boarding with individualized and customized care, pasture boarding, and seasonal boarding for tourists.

•Summer camps – Monday through Friday.

•Full-day riding experiences.

•Experiential educational programs – Clinics, Scout badges, and "Hello Horse" and "Hello Pony."

Hello Horse and Hello Pony were designed to offer an "Introduction to Horses" to children visiting the Deep Creek area, giving their parents time to participate in an activity of their own. These "horseless" programs use age appropriate lectures, worksheets, crafts, and hands-on experiences to introduce children to the world of horses and to prepare the participant for future interaction with horses.

The programs can be held at a participant's site or at the Stables, since a class or meeting room is all that is required. Instructors come prepared to teach: safety in and around the barn, what to expect when one meets a horse, breeds and colors of horses, what horses eat and why, and tacking and grooming.

Terry said all these lectures were created to be informative, with the emphasis on fun.

The Stables can also customize a program to meet specific needs. Prices begin at $12 per participant and will be priced depending on length of time, extra crafts, and/or snacks.

In addition to Terry, the Stables staff includes Autumn Newcomb-Shay. Autumn was owner/operator of Meadow Lake Stables from 1998 to 2006. During those years, she also provided riding instruction for beginner through advanced students, was the facilitator of clinics, seminars, and education programs, and coached the Meadow Lake Stables Show Team.

According to Terry, the Stables program horses are specially chosen and trained for the unique needs of its riders and wide variety of programs.

"Several of our school horses are available for lease to those students meeting the Stables' eligibility requirements," she said. "We also keep a small number of quality horses and ponies for sale. If we don't have what you're looking for we can help you find it."

For more information, persons may contact Terry at 301-533-0550.

Students Of The Month Named At Southern High

Faculty members at Southern High School recently chose the following as Students of the Month for March: Colin Gooding, English; Rachel Reichard, math; Sara Jones, science; D.J. Ritchie, social studies; Alexandra Cortez, career and technology education (CTE) in allied health; and Robert Bauman, foreign language.

Gooding, a sophomore, is the son of the Rev. Dr. Kevin Gooding and the Rev. Jennifer Johns-Gooding, Oakland. Recognized for his work in English, he is a member of the Mock Trial Team this year. He was also nominated earlier this year as a Student of the Month. He is a Life Scout, and his educational goals are to pursue his university studies through the level of earning a doctorate degree.

Reichard, a sophomore, is the daughter of Lori and Randolph Reichard, Mtn. Lake Park. Recognized for her work in math, she plays the clarinet in the school band and was selected as a member of the Honor Band. She also plays in the hand bell choir at St. Peter the Apostle Catholic Church. She plans to major in library and information science and minor in photography at either Drexel University or the University of Maryland.

Jones, a freshman, is the daughter of Dr. James and Liliana Jones, Oakland. Selected for her work in math, she is enrolled in honors level courses and has earned grades to place her on the distinguished honor roll. As an eighth grade student she received a Success in School Award. She has been both a National History Day and a science fair finalist, in addition to attending the People to People Leadership Forum. She played on the school's junior varsity basketball team this season and has been a member of the Garrett County Swim Team for 10 years. As a musician, she has earned various violin awards, and she helped raise money for the House of Hope in the Thrill the World fundraising event this past fall. She hopes to graduate with honors, attend college, and continue her studies to earn a post-graduate degree.

Ritchie, a sophomore, is the son of Dave and Amy Ritchie, Swanton. Nominated for his work in social studies, he was a member of the school's cross-country team in the fall and received the Coaches' Award at the conclusion of the season. He was also a member of the varsity basketball team during this past season. Because of his interest in basketball, he helps with the Dribblers Club during the winter. He plans to go to the University of Maryland to pursue a degree in pharmacy.

Cortez, a senior, is the daughter of Val and Lisa Drummond, Oakland. Chosen for her work in allied health, she plans to attend Garrett College and then transfer to Allegany College of Maryland to pursue a career in nursing.

Bauman, a senior, is the son of Cassandra Welsh-Bauman, Oakland. Chosen for his work in foreign language, he has completed four levels of study in French and is currently studying German. He has been an active member of the SHS band program, participating in marching band, stage band, and concert band throughout his high school career. He has earned the Marching Minds Award because of his musical skills, and he participates in Honor Band and in the Garrett Community Concert Band. He is also a peer counselor at the school. He would like to pursue a double major of linguistics and instrumental performance at West Virginia University. He hopes to earn a master's degree in linguistics and then utilize his skills in the Air Force as a linguistics specialist. He would like to eventually live in Italy and work as a linguist for the Italian government and continue to play music.

GCMH Wound Care Center Is One Year Old

The staff of the Wound Care Center at Garrett County Memorial Hospital is celebrating its one-year anniversary of providing wound services to the community.

The center, which opened its doors in April of 2009, is located directly beside the hospital, and specializes in wounds and skin conditions that fail to heal with normal measures.

According to Dr. Marjorie Fridkin, medical director of the facility, these wounds are often a result of other medical conditions, such as diabetes, peripheral vascular disease, high blood pressure, obesity, or other circulation or mobility problems.

Dr. Fridkin has received special training in the treatment of wounds and the problems that often result because of them. The staff includes a team of nurses who are certified in wound care.

"The center provides a comprehensive approach to treating the patient, taking into consideration lifestyle, medical conditions, ability of the patient to participate in his/her own care, and current treatment options," said Kendra Thayer, director of wound care services. "We work with the patient's primary care physicians, as well as other specialists in the area."

The center offers the latest treatments in chronic wound care, said Dr. Fridkin. Patients who suffer from venous disease or problems with circulation often benefit from treatment with products that help regenerate the skin and with compressive wraps, she explained.

The center offers wound vac therapy for patients with large, chronic, slow-healing wounds. Those with diabetes often suffer from chronic wounds and can be treated with tissue engineered skin and pressure relieving devices to heal their ulcers and maybe prevent amputation.

"We are able to set patients up in their homes with treatment, including topical oxygen for non-healing wounds," said Thayer. "We offer many advanced skin care products and treatments that help speed the healing process and relieve the pain and inconvenience of having a chronic wound or skin condition. Most therapies are covered by insurance, and we can work with a patient's insurance company."

Patients can be referred by their physician, or the patient may contact the Wound Care Center by calling 301-501-4270 for an appointment.

RAM STUDENT OF THE MONTH NAMED – Southern High School recently named Breanna Kave as the Perkins RAM (Random Acts of Maturity) Student of the Month. She is a senior and lives in Oakland with her mother, Robin Eastman. She was nominated by Dave Bender, who said he chose her for both her academic tenacity and the help she gives to other students. Bender also noted that there is something else very special about Kave. "She is married and her husband is currently serving in Iraq," said Bender. "She promised to him and to herself that she would be graduated before he comes home on leave in late June." Kave is also a published author. Her book, Fire Among Souls, went on sale this year, and she is currently working on a sequel. From left are Bender, Kave, and principal Jim Maddy.

Real Estate Facts by...

Jeff Hovis

MAKING IT AT THE TOP

You may be hearing that things are improving in the residential real estate market, and while that is true, not every area is experiencing the euphoria yet. Even where sales are making gains, it often still depends on the ranges of listing prices - bargain foreclosures, mid-range homes, or high-end properties.

Our last two columns addressed the approaches that buyers and sellers should take when the transaction involves homes in the first two categories, but luxury listings are a different story. Between the economy and the credit crunch, this top 10% of listings is suffering, largely because lenders aren't committing to financing such large loans.

As high-end prices will probably still drop, buyers who do qualify for financing have more power in negotiating these sales. However, seek loan pre-approval before you make any offers. Jumbo loans require larger downpayments at slightly higher rates, and qualification takes time.

As the seller of a luxury home, you may have to bite the bullet and undercut your competition, if you're truly committed to making a sale. Use your agent's Competitive Market Analysis to make your pricing decision, and if you can, offer to finance the deal yourself.

The painful truth in this high-end market is that recovery will take longer, so you shouldn't hesitate to set a lower price and offer other concessions to make your sale happen.

If you are thinking of buying or selling a home but feel "out of touch" with real estate, give me a call today.

Students will not be issued a ticket for an out-of-school guest until this form is approved. There is no separate ticket for the Grand March.

THE GRAND MARCH

The 2010 prom is scheduled for the evening of Saturday, May 15. This year the school will host its first annual Grand March for students, parents, family members, and friends that will begin at 6 p.m. the evening of the prom at Southern Middle School.

The Grand March is a traditional way to begin a formal ball. Couples line up in promenade order, and parade past the audience showing off their formal attire. The event will give each person, group of friends, or couple a moment in the spotlight to accept applause. Doug Oxford will be the emcee for the evening. Students must arrive at the middle school between 5:30 and 5:45 p.m. to sign in and line up. Family and friends should be seated in the cafeteria by 6 p.m.

Any student who plans on attending the prom who would like professional pictures taken must plan on participating in the Grand March. Students will be unable to get their professional pictures taken if they do not participate. This year the pictures will only be taken at the Grand March. After their walk through the cafeteria, students will proceed to the media center for their pictures. After their pictures, students will head to the Elks Club for the remainder of the planned prom events beginning at 7:30 p.m.

For more information on the Grand March, parents/students may check out the school's web site or e-mail shsprom@gmail.com with any questions.

Cancer Council Connects Patients, Volunteers To Support Programs

PERSONAL EXPERIENCE with cancer leads many to volunteer to help other patients. Donna McClintock-Fost, chair of the Garrett County American Cancer Society Leadership Council, knew she wanted to reach out to help others when she watched her brother Gary "Jake" McClintock bravely fighting against this disease. The siblings are pictured above as they share a moment of happiness. See story.

by Peggy Santamaria

Many who have experienced or witnessed the ravages of cancer want to do something – anything – to help mitigate the misery of those facing the cruelty of this disease. The American Cancer Society was established for this purpose. A nationwide, community-based, voluntary health organization, the ACS works to diminish the suffering from cancer through research, education, advocacy, and service.

Here in Garrett County a local chapter of the ACS Leadership Council formed to help spread the word on the programs available to cancer patients and caregivers, and to ensure that the people in Garrett County have the services that are needed.

Donna McClintock-Fost, chair of the local Leadership Council, sees her volunteer role as an opportunity. "We educate, advocate, and encourage others touched by cancer. We can give back and do something when feeling helpless against cancer," she said.

Donna's involvement with the ACS, like that of many others, grew from personal experience with cancer.

"My older brother is a cancer survivor," she said. "He continues to fight the fight with each recurrence. It was the only thing I knew to do, as I couldn't help with his personal fight, but could perhaps help others."

The work of the American Cancer Society focuses on community involvement. Beth Garbolino serves as the ACS liaison with the Garrett County Leadership Council. She emphasizes that it is the members of the council who know people in the community and how to reach those who need services and those who are willing to provide services.

"The Leadership Council does not coordinate the programs for ACS, but they do promote, find volunteers, and assist in any of the overall needs," she explained. "We do need more people on the council who are willing to help us find volunteers."

Garbolino outlined patient services available locally.

"Our current programs in Garrett County include our 1-800-ACS-2345 telephone number, a line that is answered 24 hours a day, 7 days a week to answer any questions someone may have," she said. "This includes survivors and caregivers, anyone who needs questions answered. We also have our local patient programs: Road to Recovery, Reach to Recovery, Look Good, Feel Better, Dietician on Call, Hope Lodge, Patient Advocate, and Survivorship/Caregiver programs."

To thank current volunteers and introduce others to the work of the Garrett Leadership Council, an open house event is slated for Wednesday, May 5, from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. at the Garrett County Health Department conference room, 1025 Memorial Drive Oakland.

For more information on the Leadership Council persons may telephone Donna McClintock-Fost at 301-334-7740 or the Garrett/Allegany ACS office at 1-888-227-9979.

Setting an Example

In some instances a good example can make a great difference. As children, we learn by the example of those closest to us. As we grow, we live and interact with our peers according to those early observations. Our future is already greatly influenced while we are still young.

How can we set the best example for our young ones? There are some instructions in God's Word. In John 13:15, Jesus says, "I have set you an example that you should do as I have done for you." And in John 13:34 "... As I have loved you, so you must love one another."

Wouldn't you like to ensure a better life for yourselves, your children, and the next generation? You can be a model of good deeds; begin setting the example. Worship as a family this week.

Clothe the Naked

Anyone who has ever received hand-me-down clothing knows the joy of getting a new set of clothes without having to pay for them. Being blessed with three older brothers, I always had good clothes and shoes, even if I occasionally had to grow into them. Not everyone is so fortunate when it comes to clothing. The nearly half of the world's population living on less that two dollars a day certainly can't afford designer brands, let alone good, functional clothing. Many of our impoverished brothers and sisters around the world are literally wearing rags. Meanwhile, many of us have closets full of unused clothes. So, why not go through our closets, clean out the things we haven't been wearing, and donate them to charity? Someone in need will certainly make better use of them, and we will gain some closet space. Another possibility is to donate certain clothing items to specific charities. In many cities there are job training programs that accept donations of "business" clothing so that the trainees will look professional when they go on job interviews. We should be creative and find good uses for our old clothes.

If a brother or sister is ill-clad and in lack of daily food, and one of you says to them, "Go in peace, be warmed and filled," without giving them the things needed for the body, what does it profit? So faith by itself, if it has no works, is dead.

Treatment for this Type of Depression

Dysthymia is a milder form of depression where a depressed mood may last for a number of years. Persons with dysthymia exhibit a depressed mood the majority of the time, along with a change in appetite, changes in sleep patterns, decreased energy, low self-esteem, low concentration, or feelings of hopelessness. Typically the symptoms of dysthymia are less severe than depression. The condition affects approximately 3 to 5% of the U.S. population.

Lifestyle changes, such as exercise and relaxation techniques, may help some. Antidepressant medications may take several weeks before symptom relief occurs. Selective serotonin reuptake inhibitors (SSRIs), such as paroxetine and sertraline, are commonly prescribed antidepressants that work to increase the amount of the neurotransmitter serotonin, thereby improving mood and other symptoms of dysthymia. These types of medications may also cause weight gain in certain persons. Venlafaxine and duloxetine, serotonin and norepinephrine reuptake inhibitors, are sometimes prescribed. Bupropion also inhibits the reuptake of norepinephrine and dopamine. Persons diagnosed with dysthymia may be prescribed antidepressant medications for several years.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• It was French writer and film director Marguerite Duras who made the following observation: "I believe that always, or almost always, in all childhood, and in all the lives that follow them, the mother represents madness. Our mothers always remain the strangest, craziest people we've ever met."

• In Colorado, it is illegal to mutilate a rock in a state park.

• Those who track radio statistics say that Led Zeppelin's "Stairway to Heaven" is the most-requested song in the United States — and this despite the fact that the song was never released as a single on this side of the Atlantic.

• If you use Listerine to freshen your breath, you might be interested to know that its original formula is 26.9 percent alcohol by volume — that comes out to 54-proof gargle.

• There are lots of sports fans out there, and a lot of sports to enjoy: football, basketball, soccer, baseball, hockey ... olive oil wrestling? OK, maybe there aren't a lot of oiled wrestling events here in America, but in Turkey it's the national sport. Kirkpinar, as it's known there, has been popular since the Ottoman Empire. The Turkish town of Edirne has been hosting the annual tournament since 1361.

• It was in Kitchener, Ontario, in 2006 that the world's largest smoothie was made. Over the course of 3 1/2 hours and using seven blenders, the folks there made a whopping 195 gallons of the fruity beverage.

Thought for the Day: "Infatuation is when you think that he's as sexy as Robert Redford, as smart as Henry Kissinger, as noble as Ralph Nader, as funny as Woody Allen and as athletic as Jimmy Connors. Love is when you realize he's as sexy as Woody Allen, as smart as Jimmy Connors, as funny as Ralph Nader, as athletic as Henry Kissinger and nothing like Robert Redford — but you'll take him anyway." — Judith Viorst

• On April 30, 1789, George Washington is sworn in as the first American president and delivers the first inaugural speech, at Federal Hall in New York City. Observers noted that Washington fidgeted while he reiterated the mixed emotions of anxiety and honor he felt in assuming the role of president.

• On April 28, 1897, the Chickasaw and Choctaw, two of the Five Civilized Tribes, become the first to agree to abolish tribal government and communal ownership of land. The other tribes soon followed, finally throwing open all of Indian Territory to white settlement.

• On May 1, 1926, Ford Motor Company becomes one of the first companies in America to adopt a five-day, 40-hour week for workers. Manufacturers all over the country soon followed Ford's lead, and the Monday-to-Friday workweek became standard practice.

• On May 2, 1933, the modern legend of the Loch Ness Monster is born when a sighting makes local news in the Scottish Highlands. The Inverness Courier newspaper related an account of a local couple who claimed to have seen "an enormous animal rolling and plunging on the surface." Scholars of the Loch Ness Monster find a dozen references to "Nessie" in Scottish history, dating back to around 500 A.D.

• On April 26, 1954, the Salk polio vaccine field trials, involving 1.8 million children, begin in McLean, Va. On Apr. 12, 1955, researchers announced the vaccine was safe and effective, and it quickly became a standard part of childhood immunizations in America.

• On April 27, 1963, Margaret Annemarie Battavio's very first single, "I Will Follow Him," reached No. 1 on the U.S. pop charts. The 15-year-old singer, better known as Little Peggy March, became the youngest female performer ever to top the Billboard Hot 100.

• On April 29, 1986, in a game against the Seattle Mariners at Fenway Park, Roger Clemens of the Boston Red Sox becomes the first pitcher in Major League Baseball to strike out 20 batters in a nine-inning game. Ten years later, Clemens repeated the feat, the only player in baseball history to do so.

Collecting

Q. My mom's favorite holiday, next to Christmas, was Halloween. She collected Halloween favors and items when she would run across them at flea markets and yard sales. I have four large boxes that I have inherited, and I do not know current values. Can you help me? — Audrey, Pine Bluff, Ark.

A. One of the better references is Vintage Halloween Collectibles: An Identification and Price Guide by Mark B. Ledenbach (Krause, $27.99). This guide features more than 1,600 items, including country of origin, manufacturer, specific maker markings, dates of issue and scarcity. Some of the prices listed are truly frightening: a composition candy container from the 1920s, $850; a devil's head lantern, circa 1920s, $900; a black cat mask, 1920s, $165; and a jointed cardboard witch, circa 1925, $200.

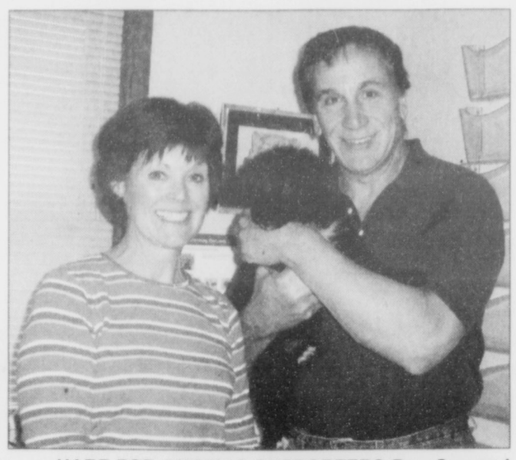
HART for Animals' K-9s, Tunes, And Brews To Be Held At Wisp



HART FOR ANIMALS SUPPORTERS Drs. Sue and Pat Bredel are shown with a puppy ready for transport to a rescue facility. The veterinarians provided start-up support and expertise for HART's recently opened Spay/Neuter Clinic in McHenry. HART will hold its annual Memorial Day weekend fundraiser on Saturday, May 29, from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. at Wisp Resort. See story for details.

HART for Animals' third annual Memorial Day weekend fundraiser has a new name and location. K-9s, Tunes, and Brews (KTB) will be held at Wisp Resort in McHenry on Saturday, May 29, from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. to once again raise funds for the HART Animal Adoption Center and Spay/Neuter Clinic.

"The Spay/Neuter Clinic benefits both part-time and full-time residents of Garrett County," said HART President Michael Pellet. "Many volunteers are part-time residents and retirees; many loving pet owners welcome the opportunity to 'fix' their pets to reduce the overpopulation problem. The HART clinic makes these surgeries affordable in part through the support of Drs. Sue and Pat Bredel, who volunteer their services two days a week. With the recent addition of Dr. Linda Blakeley of West Virginia, our veterinarians have spayed and neutered 200 animals in the past four months."

The Bredels of Oakland, formerly of Pittsburgh, Pa., provided logistic support and expertise to start up the HART clinic. When congratulated for the success of the clinic and questioned about their motivation, Dr. Pat replied, "It is a way for us to give back to the community in which we live."

Dr. Sue, currently director of the clinic, added, "We do it so that animals are not euthanized due to overpopulation. It's great to know that all the people working at the clinic are giving 100% for only one reason: to help the animals."

HART's president echoed her words by stating, "Please come to KTB and help the animals."

Billed as an event for the whole family, KTB will feature beer tastings from 14 award-winning breweries, celebrity pourers, children's carnival games, dog events, and food sold throughout the day on the terrace at the Lodge. Tickets at $1 each can be purchased for beer tasting, food, and children's games.

The children's area – Kid Central – will have carnival games and prizes, a Moon Bounce, face painting, air-brushed tattoos, Daffydil the Clown, balloons, miniature horses and donkeys, a scavenger hunt, spin art, and root beer.

Last year, more than 400 dogs attended KTB, according to Pellet.

"So bring your dog and participate in the Fun Dog Show (best costume, longest tail, biggest ears or best trick); thrill to the MAD Dog Frisbee-catching dogs, the Sheriff's Office police dog presentation, and dog obedience demonstrations," he said.

Music will be provided throughout the day, with folk music by Keith Roberts, classic and contemporary rock from The Lake Effect, and bluegrass by The Wild Rumpus.

Admission to KTB will be $10. Children 12 and under who are accompanied by an adult will be admitted for free. Admission includes music on the stage, dog ring events, and a souvenir mug (IDs will be checked and an "Over 21" wristband issued).

HART for Animals, Inc. is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization. Additional information on KTB, HART programs, and the Spay/Neuter Clinic is available by visiting hartforanimals.org or calling 301-387-SPAY (7729).

GC Memorial Hosp. Recognizes Lab Professionals

Garrett County Memorial Hospital is recognizing laboratory personnel during National Medical Laboratory Professionals Week, which is now under way (April 18-24).

"Laboratory professionals have the skills to unlock important medical information that is pivotal to the diagnosis, treatment, and prevention of disease," said a GCMH spokesperson.

"Every day, nurses, physicians, and other healthcare workers depend on laboratory professionals to perform tests on blood and other body fluids, interpret the results, and help provide a complete picture of a patient's health," he continued.

Using modern biomedical equipment and complicated analysis, lab professionals can detect the presence of cancer, identify infectious viruses and bacteria, and measure glucose, cholesterol, or drug levels in blood.

"Without this precise and valuable information, medicine would simply become guesswork," said the spokesperson.

Laboratory professionals often work in hospitals, physician offices, or private clinical laboratories, performing laboratory tests and monitoring the quality of their results. Others are employed by university or industrial research laboratories, while still others are increasingly found outside the traditional laboratory, participating in community health activities, conducting environmental testing, or serving in the Peace Corps.

CAR CLUB PRESENTS CHECK – Although they "travel back in time" with their vintage vehicles, the Mountain Top Cruisers Car Club recently presented a $1,000 check to Kitzmiller Elementary School so they can "travel into the future." Presenting the check for $1,000 is club president Ed Deal, left. Accepting on behalf of the school is teacher Bridget Corbin. The funds will help the school purchase supplies and enable students to take educational field trips. "The club would like to wish the children and teachers a bright future," Deal said.

Kitz. To Host ACE Meeting On April 29

The town of Kitzmiller will host an informational meeting regarding a study of Garrett County elementary schools by the Advisory Committee on Education (ACE). The meeting is scheduled for Thursday, April 29, at 7 p.m. in the Kitzmiller Elementary School auditorium.

The ACE committee has accepted tasking from the Board of Education to study operation, maintenance, and logistical costs and issues for all county elementary schools. The study will result in decisions that may potentially impact the Kitzmiller school and community beginning with the 2011-12 school year. All are invited to attend.

Grantsville Man Found Guilty Of Theft; Sentenced To 90 Days

In recent Garrett County District Court proceedings, Ryan Edward Winebrenner, 20, Grantsville, pleaded not guilty to theft valued at less than $100, was found guilty by Judge Leonard J. Eiswert, and was sentenced to 90 days with 86 days suspended, 18 months of supervised probation, and $57.50.

Maryland State Police were approached at the McHenry barrack by a victim of theft in September 2009. The complainant advised that $100 worth of dimes had been stolen from a can located in his bedroom. He stated that he believed that Winebrenner had taken them.

Investigation revealed that Winebrenner had stolen the dimes and made a purchase with them at the Exxon in Grantsville which amounted to $22.30. An employee of the gas station admitted to assisting him in counting out the dimes for his purchase. A warrant was placed for his arrest. No other charges were filed.

In another court hearing, Alexander Patrick Gordon Wood, 19, Oakland, was found guilty of theft valued at less than $500, and was sentenced to 30 days with all being suspended, one year of supervised probation, and suspended fines.

Garrett County sheriff's officers were contacted in July 2009 for a report of suspects in an alley "huffing." Officers made contact with witnesses, who reported that three individuals were in the alley, and while searching the area, Wood was located. After questioning, he advised that one of the suspects had a can of dust remover and that the suspect was inhaling it.

Investigation revealed that Wood, along with three other individuals, plotted and stole a can of dust remover from WalMart. He was not prosecuted on charges of controlled dangerous substance (CDS) inhaling a harmful substance, contributing to the condition of a child, and conspired theft valued at less than $500.

In a separate hearing, Aaron Dale Dillsworth, 20, Oakland, was found guilty of theft valued at less than $100, and was sentenced to 10 days with all being suspended, one year of unsupervised probation, and $100 in fines.

GC sheriff's officers were dispatched to Browning's Foodland in November 2009 for a reported theft. Officers made contact with an employee who stated that two subjects had stolen two butcher's jackets from the storage area of the store. The employee recognized one of the subjects to be Dillsworth.

Officers made contact with Dillsworth several days later, and he admitted to taking the butcher's jackets, which were valued at $20 each. No other charges were filed.

Timothy Allen Wilt, 35, Swanton, was charged in December 2009 of second-degree assault, stemming from a domestic dispute. His charge was placed on stet with conditions to have no violent contact with the victim of assault.

Burnice Lyla Steuber, 34, Oakland, was not prosecuted on a charge of second-degree assault, stemming from a January altercation with another adult.

Heather Michelle Collins, 36, Oakland, was not prosecuted on a January second-degree assault charge, stemming from a domestic dispute.

Each Scout received a "birthday" present to help celebrate the BSA centennial achievement. The local banquet consisted of games, skits, award presentations, and a dinner of ham and turkey with "all the trimmings." A special ceremony was held, with Tiger Den leader Jamie Beeman awarding this year's Tiger Scouts their Tiger badges. In addition, trophies were issued, recognizing the top finishers in the annual pinewood derby. First place was awarded to John Pelland, Bear Scout; second place went to Skyler Beckman, Tiger Scout; and third place was awarded to Atlee Wise, Bear Scout. Pictured above, left to right, in the front are John, Skyler, and Atlee. In the back are Beeman; Rick Eilerman, Cubmaster/Bear leader; and Rick Pellan, assistant Cubmaster.
